OFFICIAL CHRONICLE OF MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

VOL. 16.

SATURDAY, JANUARY 5, 1924.

NO. 1

BOSTON NOW HAS LARGEST AS WELL AS MOST DISTINCTIVE BATH HOUSE IN COUNTRY—LOCATED ON DORCHESTER BAY.

NEW STRUCTURE AT COLUMBUS PARK, INSPECTED BY MAYOR ON WEDNESDAY, WILL ACCOMMODATE 4,000 BATHERS AT ONCE WITHOUT CONFUSION. ADDS TO STRANDWAY ATTRACTIVENESS.

BOSTON'S LARGEST AND NEWEST HOME FOR BATHERS, ERECTED AT COLUMBUS PARK, SOUTH BOSTON, AT COST OF $215,000—MANY NEW CONVENIENCES EMBODIED IN STRUCTURE. [Photo by Boston Transcript.]

Boston may now boast it has a public bath house the most distinctive in the country as well as the largest. It is located at Columbus Park, South Boston, and is a feature of the extensive Strandway improvements which were started in Mayor Curley's first administration. Dedication ceremonies were held Wednesday afternoon and afforded the first opportunity for public inspection.

The bath house, which is thoroughly fireproof, was constructed by the Alco Contracting Company, at a cost of $215,000. The architect was Harrison H. Atwood and his work was completed after years of planning. First sketches were made nearly eight years ago when the Strandway project was conceived.

Since that time the only building of the kind which seemingly afforded ideas for incorporation in the proposed building was in Chicago, and Chicago ideas have been improved upon for Boston.

The South Boston building is in three sections, including an administration building in the center, a section for men and boys at the left and a section for women and girls at the right. The length is 370 feet and width 90 feet. For many years the L Street Bath House was considered ample for all needs, with the exception of a few warm days in midsummer. But the L street building, a mile or so away, accommodates only 2,000 bathers at one time. The new building will accommodate 4,000 bathers at once, and it has such facilities that the largest crowds can be handled without confusion.

The architect had a difficult task because of the location on newly-made land. Columbus Park was reclaimed from the Old Harbor. It is a tract of forty-seven acres. The administration desired a building, absolutely fireproof, and it was necessary to construct 300 concrete piles. The exterior is of brick, with trimmings of granite, while the interior is of concrete. This type of construction is particularly noticeable in the closets and will prove effective in keeping the interior clean.

The Chicago bath house construction gave Boston its idea for closet arrangements, but Mr. Atwood has succeeded in adding several features which are intended to provide greater convenience. Likewise, the architect has improved upon all known systems of securing privacy and the easiest method of giving out and returning the bathing material.

There is a centralization of the plans, so that all bathers must go through the middle building for their bathing material, for their keys and for the giving up of keys. The L street structure was often in confusion during days of rush. The Columbus Park building contains two large receiving and distributing counters, at each of which lines may form and be quickly cared for.

The administration believes that Columbus Park will prove to be Boston's most popular center for sports, and to that end the bath house has been provided with facilities for the care of football, baseball and other athletic teams. At the top of the administration building there is a shower bathroom, as well as plenty of lockers. In winter, the two wings of the building will be closed by shutters, leaving the administration building free for what use may be made of it by cold-water bathers.

The Park Commission, under whose direction the building was constructed, is highly pleased with the results.

"O Boston, fair City enthroned like a radiant queen,
From thy hills looking down on the ship-teeming plain of the ocean,
May thy future be bright, thy skies beam with light all serene,
Ensured by thy sons' and thy daughters' unselfish devotion!"

[From Boston Centennial Poem by
NATHAN HASKELL DOLE.]

PUBLIC LIBRARY EXHIBITION OF NEWTONIANA.

For the occasion of the anniversary of Newton's birthday there is an exhibition now in the Barton Room of the Boston Public Library from the works of this great genius—one of the greatest geniuses that humanity has ever known. There is, however, some difficulty in fixing the date of this anniversary. Newton was born on the 25th of December, 1642, but the cyclopedias add in haste that this is the "Old Style reckoning." For though in Catholic countries the Gregorian calendar was introduced more than a half-century before his birth, English public opinion, as is commonly known, succeeded in resisting it up till the Calendar Act of 1750. And even today the old style date is often adhered to as Newton's birthday.

The Boston Public Library is rich in first and contemporary editions of Newton's works. Few people know that our Public Library is the happy possessor of a volume which was not only the personal property of Newton himself, but which served him as the basic text for the subsequent Latin edition. This volume is the first edition (1704) of the "Opticks." The book contains all the autograph corrections and addenda of Newton. Pasted in the volume are sixteen pages of Newton's manuscript, a first draft of his latest optical researches. This invaluable book and manuscript belonged to Theodore Parker; the Boston Public Library came into possession of it in 1873.

The first Latin edition of the "Opticks" (1706) is on exhibition also. A comparison of the first manuscript with the printed text is especially interesting, as it shows Newton just in the middle of his researches.

Of the "Principia"—undoubtedly the masterpiece of Newton—the library possesses several fine copies. Among them, the second Cambridge edition (1713), the Amsterdam edition (1714), the Geneva edition (1739-1742), the latter in four volumes with the voluminous commentaries of Le Seur and Jacquier. And then the collective edition, "Isaac Newtoni Opera," known as the Horsley edition (1779-1785). All these volumes, printed on large quarto, belonged to Nathaniel Bowditch; they bear his inscription and the date when he acquired them.

Another fine edition of the "Principia" (Amsterdam, 1723), together with a copy of "The Method of Fluxions" (London, 1736), was the property of President John Adams.

The French translation of the "Principia" (Paris, 1759), by Marquis de Chatelet—the first French expounder of Newton's theories—is also on exhibition. Voltaire says in his "Preface Historique" to the work: "The world saw two miracles: The first, that Newton wrote the book,—the second, that a woman translated and elucidated it." In the latter part of which phrase, of course, there is some gentle and courtly exaggeration.

Newton's "Optical Lectures" read at Cambridge, Anno 1669, while he was "Lucasian Professor of the Mathematics," his "Arithmetica Universalis" and his geometrical "Treatises" are also represented in the exhibition, to which Newton's own copy of the "Opticks" with his manuscript lends exceptional interest.

PERMIT TO SELL.

The Mayor has approved the request of Fire Commissioner Theodore A. Glynn for permission to sell to Henry C. Shiels, 1079 Columbus avenue, one old steam fire engine for the sum of $200.

The sale is recommended by District Chief William H. McCorkle, Bureau of Supplies and Repairs.

MAYOR CURLEY CALLS ON CITIZENS TO REDEDICATE BOSTON AND THEMSELVES TO A LIFE OF GOOD DEEDS AND SERVICE FOR 1924.

DELIVERS NEW YEAR'S GREETING BY RADIO FROM SHEPARD STORES WHILE WISHING ALL A "HAPPY NEW YEAR"—MESSAGE OF GOOD CHEER BROADCASTED ALL OVER STATE.

Mayor Curley delivered the following address by radio at the Shepard Stores on the evening of December 31:

As Mayor of Boston it becomes my very great privilege to extend in behalf of the people the wish for "A Happy New Year."

Through the courtesy of the Shepard Stores it is possible through the radio to include in the circle of good wishes thousands of persons never previously privileged to attend a municipal New Year's observance.

A Happy New Year connotes, health, and happiness, both possible of attainment and enjoyment through faith in God and a life lived in accordance with His Divine teachings.

The old year will shortly end and the ledger balanced will determine definitely whether we have lived worthily or otherwise. It is too late for us to change the record which we have made and God has recorded, but it is not too late to so shape our lives that we may avoid in future the mistakes and misdeeds of the past.

Let each mistake or misdeed of the year that is passing serve as a warning for the year that is about to begin.

Good resolutions are necessary, and even though we lack the power to keep them through the entire year, we should not hesitate to make them since through them is character molded, right resolution strengthened, self-reliance fostered, and faith promoted.

Habits of a lifetime are not easily broken and evil habits are most difficult to break so that the fact that the same length of time one has been a victim of one evil habit might be reasonably necessary to rid ourselves of it and the time to begin is now.

Admiral Cochrane, commander of the French Navy, told a most interesting story upon the occasion of the visit of the French Mission to Boston in 1917 when the success of the armies of the Central Empire seemed assured. He stated that the guns and munitions of the navy had been transferred to the land at the River Marne.

As the battle was about to begin he approached Marshall Joffre and asked if everything had been done; and was informed that all had been done, men, munitions, hospital supplies, everything that mortal men could do, and that success or death awaited the outcome.

"I knew," said the Admiral, "that he had been estranged from his religion for twelve years and asked if he had said a prayer to God for success." "No," said he, "but I will" and kneeling in the mud almost knee deep prayed devoutly for ten minutes in the presence of the armies, then arose and issued the order for the battle to commence.

"God," said the Admiral, "heard his prayer," the answer to which was victory for the Allies.

As it was in the case of Joffre, so it was in the case of John Sobieski, the Polish saviour of Christianity, who in the Seventeenth century in 1683, with 70,000 men defeated 700,000 Mohammedans and ended the siege of Vienna with the rallying cry "Not for our glory Oh Lord but for thine."

The answer to General Washington's prayer at Valley Forge was the arrival of the French fleet and the later establishment of the American republic.

A little of the simple faith of these great world leaders is needed to end the evils which today beset humanity.

Their's was the faith ever present in the hour of adversity and the shadow of death, but unfortunately seldom considered in the hours of peace and prosperity.

If God is the source of inspiration and hope in the hour of trial why should we neglect him at other times?

It has been truly said every good deed has its reward, every evil deed its punishment; and the most evil deed of all is the loss of faith in God without which we can have no faith in our fellowman.

Shakespeare says "To thine ownself be true and as night follows day thou canst be false to no man."

Let us then highly resolve during 1924 to thank God for the blessings with which he has so richly endowed our country, America, and with faith in God and love of our fellowman in our hearts so live that life here will be freighted with deeds of kindness and service, which will rise like incense to the throne on high preparing for us the reward which comes alone from a life well spent.

Boston Consolidated Gas Company to reduce the price of gas to consumers, and I desire to inform you that the directors have voted to reduce the price 5 cents per thousand, effective on bills rendered on and after February 1, 1924.

This reduction means an annual saving to the consumers of approximately $425,000.

Very truly yours,

D. D. BARNUM,
President.

SUPPLY DEPARTMENT.

Upon December 31 the Mayor approved a contract with the Mohawk Packing Company for supplying meats to the various departments of the city. A communication from Frank P. Rock, of the Supply Department was as follows:

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—Attached please find list of bids on meats, received by this department on Friday, December 28, 1923, for furnishing meats to the various institutions of the city.

I respectfully recommend permission be given me to award contract for furnishing these meats to the Mohawk Packing Company, the highest bidders, at prices indicated on the attached sheet.

This department, in the past, has awarded its monthly meat contracts to the low bidders, and there has been difficulty in securing the grade of meat called for in our specifications.

When bids were received for the meat supplies to be furnished during the month of November, 1923, permission was granted by you to award this contract to other than the low bidder, and the city secured meats which have given satisfaction to the institutions supplied by this department.

The prices quoted by the Mohawk Packing Company are more consistent with the prevailing wholesale market prices of today, on the quality of goods purchased by the city than those submitted by any other bidder, and I feel that the best interests of the city will be served if this permission is granted.

Respectfully yours,

FRANK P. ROCK,
Superintendent of Supplies.

1923 WAS BANNER YEAR FOR CONSTRUCTION WORK IN BOSTON.

APPLICATIONS FILED WITH THE BUILDING DEPARTMENT REACHED TOTAL OF $40,675,558 WITH MUCH OF THIS FOR DWELLING PLACES. HOUSING SITUATION EASING. CITY FORTUNATE TO HAVE HAD LABOR DISPUTE SETTLED BY MAYOR CURLEY.

Building construction of all kinds, in the City of Boston for the year 1923 amounted to $40,675,558, according to figures compiled by the Building Department from the list of applications filed with them.

First-class construction work amounted to $14,240,470; second-class to $9,369,170; third class to $7,383,447; special to $138,941; and alterations to $9,543,530. Of this amount the new work amounted to $31,132,208.

Of the construction work for which applications were filed 228 were for either new or alterations to 228 apartment houses; 114 apartment houses and stores; 34 churches; 4,813 dwellings and 261 dwellings and stores. There were applications for 1,751 garages of various sizes at a total cost of $2,929,479. The dwelling construction work amounted to $9,068,512.

Applications were received for the erection of 60 lodging houses or lodging houses and stores. There were 130 new mercantile buildings erected or applied for and alterations to 688; 29 new mercantile buildings and alterations to 169; 24 new office buildings and alterations to 169.

The notable feature of the year's work in construction was the amount of dwelling house or apartment construction work done, showing that the housing problem has been or is on a fair way to solution and that the year 1924 holds out great hope for the family man that rents will drop and houses will be plentiful.

The building program for the year just begun, according to construction authorities, also indicates that 1924 will have a record that will exceed that of 1923. The citizens of Boston are to be congratulated that Mayor Curley was enabled to settle the dispute between the building trades workers and the employers at the beginning of last spring for the entire city has been benefited both to the extent of relief in the housing situation and the continuance in employment of thousands who would otherwise have been made to suffer for lack of work.

The agreement signed last spring between the employers and the building trades has another year to run which makes cheering news for the resident of the city.

MAYOR CALLS CONFERENCE TO AVERT TEAMSTERS' STRIKE.

Mayor Curley sent the following letter on January 4 to all master teamsters' and employees' associations in Boston:

DEAR SIR,—I beg to advise that the members of the City Council under date of December 31, 1923, adopted a resolution earnestly requesting that every possible step may be taken to avert a strike upon the part of truck drivers, chauffeurs and teamsters in the City of Boston actively engaged in both teaming and trucking, and of the serious commercial and industrial loss to the City of Boston in the event of a cessation of their important labors.

The resolution of the members of the City Council reads as follows:

"Resolved, That the City Council deplores the possibility of the failure of negotiations between the employers and the truck drivers, chauffeurs and teamsters, which may result in the suspension of a large part of the automobile and horse-drawn trucking in this city, if a strike takes place, and demands that every possible effort be exerted by the two forces to the end that there shall be no interruption in the present conditions as they apply to teaming and trucking, and that the parties to the controversy, both employers and employees, while they are protecting their own interest, do not lose sight of the public interests, which are paramount to the interests of either or both of them; and be it further

"Resolved, That his Honor the Mayor be requested, unless he has already done so, to call in both the master teamsters and the employees and use his endeavors toward a settlement of the controversy and the preventing of any strike.

"Adopted.

Attest: W. J. DOYLE,
Assistant City Clerk."

In harmony with the resolution of the members of the City Council I beg to advise that I shall be pleased to confer with both the master teamsters and their employees at the Mayor's office, City Hall, upon Saturday, January 5, 1924, at 11 o'clock a. m.

Respectfully,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

will gratefully hail the $1,400 steady jobs which are henceforth to be theirs, carrying, as the Fire Department does, every open chance to rise high from the ranks.

NEW BUILDING FOR SCHOOL STREET.

Plans are being drawn for a $1,000,000 office building on School street, to occupy the site of the several old buildings between Province street and Chapman place and stretching back more than 100 feet, according to announcement made to Mayor Curley, Thursday, January 3. The project is in the hands of the School Street Trust, which owns the property.

The plans, as outlined before Mayor Curley, are seriously disturbed by a weakness in the present height-of-building law. This law would imply that the only thing to consider in the erection of a building is that of two streets on which it was to be erected. In the present case there are three streets to consider, and therefore the point must be settled, before operations may begin, how far the present law is applicable.

Commissioner Mahony of the Building Department, who was in conference with Mayor Curley, Corporation Counsel Sullivan and the promoters of the suggested building, declared that the question would be placed before the Board of Appeal. If that body does not care to pass on the matter it must be presented to the Legislature.

The present plans call for a building of twelve stories and of a height of 125 feet.

Mayor Curley expressed confidence that there would be no difficulty in smoothing out the tangle.

The lot on which this building would be erected comprises 6,193 square feet. It has a frontage of 84 feet on School street, 102 feet on Chapman place and 57 feet on Province street.

BUILDING TRADES BACK MAYOR IN PLAN TO GET FORD PLANT HERE.

Mayor Curley received the following communication Wednesday, January 2, from the Secretary of the United Building Trades Council, E. A. Johnson:

DEAR MR. MAYOR,—The inclosed resolution was adopted by vote of United Building Trades Council, December 28, 1923.

Yours sincerely,

UNITED BUILDING TRADES COUNCIL,
E. A. JOHNSON, Secretary.

UNITED BUILDING TRADES COUNCIL IN MEETING ASSEMBLED.

Whereas, The Mayor of the City of Boston, in an endeavor to further the industrial prestige of the municipality, is negotiating with the Henry Ford interests, for the purpose of having a Ford plant situated in Boston, to be erected at an approximate cost of $1,500,000 and to employ in operation of the plant some 2,500 workers, and

Whereas, The cities of Philadelphia, Chicago and Minneapolis have been favored with plants similar to one that it is contemplated erecting in Boston, the sites in the aforementioned cities making available the same facilities possessed by the City of Boston and which have been in need of development by industrial betterments, thereby benefiting the community at large, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the United Building Trades Council of Boston and vicinity do indorse the efforts of the Mayor of Boston and do offer their assistance to make possible the establishing of a Ford plant in Boston.

Adopted by unanimous vote.

E. A. JOHNSON, Secretary.

AUTHORITY TO DO WORK.

The Mayor has granted the request of the Public Works Department for authority to have the Richard T. Green Company take out broken tail shaft on ferryboat "Governor Russell" and replace it with a new one, at a price of $2,200, without advertisement, the estimated cost for labor and material being $2,200. This is emergency work, the shaft having broken while the boat was in service, and it should be repaired as soon as possible. The Richard T. Green plant is well equipped and has experienced men in this line of work.

General Order No. 449.

The commanding officers of the several divisions who have in their divisions, hotels, cafes and restaurants, will carefully observe or cause to be observed the conditions in such hotels, cafes and restaurants, on the night of December 31, New Year's Eve, and especially in regard to the sale or dispensing of intoxicating liquor and in regard to disorders.

Commanding officers will bear in mind the distinctions between the federal and the state law in regard to the sale of intoxicating liquor. They will carefully observe and make detailed report, taking names of witnesses and securing evidence, if possible, as to the occurrence in the hotels, cafes and restaurants in their division, and if sufficient evidence can be obtained of illegal sale of intoxicating liquor, prosecutions for same will be made in court.

If intoxicating liquor is in evidence, they will observe and report as to the manner and by whom the intoxicating liquor is brought to the table and served. They will handle all cases of drunkenness or disorder according to law.

They will particularly observe whether liquor is served or dispensed by the management or any of their servants or agents, reporting the manner of serving or dispensing, and will ascertain whether or not, if the liquor is claimed to be property of the person to whom it is served, a charge is made by the management for the service.

All reports must be specific and in careful detail, and forwarded forthwith to the Superintendent's office.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

General Order No. 450.

During the past three months I have been gratified to learn from various commanding officers of the successful application by members of the force of the Schaefer or prone method of resuscitation.

On October 7 a woman was found in bed at her home on Harrison avenue in an unconscious condition with gas escaping from a ceiling bracket. She was removed to the Boston City Hospital in the auto patrol of Division 5, and on the way the prone method of resuscitation was applied by Patrolman Fredrick G. Kahler of that division, with the result that she recovered consciousness before arriving at the hospital.

On November 14, Patrolman Ephraim W. Pitman of Division 5 was called into a house on Acton street, where he found a man in bed unconscious, with the gas flowing from a wall bracket. Patrolman John C. Blake, who was present, opened the windows while Patrolman Pitman, after carrying the man to the street and placing him in the patrol wagon, immediately applied the prone method of resuscitation with such success that he was conscious on his arrival at the City Hospital and was discharged next day, fully recovered.

On September 26, a fireman on a steamship lying at the Simpson's Dry Dock fell overboard and was brought ashore unconscious. Although first aid was given him by the clerk of the dock, he was still unconscious on the arrival of the police with the ambulance.

He was taken to the hospital in the ambulance by Patrolmen Daniel K. Eldridge, Wilfred F. Boudreau and Joseph E. Conlan, all of Division 7. While on the way the last two named officers applied the prone method of resuscitation with such excellent results that the man recovered consciousness before arriving at the hospital and the doctor who received him stated that the work of the officers was of great assistance.

On October 4, a fireman on the police steamer "Guardian" fell overboard as he was boarding the steamer to go to work, and was rescued in an unconscious condition by Sergt. Lawrence H. Dunn and Patrolmen Timothy F. Kellard, Aubrey B. Cayting, all of Division 8, and Leslie M. Chubbuck, now of Division 9, with the assistance of James Thornton and Edward H. Valente, firemen attached to the police steamers.

The officers named immediately applied the prone method of resuscitation and endeavored to restore the fireman to consciousness. He was taken to the hospital, at which place he regained consciousness. While on the way in the ambulance, Patrolman Cayting continued the effort of resuscitation.

On November 9, a woman, a young man and two boys were removed in an unconscious condition from a burning dwelling house in Cornwall street, Jamaica Plain, and by the prompt application of the prone method of resuscitation to them by Patrolmen Henry T. Browne, James A. Howes, John J. Kilduff and Charles E. Packard, all of Division 13, and Private John J. Hanley of Engine Company 28, Boston Fire Department, were so far revived as to respond to the treatment given them at the hospital from which place the young man and the boys were shortly discharged as recovered, while the woman was held for further treatment.

On November 29, a young married woman, residing in St. Germain street, was found on the floor of her home in an unconscious condition with gas flowing from two open burners of a gas stove and from a wall bracket. Patrolmen Joseph M. McCue and Cyril V. Considine, both of Division 16, responded with the ambulance and immediately applied the prone method of resuscitation, restoring the woman to consciousness before she arrived at the City Hospital, at which place her name was placed upon the dangerous list.

It is a great pleasure to know that the officers herein named, have so evidently profited by the instruction given them by the department in this method of resuscitation, and I warmly commend them for the intelligence and efficiency shown in meeting such emergencies.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

SUPPLY DEPARTMENT.

BOSTON, December 27, 1923.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—Permission is respectfully requested to make the following transfers:

From the appropriation for A-1, Stenographer at $1,200, $273.24, to the appropriation for A-1, Errand Boy at $540 and Office Boy at $740, $23.24; B-27, Testing Materials, $250.

From B-2, Postage, $340; B-3, Advertising and Posting, $275; D-1, Office Supplies, $200, to B-14, Motor Vehicle Repairs, $570; C-4, Motor Vehicle Equipment, $65; D-11, Motor Vehicle Supplies, $175; B-13, Communication, $5.

The transfer of $23.24 to the appropriation for office boy was made in order to provide for the increase in salary from $540 to $740 per year.

The transfer to B-13 is made necessary owing to the fact that telegraphic communication with contractors was more frequent than was anticipated.

The transfer to B-14, Motor Vehicle Repairs is due to the fact that the Supply Department automobile has been in constant use by this department for over a year without overhauling, and it was found when said overhauling was made that the cost of putting it in proper shape, painting same and supplying new parts would be approximately $500.

The transfer to B-27, Testing Materials, is made necessary owing to the increased cost of testing oil, used in the oil-burning apparatus recently installed by the city, over the expense of testing coal upon which the estimate for 1923-24 was based.

The transfer to C-4, Motor Vehicle Equipment, is due to the fact that the extremely hard going during the past winter lowered the mileage that was estimated and made necessary the purchase of two extra tires and tubes.

The transfer to D-11, Motor Vehicle Supplies, is made necessary because of the great increase in the number of inspections made by this department of materials purchased.

Respectfully yours,

FRANK P. ROCK,
Superintendent of Supplies.

These transfers were made by the City Auditor with the approval of the Mayor December 27, 1923.

SALE OF CITY LAND, BRIGHTON.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, December 3, 1923.

To the City Council:
Gentlemen,—I transit herewith communications from the municipal real estate expert and the secretary of the Park Commission, relative to a small portion of land owned by the City of Boston on Wade street, Brighton, and which, in their opinion, cannot be utilized to advantage by the municipality.

I accordingly recommend the passage of the accompanying order.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be and he hereby is authorized in the name and behalf of the city, to sell at public auction at an upset price of $112, a parcel of land on Wade street, Brighton district, containing 247.5 square feet, more or less, and to execute a deed of the same to the purchaser, in form satisfactory to the Law Department.

Referred to the Committee on Public Lands.

PLAYGROUND, READVILLE.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, December 17, 1923.
To the City Council:
Gentlemen,—I beg to submit herewith data relative to the establishment of a playground in the Readville section of Boston. The site here recommended has received the approval of the residents of Readville and also the Boston City Planning Board.

Negotiations have been conducted with reference to this site for nearly a year and a most satisfactory offer has at last been received from the owners, which is the present actual assessed value, namely, $13,200.

In my opinion this is an exceptional trade for the city and represents a site desired by the people of Readville. Consequently, it is an exceeding pleasure to recommend the adoption of the accompanying order.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Ordered, That the sum of $20,000 be and hereby is appropriated to be expended by the Park Commissioners for the establishment of a playground, Readville district, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be and hereby is authorized to issue, from time to time, on the request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the City of Boston to said amount.

Referred to the Committee on Finance.

PLAYGROUND DEVELOPMENT, CHERRY STREET.

Office of the Mayor, December 5, 1923.
To the City Council:
Gentlemen,—I am in receipt of the accompanying report of the Park Commissioner, same constituting reply to the interrogatories adopted by the Council under date of October 15, 1923, and would suggest that consideration of the recommendation as submitted by the Park Commission be postponed until after the beginning of the fiscal year 1924-25.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

City of Boston,

Daniel J. Gillen, Secretary, Mayor's Office, City Hall, Boston, Mass.

Dear Sir,—Your letter of October 17, relative to the order passed by the City Council as to the proper development for playground purposes of the recent site taken for the Cherry Street Playground, Ward 6, is at hand.

There is at the present time approximately $8,000 for development of this playground. This will allow only a partial development and the Board wishes to go ahead with the work, but it cannot be done with this amount of money. A careful estimate of the cost is as follows:

Pergola.....	$5,000
Field house, containing showers and sanitaries, etc.....	25,000
Concrete surfacing.....	5,400
Flag pole.....	1,000
Planting.....	800
Grading, drainage and water supply.....	3,000
Brick and concrete exterior walls with concrete seats.....	10,000
Playground equipment.....	2,000
Total.....	$52,200

Very truly yours,
JAMES B. SHEA, Chairman.

BRIDGE EMPLOYEES, BOSTON AND CAMBRIDGE.

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, December 7, 1923.
To the City Council:
Gentlemen,—I beg to submit herewith report of the Commissioner of Public Works, the same constituting an answer to interrogatories contained in the order adopted by the City Council under date of November 19, 1923.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Public Works Department,
December 1, 1923.

To the Honorable the Mayor:
In reply to your letter of November 28, with attached order in City Council of Councillor Donoghue requesting "why it is that the City of Boston, paying half the expenses of the Boston and Cambridge Bridges, is not entitled to employ one half of the employees working on these bridges," the following is submitted:

The preponderance of Cambridge employees on these bridges has been true for a long period of years, and a slight improvement in the comparative number of Boston men has been noted from 1906 where the percentage was 15.8 to 1921, 1922 and 1923 when it was and is 27.3. It has been the custom when a vacancy occurs on these bridges to fill the position from the city where the previous incumbent lived; hence the original apportionment has changed but very little.

Appointments on these bridges are jointly controlled by the Commissioner of Public Works of Boston and a representative of the mayor of Cambridge, and as far as the writer knows, in case of a difference of opinion or a clash between these two officials as to an appointment there is no third party to whom to appeal.

I have been told that frequently in the past when Cambridge residents might be supplanted by Boston residents on these bridges such offers were refused by men eligible to appointment on the Boston bridges, because the opportunities for promotion were less and the bridges were less desirable, and they awaited a chance for appointment on the Boston bridges.

Positions on the Boston and Cambridge Bridges are at present considered undesirable on account of the employees on these bridges not being included in any pension scheme and in case of disability or incapacity through length of service there is no way to retire them.

Yours respectfully,
J. A. ROHRKE,
Commissioner of Public Works.

VETO—GASOLINE LICENSE, DORCHESTER.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, December 10, 1923.
To the City Council:
Gentlemen,—I return herewith, without my approval, the order of your honorable body disapproving the granting of a gasoline license at 222 and 224 Quincy street.

I am disapproving the order for the reason that the Board of Street Commissioners have rejected the application for the license referred to.

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

VETO—RESERVOIR PLAYGROUND.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, December 5, 1923.
To the City Council:
Gentlemen,—I beg to return herewith without my approval the order adopted by the City Council under date of November 3, 1923.

The Park Commission report that they are conducting an investigation with a view to determining what amount is necessary and it is desirable that when an appropriation is made for the Reservoir Playground that sufficient money be made available for the adoption of the same. The Park officials are not in possession of sufficient information at the present time to determine the amount required. Consequently I cannot sanction the order adopted by your Board and return the same without my approval.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

USE OF "ONE-MAN" CARS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, December 7, 1923.
To the City Council:
Gentlemen,—Under date of November 19, 1923, the City Council adopted an order reading as follows:

"Resolved, That the City Council of Boston hereby places itself on record as being opposed to the use of 'one-man' cars in the City of Boston, believing the same to be dangerous to passengers and a cause of blocking traffic."

Ordered, That a copy of this resolve be sent to the Board of Public Utilities with the hope that said Board will take prompt action in ordering the removal of cars of this type from the streets of Boston."

In conformity with this resolve I conferred with the chairman of the Board of Public Control Trustees of the Boston Elevated Railway Company and was informed by him that it was necessary to operate one-man cars in order to offset the increased cost of general operation due in large measure to the recent wage increase. Consequently, under the circumstances it was not only inadvisable but impossible to comply with the request of the City Council greatly as he regretted the same.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Coun. MORIARTY—Mr. President, this communication from the Mayor is in answer to an order that was introduced by me (quoting the above message from his Honor the Mayor).

I am surprised at this late date to get any such answer as that. The one-man cars have been on the tracks of the Boston Elevated Railroad for better than a year. The arbitration committee less than two months ago handed down their decision, and the payment of wages did not start until last Friday. I am surprised at the answer given, that the added expense is on account of the increase in wages of the men employed upon the Elevated Railway. Notwithstanding the added expense, I still think that the cars are dangerous, and at the next meeting of the Council I will introduce an order asking the Mayor to have the legislative agent hand the Corporation Counsel labor legislation which will come before the incoming body to abolish the one-man cars in Boston.

The communication was placed on file.

PAYMENT OF COUNTY EXPENSES.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Law Department, December 7, 1923.
Wilfred J. Doyle, Esq., Assistant City Clerk, City Hall, Boston:

Dear Sir,—I am replying to your communication of November 26, 1923, wherein you submit for my opinion in behalf of the City Council the following:

"Ordered, That the Corporation Counsel be requested to inform the City Council whether or not the City Auditor has the right to use money raised by taxation for city purposes for the payment of county expenses."

Since the enactment of chapter 109, Statute 1821, the City of Boston has been required by legislative provision to pay the expenses of the County of Suffolk. By section 3 of chapter 34 of the General Laws the City of Boston is required to provide all the necessary public buildings for Suffolk County. There are numerous other statutory provision requiring the City of Boston to pay the expenses incurred by other officers of Suffolk County. These statutes are not permissive; they are mandatory and the City of Boston must pay these obligations.

The City of Boston at the beginning of each fiscal year established a segregated budget based upon the estimated requirements of the city and the county for the ensuing year. The taxes assessed are appropriated to meet these expenses, together with the state tax and school requirements. The amount which the city may expend for purely municipal purposes is limited by the Legislature. See chapter 223 of the Acts of 1923, establishing the tax limit for the year 1923 for municipal purposes. There is no limitation by law, however, as to the amount of money which may be appropriated for county purposes. All the bills of the county must be paid by the city and if the provisions of the budget are inadequate to meet these expenses the appropriations must be increased from any other available funds in the city treasury. It is immaterial that the money is raised in the first instance for city purposes. The obligations of the county are the obligations of the city. Any judgment against the County of Suffolk would be satisfied in the same way as a judgment against the city. See Boston v. Chelsea 212 Mass. 127; Hibbard v. County of Suffolk, 163 Mass. 34, 39. In the latter case the Court intimated that a suit against the County of Suffolk for the salary of the steward of Suffolk County Jail should have been against the City of Boston rather than against the County of Suffolk. See also Wheelock v. Auditor of Suffolk County, 130 Mass. 486, in which the Court held that in a suit by a justice of the municipal court for services rendered the county, if such suit was well founded, he may recover judgment against the city and levy his execution upon the property of any inhabitant.

Very truly yours,

E. MARK SULLIVAN,
Corporation Counsel.

The communication, without being read in full was declared placed on file.

Coun. DONOGHUE—Mr. President, I move that that be referred to the Executive Committee. I think we ought to have a chance to read this communication carefully and to discuss it. If a communication of this sort is sent in here by the Mayor, and without being read is placed on file, how is a member of the Council to know what it is, unless he is given an opportunity privately to read it? I don't think that is the way to do business, and I make that motion.

The Clerk read the opinion in full.

Coun. DONOGHUE—Mr. President, I have listened as attentively as I could to the reading of the communication, which includes, of course, very many references to chapters of existing statutes and to decisions, which nobody could know about unless he is a human encyclopedia, and which we cannot carry in our minds. It does not seem to me, however, that the question I asked was answered intelligently. I asked whether or not the money which was appropriated for city expenses could be used for county expenses. I know enough about the law myself to know that these bills must be paid, owing to the mandatory nature of the legislation which affects these particular transactions. I am not questioning whether bills must be paid or not. My point is, how taxes are raised by the assessors. Do they levy the taxes in a lump sum, or do they segregate the tax question and raise so much for city expenses and so much for county expenses; and if they do that, my point, it seems to me, is well taken because I have been informed since the order was introduced that the auditor has refused to make payments out of that particular money. These payments have been made out of available funds, so called, but they have not been made out of the particular amount of money which was supposed to have been transferred from the Reserve Fund to the payment of county expenses. Evidently the auditor feels as I feel on the matter. Behind this all, I realize, of course, that it is practically a hopeless fight to try to get those in authority to refuse to pay these bills unless there is some concrete action taken by those who want them paid. But I firmly feel that that is the only way in which we are ever going to get a fair adjustment of the County of Suffolk expenses, as relating to the City of Boston, and until such time as we get some one who is going to refuse to pay these expenses, unless the attitude of the Legislature in the meantime changes so that they may give Boston a half square deal, we are always going to do as we have done in the past, and these bills are going to be paid. Of course, I know that any sort of opinion can come down from the Law Department—opinions which, to say the least, will be confusing to the lay mind. I realize there is really nothing further that I am able to do in this matter, but I was in hope that I might get some information as to whether or not they have the right to pay out of money appropriated for city purposes county expenses, and that question, to my mind, has not been answered. The Corporation Counsel says that that question is immaterial. In his mind it may be immaterial; in mine it is not. I realize that it is only through a so called legal technicality that we might be able to prevent them from raiding the treasury as they have for years and years, until today it is a crying outrage, the City of Boston being compelled to pay the expenses of the entire County of Suffolk; and, further than that, we find that a great deal of the income, so called, which, if it were applied to the City of Boston, would go a long way toward cutting down expenses of the City of Boston, is taken over by the state, and the city gets but a small share of it. I think, as I said before, that there is really nothing that I can do. It requires the action of some one in either the City Auditor's or the City Treasurer's office, or in the office of the Mayor, to refuse to pay these bills, and make them go to court in order to get the money. If they do go to court and the money has to be paid out in such way, regardless of the act passed by the Legislature, it is going to call vividly to the minds of the people of the entire state the fact that Boston is making a contest to get that which belongs to her, a square deal from the Legislature; and until we find some one who will make them go that far, we are never going to get any relief.

The communication was placed on file.

PUBLIC LANDS.

Coun. HAGAN, for the Committee on Public Lands, submitted the following, viz.:

1. Report on message of Mayor, communications and orders (referred November 26) relative to sale of various properties owned by the City of Boston—recommending the passage of orders with the exception of sale of property at Massachusetts avenue and East Cottage street, and property at junction of Commonwealth avenue and Chestnut Hill avenue.

The report was accepted and the orders were given their first reading and passed, yeas 8, nays 0. The orders will take their final reading not less than fourteen days from date.

Later in the session Coun. MORIARTY said: Mr. President, I am going to move reconsideration of the vote whereby we voted to sell the land on Broadway, C and Athens streets, South Boston. The motion to reconsider was carried.

Coun. MORIARTY—Mr. President, I want to say that I am not prepared to vote on that item today.

President LANE—It will not come up for final action until two weeks from today.

Coun. MORIARTY—Of course, I don't like to vote "no," and I do not feel that I can vote "yes" today. I want to say that I was partly responsible for the purchase of that land for the purpose of building a gymnasium. You men will all remember that I did get an appropriation for a gymnasium, but because circumstances changed the appropriation was transferred to many different sections. Of course, I don't like to take up time here. There was a gymnasium in that district for many, many years. Now, while I do not feel that we are going to get a gymnasium there next year or the year after, I do think that the selling of this property will put the thing farther and farther away from a possibility of our getting it. I feel that the land should be held, that the city owns other land that is not in use and has owned it for many more years than it has held title to this land, land that it could sell to better advantage than it could sell this piece of property in South Boston. If there is no objection here I would like to have this item laid over to the next meeting, and I will then be prepared to vote upon it.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, I have no objection to having the matter lie over to the next meeting, but I have in mind the fact that for almost nine years, nearly ten years, a lot of this sort of property, not referring particularly to this piece, but also to other property around the city has been lying idle and has not been earning a cent for the people, whereas if such property was sold the money would at least earn some interest in the bank. I think we ought to congratulate the powers that be for attempting to dispose of a lot of land and property that is absolutely valueless so far as income to the city is concerned. At the next meeting I trust that the councilor opposite will agree to the sale of the property, in order that we may get some money into the treasury and earn some income from the money when it goes into the bank.

Coun. MORIARTY—Mr. President, I am not going to make any promise that I will vote at the next meeting to dispose of the property. I will be prepared to vote upon it, either "yes," or "no," but I will make no promise that I will vote any particular way. If my mind was made up, I would be prepared to vote today.

Coun. WATSON—I didn't ask you to vote today. Coun. MORIARTY—No, but you suggested that you would like to have me vote for this item today, that you hoped I might see my way to do so.

Coun. WATSON—And I still hope so.

Coun. MORIARTY—Of course, I feel keenly interested in this one section. With the assistance of the other members of the Council, we were able to get the money. Again with the assistance of other members of the Council, I sat here and saw the money appropriated, carried away, and some of it squandered. If I remember right, there was $75,000 that went to Eagle Hill in East Boston, and then the next year Eagle Hill was taken away from us as a playground. The money that had been spent there had been squandered, in my estimation. Of course, if this was prior to election they might say that I take the position I do for election purposes, in protesting against the sale of this land, but this is after election now, and I don't need to take any such position as a matter of electioneering. I again say that there is land in the city that has been owned by the city longer than this parcel of land, that could be sold to better advantage. Taking the property I refer to, as I understand it, a building is on the site and the building is let. All of the stores in the building are let, and in my estimation it is bringing in a revenue to the city. I believe it is a good investment for the city, in so far as investment is concerned. Of course, with the site there, I believe that at some time in the future we may be able to get a gymnasium in the district in return for the one that was put out of commission. I would like to go through the district and see what the feeling is there, and if I find out that the people of the district are opposed to the sale of the land I will be opposed to the sale of the land here at our next meeting. I will be prepared at that time to vote.

Reconsideration prevailed, and the item in question was referred to the Committee on Public Lands.

2. Report on message of Mayor, preambles and preamble and order (referred November 26) for sale of land on Seaver street, near Harold street—that the order ought to pass.

The report was accepted and the order was given its first reading and passed, yeas 7, nays 1. Coun. Donoghue voting nay.

The order will take its final reading not less than fourteen days from date.

PARKMAN FUND.

Coun. BRICKLEY, for the Committee on Parkman Fund, submitted a report on message of Mayor, communication and order (referred today) for appropriation of $25,793.85 from income of Parkman Fund for park improvements—that the order ought to pass.

Later in the session, on motion of Coun. BRICKLEY, the order, which had been laid on the table in executive session, was taken from the committee, and the question came on its passage.

Coun. DONOGHUE—Mr. President, I want at this time to withdraw my objection to this particular proposition, because I have been informed that unless this money is appropriated before the first of the year it will go back into the city treasury unexpended. I do not want to be in the position of holding up a small amount of money like this at any one particular time, but I do feel, and this is the particular thing I am interested in, that this money should be appropriated at the beginning of the year on the basis of the estimated income from the Parkman Fund for the entire year, and that some comprehensive program should be arranged setting forth how the moneys are to be spent during the year. This being the end of the present fiscal year, however, it would probably be unfair to hold up this particular appropriation at this time. I have been assured that during the coming year a program will be laid out by the chairman of the Park Board, showing just what projects will be taken care of from the income from the Parkman Fund during the fiscal year of 1924. That is the principle that I have stood for from the beginning, and that is the way the matter should be handled, instead of taking each individual amount which accumulates from time to time and disposing of it. We should have a comprehensive system and plan for the expenditure of these moneys. I have been assured that that will be done during the coming year. For that reason, I withdraw any objection I might have to the passage of this item at this time.

Coun. HEALEY—Mr. President, I think I ought to say that a great fight was made earlier against spending the Parkman Fund money unless it was already earned. The laying out of a program at the beginning of the year I think would be feasible, but two, three or five years ago, perhaps, there was a long controversy in the Council in regard to the matter, and they reached the conclusion that the money would not be appropriated until the Parkman Fund trustees said that it was earned. I think the decision reached some years ago might very properly be returned to.

Coun. WATSON—It has already been violated one hundred times.

The order was passed, yeas 8, nays 0.

Yeas—Councilors Brickley, Donoghue, Hagan, Healey, Lane, Moriarty, Walsh, Watson—8. Nays—0.

CONFIRMATION OF APPOINTMENTS.

2. Shirley R. Caplin, to be a Weigher of Coal.
3. Charles G. Hough, William I. Marlor, Horton I. Marlor and James G. Murphy, to be Weighers of Goods.

The question came on confirmation. Committee—Coun. Watson and Brickley. Whole number of ballots cast 6, yeas 5, nays 1, and the appointments were confirmed.

BOSTON'S SCHOOL CONSTRUCTION PROGRAM GETS AN ADDITION BY NEW MATTAPAN BUILDING.

STRUCTURE IN TILESTON DISTRICT SOON TO BE CONTRACTED FOR, AND WORK STARTED IN SPRING. FOUR-ROOM UNIT OF TWELVE-ROOM EDIFICE.

NEW SCHOOL BUILDING TO BE ERECTED IN TILESTON DISTRICT, MATTAPAN, BY SCHOOLHOUSE DEPARTMENT.

Boston, under the direction of the Mayor, through the Schoolhouse Commission, is fast completing the program of providing plenty of school room for the city's pupils and the policy of doing away with portable houses.

The latest addition to the number to be completed or under way is that of the Tileston District, on Walk Hill street, Mattapan. The building is a four-room unit of a possible twelve-room school and is of second-class construction. The outer walls are of Barrington brick. The cost of the building when completed will be $100,000.

The basement will contain the boiler rooms, a janitor's quarters, boys' and girls' toilets, a playroom and a store-room. On the first floor there will be four class rooms. The plans have been prepared by Mulhall & Holmes, architects, and construction will be started early in the spring, according to present plans.

MAYOR CURLEY WINS FOR EVERETT MAN OVER IMMIGRATION LAWS.

An immigration case, establishing a most important precedent, and which gave Mayor Curley especial gratification, was reported on Thursday, January 3.

It appears that Robert J. Mitchinson emigrated to the United States from England, November 25, 1922, and located in Everett, where he now resides at 25 Carlson street.

Mr. Mitchinson obtained employment as a structural steel worker and immediately filed first naturalization papers

By reason of frugal living he was able to secure a furnished home in Everett, send for his family in England, which consisted of Annie Mitchinson, thirty-two years, wife; Annie Mitchinson, eleven years, daughter; Wilfred Mitchinson, four years, son; Ronald Mitchinson, one year, son. The family have been temporarily residing at 59 Osborne avenue, Montreal.

Mrs. Mitchinson and her children landed at Halifax, Nova Scotia, upon the S. S. "Regina," and applied for admission to the United States on November 25, 1923. Commissioner John H. Clark, Montreal, held that as the quota of persons eligible for admission from the United Kingdom was exhausted, upon the date of application, it was impossible to allow the admission of Mrs. Mitchinson or any member of her family, although no charges were made against the admission of the immigrants other than that the quota from the United Kingdom was exhausted. Mayor Curley was advised of the case and immediately took an appeal to Hon. W. W. Husband, Commissioner General, Bureau of Immigration, Washington, D. C., and for a second time the appeal in behalf of the Mitchinson family was denied, under date of December 14, 1923.

Mayor Curley, notwithstanding the unfavorable reports, immediately contended that whatever may be the intention of the Dillingham-Burnett immigration law, the policy of separating husbands, wives and children presents an intolerable situation and one providing of great cruelty and outrage. The Mayor further held that in the event that the exclusion was made permanent it was extremely doubtful that the officials of the Dominion of Canada would demand the deportation of Mrs. Mitchinson and her family, and in consequence it would be necessary for the husband to maintain two homes, one in the United States and one in Canada.

Mayor Curley further took steps to advise the British Government that an intolerant cruelty in the separation of husband, wife and children was taking place, in which the interests of British subjects were seriously affected. The case was also reported to Hon. Edward F. Gray, the British Consul in Boston. A special ruling has now admitted Mrs. Mitchinson and family.

There appears to be no well defined provision of law relative to the enforced separation of husband and family under the present law, and it is hoped that measures now pending in Washington will provide for the enactment of a new immigration law, or for amendments for new legislation devising ways and means to prevent such hardships as were instanced in the Mitchinson case.

CITY WINS $300,000 BY CIRCUIT COURT DECISION.

The City of Boston again wins a victory in the McGovern case, in the Circuit Court of Appeals of the United States, relative to the construction of the Dorchester Tunnel. The Circuit Court decided in favor of the city some months ago and ruled it need not pay the several hundred thousand dollars awarded the McGovern Company by the District Court. The McGovern Company asked for a re-hearing before the Circuit Court of Appeals, and this request was opposed by Hon. E. Mark Sullivan, Corporation Counsel, who again is returned victor. The city saves approximately $300,000 by this victory.

"O Boston, fair City enthroned like a radiant queen,
From thy hills looking down on the ship-teeming plain of the ocean,
May thy future be bright, thy skies beam with light all serene,
Ensured by thy sons' and thy daughters' unselfish devotion!"

[From Boston Centennial Poem by

PUBLIC LIBRARY LECTURES.

"What women have done for music in America," is the subject which Mrs. William Arms Fisher will discuss in the Public Library Lecture Hall Sunday afternoon, January 13. Mrs. Fisher approaches her subject from the angle of woman's great contribution in the development of audiences throughout the United States, their service in providing concert experiences to young talent, their extension of territory for the concert attractions which now play so large a part in every community's winter season, their tremendous influence in bringing about children's symphony concerts, and the support they have rendered in the development of symphony and band units in the public schools. Mrs. Fisher will touch upon the rapid growth of settlement schools, and the present trend of city-wide endeavors to provide more and better music to the masses, and greater participation in music and less exploitation of personalities.

Mrs. Fisher has long been identified with musical organization work as vice president of the National Federation of Music Clubs, and as a promoter of civic music associations.

Miss Grace Gordon Pierce, soprano, director of music in the Arlington public schools, will contribute a group of American songs by women composers, with Mrs. M. L. Felton at the piano.

TRANSFERS IN APPROPRIATIONS.

City Auditor Rupert S. Carven announces the following transfers in appropriations in departments of the City of Boston and County of Suffolk, indorsed by Budget Commissioner Charles J. Fox and approved by his Honor the Mayor:

BOARD OF EXAMINERS (Building Department).

Boston, December 27, 1923.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—I respectfully request that the following transfer be made in the appropriation for the Board of Examiners:

From the appropriation for B-2, Postage, $15.90, to the appropriation for D-1, Office Supplies.

This change is occasioned by a revised estimate.

Very truly yours,

JOHN F. HICKEY,
Chairman.

The above transfer was made by the City Auditor with the approval of the Mayor, January 2, 1924.

BUILDING DEPARTMENT.

Boston, December 31, 1923.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—I desire a transfer in the appropriation of this department as follows:

From the appropriation for A-1, Clerk at $1,800-$1,900 a year $161.38, to appropriation for A-1, Tenement House Inspector at $1,900 a year, $161.38.

Yours very truly,

JOHN H. MAHONY,
Building Commissioner.

The above transfer was made by the City Auditor with the approval of the Mayor, January 2, 1924.

PUBLIC BUILDINGS DEPARTMENT.

Boston, December 29, 1923.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—I respectfully request the following transfer within the appropriation of the Public Buildings Department: From the appropriation for A-2, Temporary Employees, $80, to appropriation for A-3, unassigned, $80.

Respectfully yours,

FRED J. KNEELAND,
Superintendent of Public Buildings.

The above transfer was made by the City Auditor with the approval of the Mayor, January 2, 1924.

OFFICE OF THE MEDICAL EXAMINER.

Boston, December 26, 1923.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

Your Honor,—I respectfully request that the following sums be transferred within the appropriation for the Medical Examiner Service, Southern Division, for the reasons given below:

From D-1 to B-2, Postage, $2.50.

From B-28 to B-5, Freight of Bodies, $180.

This service will have handled at the end of the year well over 1,000 cases, in contract to 864 handled in 1922. More cases mean more transportation.

It is impossible to foretell with accuracy the number of cases which will arise in this service in a given time.

From B-28 to B-13, Telephone, $25.

In handling an increased number of cases telephone calls have increased and we have had several telegrams with reference to deaths, ordinarily sent collect, which have been returned undelivered with payment required at this end.

From C-9 to B-14, Auto Storage and Repairs, $35.

Through an error $25 was transferred from B-14 to C-4 in July, 1923, at the time of purchase of the automobile now used. Two unfortunate though minor accidents to the car have required additional money for repairs.

From C-9 to B-35, Fees, $40.

The increase in the number of cases has occasioned increased investigation including autopsies and therefore fees.

From C-9 to B-37, Photographs, $5.

An increase in the number of unknown persons coming into our hands has necessitated an increase in the number of photographs required.

Respectfully yours,

TIMOTHY LEARY,
Medical Examiner Suffolk County.

The above transfers were made by the City Auditor with the approval of the Mayor, January 2, 1924.

TEAMSTERS' STRIKE DELAYED AFTER MAYOR'S CONFERENCE.

Mayor Curley on January 5 sent the following letter to the secretary of the order adopted at the meeting of the Team Drivers' and Team Owners' Associations.

DEAR SIR,—In accordance with the order adopted at the meeting of the Boston City Council held on Monday last, a conference was arranged at the office of the Mayor, City Hall, School street, upon Saturday, January 5, at eleven o'clock a. m.

At the time that the order in question was adopted by the City Council no action had been taken by the State Board of Arbitration and Conciliation on the question at issue between the Team Drivers' and Team Owners' Associations.

It was learned at the meeting that representatives of both organizations had appeared at hearings held by the Board of Arbitration and Conciliation, that the case was presented by both sides and the State Board of Arbitration and Conciliation had requested at least one week in which to investigate and analyze the matters in controversy submitted to them.

In my opinion this request is a perfectly proper one and should be accepted by both organizations. The probability is that the State Board will be in a position to render a decision within ten days and in the event that the said decision is not acceptable to either side, I am particularly desirous, as Mayor of Boston, that before rejections of such recommendation as may be made by the State Board of Arbitration and Conciliation takes place that the findings be considered at a conference at this office representing the Team Owners' Association and the Team Drivers', since both sides would suffer in the event of a strike and neither would benefit immediately.

Respectfully yours,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Those present at Saturday's meeting included: Edwin T. Frost, president, Team Owners' Association; George F. Stebbins, secretary and treasurer, Team Owners' Association; Joseph J. Hunt, secretary and treasurer, International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs and Stablemen, Local No. 25; John J. Clary, vice president; Harry Eisner, vice president; Arthur C. Sawyer, president; A. C. Smith, recording secretary; David J. Dwyer, financial secretary; Cornelius J. Bailey, treasurer (all of Massachusetts Automobile Operators' Association); P. A. Johnson, secretary, United Building Trades Council; Eugene Mehegan, secretary, Local 631, Teamsters; Michael O'Donnell, business agent, Local 25; John M. Boston, December 29, 1923.

To the Mayor of Boston:

On June 6, 1923, your Honor approved a contract with Rendle-Stoddard Construction Company for rebuilding piers at the Boston landings of the East Boston ferries. The contract was completed on November 23.

It was thought that large parts of the existing structures could be utilized. As the work progressed, however, it became apparent that this would not be so and that the quantities estimated in the contract would be exceeded. This is particularly true of the piles. About 350 additional piles were required.

The amount of work done by the Rendle-Stoddard Construction Company has increased the contract price to $64,000, for which the approval of your Honor is requested.

A detailed statement from Division Engineer Carty in connection with this matter is attached.

Yours respectfully,

JOSEPH A. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Adopted by the Board of Gasfitting Examiners January 9, 1924.

NOTE.—The time at which these amendments are to become effective is on and after March 1, 1924.

MAYOR PROVIDES INCREASES IN SALARY FOR CITY WORKERS GETTING LESS THAN $1,800 A YEAR.

REMEMBERS LOWEST PAID IN SERVICE IN CONSIDERING BUDGET FOR 1924-25 — POLICE AND FIREMEN TO BENEFIT IN NEXT YEAR'S PLANNING.

Mayor Curley on Saturday, January 5, addressed the following communication to Charles J. Fox, Budget Commissioner of the City of Boston:

In the compilation of the budget for the year 1924-25, it will happily be possible to discharge every obligation anticipated or met during the year 1923. This result has been achieved as a consequence of careful planning and efficient, businesslike conduct of municipal activities in every department of the city.

The obligations confronting us are greater than have been previously faced by any administration in the history of Boston. The adoption of the two-platoon system, which becomes operative on February 1, will represent an increase in the wages paid men in the fire service of approximately $350,000. The value of the saving wage resulting from the World War is evidenced in the reports of the Health Department and the charity department of the city, and justifies the granting of an increased wage to the lowest paid workers in the employ of the city.

Included among those to whom the increase of $156 annually is to be granted are all laborers, mechanics, elevator men, janitors and other employees, representing in all an increased annual appropriation of $750,000. The pension system adopted last year and which is resulting in such great benefit to all employees of the city coming within the scope of its provisions can only be safeguarded by the setting up of a sufficient reserve to provide the necessary measure of protection both for the present and the future. This protection will entail an expenditure this year of about $1,000,000.

The sliding scale providing for annual increase until the maximum has been reached, restored last year, should be continued this year, and this I estimate will represent an additional $250,000. The demand for increases from employees receiving salaries in excess of $1,800 is in most cases justifiable, but in my opinion it is more equitable to provide for the needs of persons receiving less than $1,800 per annum before further consideration is given to those receiving salaries in excess of $1,800 per annum.

You are accordingly directed to notify all department heads that no salary increases will be considered except on sliding scale in the case of any person receiving over $1,800 per annum. You are further directed to make provision for an increase of $100 in the salary of all persons on the annual salary schedule receiving less than $1,800. This expenditure will represent an increase in the maintenance cost of conducting the city's activities of about $200,000 additional, but in my opinion it is a proper expenditure.

This program, representing as it does a total of $2,550,000 in the annual maintenance charges of the city, will I trust be possible without an increase in the tax rate for next year, but only possible through careful planning and efficient conduct of the city's activities during the year. The question of salary increases for members of the Police and Fire Departments is deserving of consideration, and you are hereby directed to make a study during the year 1924 as to the probable cost of increase both in the minimum and maximum salaries paid men in the Police and Fire Departments. It is my purpose to make provision during 1924 that will permit of an increase in the minimum and maximum for men in these departments in the budget for 1925-26.

It would be a source of great pleasure to comply with all recommendations made by the department heads in the matter of salary increases, but it must be remembered that the adoption of salary increase programs as recommended in any year would necessarily result in an increased tax rate, as it is usually necessary to prune estimates $1,500,000 annually. It is a simple matter for a department head to recommend increases, but it is quite another proposition to put those schedules in operation without entailing hardship to every individual in the community with the exception of the immediate beneficiaries.

An increase of even as small an amount as 50 cents on each thousand of valuation invariably serves as a pretext for an advance of not less than $1 per week in the rental paid by every householder in the entire city. The policy in operation last year under which no increases in valuation were made in single, two-family or three-family houses, and maintaining the tax rate at the level of 1922, rendered impossible the rack-renting system in Boston which obtains so generally throughout the country, and so far as it lies within my power I propose that this policy shall be adhered to in 1924.

DECEMBER LABOR REPORT.

There was a decided slump in business during December, according to the figures of the Massachusetts Public Employment Office, when compared with the previous month and with December of last year.

During the month employers called for 1,061 persons, which was 238, or 18 per cent less than in November, and 192, or 15 per cent, less than in December, 1922. The number of positions reported filled was 846, a decrease of 270, or 24 per cent, from the previous month, also a decrease of 133, or 14 per cent, from last December.

The attendance of applicants for employment was 19,097, a decrease of 1,245, or 6 per cent, from last month, but an increase of 2,360, or 14 per cent, over the attendance of December, 1922.

In the month of December 1,847 service men (1,230 soldiers, 617 sailors) visited the office in search of employment. Of this number, 166 (117 soldiers, 49 sailors) were given introduction cards to employers and 113 (85 soldiers, 28 sailors) secured employment.

In the men's skilled department there were calls for bench, floor and machine molders during the early part of the month, and the last two weeks showed a slight increase in the demand for machinists. The building trades were very quiet with a few orders for carpenters and painters which were easily filled. The printing trades also were quiet with only a few calls for pressfeeders and compositors. The shipyards showed a little activity with calls for coppersmiths and painters. The general trades were very quiet with a big supply of applicants for nearly every branch of industry.

The demand in the men's unskilled department was the smallest in many months. The positions open were for general work, most of which were of a temporary nature. Hundreds of applicants seeking inside work have applied at the office but there has been practically no demand for their services.

Business in the women's departments was quiet with an occasional call for factory work. In the unskilled department the demand for day workers and cleaners was fair. Housework girls are in good demand but the prices offered are not attractive to the applicants for employment in that line. There has been a fair business throughout the month in culinary workers in the hotels and restaurants which was easily taken care of.

The number of people called for by employers was 1,061 as compared with 1,253 in 1922; 887 in 1921; 1,022 in 1920; 2,558 in 1919; 2,371 in 1918.

The number of positions reported filled was 846 as compared with 979 in 1922; 738 in 1921; 837 in 1920; 1,596 in 1919; 1,552 in 1918.

The ten-year contract for gas lighting in the city streets, etc., with the Boston Consolidated Gas Company expires April 1, 1924. Under the terms of the contract a six months' extension from this date is possible, if the company is notified to that effect previous to January 1, 1924.

In order that a thorough investigation may be made previous to entering into another ten-year contract it is thought advisable to request an extension of the present contract for another six months, and your approval is respectfully requested for the attached letter to be forwarded to the Boston Consolidated Gas Company.

Yours respectfully,

WAY CLEARED FOR WIDENING OF PROVINCE STREET BY RULING.

Mayor Curley issued the following statement on Monday, January 7:

I have conferred with Acting Corporation Counsel Samuel Silverman and with the chairman of the Street Commission, John H. L. Noyes, relative to the decision of the Supreme Judicial Court in the matter of the establishment of building line on Province street.

Both the Acting Corporation Counsel and the chairman of the Street Commission are of the opinion that the decision of the court clarifies the situation, and disposes of what has for years been a moot question. The decisions of the court releases the sum of $250,000 which was originally appropriated for the establishment of a building line on Province street, and I shall at the meeting of the Council on Monday next recommend the passage of an order transferring this sum to the Street Commission for "Highways, Making of," which sum will be available for such purposes as the Street Commission may deem necessary in connection with the conduct of the activities of the Street Laying-Out Department.

The decision of the court in no way retards the project for the widening of Province street, and this work will proceed immediately. The purpose of establishing a building line in connection with the widening of Province street was to protect the city from the creation of realty values on the portion of Province street that it was proposed should be widened, and was, as has been set forth in the decision of the court, made in good faith, and with ample funds to cover all demands that might be made in connection with the establishment of the said building lines.

RULES, REGULATIONS AND GROUP SCHEDULES OF TWO-PLATOON SYSTEM, STARTING FEBRUARY 1.

The District Chief will arrange as far as possible to have each company in his district begin with a different group off 24 hours on February 1, the other groups to follow in rotation as per chart. Avoid if possible a Captain being off duty 24 hours the same day as the District Chief.

(Illustration.) If a company has Group No. 4 assigned for 24 hours off duty on February 1, Group No. 5 will be off duty 24 hours on February 2, Group No. 6 on February 3, Group No. 1 on February 4, Group No. 2 on February 5 and Group No. 3 on February 6.

When a group is off duty 24 hours, it shall be from 8 a. m. to 8 a. m. the following day, then on duty as stated on chart.

The second chauffeur on a company shall be off duty 24 hours three days before or three days after the first chauffeur, so that when one is off duty the other will be on duty; the same applies to first and second tillermen.

The District Chief will arrange the days off for the Acting Engineers, so as not to have too many Engineers, Assistant Engineers and Acting Engineers off at the same time; he shall also arrange the days off for Telegraphers, if there are more than two on the same company.

On a company where there are no Engineers, Assistant Engineers or Telegraphers Nos. 3-4-5-6 may be assigned to any member of the company other than Captain or Lieutenant. A company having two Lieutenants and no Captains, one of the Lieutenants shall be known as No. 1.

The driver of the other District Chief, to be known as No. 6 in Group No. 5; in this way the chief's drivers will be on duty and off duty the same time as the chiefs which they are assigned to drive.

The time on duty for members of the Fire Boats to be arranged separate from the other companies in their respective districts, so as to have the least number of Officers, Marine Engineers and Pilots off at the same time.

The 7 cities in the first zone, i. e., adjacent to Boston, are these, viz., Cambridge, Chelsea, Everett, Newton, Quincy, Revere and Somerville; the 6 cities in the second zone, not adjacent, are Lynn, Malden, Medford, Melrose, Waltham and Woburn. The 6 adjacent towns are Brookline, Dedham, Milton, Needham, Watertown and Winthrop; the 20 other towns are Arlington, Belmont, Braintree, Canton, Cohasset, Dover, Hingham, Hull, Lexington, Nahant, Reading, Saugus, Stoneham, Swampscott, Wakefield, Wellesley, Weston, Westwood, Weymouth and Winchester.

In percentages Boston shows 10.5 per cent of District's area and 45.09 per cent of population; Northern Division, 36.2 of area and 42.18 of population; Southern Division, 53.3 of area and 12.73 of population. In the period 1915-1920, increase of population 34,798 larger in Northern than in Southern Division.

By Chapter 350, General Acts of 1919, the two Metropolitan boards were abolished and a single Metropolitan Commission of five members was established.

Another Metropolitan District, viz., the Fire Prevention District, was organized in 1914 by the enactment of chapter 795. In this district are the 14 cities of "Greater Boston," but only 10 of the towns, to which were added Reading and Rockland, a total of 25 municipalities. The District is in charge of a single commissioner, assisted by a deputy commissioner, both appointed for a term of three years. This office was also abolished by said Chapter 350, the work of same being transferred to Department of Public Safety.

POLICE DEPARTMENT ORDERS.

General Order No. 453.

The following excellent police work has been brought to my attention by the commanding officers of Divisions 10 and 11, respectively:

1. Early in the morning of October 28, 1923, Patrolman Martin J. Coakley and Thomas H. Soutter, both of Division 10, discovered a fire on the first floor of the five-story building in John Eliot square, occupied by the American Legion Post No. 44, on the first floor, and on other floors by residents and for sleeping quarters of nurses. While Patrolman Coakley sounded the alarm from the nearest box, Patrolman Soutter notified the station of the location of the fire. The two officers then went to the front door of the building but were unable to enter. Thereupon they went to the rear of the building and obtaining entrance, went to every floor, awoke all of the occupants and escorted them to safety.

I am highly gratified to learn of this admirable police work on the part of these patrolmen, and I warmly commend them for the alertness, intelligence and courage which they exhibited.

II. At about 10.45 p. m. on October 6, 1923, Patrolman John Condon of Division 11, who was on vacation and in citizen's clothes, was standing at the corner of Warren and Bower streets, when he saw and gave chase to a runaway horse. Patrolman Condon overtook and climbed onto the rear of the team, narrowly escaping injury from an electric car, and from the seat stepped on the whiffletree and grasped the reins. A short distance away on Warren street the team struck the curb, throwing the horse and flinging Patrolman Condon from the wagon, as a result of which he was injured in several parts of his body.

This is a most excellent piece of work on the part of Patrolman Condon, and I take pleasure in commending him not only for his alertness and courage but for his evident realization of the fact that a police officer should at all times be ready for duty.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

HERBERT A. WILSON,
Commissioner.

General Order No. 454.

A trial board consisting of Captains Harriman, Dailey and Murphy having heard by reference a complaint against Patrolman Matthew J. Sullivan of Division 15, charging him with conduct unbecoming an officer and neglect of duty, reported to the commissioner a finding of guilty. In accordance with which the said Patrolman Matthew J. Sullivan was on December 26, 1923, dismissed from the Police Department.

Due notice of such dismissal with the reasons therefor was duly and specifically given in writing on December 26, 1923, to the said Matthew J. Sullivan.

On the twenty-eighth day of December, 1923, the said Matthew J. Sullivan requested in writing a public hearing as provided by the General Laws, and the Police Commissioner set down Friday, January 4, 1924, at eleven o'clock a. m., at the office of the Police Commissioner, as the time and place for said hearing and duly notified the said Matthew J. Sullivan.

The said Matthew J. Sullivan was present at said time and place with counsel and was heard with his witnesses. Whereupon, after hearing the case, the Police Commissioner found the said Matthew J. Sullivan guilty as charged, and further found that the said Matthew J. Sullivan should stand dismissed from the Police Department.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

HERBERT A. WILSON,
Commissioner.

O'Brien perform one hundred and forty hours' punishment duty.

To the City Council:

DISPOSITION OF A. SHUMAN MEMORIAL FUND.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, December 17, 1923.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—Under a provision of the will of the late Abraham Shuman, who for many years rendered exceptional service to the people of Boston as chairman of the Boston City Hospital Trustees, the sum of $100,000 was provided for the erection of a building to be known as "The A. Shuman Memorial Building For Convalescent Men."

In the opinion of the present hospital trustees it would be unwise to expend the money for the purpose as set forth in the will.

The Corporation Counsel in conjunction with the trustees of the Boston City Hospital has drafted an order which will make available the money in question, provided the said order is approved by the Council and favorable action is later taken by the court.

I accordingly recommend the adoption of the accompanying order.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Whereas, On October 22, 1919, the City of Boston did accept a bequest of one hundred thousand dollars as made to the City of Boston by the twenty-fourth clause of the will of the late Abraham Shuman, for the erection of a building to be known as "The A. Shuman Memorial Building for Convalescent Men"; and

Whereas, It is the opinion of the Board of Trustees of the Boston City Hospital that the sum bequeathed is not sufficient for the erection of a convalescent home for men as directed; and

Whereas, The trustees under the will of the late Abraham Shuman have refused to pay to the City of Boston the aforementioned bequest for any purpose other than that specified in the will of the late Abraham Shuman and are about to petition to the Probate Court in and for the County of Suffolk for instructions regarding the administration of this fund;

Ordered, That the City of Boston hereby amends its unconditional acceptance of October 22, 1919, so as to read as follows:

"That the bequest under the twenty-fourth clause of the will of the late Abraham Shuman, by which the sum of one hundred thousand dollars is bequeathed to the City of Boston, be and hereby is accepted subject to the issue of an order of the Probate Court in and for the County of Suffolk permitting the fund bequeathed to be used for any of the following purposes:

1. For the erection of a building to be used as a maternity hospital as a department of the Boston City Hospital, this building to be known as "The A. Shuman Maternity House."

2. For the erection on the grounds of the City Hospital of a dormitory for house officers, interns and orderlies engaged in the service of the Boston City Hospital, said building to be known as "The A. Shuman Memorial."

3. For the erection on the grounds of the City Hospital of a dormitory for female nurses engaged in service at the Boston City Hospital, said building to be known as "The A. Shuman Memorial."

4. For the establishment of a fund out of which financial assistance may be rendered to men patients convalescing from acute diseases following treatment in the Boston City Hospital, except those convalescing from alcoholism, who have been discharged from the hospital and who are in need of financial assistance; this fund to be administered by the trustees of the Boston City Hospital and to be known as the "A. Shuman Memorial Fund for Convalescent Men."

Referred to the Executive Committee.

SANITARY CONDITION OF FIRE HOUSES.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, December 19, 1923.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I transmit herewith report of the Fire Commissioner, the same constituting a reply to the order adopted by your honorable body on November 26, 1923, relative to the sanitary condition of the present quarters of Ladder 7 and Engine 17.

I beg to add that I have conferred with the Fire Commissioner and chief of the department, and we are endeavoring to work out a program whereby it may be possible to use a portion of the property in the custody of the Public Works Department on Hancock street, Dorchester, as a site for a new fire station.

Respectfully,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

City of Boston,

Fire Department, December 10, 1923.

Hon. James M. Curley,

Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—I am in receipt of your letter of November 28, 1923, inclosing the following order passed by the City Council on November 26, 1923:

"Ordered, That the Fire Commissioner, through his Honor the Mayor be requested to report to the Mayor and City Council as to the sanitary condition of the present quarters of Ladder 7 and Engine 17, as the Dorchester Board of Trade insist that suitable quarters be provided at the earliest possible moment."

These companies are stationed on Meeting House Hill, and there are two buildings here; the engine house of brick, which needs remodeling, and the ladder house of wood, which is old, diminutive, unsanitary, dilapidated and a disgrace to the city. The whole plant should be rebuilt.

The engine house has a cellar under but a small portion of its area. The ladder house has no cellar at all, the reason for this undoubtedly being the presence of a ledge under the whole plant, making excavating a very expensive proposition and therefore avoided at the time of construction.

Some months ago the conditions at this location were thoroughly investigated, and it was decided at that time that a new site was needed for quarters for these two companies. This decision was based on the following conclusions:

1. The physical make-up of the present location, on account of the ledge, prohibits a cellar under the whole plant, a very necessary adjunct to a well-designed fire station.

2. The location is such that it is not central to the greatest number of boxes to which this apparatus responds.

3. The present buildings are adjacent to the Mather School, an immense grammar school, and while we have never had an accident, yet there is the possibility of one at some future time.

Therefore I would recommend that a new site in the best possible location in this vicinity be purchased and that a new up-to-date double fire station be erected thereon. To erect this new building will require an appropriation of at least eighty thousand (80,000) dollars, exclusive of the purchase of a new site.

Yours very truly,
THEODORE A. GYNN,
Fire Commissioner.

ABATEMENT OF SMOKE NUISANCE, SOUTH BOSTON.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, December 18, 1923.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I beg to present herewith report of the Health Commissioner and the Superintendent of the Special Service Department of the Boston Edison Company, the same constituting replies to interrogatories contained in order of the City Council adopted under date of November 19, 1923.

Respectfully,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

City of Boston,

Health Department, December 8, 1923.

Hon. James M. Curley,

Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—I am in receipt of a copy of the order passed on November 19, 1923, by the City Council of Boston, relative to the abatement of the smoke nuisance emanating from the Edison plant in South Boston, transmitted by you under date of November 28.

On December 1, 1923, the following report of inspection was submitted: "There are six smoke stacks in use and five of them were smoking continually during this time. The smoke stack on this building at First and L streets smoked continually from 11 a. m. to 12 m., emitting a dense, dark smoke which blew directly on to the residences on Broadway, opposite Independence square, and the front door steps of these houses were covered with coal dust and fine cinders. Between 12 m. and 1 p. m., the stack was smoking, but the volume of smoke was not so heavy. The third, fourth and fifth stacks smoked continually during this time, sometimes for a five-minute duration, giving off a heavy, dark smoke, and at other times the volume of smoke was lighter.

As a result of the above inspection report, a regular "Notice to Abate a Nuisance" order was served upon the Edison Electric Illuminating Company of Boston, 70 State street, Boston, relative to property at First and L streets, South Boston. Subsequent to the service of this notice, John Campbell, superintendent, Special Service Department of the Edison Company, called upon the Health Commissioner, and confirmed, in writing, his explanation of conditions. I am inclosing copies of the letter received, and will keep the premises under observation for further report.

Respectfully,

F. X. MAHONEY,
Health Commissioner.

The Edison Electric Illuminating Company,
General Offices, 39 Boylston Street.

Dr. F. X. Mahoney, Health Commissioner, 1109 City Hall Annex, Boston:

My dear Doctor,—Confirming our conversation relative to your complaint of smoke at L street, South Boston, as I explained to you, what trouble there has been in that way is not due to normal operating conditions, but to the fact that the contractors installing new apparatus have been obliged to do a certain amount of experimenting and when the complete apparatus is installed, there will be no reason whatever for complaint.

The daily operation with absence of smoke will then be on the basis upon which Albert Scott, chief smoke inspector of Louisville, Ky., commended so favorably.

Trusting that this letter will clear up the matter for the present, and assuring you that I shall be only too pleased to give you any further information or assistance you may require, I am

Very truly yours,

JOHN CAMPBELL,
Superintendent Special Service Department.

DISPOSAL OF CITY PROPERTY, MATTAPAN.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, December 31, 1923.

To the Honorable City Council:

Gentlemen,—Under an indenture between Amor Hollingsworth, Sumner A. Burt and Amor L. Hollingsworth, all of Milton, and John H. McKendry of Boston, entered into on the sixth day of August, 1870, a building was erected to provide for and promote the general social and moral well-being of the community known as Mattapan, situated partly in the City of Boston and partly in the town of Milton. This building was used for hall and entertainment purposes and the trustees concluded that the purposes of the founder and donors could no longer be carried out and petitioned the Probate Court for instructions as to what disposition should be made of the property held under the trust. Being a public charitable trust, the Attorney General was made a party and a petition filed in the Probate Court for the County of Suffolk, and the court ordered the disposition of the property and the payment of all expenses connected with the trust, and that half the balance of the proceeds should be paid to the City of Boston and half to the town of Milton. If either municipality refused to accept the proceeds on the conditions contained within the decree or order the amount to be paid to that municipality should be paid to the other. The half to be paid to the City of Boston is to be held by the city in trust in perpetuity and the principal thereof to be kept intact and invested and the income therefrom be devoted from time to time by the trustees of the Public Library of said City of Boston, or their successors, to the maintenance of the Mattapan Branch, so called, of the said Boston Public Library, in such way and manner as the trustees of said library shall deem best and fitting to promote the interest and well-being of said Mattapan Branch of said library.

The trustees of the Boston Public Library desire that the city should accept this fund and they will gladly use it for the purpose stipulated in the decree.

I therefore recommend the acceptance of the amount as decreed by the Probate Court upon the conditions contained within the decree.

Respectfully submitted,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Whereas, By an interlocutory decree of the Probate Court for the County of Suffolk, entered in the action numbered 200924, Equity, brought by Robert D. Mossman, G. Edward Burt and Morris A. Duffy, petitioners, against the Attorney General of the Commonwealth, provision was made for the disposition of certain property held by said petitioners as trustees under an indenture between Amor Hollingsworth, Sumner A. Burt and Amor L. Hollingsworth, all of Milton, Mass., and John H. McKendry, of Boston, Mass., entered into the sixth day of August, 1870, and

Whereas, Said property has been disposed of in accordance with said decree and one half of the balance realized from the disposition of said property after the payment of all expenses of the trust, amounts to $11,781.44; and

Whereas, Provision is also made in said decree that half of the balance realized from the disposition of said property shall be paid in cash to the City of Boston in said Commonwealth to be by said city held in trust in perpetuity, and the principal thereof kept forever intact and be invested, and the income therefrom be from time to time devoted by the trustees of the Public Library of the City of Boston and their successors to the maintenance of the Mattapan Branch, so called, of the said Boston Public Library in such way and manner as the trustees of said library shall deem best and fitting to promote the interest and well-being of said Mattapan Branch of said library;

Ordered, That said amount of $11,781.44 be and the same is hereby accepted by the City of Boston upon the terms and conditions set out in said decree. Referred to the Executive Committee.

PRICE OF CITY LAND, BRIGHTON.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Finance Commission, December 22, 1923.
To the Honorable the Mayor and City Council:

Gentlemen,—The Finance Commission has procured an appraisal by a real estate expert of the parcel of real estate owned by the city, at the junction of Commonwealth and Chestnut Hill avenues, Brighton district, containing 66,672 square feet of land. It appears from this appraisal that the fair value of this parcel of land is not less than $1.25 per square foot.

The commission therefore recommends that the upset price of $50,100 (73 cents per square foot), placed upon this property in the communication of the Mayor to the City Council on November 26, 1923, be given further consideration before this property is offered for sale at public auction.

Respectfully submitted,

THE FINANCE COMMISSION,

MICHAEL H. SULLIVAN,
Chairman.

TEAMING NEGOTIATIONS.

Coun. WATSON offered the following:

Resolved, That the City Council deplore the possibility of the failure of negotiations between the employers and the truck drivers, chauffeurs and teamsters which may result in the suspension of a large part of the automobile and horse-drawn trucking in this city, if a strike takes place, and demands that every possible effort be exerted by the two forces to the end that there shall be no interruption in the present conditions as they apply to teaming and trucking and that the parties to the controversy, both employers and employees, while they are protecting their own interests, do not lose sight of the public interests which are paramount to the interests of either or both of them. Be it further

Resolved, That his Honor the Mayor be requested (unless he has already done so) to call in both the master teamsters and the employees and use his endeavors towards a settlement of the controversy and the preventing of any strike.

Ordered, That a copy of this resolve be forwarded to the leaders of the employers and the employees.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, I realize fully that this resolution may amount to but very little. I also appreciate our lack of influence, in view of the fact that we have nothing to do with the controversy, nor are we in any way called upon to assist in trying to bring about the settlement of a possible strike by the teamsters and drivers or employees of the trucking interests. I know nothing of the merits of the controversy. I do know, however, that today $30 per week is not a living wage for the ordinary man of family. I don't know the salaries that the teamsters, truckmen, drivers get, but if they get less than $30 a week, in my opinion they are getting too little money for the labor they perform. However, there is a great mass who are interested in this controversy, who will perhaps be more affected than either of the immediate parties to the controversy. If this strike should take place, either through the fault of the master teamsters or the employees, the great public is going to suffer. They are going to suffer not only because industry will be hampered and handicapped, but their homes will be affected in a general way, because foodstuffs will not be delivered to the middlemen or to the cold storage plants, and consequently will not reach the consumers. I have no interest in either of the parties in the controversy, but I do have a great interest, and a selfish interest, in the public. After all, the teamsters as well as the truck owners are not the only ones to be considered, because the hardship and the cost will fall on the ultimate consumer. It is an economic fact that whenever any increase of wages or anything of the sort takes place, whenever a greater expense is placed on the shoulders of the manufacturer or the head of an industry, in a very short time it lands squarely on the shoulders of the consumer, you, I and the average man and woman in the community. Therefore, whether the demands of the teamsters are just or not just matters not, if an additional wage scale is granted, the team owners are not going to take the loss. They will pass it along. So I do think that both sides to this controversy should consider, and, if necessary, should be compelled to consider, the great general public. After all, the general public takes in the families of the workers on these teams as well as the team owners' families, and those who depend upon them for existence. I sincerely trust that the resolution will pass, realizing, as I said in opening, that it may be of very little importance and have very little influence in its bearing on a strike. The councilor opposite (Coun. Moriarty), who is very closely affiliated with organized labor, was not here when I started to speak, and I want to reiterate that I know nothing about the merits of the controversy. I do know that if the men are getting less than $30 a week they are not getting what I consider a living wage. I also said, and I speak for his benefit, that I think there are interests paramount to either those of the employers or employees—that is, the interests of the public—and that their interest should be first considered. I sincerely trust that the resolution will be passed under a suspension of the rule.

Coun. MORIARTY—Mr. President, I would like to see the resolution amended. If the councilor opposite will allow the resolution to be amended, I shall be glad to vote for it. I would say that I will have to vote against it if it is left in the condition in which it appears now. I realize that the general public may be vitally interested in so far as a possible strike taking place is concerned, but I still realize that the only way in which the men working as teamsters and chauffeurs for the public interests of this city seem to be able to increase their wages so that they may be given a living wage is to exert their right as American citizens and refuse to work for anybody who does not want to pay the wages that they desire. I cannot vote for a resolution which would expect them to give up their right to protect their immediate families, who are practically starving at the wages that are being paid by the master teamsters of the City of Boston. If the resolution can be amended so as to request the Mayor to call both sides into his office and see if it is not possible to avert a strike, by coming to a common understanding, I will vote for it. Otherwise, I will have to vote against the resolution.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, I am satisfied that his Honor the Mayor has undoubtedly made a move in the direction suggested by the councilor opposite. I should have very little respect for his intelligence, wisdom or interest in the public if he had not done it already. There is no doubt but what he has already started the machinery moving to bring about such a conference. I am not a party to it. My resolution does not take sides either way. But I will be frank in saying that I sympathize strongly with the employees, believing that they are not getting the wage they should get. The resolution merely asks that they exert every effort to bring about such a situation that a strike will not result. That is all. We merely express an opinion. Is there a member of the body who is not wishing and hoping that the controversy will end with no strike? Of course, that is the hope of all of us, and that is all that the resolution asks. It does not ask for anything else. It merely asks for a settlement of the controversy in the interests of the great multitude. I will be frank, that as between the team owners and employees, I am personally more interested in the general public and my dear ones, as well as they are interested in their dear ones. I don't desire to enter into any controversy with the gentleman opposite (Coun. Moriarty), and because he and I are of one mind in regard to the matter of a living wage. The resolution merely asks that everything possible be done, and that we are standing back of such efforts, to avert a strike, calling to their attention the fact that while they have a right to protect their interests, and we applaud them for it, they must not lose sight of the interests of the general public. The gentleman has an amendment to suggest. He suggests that this resolution be amended so as to bring the Mayor into it, with a view to a conference between both sides. I would suggest that he present a new order to that effect, asking his Honor the Mayor to take such a step. I am, however, perfectly willing to add to the resolution the words that "His Honor the Mayor be requested to call upon the interested parties to meet in his office and talk the matter over," although I am satisfied that that has already been done. I don't think the gentleman is taking the proper stand when he says that if such an amendment is not adopted he will vote against the resolution. I don't think he would take that position if he considered the matter in a careful way, because the resolution does not mean anything detrimental to the interests so dear to him, not a thing. The gentleman opposite knows that I am in entire sympathy with the attitude he takes in regard to labor, but I do know also that the public are entitled to our support to the extent of doing everything possible to avert a strike that will be a calamity from a financial and economic standpoint, as well as from the standpoint of injury to the public. The merely financial standpoint does not interest me a particle, but I am thinking of possible suffering to the public. Coal might not be delivered to the homes of worthy people who need it; foodstuffs might not be taken from the cars to the storage warehouses, and meat men, grocers, and so forth, would be handicapped, with resulting great suffering to the consuming public. They are the ones to be affected, and, whoever is responsible for bringing about a strike, it is the public who will ultimately suffer. I am hopeful that there will be no strike. I don't think my resolutions will stop a strike or bring one on, but at least we are showing ourselves to be an important cog in the wheels of the government of Boston. We cannot sit here without attempting in some way to avert such a calamity, if possible, preventing the possibility or probability of a strike. I do believe that if the gentleman would take the position I am taking in this matter, he would be doing the very best possible thing for his organization. I believe that each and every man in his organization feels as I feel about the matter, and as I have expressed it in the resolution I have introduced, that in some ways both parties should get together; that the public should not suffer because of any misstep or selfish act on the part of either side. I sincerely trust that the resolution I have offered will be adopted as I have offered it, although I am willing to add the words that we trust the Mayor will do all he can to bring about a termination of the controversy between the interested parties, and thereby end the possibility of a strike.

Coun. MORIARTY—Mr. President, I agree with Coun. Watson in a part of his resolution. I agree, in so far as the resolution itself is concerned that it does not mean a thing. I did not know that the resolution had been introduced until I came in here and heard the councilor talking upon it. I do not assume to be a mind reader. I don't know whether the Mayor has done anything or has not done anything. I am not going to assume that he has or has not done anything. That is his business. But the resolution is here now, and it is our business, and if we are going to do anything with the resolution, and if the resolution is going to be of any benefit to the public, let us make it read as it should read. I suppose that 75 per cent of the master teamsters of Boston do not live in Boston, and in so far as their receiving from us a copy of the resolution is concerned, it does not mean a thing. I do feel that most of the men who drive trucks and teams in Boston, drivers and chauffeurs, are residents of Boston, and I want to say that I have more interest in them than I have in the master teamsters. But let us not confuse the situation. There is no fear of the coal teamsters going out on strike. The coal teamsters already have an agreement signed up, and they are not included in the teamsters who are now in controversy with the master teamsters of Boston. It is the truck drivers and also the market teamsters who are interested. But the situation is this. I suppose that they have had conferences and I suppose that the master teamsters have said to those representing the drivers of Boston, "Absolutely nothing doing on any more money; nothing doing on the shortening of hours." I want to say that I am against the master teamsters when they take such a position, and I am against anybody else who would stand in the way of the thing being properly straightened out, whether the general public or somebody else. I am in favor of shorter hours, I am in favor of more money for these men, no matter what others may think about it. That is the position I have taken from the first, that was the position I took before I became a member of this government, and I am going to be in that position right along after being a member of the government—that I am in favor of shorter hours for all men, women and children who work, and that I am in favor of higher wages for everybody who is unfortunate enough to have to work, no matter what their position in life may be. I don't want to take away any credit from the member on the other side. I am satisfied to give him all the credit. If he does not want to amend the order, so as to have the Mayor call a conference, let the Council have a conference with representatives of both sides. Let us get into it. If we are so much interested in the public, let us call both parties in here and tell them that we are the representatives of the people, and ask them to sit down with us and see if we cannot avert a strike in the City of Boston. But as the resolution now stands, I cannot see that it amounts to anything. I don't want to take away any credit from the councilor on the other side. I do think that he is trying to do everything in his power to bring about a settlement. I don't want to belittle his effort. But, so far as the resolution at the present moment is concerned, it does not mean a thing. I suggest that it be amended, either asking the Mayor to call both sides into conference, or making the suggestion that this Council, if we can be of service to the public, invite both parties to come in and take the matter up with us. We might be able to bring about some results. I want to say in conclusion that there is nobody, no matter what the Boston papers may say from time to time, who will go farther to avert a strike than will. I don't want strikes, but I do want to preserve the right we are entitled to. I don't want to have the right we have in the last resort taken away from us, the right that is given to each and every American citizen to work for whom he may see fit at any time, or not to work, if he does not care to do so. Now, if the resolution can be amended in either of the respects I suggest, I will vote for it; otherwise I will vote against the resolution as suggested.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, the suggestion made by the gentleman opposite is perfectly satisfactory to me. I don't know how far we could go in the matter of averting a strike. I think perhaps we could go as far towards a settlement that would be satisfactory to both sides as anybody. But I do want to say that the first step in this direction should be an absolutely neutral resolution. I trust that the gentleman has not misunderstood my position in regard to the workers. The gentleman opposite does not for a moment suggest that I do not favor shorter hours and better pay for the workers? Of course, I do. Any man not a banker or broker could not take any other stand and satisfy his conscience. But is there any member of this body who cannot support the language of this resolution? (Reading the resolution.) Of course we deplore the threatened situation and of course we have a right to demand that both parties to the controversy exert every possible effort to avert a strike in the trucking business in Boston. Is there anybody in this body who will not subscribe to those statements? Who will take exception to the fact that the paramount ones to be affected in the event of a strike are the great public? And the great public in Boston all vote in Boston. The great public that I speak for and that he speaks for has elected me to membership in this body, and they have just re-elected him for three years more as a member of the body. I am perfectly willing to accept the suggestion made by the gentleman opposite that an acceptable amendment be made to the resolution, and I feel that in executive session he and I can frame a resolution along the lines suggested. I don't think we ought to touch the Mayor's end of it, because I think I am guessing pretty well and that I am a pretty good mind reader when I guess that up to the present time the Mayor has been actively attempting to settle the controversy. I don't know about it, but that is my guess. I am in the Mayor's office less than he is. But I will be frank with you—I don't know when or how a conference may have been had, but I am satisfied, with the almost human intelligence I possess, that his Honor the Mayor is at this time in close touch with the interested parties, and that if he is not in close touch with them the interested parties are trying to get in close touch with him. There is no doubt about that. Of course, this resolution means nothing to me politically. I shall be a member of this body for two years more, unless Senator Francis and his colleagues legislate us out of office. So there is no politics in this matter on my part. I am merely trying to do what I think is right by the public. I had no opportunity to talk to members concerning the resolution. It would be better if I had had such an opportunity, perhaps. But it is a mild resolution. I did not want to slop over, but I did want to put the matter before the body for action. This is a body that always tries to do what it can in the public interest. It is a sadly maligned body. It is the legislative branch of the city government, and it is never given the credit it should be given for things that it does and tries to do. It is a much abused body and at times may make human mistakes. We all do that. I am interested in this resolution simply because I think it is in the interest of the public. I do want it to pass. My interest is not a selfish interest. But I do think, when there is a possibility or probability of a strike of this sort, we should do all in our power to try to avert it before the die is cast. I assume that the master teamsters have already told the men that there will be no increase of wages or shortening of hours, I will assume, on the strength of the gentleman's second sight, that that is true. Nevertheless, we can go ahead favoring further efforts along the line of settlement; and if the member will reconsider his statement about voting against the resolution as presented, I shall be glad to co-operate with him in any way to draw a resolution that will cover the ground he wants. I will try to follow any suggestion he may make with a view to bringing about a settlement and to avoid the possibility of a strike. I sincerely trust, in view of the fact that the resolution is here—a resolution which speaks for itself, which attacks nobody—that we will take some action upon it today. The gentleman knows that I am just as good a friend to organized labor as any member of the Council. That was my record in the old Common Council, in the Legislature, and in the nine years I have been here. Every proposed pay increase here I have voted for; every opportunity to shorten the hours of workers I have voted for. I have been a slave here to those who desired my services for nine years. I never dodged a vote or an opportunity to help one who desired my services, if it were in my power to do something. I am a friend of the worker, and the member opposite knows it. I sincerely trust, now that the resolution is here, that the gentleman will take a step backward upon his announced position upon it, because it will mean a step forward in the interest of the public. As I have said, there is no politics in this. I have still a large part of my three-year term to serve, and the gentleman is just fresh from the people for three years more. This simply represents an honest desire to give our humble aid towards a possible settlement or averting of a strike by the teamsters or a lockout on the part of the master teamsters. I trust that the gentleman will reconsider his position and will vote for the resolution, making it unanimous, and then in executive session I will be glad to frame an order in consultation with him, or have him frame an order, looking to what he wishes, and he cannot go too far to satisfy me. I sincerely trust that the resolution will be passed at this time.

Coun. MORIARTY—Mr. President, I am not going to change my mind. I don't want any credit for any resolution. I am not criticizing the member who has introduced the resolution; I am not saying that he is not a friend of labor. I am not criticizing anybody, but I say that the resolution as written is not worth the paper it is written on, in so far as doing anything for the public is concerned. If we want to do something for the public, why not put it into the resolution and have it over with? Otherwise, the resolution as presented will amount to nothing. It will simply be printed in the papers tomorrow and, no matter what the councilor on the other side says, the general public will say, "Playing politics." I will agree that the gentleman is not doing so; I will agree that he is not a candidate, because he has two more years to serve—

Coun. WATSON—If I am lucky.

Coun. MORIARTY—But I have you beaten by a year and a month. I have three years and a month to serve, unless the Legislature shortens our term. But I am not worrying about that so much as I am worrying about kidding myself, and if I vote for the resolution as presented, I am simply kidding myself, and I think all the other members who vote for it will be kidding themselves. If we want to do something, if we want to accomplish something, let us—and I am willing that the councilor on the other side should get all the credit—pass an order or resolution requesting the Mayor to call a conference of the parties, or looking to this body calling a conference of the parties, and trying to do something in that way. If either of those suggestions are not put into the resolution, I will take my chance in voting against it. I am not going to say that I have always been a friend of labor. The best proof of that lies in the fact. I am an employee of labor, and I am getting paid every week, and the Saturday before the city election there was an election for my office and I was elected again for the thirteenth year, even beating the councilor's record. I am not going to try to take the teamsters' business away from them. I have not been in conference with the teamsters. I don't know how close the master teamsters and the men are, whether they are getting together or not. Because an organization takes a vote on the question of whether it will go on strike does not mean that it will go on strike. That is the only weapon that they have to use, and I feel that I would rather sit down and have the thing talked over here between the master teamsters and the men with us as the Boston city government, or have it done through the Mayor's office, than to have the resolution pass in this form. If the councilor has made up his mind that he is not going to amend his resolution, I am going to do what I said, vote against it. Everybody else here has the same right that I have, to use his own judgment. Sometimes my judgment is good, and other times it is bad. So I suppose, taking twelve months together, I make a fifty-fifty break. I am willing to take my chance in voting against it, because in my judgment it does not mean a thing. If we want to be constructive, want to be of some help, let us call the master teamsters and the drivers' committee in here and have the case placed before us. But if the situation is that we are going to have an open break here, we might just as well have it. I want to say that I am a member in good standing of the American Federation of Labor, the only bona fide labor organization in existence in this country, and that they have done more for the men and women who work than all other organizations in existence. I am going to stay inside of that organization, and I am not going outside of the organization. Now, if we are going to have a labor fight here, we might just as well have it. I have heard the councilor on the other side criticize some of the members here for not taking resolutions up with other members of the Council before they were introduced. I am not going to criticize the member today. But in his first remarks he referred to me as being a member of organized labor, and if he had come to me prior to introducing the resolution I would have suggested to him the two things I have already suggested. Of course, there is going to be a show-down here in so far as what labor wants and what labor does not want is concerned. I am willing to go to the mat with anybody here, barring nobody. So if we are going to have that open break we might as well have it today, starting in and having it out. Of course, if anybody wants to try to put me in bad, he has that right, but I want to say here that I am going to protect myself against any and all of you. I send that as a challenge to any and all of you, as members of the Council, for the remainder of this year and during my term of office here. If anybody desires to pick up the gauntlet, he can do so at any time. I still say that if either one of the propositions that I have put up is not accepted I will vote against the resolution and talk against it in open council.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, the gentleman opposite knows full well that he and I are not going to wrestle or go to the mat together. He knows that we are too good friends for that. I said in my opening remarks that I might have and perhaps should have consulted with other members in regard to this matter. I am human, and I make errors which perhaps might be avoided. But the resolution is here now, and I am not issuing challenges. I am not going to the mat with anybody. This is a harmless resolution, one that does not mean anything, and I am satisfied that if the gentleman should interview ten of his associates in organized labor, perhaps ten who are teamsters, asking them what they want us to do, they would say that this resolution is all right. I am willing to gamble on that. But he is so jealous of their interests and so watchful to protect them—and I don't blame him a bit for that—that he is possibly afraid that there is something in the resolution detrimental to labor. If I thought there was, I would withdraw it in a moment. But with what mind I have I cannot see that there is anything here to reflect on labor. If so, I want to say here publicly that it is not my intention—wasn't, isn't and never will be my intention—to put the gentleman opposite in wrong, and I don't think I could do so if I desired to. His position with organized labor is so secure and his work for them has been so earnest that nobody could injure him in any way, shape or manner with his organization or those affiliated with his organization, the American Federation of Labor. It would be ridiculous for any one to attempt or even suggest doing it, and I would be the last one to attempt it. Labor is well protected by having him here, and he is fortified in his efforts by having us with him, because we are all interested for labor as well as he, although not so vitally perhaps. I certainly would regret it if the resolution would put him in wrong. I would do almost anything in connection with this resolution to avoid injuring him. But I cannot do it at the expense of my own conscience or what I consider the interest of the public, and I know he would not ask me to do so. He thinks as much of me as I do of him, and he would not ask me to stultify myself, more than I would ask him to stultify himself.

Coun. HEALEY—Mr. President, I would like to ask the gentleman a question. I understand that the councilor is willing to amend the resolution so that the Mayor would be asked to call in both sides to the controversy in conference.

Coun. WATSON—Yes, I am perfectly willing to accept that, provided that it does not riddle the resolution to pieces. I would like to have the thing that I have in mind embodied in the resolution as offered here. I would be perfectly willing to have another order or resolution offered, or to have something such as is proposed go along with this as a rider, at the same time, if desired. But I won't want to go to work and tear the resolution to pieces, because my conscience, my desires and my duties are just as important to me as they are to any member of the body. I would like to know what suggestion might be made in that respect.

Coun. BRICKLEY—Why not refer the thing, Mr. President, to the Executive Committee? I think that would be a proper place to thresh it out, instead of taking up the time here in open Council, if there is no objection to it.

Coun. WATSON—I am perfectly willing to do anything that the gentleman who represents the American Federation of Labor in the Council wishes.

Coun. MORIARTY—I don't represent the Federation of Labor here. I represent James T. Moriarty here, and that is all.

Coun. WATSON—Well, I am willing to withdraw my motion to suspend the rule, but I don't want to withdraw the resolution. I withdraw my motion to suspend the rule, and am willing to have it referred to the Executive Committee, to be reported back this afternoon.

Coun. MORIARTY—Mr. President, I want to say that I don't want the councilor opposite to do anything he does not want to do.

Coun. WATSON—Well, I do want to do it.

Coun. MORIARTY—I made only two requests, and we have been here talking about the thing for half an hour, and he did not seem to want to take them up. If he is afraid of the resolution being rattled to pieces, I don't want to touch a word in his resolution.

The resolution was declared referred to the Executive Committee.

President LANE—The matter has been referred to the Executive Committee.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, I would ask unanimous consent to withdraw the reference to the Executive Committee.

Coun. BRICKLEY—Mr. President, I object. I think that is where it belongs. I move that we now take up the calendar.

POLICE PAY IN LARGE CENTERS.

Coun. HAGAN offered an order—That the Police Commissioner, through his Honor the Mayor, be requested to submit to the City Council the figures which he has obtained of the wage scale as paid to members of the police force in the various large centers, with the opinion of the Police Commissioner as formed from an analysis of the figures obtained.

Coun. HAGAN—Mr. President, this order as just read by the Clerk is a duplicate of an order I presented here some two weeks ago asking the Police Commissioner to submit to the Mayor and City Council figures that he had obtained and which he knew for a positive certainty had been obtained of the wage scale as paid to the patrolmen in other large centers in the country. The figures were available two weeks ago, and I know of no reason why they shouldn't have reached this body today. I have no positive information that the Police Commissioner has sent these figures to the Mayor, but I have a very strong suspicion that such is the case, and the Mayor has not had the courtesy to submit the figures to this body. The City Council is a co-ordinate body with the Mayor, sent here as such by the citizens of Boston, and we ought to have available and at our command all information upon this subject and upon any other subject that interests us. I am anxious to see these figures. I am convinced, with the knowledge which I have personally obtained, that when the figures are sent in here they will show that others of the large cities of the country are more liberal, generous, just and humane in the matter of salaries which they are paying to their policemen than is Boston. I have read in the daily press within the last few weeks of smaller cities adjoining us, like Everett and Quincy, advancing their policemen's wages beyond the amount paid in Boston today. I listened to the argument between Coun. Watson and Coun. Moriarty upon the teamsters' wage scale, and I heard the councilor on my right (Coun. Watson) make the statement that today men cannot live and support their families upon $30 a week. Thirty dollars a week is $1,560 a year, and I am firmly convinced and firmly agree with him in his conclusion. Boston, big and generous as we ought to be, is paying the patrolmen for the first year of service, $1,400 per annum, or $40 a day; for the third year, $1,600 per annum, or $43.33 a day; for the fourth year, $1,700 per annum, or $46.65 a day; and for the fifth year $1,800, per annum, or $49.33 a day. They have to labor and do apprentice work for a period of five years before they reach the maximum. I have an order, Mr. President, which I offered here under date of October 15, that the City Council respectfully request his Honor the Mayor and the Police Commissioner to include in the budget appropriation for the next fiscal year a sum sufficient to pay first year patrolmen and traffic officers a wage of $5 a day; second year men to be paid a wage of $5.50 a day; and third year men to be paid a maximum of $6 a day, reducing the period of apprenticeship for the present scale from five years to three years, and going from $5 a day the first year to $5.50 a day the second year, and $6 a day the third year. That is not too much; it is not enough. It does not compare favorably with what other large cities of the country are doing today. The people of New York city have voted on the subject by referendum and are paying a larger amount to the patrolmen of New York city than we are asking for here today. I think it is a modest request, I think it is an act of justice on the part of the citizens of Boston to see that the men who are pursuing the hazardous career of policemen in this community should receive a proper and at least a living wage. There might have been a time when I would be accused of playing politics in arguing this way, but I hope that that feeling does not exist today. I am convinced, Mr. President, that the figures, which I believe now to be in the office of the Mayor, are being withheld from this body for purposes which are unfair and unjust to the patrolmen and the policemen of Boston, and I am calling upon the Mayor and the Police Commissioner again, making this second request that the figures be submitted to us, as I would like to receive those figures and pass upon them during the few brief days that I have left as a member of this body. The argument has gone forth from the Mayor's office that he is opposed to this, because the money is not available. I do not agree with that conclusion, and I think every member of this body who cares to do so will find sufficient savings in the budget for next year available for this meritorious purpose. It may be that this will have to be left here as a legacy for the consideration of the Council of next year. If so, I feel as though I am leaving it in safe and proper hands, where these men are going to be dealt with justly and are going to receive a fair degree of consideration from you men who have been elected by the people to serve them. I hope, Mr. President, that those figures, which were available three or four weeks ago, will now be submitted to this legislative branch of the city government for proper and just consideration, in advance of the budget coming in here for the next fiscal year. I think this is the time for these matters to receive such consideration, and I am in hopes that something will develop from this order today.

The order was passed under a suspension of the rule.

HOUSING ACCOMMODATIONS, BOSTON.

Coun. HAGAN offered an order—That his Honor the Mayor be respectfully requested to confer with the Corporation Counsel as to the advisability of petitioning the Legislature to amend the present statute which permits municipalities to provide housing accommodations in time of emergency, and strike out from the present law the word "temporary," as in the opinion of the Corporation Counsel the law is now worded so that it prevents the city from taking any action that would be helpful to the people.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

MILWAUKEE HOUSING.

Coun. HAGAN offered an order—That the City Planning Board, through his Honor the Mayor, be requested to investigate what the city of Milwaukee has done to provide homes for those of modest means and report to the Mayor and the City Council whether some such plan as in effect in Milwaukee might not be used in Boston.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

Coun. HAGAN—Mr. President, both of these orders are duplicates of orders that were presented here by me some weeks ago. Some months ago a special committee was appointed by the City Council, of which I was made chairman, to make an investigation into the housing conditions here and see if anything could be done which would be helpful to the community. I have had consultations with the Corporation Counsel or his officials; I have personally sought all the information I could obtain from other cities, feeling that this was a matter which might be dealt with in some way next year. It is a thing which can now be left to the members who will be here next year for their consideration, and as we are on the eve of the beginning of the legislative session, it seems to me that the request here made is reasonable, that the Corporation Counsel be requested to have the present statute amended to conform to the Corporation Counsel's own idea of how the statute should read. The Corporation Counsel has pointed out that Boston today is permitted only to help its people by temporary places of abode, and that the word "temporary" is the joker in the present statute. I have asked that the Legislature through the Mayor be petitioned to amend the present statute so that the objection that the Corporation Counsel points out may be overcome and that there may be some possibility of Boston doing something which will compare with what is being done in other cities. The city of Milwaukee has accomplished a great deal. I have the literature, and it is well worth your serious consideration. I will see that it is turned over to whoever serves on the special committee dealing with the subject for your consideration here. What Milwaukee has done Boston can do. Perhaps Boston can even do more if the laws are amended so as to permit her to do something. The housing situation for those of modest means, as we all know, long ago reached an acute stage, and yet everybody seems to be ducking the responsibility. The Legislature does nothing. We hear talk, but no definite action is taken, and in the meantime the great public, those whom we are supposed to serve, are suffering because nothing is being done to relieve the situation, and for their benefit I am in hopes that this matter will be treated with the consideration that it deserves. One of the most important things that this City Council can do next year is to try to relieve this situation. I am representing these orders again in the hope that some action will be taken, if only in the way of emphasizing the necessity for such action.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

PLAYGROUND, CHARLESTOWN HEIGHTS.

Coun. WALSH offered an order—That the Park Commissioners be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to submit to the City Council an estimate of the cost of placing the playground on Charlestown Heights in a proper condition.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

CHESTNUT HILL PLAYGROUND.

Coun. WALSH offered an order—That the Park Commissioners, through his Honor the Mayor, be requested to give the City Council an estimate of the cost of putting the Chestnut Hill Playground, Brighton, in proper condition.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

DISAPPROVAL OF GASOLINE LICENSE.

Coun. WALSH offered an order—That the City Council hereby disapproves the petition of the Colonial Filling Station, Inc., for license to store and keep for sale 5,000 gallons of gasoline at 558-562 Commonwealth avenue and 680 and 682 Beacon street, Ward 8.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

SALE OF COAL IN BOSTON.

Coun. GILBODY offered an order—That his Honor the Mayor be requested to instruct the Corporation Counsel to draft regulations concerning the matter of the sale of coal in this city in accordance with the recent report of the special Coal Commission of the Legislature.

Coun. GILBODY—Mr. President, I am going to ask a suspension of the rule for the passage of this resolution, and at the same time call the Council's attention to the fact that the recent report of this commission gave to cities and towns of the Commonwealth the absolute power to regulate the cost in the sale of coal in the respective cities and towns. I do not propose to take the time of the honorable body to elaborate on the matter, but I think the best way for us to adjust the situation is to have the Corporation Counsel investigate the report of the commission and adjust the prices of coal, as we find from the report of the state commission that absolute authority is vested in cities and towns so to do. I think the measure is worthy of considerable consideration from members of the Council, for we find that we are the authority in the matter, that we are the body that can give the people of this city cheaper and better coal, and that we are the body that has the entire jurisdiction over the sale of coal in the city. I ask a suspension of the rule, Mr. President.

The resolution was passed under suspension of the rule.

CONFIRMATION OF APPOINTMENTS.

Coun. BRICKLEY called up unfinished business, Nos. 1 and 2.

Action on appointments submitted by the Mayor, December 17, 1923, viz.:

1. Louis Budd, to be a Constable.
2. Robert G. Campbell, Jr., Walter G. Nickerson, Millard F. Dowdell, Walter A. Boyle and Daniel J. Kelly, to be Weighers of Goods.

The question came on confirmation. Committee—Coun. Brickley and Walsh. Whole number of ballots cast 9, yeas 8, nays 1, and the appointments were confirmed.

President LANE called up unfinished business, No. 3, viz.:

3. Ordered, That the sum of $20,000 be and hereby is appropriated to be expended by the Park Commissioners for the establishment of a playground, Readville district, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be and hereby is authorized to issue, from time to time, on the request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the City of Boston to said amount.

On December 17, 1923, the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas 8, nays 0.

The order was given its final reading and passed, yeas 9, nays 0.

SALE OF CITY LAND.

President LANE called up unfinished business Nos. 4 to 10, inclusive, the vote being taken on each number separately, viz.:

4. Whereas, The Board of Park Commissioners has notified the City Council that certain land on Seaver street, near the corner of Harold street, is no longer required by the Park Department for public purposes and recommends that the same be placed on sale.

Ordered, That the Board of Park Commissioners, with the approval of the Mayor and in a manner and upon conditions satisfactory to the Law Department, be and it hereby is authorized, in the name and behalf of the city, to convey to Anna Rivitz for the sum of $500 a parcel of land on the northeasterly side of Seaver street, containing about 1,500 square feet, the southerly line of said parcel being about 84 feet, be the same more or less, distant from the corner of Seaver street and Harold street, and said parcel being indicated upon a certain plan, dated July 30, 1896, signed by William Jackson, City Engineer, and on file in the office of the Board of Street Commissioners of said city.

On December 17, 1923, the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas 7, nays 1.

The question came on the second reading and passage of the order.

Coun. HEALEY—Mr. President, I would like to find out if in the Executive Committee documents there is a request from Anna Rivitz to the effect that she desires to buy the property. I do not find that she has requested the City Council to sell the property.

President LANE—There is no request with the papers filed here.

Coun. HEALEY—I desire to say, in view of the fact that no request is here from Anna Rivitz, and because of the fact that it is an unusual thing to sell property without public auction, while I voted in favor of this two weeks ago, I am going to be recorded as voting "no" today.

The order failed of passage on the second reading, yeas 3, nays 5 (Coun. Brickley reserving his vote):

Yeas—Coun. Hagan, Lane, Watson—3.

Nays—Coun. Donoghue, Gilbody, Healey, Moriarty, Walsh—5.

Later in the session, on motion of Coun. Watson, the rejection of the order was reconsidered, and it was laid on the table.

5. Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be and he hereby is authorized, in the name and behalf of the city, to sell at public auction at an upset price of $20,300 a parcel of land on Alford street, Charlestown district, corner Dexter street, containing 67,671 square feet, more or less, and to execute a deed of the same to the purchaser, in form satisfactory to the Law Department.

On December 17, 1923, the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas 8, nays 0.

The question came on the final passage of the order.

Coun. HEALEY—Mr. President, due to the fact that there is a controversy in Charlestown over new playgrounds, and evidently this is in Charlestown, I would move that the matter be postponed for several weeks, pending a settlement of the Charlestown Playground question. If a playground over there in Charlestown is sold, this 67,000 feet might be used as a playground for the young people.

The Council voted to lay No. 5 on the table.

6. Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be and he hereby is authorized, in the name and behalf of the city, to sell at public auction at an upset price of $160,000 a parcel of land and the building thereon at 41-45 Arch street, Boston proper, containing 3,862 square feet, more or less, and to execute a deed of the same to the purchaser, in form satisfactory to the Law Department.

On December 17, 1923, the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas 8, nays 0.

The order was given its final reading and passed yeas 8, nays 1, Coun. Donoghue voting nay.

7. Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be and he hereby is authorized, in the name and behalf of the city, to sell at public auction at an upset price of $10,000 a parcel of land and the building thereon located on Broadway, South Boston district, known as the Police Station 6 property, containing 4,250 square feet, more or less, and to execute a deed of the same to the purchaser in form satisfactory to the Law Department.

On December 17, 1923, the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas 8, nays 0.

The order was given its final reading and passed, yeas 8, nays 1, Coun. Moriarty voting nay.

8. Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be and he hereby is authorized, in the name and behalf of the city, to sell at public auction at an upset price of $3,000 a parcel of land located in Woburn and Wilmington, known as the rifle range, containing 110.3 acres, more or less, and to execute a deed of the same to the purchaser, in form satisfactory to the Law Department.

On December 17, 1923, the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas 8, nays 0.

The order was given its final reading and passed, yeas 9, nays 0.

9. Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be and he hereby is authorized, in the name and behalf of the city, to sell at public auction at an upset price of $1,600 a parcel of land on Seaver street, Roxbury district, near Hutchings street, containing 1,643 square feet, more or less, and to execute a deed of the same to the purchaser, in form satisfactory to the Law Department.

On December 17, 1923, the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas 8, nays 0.

The order was given its final reading and passed, yeas 9, nays 0.

10. Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be and he hereby is authorized, in the name and behalf of the city, to sell at public auction at an upset price of $2,000 a parcel of land on East Ninth street, South Boston district, containing 6,671 square feet,

The order was given its final reading and passed, yeas 9, nays 0.

REMOVAL OF ONE-MAN CARS.

Coun. MORIARTY offered an order—That his Honor the Mayor be requested to instruct the Corporation Counsel of the City of Boston to frame legislation for the removal of all one-man cars from the streets of Boston.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

PUBLIC LANDS.

Coun. BRICKLEY, for the Committee on Public Lands, submitted a report on message of Mayor, communication and order (referred November 26) for sale of land at Commonwealth and Chestnut Hill avenues—that the order ought not to pass.

The report was accepted, and the question came on the rejection of the order.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, I shall vote to accept the committee's report, but I think there should be something spread on the record showing why we are refusing to pass the order. I think Coun. Walsh can tell us something regarding it.

Coun. WALSH—Mr. President, the reason why I ask that this parcel of land be not sold is that the residents of the Brighton district, which I represent, want to have it used as a memorial park in honor of the late John H. Lee.

The order was rejected.

RECESS TAKEN.

The Council voted at 3.53 o'clock p. m., on motion of Coun. WALSH to take a recess subject to the call of the President.

The members of the Council reassembled in the chamber and were called to order by the President at 4.40 o'clock p. m.

Resolved, That the City Council deplore the possibility of the failure of negotiations between the employers and the truck drivers, chauffeurs and teamsters which may result in the suspension of a large part of the automobile and horse-drawn trucking in this city, if a strike takes place, and demands that every possible effort be exerted by the two forces to the end that there shall be no interruption in the present conditions as they apply to teaming and trucking and that the parties to the controversy, both employers and employees, while they are protecting their own interests, do not lose sight of the public interests which are paramount to the interests of either or both of them; and be it further

JOHN H. LEE MEMORIAL PARK.

Coun. WALSH offered an order—That the Park Commissioners be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to name the park situated at the junction of Commonwealth avenue and Chestnut Hill avenue, Brighton, "John H. Lee Memorial Park."

Coun. WALSH—Mr. President and members of the Council: I move that the rule be suspended on this order and that it go on its passage. It is the least one can do in honor and respect of the memory of the late John H. Lee. I have received numerous letters from residents of Brighton asking that this action be taken, and it is only just and proper that we should perpetuate the memory of a man who worked early and late for the district. If the Park Commissioners name the location, as suggested in the order, a move is on foot among the residents of Brighton to erect a suitable memorial in the park. I trust that the order will go upon its passage now.

The rule was suspended and the order was passed.

CONDITION OF MOTHERS' REST, WARD 26

Coun. WALSH offered an order—That the Park Commissioners be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to give the City Council an estimate of the cost of putting "Mothers' Rest," at the junction of Cambridge, Lincoln and Mansfield streets, Ward 26, in proper condition.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

SALE OF UNCLAIMED BAGGAGE.

Coun. HEALEY for Coun. GILBODY, for the Committee on Unclaimed Baggage, submitted a report on petition of Boston & Maine Railroad (referred December 17) for leave to sell unclaimed baggage—recommending the passage of the following, viz.:

Ordered, That the Boston & Maine Railroad be hereby authorized to sell at public auction on or before January 31, 1924, and after publication of the time and place of the sale, according to law, the articles left remaining unclaimed in the possession of said railroad in the city of Boston.

Report accepted; order passed.

Coun. WALSH offered the following:

CITY LAND VALUATION, BRIGHTON.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, January 7, 1924.
To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—On November 26, 1923, I submitted to your honorable body orders for the sale of various parcels of land belonging to the city which according to the departments in charge were no longer required for public purposes. In each case an upset price was fixed based on the assessed valuation, that being in my opinion the fairest way at arriving at a minimum price.

My attention was called by the Finance Commission to the fact that the assessed value of the parcel at the junction of Commonwealth and Chestnut Hill avenues did not reasonably represent the actual value of the land and their contention was borne out by the estimate of the real estate expert.

At my request the assessors have made a revaluation of the property and report that the old figures were carried on the books for a number of years without change and that in their opinion the present value of the land is about $1.25 a square foot.

It was my intention to recommend an amendment to the order for the sale of this land, fixing the upset price at $1.25 a square foot, the present assessed value, but this action having been rendered unnecessary by your rejection of the order, I am submitting this message in order to complete the record.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.
Placed on file.

GRADING, WORLD WAR MEMORIAL PARK.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, January 4, 1924.
To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—The Park Commissioners inform me that $12,000 additional is required to complete the grading at World War Memorial Park and the completion of the Field House located there, in accordance with plans.

I am desirous that this work be completed before the baseball season opens and respectfully recommend the adoption of the accompanying order.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Park Department, January 3, 1924.
Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—You are respectfully asked to request the approval of the City Council to a transfer of the sum of $12,000 from the special loan appropriation for Improvements, etc., William Eustis, William E. Carter and John J. Connolly Playgrounds to the special appropriation, World War Memorial Park, East Boston, Bath House, etc.

The reason for this request is that the $12,000 included in the appropriation for Improvements, etc., William Eustis, William E. Carter and John J. Connolly Playgrounds, cannot be expended for the reason that the balance now in that appropriation is insufficient to do the work required and will have to lay unused until next summer when an additional sum to this appropriation must be asked for.

At the present time we are unable to award a contract for the reconstruction of the gymnasium building at World War Memorial Park for which the additional sum of $12,000 is needed. The Board believes that it would expedite matters if we obtained the transfer of this sum of $12,000 and thus start work on the gymnasium building which should be done as soon as possible.

Very truly yours,
JAMES B. SHEA, Chairman.

Ordered, That the sum of $12,000 provided for in appropriations for improvements at William Eustis, William E. Carter and John J. Connolly Playgrounds be and the same is hereby transferred to be expended under the direction of the Park Commission under special appropriation for completion of World War Memorial Park, East Boston. Referred to the Executive Committee.

PLAYGROUND, ROXBURY.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, January 3, 1924.
To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—Some six months ago a petition was received signed by 4,000 residents of the Roxbury section in favor of a playground in the vicinity of the Jefferson School, Roxbury district. This petition was later forwarded to the City Planning Board, who reported under date of September 21 in favor of acquiring land surrounding the Jefferson School, with a total area of 343,600 square feet.

The City Planning Board further recommended that the complete development of the proposed park, which would be about equal distance from the John J. Connolly Park and the Phillips Street Playground, be delayed until a later time.

A tract of eight acres within the city limits, the valuation of which is as low as the tract in question, should be taken at this time as it might be impossible to even seriously consider such a course after development has been made on any portion of the area and I accordingly recommend the adoption of the accompanying order.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Ordered, That the sum of $85,000 be and the same is hereby appropriated to be expended by the Park Commission for a playground adjoining the Jefferson School, Roxbury, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be authorized to issue, from time to time, on the request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount for said purposes.

Referred to the Committee on Finance.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, in view of the fact that we are coming near to the close of the municipal year would it not be well to refer the message and order to the Executive Committee? I make that motion.

The reference to the Finance Committee was reconsidered and the message and order were referred to the Executive Committee.

MONEY FOR MUNICIPAL GARAGE.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, January 7, 1924.
To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I have been informed by the Commissioner of Public Works that the sum appropriated for the construction of a municipal garage at the Albany street yard is insufficient and that an additional amount in the sum of $25,000 will be necessary.

I accordingly recommend the passage of the accompanying order.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Public Works Department, December 31, 1923.
To the Honorable the Mayor:

I respectfully recommend that the sum of $25,000 be provided, to be added to the appropriation for the construction of garage for the Public Works Department on Albany street.

Yours respectfully,
J. A. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Ordered, That an additional sum of $25,000 be and hereby is appropriated for garage, Albany street, and that to meet said appropriation, the City Treasurer be and hereby is authorized to issue, from time to time, upon request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

Referred to the Committee on Finance.

Resolved, That the City Council of the City of Boston hereby approves the enactment of legislation to increase the pension of Michael Birmingham, formerly a member of the Fire Alarm and Police Signal Service of said city.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

LEGISLATION FOR MRS. MCGONAGLE.

Coun. MORIARTY offered the following:

SIDEWALK, OLD ROAD.

Coun. HEALEY, for Coun. GILBODY, offered an order—That the Commissioner of Public Works make a sidewalk along Old road, from Ellington street to Michigan avenue, Ward 19, in front of the estates bordering thereon; said sidewalk to be from 3 to 10 inches above the gutter adjoining, to be from 5 to 12 feet in width, and to be built of gravel, with granite edgestones, under the provisions of chapter 196 of the Special Acts of 1917.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

SALE OF CITY LAND, SEAVER STREET.

Coun. WATSON called from the table No. 2, viz.:

Whereas, The Board of Park Commissioners has notified the City Council that certain land on Seaver street, near the corner of Harold street, is no longer required by the Park Department for public purposes and recommends that the same be placed on sale.

Ordered, That the Board of Park Commissioners, with the approval of the Mayor and in a manner and upon conditions satisfactory to the Law Department, be and it hereby is authorized, in the name and behalf of the city, to convey to Anna Rivitz for the sum of $500 a parcel of land on the northeasterly side of Seaver street, containing about 1,500 square feet, the southerly line of said parcel being about 84 feet, be the same more or less, distant from the corner of Seaver street and Harold street, and said parcel being indicated upon a certain plan, dated July 30, 1896, signed by William Jackson, city engineer, and on file in the office of the Board of Street Commissioners of said city.

On December 17, 1923, the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas 7, nays 1.

Referred to the Executive Committee on motion of Coun. WATSON.

PAY FOR POLICEMEN.

Coun. HAGAN offered an order—That the City Council respectfully petition his Honor the Mayor to honor the budget appropriation as made by the Police Commissioner so that all patrolmen in the Police Department will receive a minimum wage of $1,600 per annum, for their first year of service, and $1,800 per annum for their second year of service and $2,000 per annum as a maximum amount for their third and further years of service.

Coun. HAGAN—Mr. President, I have been endeavoring for some weeks to obtain from the Police Commissioner figures which I believe he has submitted to the Mayor showing the wage scale of men in the police departments of other large cities of the country. Up to the present time those figures have been denied to the City Council, although two formal requests have been made for them. I gather from the newspaper reports that the Police Commissioner has finally become aware of the fact that Boston is not doing its duty by the members of the Police Department, or paying them an adequate salary; and therefore he has notified the Mayor that he is going to include in the budget appropriation for the coming fiscal year a sum sufficient to make the minimum wage $1,600 and the maximum wage $2,000, with a graduated scale of three years before the maximum wage is reached, rather than five years, the present period. The object of the order is to carry out the desire, will and wishes of the Police Commissioner. While it is not a sufficient wage and not what I had hoped would be obtainable by the men in the department, and not an amount proportionate, I think, to the services which they are rendering to the city, yet it is a step in the right direction, and I am very glad indeed to have an opportunity to co-operate with the Police Commissioner and agree to his wishes in the matter. Therefore, I ask the Council to pass this order under a suspension of the rule, if there is no objection, so that it may go to the Mayor without any delay; and let us hope, as we have reason to believe, that there is a real desire, not only on the part of the Police Commissioner, but on the part of the citizens of Boston, to see that the policemen shall receive an adequate salary for the services rendered by them.

The question came on suspension of the rule for the passage of the order.

Coun. MORIARTY—Mr. President, I move that the order be laid on the table for the present.

Coun. HAGAN—Mr. President, if there is any reason advanced showing why this should be laid on the table, a good and sufficient reason, I might be glad to agree to it. No reason has been advanced, however, beyond making the motion to lay it on the table. Does the gentleman have any objection to giving the gentlemen a reason for laying it on the table?

Coun. MORIARTY—Mr. President, I have the same reason for laying it on the table that the introducer of the order has for introducing it. I don't want to increase anybody's pay if we have not got the money; and so far as increasing the pay of these men is concerned, no matter what this Council does, it will go out of existence on the thirty-first day of January. The thirty-first day of January is the ending of our fiscal year. The time to take up increases is when the budget comes before us. It is about time we stopped trying to kid people on the outside. This order has come in here in three different forms. No matter what the vote of the members of this Council may be, there is no assurance that the policemen are going to get an increase. We might pass order upon order, not only to give the men the wages that are specified in this resolution, but even more wages, and no vote of ours would do them any good unless we are in a position to do something for them during the budget session. The resolution is of no benefit to anybody. It does not amount to the paper it is written on, in so far as giving the policemen an increase in wages is concerned, because the police act very specifically says that when the Police Commissioner and the Mayor of Boston agree upon an increase in wages they can get it, and they can get it just the same as the courts get it, without our indorsement or even without our vote. So I feel that we are only foisting something upon ourselves and giving the newspapers again a chance to say that some members here voted in favor of an increase and some others voted in opposition to an increase, when none of our votes do the men any good or any harm.

The motion to lay on the table was declared lost.

The order was passed under a suspension of the rule.

Coun. MORIARTY—Mr. President, I desire to be recorded as voting "no" on the order.

POWER STATION, PARKER HILL.

Coun. DONOGHUE offered an order—That his Honor the Mayor be requested to ask the Fire Commissioner to report to the City Council as to the advisability of establishing a power station in the vicinity of Parker Hill for the purpose of increasing the water pressure on Parker Hill.

Coun. DONOGHUE—Mr. President, I merely want to say in connection with this order that it was called to my attention by a Mr. McLaughlin, who is the commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars in the Roxbury district, I think the Roxbury Post. He informed me that it had been called to his attention that the water pressure on top of Parker Hill is less than five pounds, whereas the average water pressure is about fifty to sixty pounds. Of course, we all realize that on the top of Parker Hill there are located a lot of hospitals and dwelling houses, and that conditions might very well be such that our means of coping with a conflagration there would be absolutely inadequate, that it might be absolutely impossible for the Fire Department to cope with any substantial sort of a blaze. For that reason I am introducing this order at this time. The idea of the people in that district seems to be that if there were a sort of boosting station for the increase of pressure located at the top of the hill, it would be possible to build up that water pressure so that it might obtain its maximum strength even on the top of the hill.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, I have no objection to the order, although I don't think it is necessary. The trouble on Parker Hill is not with the pressure. The difficulty of the Fire Department is getting apparatus there at certain times of the year, when there is snow or ice on the ground. A five-pound pressure, I understand, is a pretty low pressure, but it is not too low to enable the department to cope with a fire, because the question of pressure does not enter into it with the engines working. They do the pressure work. There is plenty of flow of water, but without the engines there would not be any great amount of pressure from the hydrants. That is true. But using the fire engines, there is no trouble about pressure. However, it may be that Mr. McLaughlin knows the difficulties in Roxbury better than I do, and, of course, I am willing to vote for the order.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

RECESS TAKEN.

The Council voted, at 2.36 o'clock p. m., on motion of Coun. HAGAN, to take a recess subject to the call of the President.

The members reassembled in the chamber and were called to order by the President at 3.24 o'clock p. m.

2. Report on message of Mayor, communications, preambles and order (referred today) for sale of land on Seaver street, near Harold street—that the preambles and order ought to pass.

The report was accepted and the order was given its final reading and passed, yeas 9, nays 0.

JAMES J. TIERNEY SQUARE.

Coun. HEALEY offered an order—That the open space at the junction of Chelsea, Bunker Hill and Ferrin streets, Charlestown, be named James J. Tierney square, in memory of said Tierney, who lost his life in the service of the United States during the World War, and that said space be suitably designated by signs.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

CONFIRMATION OF APPOINTMENTS.

President LANE called up unfinished business, No. 1, viz.:

1. Action on appointments submitted by the Mayor, December 31, 1923, of Timothy J. McLaughlin to be a Weigher of Goods, and Samuel A. Levine to be a Weigher of Coal.

The question came on confirmation. Committee—Coun. Walsh and Moriarty.

Whole number of ballots cast 9, yeas 9, nays 0, and the appointments were confirmed.

SALE OF CITY LAND, ALFORD STREET.

President LANE called from the table No. 3, viz.:

3. Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be and he hereby is authorized, in the name and behalf of the city, to sell at public auction at an upset price of $20,300 a parcel of land on Alford street, Charlestown district, corner of Dexter street, containing 67,671 square feet; more or less, and to execute a deed of the same to the purchaser, in form satisfactory to the Law Department.

On December 17, 1923, the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas 8, nays 0.

The question came on the second and final reading and passage of the order.

Coun. HEALEY—Mr. President, the two representatives from Charlestown, although this matter does not refer directly to the Charlestown Playground, have asked that action upon the order be postponed until some definite move has been made with regard to the sale of the playground in Charlestown over there. I would therefore ask the Council to postpone action until we hear definitely in regard to the proposed sale of the playground.

Coun. MORIARTY—Where is this?
Coun. HEALEY—Opposite the playground, but on the other side, in Everett. I don't know that it has any particular bearing on the Charlestown matter, but people over there feel that it has.
President LANE—If there is no objection, the order will remain on the calendar.
The order was allowed to continue on the table.

GENERAL RECONSIDERATION.

Coun. MORIARTY moved a general reconsideration on all business transacted at the meeting, hoping that the same would not prevail. Lost.

Adjourned at 3.30 o'clock p. m., on motion of Coun. WATSON, to meet on Monday, January 14, at two o'clock p. m.

BOSTON'S NEW FIRE ALARM SYSTEM TO BE BEST EQUIPPED IN THE WORLD.

WORK ON FENWAY HOME FOR SIGNAL STATION TO BE BEGUN SOON AND TO BE FINISHED IN EIGHT MONTHS. WILL COST $500,000 COMPLETED AND EQUIPPED.

BOSTON'S NEW FIRE ALARM SIGNAL STATION AND GROUND FLOOR PLAN—SOON TO BE ERECTED IN FENWAY AT COST OF $500,000.

Within the year Boston's new fire alarm station in the Fenway will be a fact and an artistic solace to its citizens. Bids for the construction of what Fire Commissioner Theodore A. Glynn boasts of as the most up-to-date and finest fire alarm system in the world and the model of its kind, will be awarded within a month and construction start with the opening of spring,

The building which will house the signal apparatus and be the heart of the fire protection system will be erected in the Fenway at Westland avenue and will cost, it is estimated, $500,000. Of this amount $220,000 will be on the building, and the remainder on equipment, cables and conduit.

The building will be a single story affair 35 feet high, and about 125 feet by 75. It will be ready in eight months at most. It is to be constructed of Indiana limestone and will be finished with Vermont blue marble. In the structure will be every improvement in fire alarm signalling that the world produces. The placing of the heart of the fire alarm system in the Fenway is with the idea of preventing any complications by menaces from fire such as the erection of the building in any other portion of the city would have entailed.

Shaw and O'Connell are the architects.

SCOLLAY SQUARE SUBWAY STATION TO BE REMOVED ON RECOMMENDATION OF FINANCE COMMISSION AFTER CONFERENCE.

Following the conference held Monday, January 14 at the office of the Mayor, participated in by the Transit Commission, the Public Control Board of the Boston Elevated Railway System, the Finance Commission, the Street Commission of Boston, the City Planning Board, Deputy Public Works Commissioner, and Corporation Counsel, and called for the purpose of considering problems incidental to the laying out and construction of Cambridge street, in session for about two hours this announcement was made.

"As a result of the conference, it was determined to eliminate the incline of the tunnel on Cambridge street; to make a study with a view to the removal of the Scollay Square Station in the center of Scollay square, which now obstructs the street, and so rearrange the system as to permit the handling of passengers at other points. The recommendations as submitted by the Finance Commission in their recent report were taken under consideration by the Engineering Division of the Street Laying-Out Department.

The proposed elimination of the Scollay Square Station, if it can be effected, will result in the settlement of an engineering problem at a very low cost, that in the opinion of competent engineers heretofore would represent a cost of approximately three millions of dollars."

The Finance Commission, in a report to Mayor Curley, had recommended:

That Cambridge street be widened in accordance with the obvious intent of tion regarding the public baths and gymnasiums maintained by the city, and with regard to municipal indoor concerts and band concerts; also information relative to Mount Hope, Evergreen, Fairview and other public cemeteries owned by the City of Boston.

TO THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE, 15 Beacon street, for information relative to the operation of the schools of the city.

TO THE SCHOOLHOUSE COMMISSIONERS, Room 1007, City Hall Annex, for information as to the construction and repair of school buildings.

TO THE BOARD OF EXAMINERS, Room 1001, City Hall Annex, for information regarding the licensing of persons having charge or control of the work of construction, alteration, removal or tearing down of buildings.

TO THE WIRE DIVISION OF THE FIRE DEPARTMENT, Fire Department Headquarters, 60 Bristol street, for all information relative to the erection of poles, the building of conduits, the installation of all overhead and underground construction and electrical apparatus, as well as for general information relative to the entire division. To Room 906, City Hall Annex, for permits for the installing of wires and electrical apparatus within buildings in the City of Boston, and for the payment of fees incident to the granting of the privileges above named, and which must be paid in advance.

the statute at the location where the East Boston Tunnel comes to the surface, so that the aggregate width of the roadways at this location, including sidewalks, will be at least 100 feet, exclusive of the subway opening, unless the subway opening is removed from the street.

That a further effort be made to have the subway exit now maintained between Tremont row and Court street, nearly opposite Brattle street, removed to locations in the sidewalks of Tremont row and Court street.

That a further effort be made to have the subway structure in Scollay square removed and entrance to and exit from the subway established in the sidewalks or private land adjacent.

That the proposed taking of land along both Cambridge and Court streets be made so as to avoid, wherever possible, the taking of narrow frontages.

That the proposed taking of land for the widening of Cambridge and Court streets be made in such a way as to avoid leaving a narrow strip in any parcel.

That the question whether Court street in the language of the act includes Tremont row, as the Street Commissioners assume, be judicially determined or an amendment to the act be procured, before any property is taken on the easterly side of Court street between Sudbury and Brattle streets.

MAYOR DECLINES HONOR.

Mayor Curley has declined to become a "Grand Officer" of the kingdom of Montenegro. It was learned that Premier Jovan Plamenatz, who is in this country seeking to float a $3,000,000 loan, had tendered the decoration to his Honor and that the latter refused.

FOREIGN MARKETS AND A MERCHANT MARINE TO TAKE U. S. PRODUCTS INTO THOSE MARKETS SOLUTION OF AMERICA'S HAPPINESS.

MAYOR CURLEY TELLS OF IMPORTANCE OF DISPOSING OF SURPLUS PRODUCTS OF THIS COUNTRY, BEFORE MEMBERS OF WALTHAM CHAMBER OF COMMERCE WHERE HE IS CHIEF GUEST.

Mayor Curley, speaking before the Waltham Chamber of Commerce on the evening of January 15, said in part:

The fundamental necessity of every economic community in Massachusetts, and in every productive region of the world for that matter, is efficient transportation by land or water or both, to carry its product to market and distribute it. All commerce is an exchange of products, bringing the raw products of field, forest and mine to the manufacturer and the finished products of the manufacturer to his customer and consumer; and the more cheaply, safely and expeditiously this function is performed the greater the volume of commerce developed, the greater the activity of industry stimulated, and naturally, the greater the constancy of work and wages for those employed in the many activities that go to make this commerce.

Commerce is like a great river flowing through a land; every industry, every form of laborious activity performed by man, is a tributary brook and stream flowing into and swelling the volume of the river; and as long as the contributory flow is regular and constant traffic on the river is safe, the cities and homes it serves are free from danger, and the people living in them are busy, happy and contented.

Three things enter into commerce; the producer, the carrier and distributor, and the consumer; and as they work into each other's hands efficiently and continuously it is well with commerce. These three—production, transportation and markets—constitute commerce, the great river that flows from man's activities; and when any one of them fails, when any one becomes inconstant, casual and merely seasonal, then the river of commerce is made dangerous by freshets in the rush season and disastrous by drying up in the lean season; and the industry and work and wages, and homes and happiness dependent upon the constant, smooth and steady flow of the river of commerce vanish and the days of danger and disaster are at hand.

Here in Waltham and in Massachusetts we have the industries and workers; here we have transportation facilities that can and must be made smoother, more efficient and better adjusted to serve our purposes; and what is true of us is true of the whole United States. What of the markets to take care of the tremendous American production of all kinds?

That is the most momentous question before America today, and upon the way it is answered depends the safety and prosperity of the nation in the days to come.

These facts stand out significantly. America is the richest country on earth in natural resources, industrial production and commercial possibilities. We have the greatest coal, oil and iron deposits in the world; our forests and fisheries are unsurpassed; our country is one of earth's granaries; our wonderful pastures produce great stocks of meat, hides and fleeces; we have a practical monopoly of raw cotton; we produce about eighty-seven out of every hundred automobiles, auto trucks and agricultural machines made in the world. With our vast wealth of raw materials we still find it necessary to import tremendous quantities from abroad to supply the needs and capacities of our enormous productive industry; and the continuance of that production and the prosperity growing out of it depend upon our ability to seek that production, to find markets and customers for it. Practically the American domestic market is ours; tariffs, laws and self-interest compel us to keep the American market for Americans; but the productive capacity of American industry is such that in seven months it is able to supply all that America can consume in a year.

Here comes our dangerous and significant problem—what of the other five months? If industry produces twelve months in the year, and seven months will supply America, what of the other five months and the surplus they turn out? If we can find markets to absorb the surplus we are safe. If we can't or won't or don't, disaster is ahead, for industry is not philanthropy; it won't function unless it can market what it makes; when the wheels cease to turn, the worker ceases to work; when work stops wages stop; and workers without work and wages five months out of twelve are a danger to the peace, security and happiness of the country.

Here is a condition not a theory, a dark and dangerous problem that can only be solved in one way—by securing foreign markets to consume our surplus products.

This is not a matter of partisan politics; this is not a question upon which Democrats and Republicans can take sides; it is a question that calls for the united effort of all parties, for it is a matter of concern to our homes and happiness, our bread and butter, the future of our children, the peace and stability of the republic. It is your problem and mine and the problem of every man, woman and child in America.

Foreign markets is the answer and solution and those markets must be found, conquered and kept by Americans. All markets follow the flag that serves its commerce and the flag must fly on the ships of the people seeking the market. It is fatal to American commerce to carry it in foreign ships, for it will always have to take second place to the commerce of the carrier; and American foreign commerce has dropped and dried because we permitted foreign ships to carry our goods abroad. The fatal folly of this course drove our ships from the seas and our goods from the markets of the world and we paid them American money for killing American business.

We must stand back of our merchant marine today and make it possible for our ships to compete with any and every ship on the sea. Every merchant marine competing with our—European and Asiatic—is heavily subsidized to carry its national commerce, so that the national goods may be sold in the foreign market and the workers at home assured of work and wages.

We must subsidize our merchant marine and enable it to compete on equal terms with every rival.

Is there anything new or novel in this idea?

Not any! Industry is subsidized by a protective tariff; agriculture is subsidized in a dozen ways, by colleges, schools, farm laboratories and reclamation schemes; education is subsidized; transportation on land is subsidized; and every national activity is subsidized except the most vital one—our merchant marine.

Read the legislation Congress enacts: study it, and learn what it means and what it does. Whether you call it a subsidy or an appropriation, it accomplished exactly what is needed for our merchant marine—sustains it.

Don't be afraid of names. By sustaining our merchant marine and making it possible to carry American goods to the foreign consumer we accomplish several things.

1. We capture foreign markets for our surplus products.

2. We keep our workers busy twelve months in the year.

3. We show the American flag and advertise the nation all round the world.

4. We build up a naval reserve of men and ships for defence in days of danger. It is cheaper and more productive of peace to subsidize a merchant marine to help our commerce and industry than to construct and organize a navy when war comes and leave ourselves at the mercy of trained and organized competitors. If we save our industry and protect our workers by extending our commerce, our wealth and strength will preserve and compel peace and ensure our national security, prosperity and contentment.

The merchant marine, subsidized, strengthened and sustained means the foreign market, a prosperous American industry, constant work and wages, and a happy, contented people.

WANT SHOWER BATHS IN OLD STATION 6 BUILDING.

HOUSING COMMISSION TO SERVE UNTIL MAY 1.

Boston's Rent and Housing Commission will continue to function as long as the corresponding state body continues in existence. Mayor Curley, who had announced that he would abolish the board on February 1, finally yielded to the pleas of various groups of persons who insisted that the rent body was still serving a useful purpose.

The Mayor has provided in the budget for its continuance at least until May 1.

WANTS NATION OF HOME OWNERS.

Mayor Curley, speaking Wednesday afternoon in Young's Hotel, at the annual meeting of the Boston Building Congress, said that, after business men have made all the money that they and succeeding generations of fools can use, he would like to see them give some thought to the creative course of their wealth by assisting their employees to become home owners.

Mr. Curley referred to the loyalty created in the minds and the hearts of the employees of the Jordan Marsh Company, by the character of justice given the employee by the employer, and declared that he would like to see encouraged a program of the character followed by William Wood, which, he added, makes for a more healthy and patriotic people.

He declared that the real blight of the American people was to find a beautifully appointed and elaborate manufacturing plant and then find its workers living like cattle in old houses in cities and towns of our state where land could be bought cheaply.

The Mayor spoke of the public development along the Strandway in South Boston and said that he would like to see some of the big industries buy up a strip of land along the ocean front in South Boston on which to build homes for employees. He said that these big concerns by buying on a huge scale could lower costs so that the dwellings could be erected at about 60 per cent of the cost to the individual.

Mr. Curley asserted that following out a program of this character houses could be built for $9,000 that would cost the individual anywhere from $12,000 to $14,000, and these could be transferred to the worker for rent or paid for out of their salary. He said he would like to see some public-spirited business man consider such a project.

"I would like to see a nation of home owners," said his Honor.

Mr. Curley, dwelling on reasonable unemployment, said it must be regulated and that this can be done by concentrated intelligent thought of the American people. He said that there is no other problem that approaches in importance that of reasonable unemployment.

"Seasonable unemployment," continued the Mayor, "saps the foundation of our citizenship; it makes a savage beast out of a usually mild and even tempered head of a household; it makes a criminal out of a man who perhaps never before has had an evil impulse. It is the one really outstanding problem the proper solution of which means more to the health and happiness of the people than anything else."

BILL TO PROVIDE ZONE SYSTEM FOR BOSTON.

A zoning bill, dividing Boston into single residence, general residence, local business, general business, industrial and unrestricted districts, was presented to the Legislature late Saturday afternoon, January 12, by Mayor Curley.

It is a voluminous document, running to thirty typewritten pages, and was drafted by the City Planning Board after eighteen months' intensive study by the Zoning Advisory Commission appointed by the Mayor.

The commission was presided over by Frederic H. Fay, chairman of the Planning Board, and consisted of Theodore W. Little, Associated Industries of Massachusetts; P. Harry Jennings, Boston Central Labor Union; Robert A. Woods, Boston Chamber of Commerce; Elbridge R. Anderson, Boston Real Estate Exchange; Dana Somes, Boston Society of Architects; Warren H. Manning, Boston Society of Landscape Architects; C. Frank Allen, Boston Society of Civil Engineers; William H. Sayward, Master Builders' Association; Luther C. Greenleaf, Massachusetts Real Estate Exchange; George F. Stebbins, Team Owners' Association, and Walter R. Meins, United Improvement Association.

The Mayor held a conference with the Zoning Board, Building Commissioner Mahony, Health Commissioner Mahoney, Fire Commissioner Glynn, City Auditor Carven, Assessor O'Malley, Street Commissioners Noyes, Harding and O'Callaghan and Corporation Counsel Sullivan, in which the details of the bill were discussed.

The proposed measure is not retroactive and will not affect existing buildings. It also provides that a Board of Appeal may alter any decision made and that appeal to the Supreme Court is allowable.

MAYOR SPEAKS FOR BILL.

Mayor Curley spoke before the Legislative Committee on Municipal Finance at the State House in favor of his bill to abolish the tax limit placed by the Legislature on the expenditures of the City of Boston. The Mayor referred to his appearance before the committee in behalf of the bill as "an annual pilgrimage which the City of Boston is compelled to make."

"I wonder if the time has not arrived," said the Mayor, "to put Boston on the same basis as other cities in the state in the matter of the tax limit. Boston is one of the few cities to put through a program of school and street construction out of the tax levy, and it has not increased its bonded indebtedness in seven years. I feel that in view of the financial achievements made we are entitled to the same privilege enjoyed by all other cities in the Commonwealth."

Mayor Curley asked postponement of consideration of another bill, in which the tax limit on appropriations is fixed by the Legislature, until the committee has disposed of the bill to repeal the tax limit. The Mayor referred to his appearance in connection with the second bill as "the annual pilgrimage which the City of Boston is compelled to make to the Legislature for the purpose of obtaining the necessary money to run its affairs."

After his brief speech the Mayor announced that he was ready to answer any questions, but none of the members of the committee had any questions to ask and the hearing was over quickly.

AUTHORITY TO DO WORK.

The Mayor has approved the request of the Commissioner of Public Works to renew sidewalks and stringers, where necessary, at Boylston Street Bridge, with Bridge Service force, without advertisement, the estimated cost for labor and material being $2,400.

MAYOR CURLEY LAUDS BENJAMIN FRANKLIN AS NEW ENGLAND'S MOST FAMOUS SON.

BEFORE THE MEMBERS OF THE FRANKLIN TYPOGRAPHICAL SOCIETY AT THE COPLEY-PLAZA HOTEL, THURSDAY NIGHT, JANUARY 17. CALLS ATTENTION TO QUALITIES OF STURDINESS IN BOSTON'S MOST EMINENT CITIZEN DURING ADDRESS.

The world of the eighteenth century gave to history a long roll of great names, of men famous for their achievements in the arts of peace and war, in letters and philosophy, in science and invention, in diplomacy and statesmanship, varying in accomplishment and celebrity and in merit and acclaim.

Many of these great ones, like Swift, Defoe, Addison, Pope, Johnson and Goldsmith have achieved permanence of fame and become classics in letters; Continental Europe gave a galaxy to fame; and Washington and his companions in the struggle for American liberty and independence have passed into the reverent consciousness of the race all round the earth; yet it is a mere commonplace to say that not one of that long roll of eighteenth century celebrities established a more enduring reputation of genius and greatness, or stamped his name and influence more universally on that and the succeeding ages, than Benjamin Franklin, the son of a humble tallow chandler, born in the town of Boston on the sixth day of January, 217 years ago.

Benjamin Franklin was indisputably the greatest man, the most famous son, New England has given to history; he owed nothing to the adventitious aids of wealth and ancestry; America has no name in her annals more justly famous than his, and he shares with the friend who honored his achievements and revered his talents, George Washington, an eminence in the history of his country and a love in the hearts of his countrymen that increase with the passage of years.

The service that Franklin gave to his country during the Revolutionary struggle for independence and self-government and in the framing of the Constitution and the formation of the Government of the United States were the rounding out and completion of a career of honor and achievement, famous in both the old and new worlds before the shots were fired at Lexington.

He has well been termed "the many-sided Franklin"—his human interests appeared to be as universal as his activities were useful and practical. He was a printer, journalist, author, philosopher, scientist, inventor, statesman, diplomat, democrat and humanitarian. He conquered sophisticated Paris as completely as he dominated provincial Philadelphia; his genius was a species of sublimated common sense; he owed nothing to schools and colleges. Nothing in man or nature was too trivial to escape his inquisitive intelligence; and when we recall the many and various manifestations of his remarkable talents, his serene wisdom, his shrewd simplicity, his unerring "gumption," as New England calls it, we know no man who served his age, his country and his fellow man so wisely, so usefully, so constantly, so successfully.

His versatility touched so many points, his variety and universality were so infinite that they served to illustrate and emphasize the extraordinary range of his genius.

This man who discovered electricity and formulated the theory upon which modern electrical science and invention are based, who founded the University of Pennsylvania, who unveiled the mystery of the Gulf Stream, found time to add to the domestic safety and comfort of his neighbors by inventing the lightning rod, a mangle to iron clothes, a practical wood stove, a method of abating smoky chimneys, a copying press for letters, and a dozen other inventions and innovations, making the first pair of bifocal spectacles and establishing the first fire insurance company in America.

Naturally in the darkest hour of the Revolution this man, who had helped to organize the Continental Congress, who had counseled the expedition to Quebec under Montgomery, who was the companion and adviser of Washington, who had signed the Declaration of Independence which he had aided Jefferson to write, and whose name and talents were as well known in Europe as in America, was selected to go to France to solicit her aid and alliance. Franklin made a profound impression on Paris by his shrewdness, simplicity and democratic philosophy, and in the face of the opposition of a clever and harassed finance minister secured a treaty of alliance, funds, arms, munitions and an army and navy for the Revolutionary cause that saved it from defeat and made independence possible. He crowned his European service by helping to secure the peace treaty that ended the war and gave birth to the United States.

He returned to his country full of honors to complete his patriotic services and serve in the convention that framed the Constitution of the United States, where his good sense and diplomatic shrewdness accomplished wonders. When the jealous states could not agree upon the form of government and came to a deadlock it was Franklin who abandoned his own idea of a single chamber and brought forward the plan adopted—a Senate with equal representation for each state and a Congress for the people in which representation was based on population, a scheme the historian Parson calls the "happiest political expedient ever devised."

Franklin the philanthropist was engaged in many schemes for the help of other men; he was a constant preacher of thrift as an aid to personal independence, and frugality as a foundation for health and happiness; and he avoided all that smacked of mere charity, being a thorough believer in the value of work, self-independence and self-respect.

Boston, the city of his birth, and Philadelphia, the city of his love and labor, where he sleeps in peace and honor, unvexed by the restlessness of this age, have both benefited by the benevolence of Franklin, through gifts wisely devised and planned, and splendidly directed and conserved. His is the benevolence that grows increasingly useful with the years, beneficences whose purposes are practical and helpful and which constitute monuments to his wisdom and humanity and promise to be preservative of the fame he so justly earned.

With Washington he shares the affection of his countrymen; and, like the Father of Our Country, his fame, increasing with the years, is limited by no frontier, or race or creed.

Boston does well to honor her great son, since his name represents the highest point the reputation and greatness of New England have touched; and she should learn from the life and achievements of the tallow chandler's son, Benjamin Franklin, that much of the fabric of his achievement lay in his splendid vision, his breadth of activity, his recognition of the oneness and worth of humanity, his love of honesty and justice, his fine democracy and good humored contempt for hypocrisy, intolerance and provincialism.

It is true that he left Boston, the city of his birth, while yet a boy to find a broader and better field for the talents he possessed, and in leaving the narrow and provincial Boston of the middle eighteenth century with its intolerances and restrictions, and carrying his slender fortunes to Philadelphia, he was obeying that gift of vision which possessed him, for the capital of the Colony of Pennsylvania was in that age the biggest and busiest town in Colonial America—had a more cosmopolitan atmosphere, a larger mixture of nationalities and religions, a broader spirit of tolerance and a more intense commercial and maritime activity than Boston. Franklin, who would have been cramped, obstructed and discouraged in Puritan Boston, grew and expanded in Philadelphia, meeting all manner of men there, coming in contact with the freedom of thought and action that were hampered at home and training himself for the broader fields of a wider world beyond the colonies.

Boston may well be proud of producing such a son as Benjamin Franklin; Philadelphia helped to stimulate his growth and mold his character and can have equal pride in him; and America can supplement the pride of his cradle and his training school with the gratitude and reverence she holds for this great American she owes so much to, for Benjamin Franklin was one of the glories of our land as he is one of the greatest figures in the annals of humanity.

WEIGHTS AND MEASURES DEPARTMENT.

BOSTON, January 7, 1924.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

SIR,—I respectfully request that the following transfers be made on the budget of this department:

From A-1, 8 Deputy Sealers at $1,900, to A-1, 2 Deputy Sealers at $1,600-$1,800, $47.17.

This money is needed because of an increase in salary during the year to Deputy Sealer J. J. Martin from $1,800 to $1,900.

From B-1, Printing and Binding, $18; B-3, Advertising and Posting, $5.50, to B-39, General Plant Repairs, $23.50.

This money is to be used to pay outstanding bill for repairs made on sealing instruments used by deputy sealers.

From C-4, Motor Vehicle Equipment, to B-14, Motor Vehicle Repairs and Care, $200.

Our original estimate for this item was $3,100 and was cut to $2,700. The current bills for care and repairs for the month will amount to approximately $200, and we have but a small balance at present on this item.

From B-4, Transportation of Persons, to B-35, Fees, etc., $6.

This sum is needed for new registrations for three of the cars for the new year. The original sum of $44 was necessarily over-expended because of new cars, necessitating a re-registration during the year.

From D-1, Office Supplies, to B-2, Postage, $2.

This postage item was for postage cars needed in our taxicab work, which was not figured in on our original estimate.

Respectfully yours,

CHARLES B. WOOLLEY, Sealer.

These transfers were made by the City Auditor with the approval of the Acting Mayor January 9, 1924.

In accordance with which it is hereby ordered that the said Patrolman Chris Hammerslough perform thirty-five hours' punishment duty.

HERBERT A. WILSON,
Commissioner.

General Order No. 461.

On October 15, 1923, a band of loft robbers which had come to this city to make a general clean-up was apprehended in the Allen Building, 67 Chauncy street.

The credit for this excellent and clever capture is due to the united and self-sacrificing efforts of officers attached to the Bureau of Criminal Investigation and Division 4. After eleven weary nights of watch their efforts were rewarded by the capture of this clever and dangerous gang of thieves. These men now are serving substantial sentences in State Prison.

I take great pleasure in commending to this department the men who participated in this capture, both because of the intelligence and courage evinced by them and also because of their persistency in seeing through to a successful conclusion a nerve-wracking job; the successful outcome of which at times seemed very discouraging. As an expression of appreciation not only for the cleverness with which this particular piece of police work was completed but also for the additional time given voluntarily by the officers who participated in the capture of these criminals, I grant one week's leave of absence with full pay to the following officers who took part in this arduous and dangerous detail, namely:

Station 4.—Sergt. Andrew J. Hurley, Patrolman William Hartigan, Patrolman Francis I. Mullen, Patrolman Joseph L. Murphy, Patrolman Joseph D. Sullivan.

Bureau of Criminal Investigation.—Inspector Michael J. Burke, Inspector Edward T. Conway, Inspector John A. Dorsey, Inspector Frederick M. Finn, Inspector Stephen J. Flaherty, Inspector Francis P. Haggerty, Inspector Thomas F. Mulrey, Patrolman George V. Augusta, Patrolman Cornelius Ring, Patrolman Joseph E. Rollins.

I also commend Patrolman Joseph S. Desmond of Division No. 20 for thoroughness in the performance of his duty in seeing that information brought to his attention that suspicious persons were hiring offices in the Allen Building was properly received by the officers of Division 4 for investigation, and to said Patrolman Joseph S. Desmond of Division No. 20 I hereby award two days' leave of absence with full pay.

I wish to thank also the superintendent, the chief inspector and Captain Goodwin of Division 4 for the assistance rendered by them in this matter.

The time and order in which the various leaves of absence granted by this order shall be taken will be arranged by the commanding officers of the respective divisions affected.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

HERBERT A. WILSON,
Commissioner.

General Order No. 462.

A trial board consisting of Captains Harriman Dailey and Laffey, having heard by reference a complaint against Patrolman Tjeerd J. Jongsma of Division 19, charging him with neglect of duty, has reported to the Commissioner a finding of guilty with a recommendation that Patrolman Jongsma perform one hundred and thirty-five hours' punishment duty.

The evidence in the trial of the case disclosed that the officer left his route without permission, went on an adjoining route and there entered a closed automobile where he was later discovered by a sergeant.

The offence of neglect of duty in its various phases is to my mind a very serious one; just how serious, I believe some members of the force do not realize. Numerous complaints have come from citizens stating that they have difficulty in finding a police officer when needed, and the number of complaints coming from commanding officers against patrolmen for failure to pull their "on duty calls" may be taken as indicative of the fact that some of the members of the force are not properly patrolling their routes. Police officers are hired and paid by the citizens of this city to protect persons and property and to prevent crime. It is the duty of police officers to properly patrol their routes, and if they leave them without permission to enter buildings or for other unnecessary causes, not on police business, citizens are not getting the service to which they are justly entitled.

This is the second time that Patrolman Jongsma has been found guilty of this offence. I am of the belief that the punishment duty of one hundred and thirty-five hours, as recommended by the trial board, is not commensurate with the seriousness of the offence charged, and it is, therefore, hereby ordered that Patrolman Tjeerd J. Jongsma perform two hundred and ten hours' punishment duty.

I have gone into the question of neglect of duty at some length with the hope that it will serve as a warning to those members of this department who seem to regard this offence lightly. This is not the first time that I have called the attention of the members of the force to this particular offence. Future disregard for this rule, unless some extenuating circumstances are presented in the trial of the case will be cause for dismissal, because I, as Police Commissioner, do not approve of police officers indulging in any such practices.

Division commanders will read in conjunction with this General Order Rule 27, Section 10, and Rule 36, Section 27 of the Rules and Regulations.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

HERBERT A. WILSON,
Commissioner.

PROCLAMATION BY MAYOR ON FRANKLIN DAY.

The Mayor issued the following proclamation relative to the celebration of Franklin Day.

Benjamin Franklin, born 218 years ago, on January 17, 1706, in this city, was the greatest, wisest, most useful and most famous man Massachusetts has given to the world and the one to whom, next to Washington and Lincoln, the American people owe the deepest debt of gratitude.

Boston was the cradle of his birth; Philadelphia his training school; two worlds the field of his activities and triumphs. In his day he was a typefounder, inkmaker, bookbinder, engraver, printer, stationer, merchant, bookseller, author, editor, publisher, inventor, scientist, philosopher, philanthropist, diplomat and statesman.

Everything he touched he bettered. No phase of human life and living was deemed unworthy of his thought and action; and the betterment of man and the increase of human good were his constant aims.

Constancy, devotion and sacrifice of self marked the service he gave to man and country, liberty, and good government. He helped to formulate the Declaration of Independence; he aided in securing the Treaty of Alliance with France that made independence possible and the Treaty of Peace with England that made the republic a fact; and he was one of the makers of the Constitution of the United States; and he was the only man in American annals who signed all four of these imperishable historic documents. No man served America better.

Washington, writing to Franklin, said: "If to be venerated for benevolence, if to be admired for talents, if to be esteemed for patriotism, if to be beloved for philanthropy, can gratify the human mind you must know that you have not lived in vain."

Not the least of the sources of pride of this ancient City of Boston is the honor that accrues to her in the name and fame of her incomparably greatest son, Benjamin Franklin.

Therefore as Mayor of Boston I ask my fellow citizens to remember the name and honor the birthday of Franklin by a display of flags from homes and houses; I request the schools of the city to make January 17 a Franklin Day; and I direct that the state and national colors be raised over every public building and schoolhouse on that day; and so testify on the 218th anniversary of his birth our reverence, gratitude and admiration for the character and achievement of Benjamin Franklin.

JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston.

PUTS BLAME FOR PROLIFIC BUSINESS OF BOOT- LEGGING AT DOOR OF REPUBLICAN PARTY.

MAYOR CURLEY REPLIES TO CRITICISM OF POLICE COM- MISSIONER'S COMPLAINT OF LACK OF POLICE AND CALLS LICENSING BOARD REAL SORE SPOT IN THE SITUATION.

I have read the statement given the press by Police Commissioner Herbert A. Wilson, and regret exceedingly that he considered the suggestion for the appointment of an officer of the United States Marine Corps, to take charge of the city's police, as a personal affront to him, or a reflection on his administration of the Police Department. It was intended in a general sense and was a simple statement of fact that is understood and appreciated by every citizen, and more particularly by every man in public life, namely, that a civilian police commissioner whose appointment rests with a political party in power cannot avoid being amenable to conditions political.

It is as true of Boston as it is of New York, San Francisco, or any other city in the country. On the other hand an officer of the Marine Corps granted leave of absence to clean up a city has an absolutely free hand to proceed in such manner as he may deem necessary, without fear of consequences, and an absolute certainty that at the completion of his term of service as police commissioner he can be restored to his former status in the Marine Corps.

Police Commissioner Wilson complains that the courts and the District Attorney hamper his work. Co-operation between the Police Commissioner, the judges of our courts and the District Attorney should be a simple matter to obtain. The majority of the judges now sitting are Republican appointees; the District Attorney originally was a Republican appointee, and surely it should not be a difficult matter to develop that degree of harmony within the Republican party as would make possible the creation of a constructive program through which civic virtue might be enhanced and the onward march of the bootlegger be in a measure retarded.

The Police Commissioner bemoans the fact that he requires 100 additional police officers to harass the bootleggers. Last year provision was made to grant fifty additional police officers for traffic purposes; at that time no mention was made that their services might be required for any purpose other than the handling of traffic. I fear that even though we might add five hundred additional men to the Police Department it would not be productive of the right character of results unless the judges and the District Attorney can be induced to co-operate with the Police Commissioner, as he so well points out.

The real sore spot of the entire situation has been apparently overlooked by the Police Commissioner, and I am curious to ascertain if his failure to refer to the same was due to its political complexion. The Licensing Board, appointed by his Excellency the Governor, and created by the commissioner's political party, the Republican party, expends annually slightly in excess of $35,000 in the performance of a function that would be unnecessary since the adoption of the Volstead Act, provided the Police Department were as efficient as the Police Commissioner would have the public believe. A recommendation by the Police Commissioner for the abolition of the Licensing Board, and the purchase of about one thousand Yale locks to be placed on the soft drink establishments to which licenses are issued by the lame duck Republican Licensing Board; a better spirit of co-operation between the Republican agencies in control of the enforcement of the Volstead Act in Democratic Boston would in a measure solve the bootlegging problem in our city. Bootlegging in Boston is a Republican proposition and the odium for its continued existence rests with the dominant party in the state.

ARMY AND NAVY CO-OPERATION PROMISED FOR G. A. R. CONVENTION IN AUGUST.

Mayor Curley was especially gratified on the evening of January 17 to receive letters from United States Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Congressman William P. Connery, Jr., and Congressman A. Piatt Andrew, relative to a detail of troops of the United States Army, and the presence of battleships and other vessels of the United States Navy in honor of the National Encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic, to be held in Boston beginning August 10, 1924.

Senator Lodge advises that he has received a communication from Maj. Gen. A. W. Brewster, U. S. A., Headquarters First Corps Area, at Boston, advising that he will do everything in his power to co-operate with those in charge of the ceremonies, and that he will turn out every available man, gun and band.

Congressman Connery's letter was of similar import.

Congressman A. Piatt Andrew advised Mayor Curley that he had had personal conference with Secretary Edwin Denby of the Navy Department, and was assured that every vessel that the navy has available will be sent to Boston next summer, since he feels that there is no tribute too great that the navy can render to the surviving members of the Grand Army of the Republic.

Senator Lodge, Congressman Connery, and Congressman Andrew have inclosed communications from Hon. John W. Weeks, Secretary of War, relative to the detail of a large complement of troops of the United States Army which will be made by General Brewster.

CITY COLLECTOR BREAKS RECORD FOR TAX COLLECTING.

City Collector McMorrow, due to the tremendous rush upon the part of taxpayers who have failed to properly understand the requirements of the recently enacted law which requires the collection of all taxes levied in the year in which they are levied, found it necessary to extend the time of closing his office until 5 p. m., January 15.

Under the new law any taxes unpaid in excess of $200 will be subject to 8 per cent interest, if unpaid at five o'clock January 15, and this interest charge dates back ninety days.

That the public realizes the value of saving the interest charge was demonstrated Monday when more than one third of a million dollars was collected.

"I desire," said City Collector McMorrow, "to express my sincere thanks to the press of Boston, not only for the publicity that they have given to the work of my department in the collection of taxes, but also for the protection they have afforded the public in notifying them from time to time with reference to the opportunity for avoiding interest charges."

In addition Collector McMorrow further announced that any payments made by mail, which include the proper amount of interest up to Tuesday, mailed that day and bearing Tuesday's postmark, up to midnight would be accepted without the additional 2 per cent interest.

DAMAGES AWARDED.

Grace W. Conant has agreed to accept the sum of $350 as full payment for all land taken from, all rights acquired in and all damages occasioned to her estate on Scott's court by the taking made for playground purposes under the order of the Board of Street Commissioners of June 16, 1923.

REMARKS OF E. MARK SULLIVAN, CORPORATION COUNSEL, CITY OF BOSTON, BEFORE INTER-STATE COMMERCE COMMISSION, WASHINGTON, D. C., JANUARY 8, 1924, ON THE CONSOLIDATION OF NEW ENGLAND RAILROADS.

GENTLEMEN OF THE COMMISSION.—In this hearing I appear in the capacity of Corporation Counsel for the City of Boston, and with the approval of his Honor the Mayor of that city, James M. Curley. Your commission has before it the report of the Joint New England Railroad Committee to the governors of the New England states. In it you will find invaluable assistance. I am frank to say that upon it is premised what I shall say. That report is, of necessity, so voluminous, inclusive of so many, many matters of strictly railroad technique, financing and management, and contains so many recommendations in alternative form for the solution of our railroad situation in New England, that I may not say that Mayor Curley of Boston has given it his unqualified approval.

No man who has given to this complicated question less study than have the members of that New England Railroad Committee and who is admittedly not a railroad man, can hope to lend force to this committee's recommendations, either before this Honorable Commission or the public of the New England states, by the bald assertion that he accepts without reservation their every conclusion of fact and every recommendation. Such a compliment is so indiscriminating, so unintelligent, as to savor of flattery rather than of effective commendation. Much, therefore, that I shall say here will represent only the conclusions of my own mind; yet my authorized presence here clearly indicates the confidence and esteem in which the members of the New England committee are held by the Mayor of Boston.

We come before your commission with a full appreciation of its jurisdiction and power. What you shall conclude within the strict exercise of your authority will be more than recommendatory and permissive in form; coming from this high commission with all its discretionary powers over the rates and operations of the railroads of this land, your conclusions will, in force and effect, be directive, if, indeed, not compelling. For this reason, we of New England are greatly concerned how this commission shall resolve the immediate issue before it.

What is this immediate issue? It is: Shall there be any further consolidation of the New England railroads with outside trunk lines? I appear here in support of the negative of this issue. In a matter so fundamental, so vital to the interests of my city, my state, our New England, one need not be a railroad man to speak with sense and weight upon this question.

New England, by reason of its geographical position and the rate strictures imposed upon it, is not trunk-line territory; it is terminal territory. It originates and receives freight. Thanks to the preferential differential enjoyed by the ports of Philadelphia and Baltimore, no great trunk lines are clamoring for a seaboard gateway on New England's well-indented coast line that projects itself two and three hundred miles farther out into the Atlantic than any other American ports, with arms outstretched, ready to receive that share of the world's commerce that God and nature intended for it, but which, by the more potent mandates of arbitrary governmental interference, at the peril to even safe navigation, must go to the very head of tide waters to deliver its cargo to some inland city.

We have one trunk line connection now, the Boston & Albany with the New York Central. The Boston & Albany Railroad is self-sustaining and might well exist independent of its trunk line connection with the New York Central. It gets nothing from this trunk line connection it might not well expect to receive under different circumstances. To be sure the New York Central wishes this New England connection to prosper; but it is its secondary concern only. It is quite apparent that the chief concern of the New York Central is to siphon as much of the western traffic into New York as possible. The Port of Boston is fast growing lean and poor in the role of supernumerary to this trunk line and its principal port.

From the tenacity with which the Pennsylvania and the Baltimore & Ohio Railroads hold onto the discriminatory freight differentials to their several port terminals, we of New England have no right to expect that by trunk line connection of our roads with either or both of these lines, will New England become anything more than branch line territory.

The two principal railroad systems of New England are at present badly in need of financing, it is true. Because they have been robbed and sandbagged by outside manipulators, the self-respecting people of New England are not going to permit the legitimate offspring of their genius, industry and enterprise, to become orphaned by some cold and calculating stepmother. These children of our genius have inherited estates of vast amplitude and wealth. This inheritance must be preserved to them. It shall not be bartered for a mere mess of pottage.

With, or without local consolidation, the New England roads are now of but little value and profit either to themselves or to other roads. They must first be rehabilitated. And I have faith that they will be. The billion and one half dollars of wealth of municipal Boston will be organized behind them; so even will be the three billions of dollars of metropolitan Boston and the ten billions of dollars of entire New England.

It will not be done with the prodigality and injustice to the public that characterized the rehabilitation of the Boston Elevated system, but it will be done, and done with equal effectiveness. The cities of metropolitan Boston have, by direct taxation of themselves and by increased rates, put into their Elevated Railroad system, within the last four years, over twenty millions of dollars. So that today we have the best and soundest street railway in this country, paying the highest wages and giving the best quality of service.

The great City of Boston, which I have the honor to represent, has alone invested in its subways, available for its street car transportation, over $41,000,000; and through the enterprise of its Mayor is now about to extend its rapid transit lines of the Elevated system over or parallel with suburban railroad lines at an additional cost to the city of over eight million dollars. The great Commonwealth of Massachusetts under its then governor, the honored President of these United States, helped to rehabilitate the finances of the Boston Elevated Railroad by taking over its Cambridge tunnel at any expense to itself of eight million dollars.

Do you commissioners despair of the future of the New England railroads, in the light of what that section of our country has achieved? The New England railroads are not to be offered for sale to outside customers as damaged goods. They are to be retained by New England for service to New England and to the country.

With the assent and approval of this commission, we in New England shall retain the ownership of our railroads. Not that we may be independent of the trunk lines, but rather, not being groveling dependent, we may the better co-operate with them and co-ordinate our service with theirs. We of New England envy not, nor with suspicion regard, the zeal with which other cities and sections of the country seek to advance their local interests. We of New England admire it; we emulate it; in very truth this enterprise and industry is born of the loins of the adventurous pioneers and of the capital of New England by which these great trunk line railroads were built. It behooves every community to trim its own vineyards. New England is prepared to do no less for itself.

LAND-TAKING IN ROXBURY.

The Mayor has approved the order of the Board of Street Commissioners for the taking of land for public improvement consisting of the laying out and construction of Mark street, Roxbury district, as a highway, from Day street southeasterly, bounded and described as follows:

A highway, named Mark street, is hereby laid out from Day street southeasterly, and ordered constructed.

Said highway and the land, exclusive of trees or structures standing upon or affixed thereto, in which an easement for street purposes is hereby taken, is bounded and described as follows:

West by Day street, by two measurements, three and 51-100 feet and thirty-six and 49-100 feet; north by the northerly line of said Mark street as hereby laid out, two hundred two and 74-100 feet; east by the easterly line of said Mark street as hereby laid out, forty and 4-100 feet; and south by the southerly line of said Mark street as hereby laid out, two hundred four and 38-100 feet.

Trees or structures standing upon or affixed to the aforesaid described land shall be removed therefrom within sixty days following a notice of the city's intention to enter upon said land for the purpose of constructing said improvement.

Betterments are to be assessed for the making of the aforesaid improvement.

Ordered, That this Board estimates that the lots of abutting land on both sides of Mark street and the lot of abutting land at the easterly end of Mark street, will receive benefit or advantage, other than the general advantage to the community, from the improvement herein ordered, each of the particular lots to the amount respectively set against it herein; said lots and the supposed owners thereof being shown on a plan marked "City of Boston, Mark Street, Roxbury, Assessment Plan, October 11, 1923, F. O. Whitney, Chief Engineer, Street Laying-Out Department," and on file in the office of said department.

LAND-TAKING IN BOSTON PROPER.

The Mayor has approved the order of the Board of Street Commissioners for the taking of land and buildings on the southwesterly side of Berkeley street, Boston proper, between Stuart street and Stanhope street, containing 17,254 square feet, more or less, for police headquarters building purposes, as follows:

A parcel of land, supposed to belong to Park Square Real Estate Trust, bounded:

Northeast by Berkeley street, one hundred twenty-one and 75-100 feet; southeast by Stanhope street and by common passageway, by two measurements, sixty-one and 16-100 feet and sixty-five and 76-100 feet; southwest by land supposed to belong to Edison Electric Illuminating Company, one hundred and fifty feet; and northwest by Stuart street, one hundred and twenty feet; containing seventeen thousand two hundred and thirty-four square feet, more or less.

Said parcel is shown on a plan marked "City of Boston, Stuart Street, Berkeley Street, Stanhope Street, Boston Proper, December 26, 1923, F. O. Whitney, Chief Engineer, Street Laying-Out Department," and on file in the office of said department.

Voted, That this Board determines that the undermentioned estate sustains damages by the taking made for police headquarters building purposes on the southwesterly side of Berkeley street, Boston proper, between Stuart street and Stanhope street, under the order of the Board, in the amount hereinafter set against it, and awards said amount therefor.

CORNER STONE OF NEW HEALTH UNIT IN NORTH END TO BE LAID THURSDAY, JANUARY 31.

ELABORATE CEREMONIES PLANNED TO COMMEMORATE CELEBRATION OF EVENT, WITH DISTINGUISHED MEN TAKING PART—BUILDING RESULT OF GENEROSITY OF ONE OF BOSTON'S EMINENT CITIZENS, THE LATE GEORGE R. WHITE.

BOSTON'S FIRST HEALTH UNIT IN NORTH END, CORNER STONE OF WHICH IS TO BE LAID THURSDAY, JANUARY 31.

With elaborate ceremonies the corner stone of Boston's first health unit in the North End is to be laid on Thursday, January 31. Those who will take a leading part in the ceremonies will be former Mayor Thomas N. Hart, Mayor James M. Curley, Dr. Francis X. Mahoney and George Cheever Shattuck of the Boston Health League. The erection of this building, one of a number by which it is planned to make Boston the healthiest city in the world in its congested districts, has been a source of great pride to Hon. James M. Curley, Mayor of Boston, and the trustees of the George R. White Fund.

The trustees of the George Robert White Fund awarded contracts for the construction of the first health unit at the North End on February 8 last, and it was then expected that the demolition of Police Station No. 8 and the erection of the new building on its site would be immediately commenced. However, protests were made by various residents and welfare workers of the North End as to the inadvisability of locating the health unit at the corner of Commercial and Battery streets as planned, they claiming that the location selected was on the edge of the district and that the site occupied by the Beth Israel Synagogue on Baldwin place would be more central and far better meet the requirements of the district.

After much careful consideration, including conferences with the various welfare societies working at the North End, the trustees on June 12 voted to approve the site of the synagogue mentioned, together with estates 41-45 North Margin street, as a desirable site for the establishment of the first health unit, in place of the one previously selected, provided proper titles might be obtained of the same.

Invitations have been sent to members of the City Council, various prominent leaders in civic and political affairs of the city, representatives of the Boston Health League, the clergy, institution physicians, heads of settlement houses, heads of dispensaries, members of the press and relatives of the late George R. White because of whose beneficence and philanthropy the work of health has been possible.

In the corner stone when laid are to be placed the trowel, the will of the man who provided for the building of the unit, coins and currency of the day, copies of all the city papers, health journals, health statistics, a golden key to the city, a photograph of Mayor Curley and the donor of the fund, as well as a history of the city and a program of the exercises.

MAYOR PLANS TO RAISE PAY OF 8,000 CITY WORKERS.

Mayor Curley, Monday, January 21, declared his determination to increase the salaries of 8,000 city employees, at an excess expenditure of $1,100,000.

He stated that he thereby hoped to "stabilize the saving wage." He will present his plans in his inaugural address, having given the first announcement of the general increase in an address before the Knights of Columbus in Lawrence, Sunday night.

As a matter of fact the figure 8,000—about half the city employees—includes those who receive the so-called "step rate" increase of $100 a year until the maximum in their classification is reached. The number who receive this automatic increase is estimated at around 3,000. However, those who have already reached their maximum will receive $100 extra.

Those affected are in two groups: Those who receive the "step rate" and laborers and mechanics. The former would receive the increase anyway so the Mayor's announcement has really no bearing upon them.

On the other hand, laborers and mechanics, of whom there are about 3,000, will get increases of $3 a week. At present they are receiving $1 or $4.25 a day. Those whose salaries are $1,800 or less will receive $100 extra. The people in the "step rate" class are chiefly members of the Fire and Police Departments. Telephone operators will be given an extra dollar a week, and library employees also will benefit.

"The saving wage is the most important thing that there is in the world today," declares the Mayor. "Its stabilization at present levels means a tendency toward better housings, a healthier city, a more enlightened city and a more progressive Boston."

In regard to the city tax rate, the Mayor said that he hoped the Legislature would be "very fair" to the city.

"O Boston, fair City enthroned like a radiant queen,
From thy hills looking down on the ship-teeming plain of the ocean,
May thy future be bright, thy skies beam with light all serene,
Ensured by thy sons' and thy daughters' unselfish devotion!"

NATHAN HASKELL DOLE.]

MAYOR CURLEY WOULD HAVE ELEVATED TAKE OVER PORTION OF BAY STATE LINES FOR CHELSEA AND REVERE.

Mayor Curley sent the following letter on January 22:

COL. THOMAS F. SULLIVAN, Chairman, Transit Commission, Boston, Mass.:

DEAR SIR,—A conference committee consisting of the following officials: Mayor Quigley, of Chelsea; Mayor Noone, of Revere; Mayor Kimball, of Malden; Mr. Newton, representing Mayor Chisholm, of Everett; Representative Ritchards, of Malden; Mr. Harriman, chairman of the Metropolitan Planning Commission, and Mr. Ratchesky of the Metropolitan Planning Board, discussed at the office of the Mayor on January 21 the proposition for the purchase by the Boston Elevated Street Railway System of the Eastern Massachusetts Railway lines to Chelsea, Revere, and a portion of Malden, Everett and Maplewood.

I am very desirous that your commission confer with Mr. Henry I. Harriman, chairman of the Metropolitan Planning Board, secure the necessary data and have an investigation made by your Board as to the advisability of considering the project as presented. It has been estimated by the committee submitting the project that the annual cost to the City of Boston would not be in excess of $10,000 and that in the event of this section of the Eastern Massachusetts Railway lines being taken over by the Boston Elevated System, the entire district of metropolitan Boston would then be served by the Boston Elevated Street Railway System.

Provided that the price that the Boston Elevated Street Railway System has to pay for the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway lines in the territory outlined is not exorbitant, and provided further that the amount to be borne by the City of Boston is not in the opinion of your commission excessive, I personally would not be averse to looking with favor on the project, the adoption of which would result in a single fare for Chelsea and Revere.

Respectfully yours,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

TO THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE, 15 Beacon street, for information relative to the operation of the schools of the city.

TO THE SCHOOLHOUSE COMMISSIONERS, Room 1007, City Hall Annex, for information as to the construction and repair of school buildings.

TO THE BOARD OF EXAMINERS, Room 1001, City Hall Annex, for information regarding the licensing of persons having charge or control of the work of construction, alteration, removal or tearing down of buildings.

TO THE WIRE DIVISION OF THE FIRE DEPARTMENT, Fire Department Headquarters, 60 Bristol street, for all information relative to the erection of poles, the building of conduits, the installation of all overhead and underground construction and electrical apparatus, as well as for general information relative to the entire division. To Room 906, City Hall Annex, for permits for the installing of wires and electrical apparatus within buildings in the City of Boston, and for the payment of fees incident to the granting of the privileges above named, and which must be paid in advance.

ject, the adoption of which would result in a single fare for Chelsea and Revere.

Respectfully yours,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

PAINTED BOSTON AS WONDER CITY OF WORLD BEFORE CROWDED HALL AT LIBRARY.

MAYOR CURLEY UNFOLDS TO CITIZENS, IN ADDRESS ON "A VISION OF 1950," HIS IDEAL OF PLANS ALONG WHICH THE MUNICIPALITY HE LOVES AND TOILS FOR SHOULD EXPAND AND GROW AND TOWARD WHICH IT IS BEING SHAPED NOW.

Being neither a prophet, nor the son of a prophet, I do not intend to indulge in idle prophecies; yet when I am asked to speak about the Boston of 1950 I may be permitted to make a prediction and paint a picture of the possibilities and probabilities of the Boston of that date, because a prediction is a forecast based on past experiences, present activities and prospective future developments.

The Scriptures say "A city that is set upon a hill cannot be hid," and a great playwright has written "What is a city but the people." Boston is set upon the hills, and if the city be the people, what the people are the city will be, and as we know our city and our citizens in this day and understand their aims and ambitions, their plans and projects, we may safely forecast the Boston of 1950, the work of each generation expanding and perfecting that of its predecessor, illustrating and fulfilling the law that says "Men may rise on stepping stones of their dead selves to higher things."

The Boston of 1950 will be a city beautiful sitting among her hills traversed by broad thoroughfares that will bring the stranger from all places to engage in the trade and pleasure of the city, and departing, leave Boston with the assurance of safety, satisfaction and comfort. The Boston of that day will be a busy mart of commerce and industry; the waters which ebb and flow at its feet will carry the fleets of all nations and our own to splendidly equipped docks and piers, to load and unload the products of our port. In that day we will have banished and exterminated the cancers of the cities, the slums, where wealth accumulates and men decay, where motherhood withers and childhood rots; and where now these pests persist there then will be open spaces made wholesome and beautiful by the breezes blowing in from the sea, and the genius and labor of the gardener and horticulturist, and there too we will have raised the glory of God, the betterment of humanity and the memory of Boston's benefactor, George R. White; the health units that are to mean so much to every department of our civil welfare. "The city is but the people," and not the least of the factors that will enter into the city beautiful of 1950 will be the happiness and contentment of Boston's people, whose health, vigor and ability to work are made certain and secure by the number and vigilance of the health agencies established and maintained to guard and preserve our workers from the dangers of dirt and disease and the incidence of industry.

The marvelous growth of the motor vehicle industry and the increase in their number for business, pleasure and public convenience, constitute one of the gravest problems in modern municipal administration. It is not insoluble; and in twenty-seven years it must be solved, and solved with measurable finality, if public convenience is to be served and human life safeguarded; 1950 will see this vexatious problem placed among the dangers that are passed, the usefulness it connotes expanded, and its hazards eliminated. Scientific regulation of vehicles of all characters, with reasonable and equitable restrictions as to streets and regions for business and pleasure traffic, a broadening and reconstruction of streets and highways to secure fluidity, mobility and continuity of movement, and the essential complement of such traffic, ample and convenient parking spaces, will be the solution.

The railroad systems that have their termini in Boston will have seen a radical readjustment of their physical facilities in this city by 1950. Passenger and freight traffic will be separated; a great central union station for the reception and distribution of passengers serving the various railroads will be erected. It will be spacious, convenient, architecturally beautiful, its commodious interior fitted with offices for administration and shops, restaurants, waiting rooms, and the various helpful activities that the convenience, comfort and safety of the patrons of the road demand. This union station will receive and deliver its passengers on several levels, each level serving a separate railroad system and all connected with the local municipal roads and the guiding principle and definite purpose of the administration of its manifold activities will be safety, protection and distribution, in a service that will be marked by simplicity, expedition in movement, avoidance of congestion and delay, and the elimination of the hazard, confusions and stupidities that too frequently mar the railroad terminal management of this age. Nor will the note of decorative beauty be forgotten in the construction of this utility. The world is beginning to understand and appreciate the value of visual beauty in the elements that go to make business profitable; and the genius of architect, builder and decorator will combine to transform the prosaic business of going and coming into a joy for the traveler who finds himself waiting and resting inside Boston's temple of transportation in 1950.

The freight business of this city, whether for delivery here or for markets at home and abroad, will probably be conducted in the present passenger stations, radically reconstructed, so as to secure simplicity of administration, speed in reception, in classification, in shipment outward, and a general marked quickening and certainty of functions helpful to Boston's local business and the efficiency of the port. The handling of freight and express matter will be separated and simplified and co-ordinated with a well-regulated delivery system to store and factory, whose purpose at all times will be a service that will be prompt and dependable through streets free from congestion and delay in which traffic will move swiftly and efficiently.

The very fact that the present-day problems and vexations of trade and traffic will have been wiped out and that business in the city will be unhampered and leg-free, means that by 1950 Boston will have expanded in business and building to a city of two millions, that her harbor will be populous with the flags and ships of the commercial world, that from Charlestown to Fore river the water front of Boston will be equipped with piers and docks, her waters dredged, her flats redeemed and crowded with factories and storehouses and that Boston will have entered into her birthright, her dreams materialized.

Socially 1950 will see a Boston that has freed itself from many of the handicaps and evils of this age. The value of the human equation and our duty to the humanity all about us will not only be better understood, but the city will be moved by the higher sense of duty it owes to those whom sickness, ill-fortune, and the inescapable misfortune of life have made helpless and dependent.

The islands intended by God and nature to adorn and beautify Boston and now given over to institutions for the poor, the unfortunate and the derelict, where the conditions of life make for isolation, loneliness and separation from kith and kin, and for circumstances pathetically repellent to age and decrepitude, these islands and their institutions will have been abandoned by 1950; the islands being restored to the natural functions of beautifying and refreshing Boston; the institutions being replaced on the mainland by structures that are human, home-like and hospitable, where the declining days of the public dependents will be made brighter and happier by a closer contact with the world about them and a more frequent opportunity to meet and mingle with those near and dear to them, whose standing in the community and whose lot in life have been cast in a more pleasant place.

One of the saddest and most pathetic features of the life of the dependent poor is their separation from kin and kind in institutions; but in the recasting of our philanthropic theories and our methods of official charity, the institution will be replaced by the home. By 1950 Boston will have learned that sane humane effort and sound economies can work together, and understand the great truth that poverty has been an incident of life and living from the beginning which the fortunate and successful, impatient of human failure, have coldly and cruelly transformed into pauperizing. Pauperizing is the crime of civilization. It is the application of the lex talionis, the law of claw and talon, the law of the jungles, to the unfortunate of humanity.

All the tendencies of this age under the law and through the best thought of America, despite the apparent hardness and needlessness of the times, point to a growing saner consideration of humanity and its weakness and frailty. We are realizing more and more our duty to our fellow man; realizing that whether we will or not we are our brother's keeper; that social cruelty and neglect are sins against the law and threats to civilization's stability; that every injury to our neighbor, conscious or otherwise, is an injury to organized society; that the folly and unwisdom that transforms poverty into pauperism is an offence that cries to Heaven; and, even as He who made two blades of grass grow where only one was, is a benefactor to His race, so he who increases the sum total of human happiness, who makes two men happy where only one was happy heretofore, stands well in the sight of God and man.

This return to higher standards of conduct, to nobler concepts of human duty, will have reached their fruition in 1950, and by the impulse they give to our better and wiser treatment of them who fall by the wayside, they will do their part in making the Boston of 1950 not only materially, but spiritually the city beautiful.

The splendid unshackled philanthropy of George R. White, and the benefaction and uplifting it has brought to the city he believed in and trusted, and the generosity of Francis Parkman which made possible the formulation and development of a playground and park system, will have demonstrated the vision and value of these two great sons of a great city to the Boston they loved. Their names will have grown in worth and honor in the intervening years; they will have erected to themselves monuments less perishable than the stone and bronze that eventually yield to the gnawing tooth of time; for their names and their benefactions will have been written into the hearts and minds of the generations that have come after them.

Wherever the people of Boston turn in 1950 they can look upon the healing and fruitful evidence of the generosity of these two sons of Boston, who in the moral and social duties of great riches and recognizing its obligations to organized society, gave an accounting of their stewardship that has made life and living better for humanity in Boston. Francis Parkman and George Robert White have chosen the wiser part; their actions smell sweet and blossom in the dust; their name and fame will endure in honor as long as Boston sits among her hills by the sea, and will be an example and a stimulus to others in the passing years to emulate their wisdom, catch something of their vision, and like them, write their names in the Book of Gold.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

Upon January 12 the Mayor approved a contract with the J. J. Walsh Company for making over eleven hose wagons. A communication from Theodore A. Glynn, Fire Commissioner, was as follows:

BOSTON, January 8, 1924.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—Permission is hereby requested to enter into contract, without advertising, with the J. J. Walsh Company, 1540 Columbus avenue, to make over eleven (11) hose wagons into hose pungs at a cost of two hundred ten (210) dollars each, or a total of $2,310. The J. J. Walsh Company are to give credit for eleven (11) running gears, amounting to $110, which is to be applied to the bill, making the total contract twenty-two hundred (2,200) dollars.

I desire to make this contract without advertising for the following reasons:

We have standardized on a certain type of pungs for use in this department, and the J. J. Walsh Company have made these pungs over for us in previous years in a very satisfactory manner. The pungs are equipped with a particular type of runner, known as the Travers runner, and the J. J. Walsh Company are equipped to supply and attach this runner. The price offered is reasonable and in my opinion this is a good proposition for the city to accept.

Yours very truly,

THEODORE A. GLYNN,

Various large corporations in and around Boston are also using this type of compressor with great success. BOSTON CHARTER BILL POSTPONED UNTIL TUESDAY.

When the bill amending the Boston city charter was reached in the Senate Thursday afternoon, the question being on concurring with the House in its action in referring the bill to the Committee on Metropolitan Affairs, Senator Haigis of the Franklin-Hampshire Counties, Senate chairman of the Committee on Cities, moved that the Senate nonconcur and that the matter be referred to his committee instead of the Metropolitan Affairs Committee.

He said in substance that his committee had the handling of all the matters relating to other city charters and he did not see why it should not handle the Boston city charter bill.

Out of courtesy to Senator Clark, Senate chairman of the Committee on Metropolitan Affairs, who was absent, Senator Haigis consented to have the further consideration of the matter postponed to next Tuesday.

Hon. E. Mark Sullivan, Corporation Counsel, presented the argument for Mayor Curley.

"We should not make light of the communal psychology when we are permitted to speak of ourselves as a city embracing 1,500,000 persons, instead of a city of 840,000," Mr. Sullivan said. "I notice that the newspapers often carry advertisements announcing that they reach 1,500,000 persons, and as I travel about I almost invariably find that people doing business in Boston, though living outside, register as Bostonians."

Mr. Sullivan said he thought of Greater Boston as a single community by every standard by which it can be measured. It had been determined by the statistical department of Boston that more than a third of the wage-earners living in suburban Boston work in the city, and there was no doubt but the sources of the wealth of the Greater Boston center in the city.

Boston's finances are in remarkably fine shape, Mr. Sullivan continued. Milton and Brookline might be better but slightly off by consolidation with Boston, and the reason why is because they make themselves exclusive. Consolidation would help Revere and Chelsea. Boston is rapidly reaching its saturation point in population and it is time we "trimmed our own vineyards."

MAYOR URGES UNION STATION, ALSO ELECTRIFICATION, IN BOYLSTON STREET ASSOCIATION ADDRESS.

The importance of erecting a union railroad station at some centrally located point in the city and electrifying the steam roads within a fifteen-mile radius of Boston was stressed Monday night by Mayor Curley, speaking at the monthly meeting of the Boylston Street Association, Inc., at the Hotel Brunswick.

The Mayor declared that the business men must look twenty-five or fifty years ahead and not plan from day to day. He said that more could be done toward developing Boston by establishing a union station and electrifying the roads than in any other conceivable manner.

"The business men need the courage to visualize the station," continued the Mayor. "It would probably cost $15,000,000," he said, but he expressed the opinion that that sum could be secured as easily as the money for the Province street widening.

The Mayor declared that the station should be erected at the Exeter street yards of the Boston & Albany Railroad, which he called an "eyesore." He said that if a modern station were constructed there the whole city would be benefited, especially the Huntington avenue and Bolyston street sections. He said the station could be so built that the trains could come into it, going around in a circle, thus eliminating the backing in and out.

The Mayor told the members of the association that the proposed police headquarters in Park square would aid their business, as the erection of other large buildings would follow.

He recommended that the association oppose any lifting of restrictions on land in the Back Bay unless it is to provide opportunity for the widening of streets.

Discussing the possibility of the building of a Ford plant at the Sullivan Square Playground, the Mayor said that he entertained no doubt about the matter. He told the association that several other factories would follow, if the way was opened by Ford.

He said that arrangements have already been made with two other organizations, the International Harvester Company and the Mack Motors, for export plants in Allston.

NEED $100,000 MORE FOR FANEUIL HALL RESTORATION.

It will cost $315,000 to restore Faneuil Hall. Mayor Curley announced Thursday, January 24, that he would ask for an additional appropriation of $100,000 in order that the work now in progress may be completed. The project started during Curley's first administration. In 1916 he attempted to get a loan through but failed. In 1917 a loan of $120,000 was passed, of which sum about $68,000 was for the hall, $50,000 for the Quincy Market and $2,000 for the Old State House.

Last year $150,000 was appropriated, making a total available for the hall at that time of about $215,000. So far the city has paid on account $38,316.

According to the Mayor, who had a conference on the subject, the engineers found that the foundation of the hall is not sufficiently strong to bear the added weight of a concrete floor. Making the foundation stronger will cost $25,000. In addition, it is now proposed to renovate the entire hall as well as the headquarters of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company. A complete telephone service will also be installed, while the most modern fireproofing will be put in.

It was originally decided to surround the hall with a canopy. This is being done although at a greater cost than estimated. The paint on the outside is to be blasted away. The building will then resemble the Old South Meeting House in color, red bricks with white concrete.

The engineers state that some of the "footings," or piles, were laid in loose stones or else in mud. The piles are in fairly good condition, however. Cram & Ferguson are the architects.

TREES ON COMMON HEALTHIER THAN FOR YEARS.

Trees on Boston Common are in a better condition now than they have been for many years according to Deputy Park Commissioner William P. Long before the tree wardens of the state, Thursday, Jan. 24. The tree wardens and foresters were holding the annual meeting of their association. He recalled the period a few years ago when so much concern was felt for the trees on the Common because they appeared to be dying and it was found that they were infested by the leopard moth and, besides that, were starving from lack of nutrition in the soil.

As a result of that outbreak and the prevalence of the tussock moth at the same time a campaign was mapped out to determine what kind of trees might be planted that would resist these moths, and by the year 1910 it was generally agreed that the European linden and the true English elm were the best kinds to plant in Boston.

They are gradually being substituted for the other species. About one half of the beautiful American elms in the city have since been removed. Fertilization of the soil on the Common was found to be necessary, the excavation around all the trees and the building over of the soil all over the Common, with the result that the trees which had been dying have shown vigorous growth since. When the ground was opened last year in some places it was found that there had been a fibrous growth of 19 inches, and the trees are in a better state of health today than they have been for years. There are about 75,000 shade trees in Boston.

MAYOR REPLIES TO THE FINANCE COMMISSION REPORT ON CAMBRIDGE STREET WIDENING LANDS.

CALLS COMMISSION'S ATTENTION TO ITS PATENT OVER-EAGERNESS TO CRITICISE SALES, PARTICULARLY SINCE BODY HAS ABSOLUTE SUPERVISION OVER AWARDS—ALSO SUGGESTS CONFERENCE WITH BOARD OF STREET COMMISSIONERS MIGHT HAVE SERVED BETTER PURPOSE.

Mayor Curley sent the following answer to the Finance Commission Monday, January 21:

HON. MICHAEL H. SULLIVAN, Chairman Boston Finance Commission:

MY DEAR JUDGE,—I beg to acknowledge receipt of report of your commission relative to the widening and construction of Cambridge and Court streets in the City of Boston and am at a loss to understand the occasion for the same.

Under the provisions of section 2 of chapter 489 of the Acts of 1923, no final confirmation or action can be taken by the Street Commission in the matter of an award or an assessment until all facts relative thereto shall have been submitted to the Boston Finance Commission and have been in their possession for a period of ten days prior to final action. I beg to quote this particular section of the statutes:

"provided, however, that no award or settlement of damages for any taking hereunder, and no assessment or settlement of betterments, except pursuant to judgment rendered in eminent domain proceedings or proceedings for the adjudication of betterments, shall be made unless the terms of such award, assessment or settlement and all pertinent facts shall have been submitted to the Boston Finance Commission not less than ten days before such award, assessment or settlement is made."

In view of the power to exercise absolute supervision in the matter of awards for damages or betterment assessments that are contained in the act, and contained for the first time in any similar street widening act, it would appear that the interests of the city might be better served provided a conference had been requested by you as chairman of the Finance Commission with the Board of Street Commissioners.

I cannot in view of your great mental attainments and splendid experience believe that you ever dictated or wrote the communication or at least that portion of it which criticises real estate operators for purchasing property on Cambridge street. It is obvious that a man could not succeed either in the real estate or any other business unless he kept himself informed as to the activities taking place in his particular field of operation. You point out that some thirty parcels have changed hands since the news of the street widening became public property. I know no reason why this should occasion surprise, as for myself I am greatly surprised that the number is not many times greater as in all probability if the street widening had not been proposed it is not unreasonable to assume that every property owner on the street would have disposed of his holdings even at a loss. The prospect of turning property that has been dormant for many years into cash and at an advanced price is the character of transaction that would naturally appeal to an intelligent real estate operator and if men have seen fit to invest their money in this section of the city their zeal and their good judgment should be commended rather than serve as a subject for criticism and I personally believe that on reflection you will agree with me as to these details.

For the good name of the city and in view of the safeguards that in your opinion were necessary and that upon your recommendation were adopted by the Legislature of 1923, it might be advisable in the matter of future consideration of this project by the Finance Commission to adopt some more dignified method than that which has been followed in this particular case.

Respectfully yours,

JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor.

FINANCE COMMISSION REPLIES TO MAYOR.

The Finance Commission replied to Mayor Curley for his defense of the real estate operators whose activities in the zone of the proposed Cambridge street widening were the subject of a report to the Mayor by the commission.

"The attitude which your Honor takes in defending the persons who have purchased within the zone of the taking of land for this great public improvement, thereby making themselves possible litigants against the City of Boston, is indeed surprising," retorted Judge Michael H. Sullivan, chairman of the Finance Commission. "While there may be no legal objection to any one purchasing land after knowledge that it is about to be taken for a public improvement, there is, in the opinion of the Finance Commission, a moral consideration that ought to restrain any person seeking to enrich himself at the expense of the public.

"It seems unfortunate that your Honor whose approval is necessary before the widening is made and whose approval of the award for damages is afterwards necessary, should defend such purchases."

*Included in the miscellaneous companies is company such as Tower 2, for example, which will have a great many men, many of whom are permanently disabled and will be advantageously detailed where they can function successfully in the service of the department.

5, 11, 17, 23, 29, days and nights; February 6, 12, 18, 24, nights.

The hours of duty as prescribed by city ordinance will be from 8 a. m. to 6 p. m. for the day shift, and from 6 p. m. to 8 a. m. for the night shift.

Members of a group going off duty will be relieved by the members of another group coming on duty, and if any member of the coming-on-duty group be late, report of same shall be made and forwarded to headquarters. For the time that the member is late a man from the off-duty shift will be selected by the commanding officer to remain until the late member reports. The men who are to remain overtime in this case must have this time made up to them by the men whom they are covering, and should it be a chauffeur, pump operator, telegrapher or any specially qualified man, he shall be covered by a man having similar qualifications. The main thing that must be impressed upon members is that they must be on time.

When two officers of equal rank are assigned to the same command, as two district chiefs in the same district, the senior shall be the commanding officer, and the relations between him and the junior officer shall be just the same as that between a captain and lieutenant of a company. The senior officer shall determine all questions of general department policy and the junior officer shall not depart from the other practices. The junior officer, while in command, shall determine only matters which would not permit of postponement for the senior's consideration.

An emergency call will be established for concentrating the entire force, if necessary, for fire or other emergencies. On the other hand, if needed, during abnormal conditions, the entire force will remain on duty until dismissed.

Members on leaves of absence and off-duty periods must not leave the city, with the exception of days-off and vacation periods, so that they may be within call if needed. Permission to depart from this rule must be obtained through the Fire Commissioner, except for a short space of time such as two or three hours, in which case, permission may be granted by district chiefs.

Members shall not be allowed to be employed by any firm, corporation or individual, for pay, in any capacity on their time off duty, with the exception of fraternal organizations with the approval of the Fire Commissioner. For the violation of this rule members shall be liable to discharge from the department.

The attention of the department is called to Rule 349 of the Rules and Regulations, which requires that all members shall reside within the city limits. This rule must be strictly complied with, and the telephone numbers of all members, including new members, must be forwarded to headquarters. In the event of a member not having a telephone in his home, the nearest telephone number by which he can be reached will be given.

In all cases the efficiency of a company must be equally divided, without bias, and deputy and district chiefs will see that this is done effectively.

The attention of all members of the department is called to the fact that members who are on day-off on January 31 must report back to their company quarters at 8 a. m., February 1.

All meetings held by members who are affiliated with associations or clubs must be attended to while off duty, and, for that matter, all outside activities shall be so conducted as not to lessen the numerical strength of the department.

Company commanders shall call the roll of the company twice daily, at 8 a. m. and 6 p. m.

Deputy chiefs will see to it that the various district chiefs in their respective divisions thoroughly understand the above instructions, and the district chiefs in turn will also see that the various company commanders under their command fully understand same.

By order of Fire Commissioner Theodore A. Glynn.

JOHN O. TABER,
Chief of Department.

Incidentally it might be mentioned that while the total expenditure under Item B-42 appears to be large, the greater percentage of this amount is actually paid by the petitioners.

The transfers from E-6, Water, of $110,000 to High Pressure Fire System Extension is a renewal of the request of the Commissioner of Public Works dated October 10, 1923, to transfer money from E-6 to High Pressure Fire System Extension. On account of the fact that E-6 is a current year item it was not possible to contract for water pipe and materials which, owing to manufacturing conditions, could not under any consideration be delivered during the fiscal year 1923-24, consequently the appropriation should more properly come under standing accounts.

Very respectfully,

E. F. MURPHY,

Acting Commissioner of Public Works.

The above transfers were made by the City Auditor with the approval of the Mayor January 16, 1924.

REGISTRY OF DEEDS.

THE FINANCE COMMISSION REPORT ON OVERSEERS OF PUBLIC WELFARE PROPERTY.

The Finance Commission has made the following report as requested by the Mayor, on replacing the property of the Overseers of the Public Welfare:

Boston, January 23, 1924.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,

Mayor of Boston:

SIR.—In response to your Honor's request for a report on the advisability of replacing the property occupied by the Overseers of the Public Welfare on Chardon street with a new structure, the commission submits the following report:

I. THE PRESENT PLANT.

(a.) The Location.—The buildings are in a district of high fire hazard, largely second-class construction, warehouses and shops; otherwise it is a good location for the work.

(b.) The Land.—The lot of land on which these buildings stand contains 19,962 square feet, with a frontage of 143 feet on Chardon street, 105 feet on Hawkins street, and 173 feet on Bowker street. The buildings cover but 13,000 square feet or about three quarters of the entire area.

(c.) The Buildings.—There are three buildings, viz., administration, three stories; women's lodging house, four stories; and a one story brick building, which contains the boiler house and a storehouse, now unused. The buildings were erected in the sixties. The two larger ones are of substantial construction; brick bearing walls, wood framed floors and partitions, mansard slated roofs. The stories are high stud. 14 feet and 15 feet high, the windows adequate for ordinary domestic use if light from outside is unobstructed, but inadequate for clerical work. The boiler plant, which furnishes steam for heating and domestic purposes, is in the one-story building, entirely separated from the other buildings. There are two tubular boilers twenty-five years old, low pressure. They are adequate for their purpose and should give satisfactory service for several years. The plumbing is old and unsatisfactory.

II. OCCUPATION.

1. Administration Building.

(a.) The Overseers.—The Board room is of ample size and otherwise fairly satisfactory.

The secretary and his force occupy a space that is adequate in size, but ill-arranged and ill-lighted for clerical work.

The treasurer and bookkeepers, who are in charge of the daily payments, are in similar quarters. Neither these quarters nor the vault are convenient or entirely safe for handling payments averaging $3,000 a day.

The space at present occupied by the force of visitors is not as large as is desirable, and it is necessary for two or more of these officials to occupy the same room for their interviews and clerical work. Above the ground floor there are several unoccupied rooms.

Repairs are needed, including removal of partitions, rearrangement of rooms, new plumbing and lighting fixtures, ventilating equipment, new floors, and painting.

(b.) Other Organizations in the Building.—At present the Boston Provident Association, the Family Welfare Society, the St. Vincent de Paul Society, the German Aid Society, the Co-operative Work Rooms, the Industrial Aid Society and the Exchange Index have quarters in the building.

The Family Welfare Society is in the old hall on the top floor, which is subdivided and the floor space increased by a gallery. The co-operative work rooms have increased the floor capacity in three rooms by putting in a second floor.

(c.) Other Organizations not in the Building.—The value of having the city's various charities, public and private, closely related is generally acknowledged. There are many private charities which are not in this building. The Jewish Welfare Society and the Children's Aid Society both have been in the building and left because the working conditions were not adequate.

2. Temporary Home for Women.

The building is four stories high with wooden stairs, and various fire exits and fire escapes. It provides sleeping accommodations for fifty people. Ordinarily the daily average number of applicants does not exceed twenty-five. The plumbing is wholly out of date. Repairs to the walls and ceilings are needed, some new floors and also painting and improved lighting.

3. Boiler House and Store.

The boiler house has somewhat inadequate coal bins, but is otherwise a satisfactory building.

The storehouse was used as a grocery store, but now orders are given on chain stores and no supplies are kept at the headquarters.

It is not practicable to make the administration building and the women's lodging house fireproof, or to alter the height of the stories. It is practicable to improve conditions by installing new ventilating and lighting facilities, putting in new plumbing, repairing floors, roofs, walls and ceilings and painting.

III. NEW BUILDINGS.

From the estimates of the cost of a new building or buildings on the present location which the Finance Commission has secured, it is clear that the cost would not be less than $600,000. The demand upon the Temporary Home for Women at present is considerably below the accommodation. This home is not as up to date as a new building, but it could be made serviceable for many years by new plumbing and interior repairs. A new structure ought not to be built in these times of high tax rates and top prices in building construction simply to secure greater convenience. While it is true that a modern administration building would be more convenient to carry on the business of the department, conditions in the present buildings are far from intolerable. By the expenditure of a comparatively small amount of money the buildings can be made adequate and comfortable for the next five years at any rate and possibly longer.

The widening of Cambridge and Court streets is very likely to make a change in the character of that section of the city, particularly in the part where these city buildings are located. This change may occur within the next five years and the question of putting a new building on the present location or moving to some other location can be more definitely determined at that time than it possibly can be today.

IV. RECOMMENDATIONS.

The Finance Commission recommends:

1. That the building on Chardon street occupied by the central office of the overseers be repaired as to plumbing and ventilation, and that such other and further repairs as are necessary for bettering the facilities and comfort in the occupation of the building be made.

2. That modern plumbing and sanitary appliances be installed in the Temporary Home for Women, and that the interior of this building be repaired and repainted where necessary.

Respectfully submitted,

THE FINANCE COMMISSION.

by MICHAEL H. SULLIVAN,

Chairman.

LAND-TAKING IN BOSTON PROPER.

The Mayor has approved the order of the Board of Street Commissioners for the taking of land and buildings located on the passageway running southerly from Garden street arch, in the rear of the Grant School property on Phillips street, Boston proper, containing approximately 1,777 square feet, for school purposes the following described parcel of land, including the trees, buildings and other structures standing upon or affixed thereto:

A parcel of land, supposed to belong to Hannah Greenwood, bounded:

West by land of the City of Boston fifty and 34-100 feet; north by land supposed to belong to Frederick M. Smith, two and 38-100 feet; west by the same, 33-100 feet; north by the same, and by land supposed to belong to heirs of James E. West, thirty-three and 5-100 feet; east by land supposed to belong to Benjamin Florence et al., and to Max Cohen et al., thirty-seven and 12-100 feet; south by land supposed to belong to Max Cohen et al., two feet; east by the same, thirteen feet; and south by common passageway and by land supposed to belong to Harry B. Friedberg, thirty-four and 16-100 feet; containing seventeen hundred and seventy-seven square feet, more or less. This estate is taken with the reservation to the owners, their heirs and assigns, of the estate adjoining the parcel taken hereunder, on the northerly side, of the right to use the northerly wall of the said Greenwood estate in accordance with their legal rights. This estate is taken subject to such rights, if any there be, in the owners of the estates adjoining on the easterly side of the estate taken hereunder and supposed to belong to Benjamin Florence et al. and to Max Cohen et al., in a strip of land shown and designated on the plan hereinafter referred to as "Common Passageway 4 feet wide," and said Greenwood estate is taken with the reservation to said owners, their heirs and assigns, of the right to use said common passageway in accordance with their legal rights.

Said parcel is shown on a plan marked "City of Boston, Garden Street Arch, Garden Street, Phillips Street, Boston Proper, September 21, 1923, F. O. Whitney, Chief Engineer Street Laying-Out Department," and on file in the office of said department.

Voted, That this Board determines that the undermentioned estate sustains damages by the taking made for school purposes in the rear of the Grant School property on Phillips street, Boston proper, under the order of the Board, in the amount hereinafter set against it, and awards said amount therefor.

EXTENSION OF CONTRACTS.

BOSTON SANATORIUM.

Henry C. Sheils has been granted an extension of the date of completion of the contract for the erection of refrigerating machinery room, to January 28, 1924. This extension is made necessary because owing to various delays, the contract was not completed on January 1, 1924, as called for, and now an extension to January 28, 1924, is granted because it is found that the concrete walls were not sufficiently waterproofed, and the walls and floor of a pit in which is the iron brine tank must be made absolutely waterproof before the tank can be put in.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

Walter Curley has been granted an extension of the time of completion of contract for alterations at Engine House No. 19, until January 10, 1924. The delay was caused by the conditions under which the work had to be done. The present dormitory could not be touched until all the work on the new dormitory had been completed.

Petroleum Heat and Power Company have been granted an extension of contract for the installation of oil-burning equipment at the quarters of Engine Company 25, Fort Hill square. The contractor was unavoidably held up on the completion of the concrete tank and this delay necessitates asking for extension.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

The C. & R. Construction Company have been granted an extension of the time of completion of the contract for the building of sewerage works in Grove street, between Washington street and Centre street, West Roxbury, from January 1, 1924, to January 31, 1924, thirty days.

The J. Edward Ogden Company have been granted an extension of the time of completion of the contract for two sets of ferry bridge galleys frame and accompanying machinery for the South Ferry, from December 14, 1923, to March 14, 1924. This extension covers only the work to be done on the Boston side and is requested on account of the difficulties encountered in securing competent erection men.

William Barrett & Co. have been granted an extension of the time of completion of the contract for building sewerage works in Florence street, between Harrison avenue and Washington street, city proper, from December 22, 1923, to January 3, 1924. Twelve days.

V. Barlotta has been granted an extension of the time of completion of the contract for building sewerage works for Dorchester Brook sewer, East Fork, in East Cottage street and Humphreys street, from Norfolk avenue to Holden street, Dorchester, from December 29, 1923, to June 1, 1924, 154 days.

This extension of time is in addition to a previous extension dated November 3, 1923, making a total of 180 days, and is occasioned by the fact that on account of freezing weather the relaying of pavements cannot be done until the spring months.

MAYOR WANTS INCREASE IN CORPORATE EXCESS TAXES.

Because of the failure of corporation taxes to keep pace with the cost of government Boston and other cities of the Commonwealth have been hard hit according to Rupert S. Carven, City Auditor of Boston, who appeared before the Committee on Taxation, Tuesday, January 22, in support of a bill of Mayor Curley's to provide that the present rate of $5 per $1,000 on the value of corporate excess shall be increased to $10, while the rate of two and one half per cent on the net income shall remain the same.

Mr. Carven said that the cost of government has gone up 50 to 75 per cent, and real estate is suffering because it is compelled to bear the larger part of the increased burden of providing the additional money required by cities and towns.

The city received from the state treasury as its share of taxes collected from corporation in the year ending January 31, 1922, Mr. Carven, said, the sum of $4,838,000. "Last year," he said, "the city received only $2,655,000, and this year, for eleven months, the figure is $2,681,000. This includes business corporations, public service corporations, savings banks and all other corporations, both foreign and domestic."

Another fault according to Mr. Carven, with the present law is that by reason of the fact that the income from the tax of 2½ per cent on profits fluctuates, the city never knows in advance what it is to receive, and the city officials are largely in the dark in making estimates of revenue. If the $5 rate were increased to $10, he said, the city would have a fairly fixed sum which would produce a tax which while it would be fair to the corporations, would provide a fair income from this source for the city.

Corporation Counsel E. Mark Sullivan also spoke for the bill. He said that the radical changes made in the tax laws in the past five or six years have been extremely disappointing in results. Mr. Sullivan pointed out that the present tax on corporations—$5 per $1,000 on the corporate excess contrasts strangely with the old property tax levied in the same way that all real estate taxes are levied, and which today would be about $27 per $1,000 under the old system.

CITY COLLECTOR TO SELL DELINQUENT TAX PROPERTY.

City Collector William M. McMorro announces that of the total warrant of $43,558,012.48, the collections to January 19, inclusive, amounted to $38,886,662.59, which leaves a balance of $4,416,517.27. Interest at 8 per cent now being charged is on all taxes in excess of $200, from and including October 16. Estates where the taxes remain unpaid after January 31 will be advertised for immediate sale. Under the new law the collector is obliged to sell all property, at once, where the taxes are not paid in the year they are levied.

CASH BALANCE FOR CITY AT END OF YEAR.

Boston will have a cash balance on hand at the end of the fiscal year, February 1, for the first time in the city's history, Mayor Curley predicted after spending the entire day preparing his address to the new City Council which comes in on February 4.

He based his conclusion on numerous conferences with department heads in obtaining material for the report of his year's stewardship. All bills contracted during the year, furthermore, will have been paid within the year, as provided by a recently enacted law.

The Mayor deserted his office and went into hiding in a part of City Hall where he obtained seclusion. Within the next few days he plans again to elude official and other visitors for as much time as he can spare to round his address into proper shape.

One of the things which he will recommend is an appropriation of $15,000 for establishment of a women's employment bureau in the Archbishop John J. Williams Memorial Building, Brookline street and Shawmut avenue.

The bureau is in the basement of City Hall. The Mayor objects to this location as unsuitable because of the large number of men, seeking employment at the men's division of the bureau, who fill the corridors and stairways. His proposal is to relieve the women of this embarrassment.

Another recommendation will be the spending of $150,000 for completing improvements on Columbus Park, South Boston, part of the Strandway project. The Mayor would have 500 trees planted there as a memorial to Boston men who lost their lives in the world war. Each tree would bear a permanent marker inscribed with the name of one of the heroes.

MAYOR STARTS PROBE OF WATER SUPPLY SOLD TO CITY.

Mayor Curley has written a letter to Christopher J. Carven, division engineer of the Water Service, asking him to investigate the quality of water being supplied and also to report on the increase in charges under the present rate system as contrasted with the system in operation prior to the adoption of the new method. He also suggested that Mr. Carven look into the possibilities of developing water power and storage facilities.

The Mayor said that he had had no complaints regarding the water. He hopes to lessen the cost of supplying water to Boston. In 1917 the city paid $1,700,000 and for next year the price is estimated at $1,900,000. If the system of charges, instead of being one third on the valuation of the section served and two thirds on consumption, might be based entirely on consumption the yearly saving would be $150,000, according to the Mayor.

WANTS CAMBRIDGE STREET TAK-INGS ON PURCHASE PRICE BASIS.

The Finance Commission has addressed the following communication to the Mayor relative to property figuring in the widening of Cambridge street.

Boston, January 19, 1924.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

SIR,—In chapter 489 of the Acts of 1923, entitled "An Act to provide for the Widening and Construction of Cambridge street and Court street in the City of Boston," the following provision appears in section 2.

"provided, however, that no awarding of damages for any taking hereunder and no assessment or settlement of betterments except pursuant to judgment rendered in eminent domain proceedings, or proceedings for the adjudication of betterments shall be made, unless the terms of such award, assessment, or settlement and all pertinent facts shall have been submitted to the Boston Finance Commission not less than ten days before such award, assessment, or settlement is made."

The Street Commissioners, on request, have furnished the Finance Commission with a plan showing the proposed widening of Cambridge and Court streets and giving the names of the owners of record of the land to be taken as of October 1, 1923.

It appears from the investigation made by the commission that there have been 30 sales of property involved in the proposed widening of Cambridge street, since May 1, 1922. Although there had been little or no real estate activity on Cambridge and Court streets for a number of years previously, since the proposed widening began to be discussed in 1922 a few persons have purchased properties on Cambridge and Court streets and the streets adjoining which the city would be obliged to take, in whole or in part, under the proposed widening, or which after the widening would front upon or be adjacent to the new thoroughfare. The dates of the purchases, the record ownership where it differs from the actual ownership, and the location of the properties are as follows:

Nos. 193 and 195 Cambridge street were purchased on May 3, 1922, by Melvin F. Hill and Harold G. King, taking title in the name of Mary F. Harnedy, secretary to Mr. Hill. Mr. Hill is a real estate operator.

Nos. 140-144 Cambridge street were purchased in August, 1922, by Hannah Greenwood, who took title in her own name. She purchased the property following the foreclosure of a mortgage.

Nos. 152 and 154 Cambridge street were purchased on December 1, 1922, by W. F. Scott, trustee of the Franklin Realty Trust, from Eugene B. Hamilton and John McIntosh, who bought the property from the Porter estate on September 21, 1922. The title of the Franklin Realty Trust is recorded in the name of Arthur J. Phalen, who has no interest in the property. The trust is a realty company, the business of which is buying and selling real estate.

Nos. 118-122 Cambridge street were purchased by John C. Kiley & Co. from Jeremiah Green, on December 30, 1922, title being taken on February 1, 1923. On April 4, 1923, John C. Kiley & Co. sold this property to Dr. Walter G. McGauley.

Nos. 201 and 203 Cambridge street were purchased by Rosie Jacobowitz and Carrie Levinson on January 24, 1923, from the Boston Safe Deposit and Trust Company.

Nos. 30 and 32 Cambridge street were purchased in March, 1923, at a foreclosure sale. The title of the property stands of record in the name of William J. Stober. The actual owner is G. Augustus Holzman, who is a real estate operator.

Nos. 298-304 Cambridge street had been owned by Walter Nash for about twenty years. A few years ago he sold them, taking a mortgage back. Mr. Nash foreclosed this mortgage by public sale in March, 1923, buying the property in himself.

Nos. 162-184 Cambridge street were purchased by Joseph Rittenberg and Samuel Waldmann, trustees of the Irving Realty Trust, on May 9, 1923. This trust owns a garage in the rear of this property.

Nos. 109 and 111 Court street were purchased by the Sudbury Amusement Company, Adolphus M. Burroughs, treasurer, on November 9, 1923, from the trustees under the will of Stephen Minot Pitman. The purchaser had been lessee of this property for some years.

Nos. 317 and 319 and 327-333 Cambridge street; the Edison Electric Illuminating Company took an option on Nos. 327-333 on August 14, 1923, and about the same time took an option on the adjoining parcel, 317 and 319. Title to Nos. 327-333 was taken for the company in the name of William T. Fleming on September 14, 1923. In order to get title to the second parcel, Nos. 317 and 319, it was necessary to have a mortgage foreclosed by public sale, which was done in October, 1923. At the auction sale John C. Kiley, Henry F. Wood and Frederick L. McGowan purchased the property in their own behalf, and on November 6 sold it to the Edison Company. On the same date a deed to the Edison Company from William T. Fleming of the adjoining property was recorded. The purpose of this purchase by the Edison Company was to procure a site in this locality to establish a distributing station.

Nos. 301 and 303 Cambridge street were purchased by Fannie H. Stone on June 1, 1923. Her husband had been in business at that location for eight years.

No. 7 Bowdoin street was purchased by John C. Kiley on March 6, 1923, and title was taken in the name of Thomas A. Ryan, the actual owners being John C. Kiley and Edward F. Cassell.

Nos. 173-177 Cambridge street were purchased on March 23, 1923, by John C. Kiley and title taken in the name of Charles H. Connelly, but the property is actually owned by John C. Kiley and Edward F. Cassell.

In addition to the last two purchases, John C. Kiley purchased properties from seventeen other owners on Cambridge and Court streets and adjoining streets. The dates of purchase are as follows:

November 8, 1922, 283-298 Cambridge street.

November 16, 1922, 102 and 104 West Cedar street.

November 16, 1922, 9 Gilson court.

November 18, 1922, 243-249 Cambridge street.

November 21, 1922, 223-233 Cambridge street; 1-7 North Anderson street; 3 Lawrence place.

November 22, 1924, 308-312 Cambridge street.

November 22, 1922, 214-228 Cambridge street; 4-8 Anderson street; 1, 2, 3 Brooks place.

November 24, 1922, 171 and 173 Cambridge street.

November 25, 1922, 50 Howard street.

November 27, 1922, 52-62 Cambridge street; 5 Temple street.

December 4, 1922, 213-221 Cambridge street; 6, 7, 8 Lawrence place.

December 15, 1922, 106 West Cedar street.

January 2, 1923, 205-209 Cambridge street.

January 19, 1923, 1 Lindall place.

January 25, 1923, 3 Adams place.

June 29, 1923, 130-136 Cambridge street.

July 20, 1923, 7 Temple street.

All these properties were purchased and recorded in the names of persons other than Mr. Kiley. Deeds were taken from these different title holders to the Northern Realty Trust, which to January 1, 1924, have not been recorded.

The Northern Realty Trust was created on December 11, 1922. This trust is owned by John C. Kiley of John C. Kiley & Co. and Guy W. Currier, an attorney with offices at 6 Mt. Vernon place. Messrs. Kiley and Currier do not, however, appear as owners in the trust instrument. The trust was formed "as a vehicle" to hold the properties which Mr. Kiley was purchasing on Cambridge and Court streets and vicinity.

Messrs. Kiley and Currier were before the Finance Commission on the afternoon of December 31, 1923. That evening—according to testimony given by Mr. Kiley on January 3, 1924, when he was again called before the Commission—he and Mr. Currier "talked together" and Mr. Currier, who "was more or less put out that I (Mr. Kiley) had bought things that were going to be totally taken," requested Mr. Kiley to sell any property which they had on Cambridge or Court streets that was to be totally taken by the city, or where the taking by the city was to exceed 50 per cent of their ownership. On the same day, January 3, Mr. Kiley presented a letter to the Finance Commission which Mr. Currier had written to him, confirming their talk on the evening of December 31.

Mr. Kiley further testified on January 3 that he sold the property numbered 308-312 Cambridge street—which was wholly included in the widening on that very day, January 3, without loss, but was unwilling to give the name of the purchaser.

The Finance Commission recommends that the damages awarded for the taking by the City of Boston of the whole or any part of the thirty properties mentioned in this report be based upon the purchase prices, which have been sent to your Honor in a report of the Finance Commission.

Respectfully submitted,

THE FINANCE COMMISSION,
by MICHAEL H. SULLIVAN,
Chairman.

PAYMENT OF BILL FOR PUMPING STATION WORK.

The Mayor has approved the payment of the bill of the Murray Engineering Company for repairs to the suction chamber of engine No. 5 at the Calf Pasture pumping station, following an emergency order. Advertising for bids was not possible, on account of the urgency of the repairs. The work was completed in a satisfactory manner on December 31, and the cost of the work, as approved by the Public Works Department, amounted to $2,332.72.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE WILL BE GUEST OF CITY FOR G. A. R. PARADE IF CAPITAL DUTIES PERMIT.

Mayor Curley sent the following communication on January 2, 1924:

HIS EXCELLENCY, HON. CALVIN COOLIDGE,
President of the United States, The White House, Washington, D. C.:

DEAR MR. PRESIDENT: I beg to advise that the survivors of the Grand Army of the Republic will hold their national encampment in Boston beginning Sunday, August 10, 1924.

The Executive Committee have determined, notwithstanding the age of the veterans, to assemble for parade on Tuesday, August 12, 1924. I have been named as chairman by the Executive Committee in behalf of the national encampment, and have the honor to extend you a very cordial invitation, with Mrs. Coolidge, to review the parade early in the afternoon of August 12. Gen. Gaylord M. Saltzgeber, of Van Wert, Ohio, National Commander-in-Chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, was a visitor in Boston upon the 20th ultimo, and declared his conviction that the coming encampment would bring together the largest and most representative number of Grand Army of the Republic veterans who have assembled in recent years.

The City of Boston is making most elaborate preparations for the entertainment of the veterans, and your presence here, with that of Mrs. Coolidge, would very greatly augment the success of the ceremonies in honor of those who preserved our nation. I sincerely trust that I may be honored by the mutual and early acceptance of both Mrs. Coolidge and yourself.

With many renewed assurances of my highest consideration and regard, and every good and sincere wish for the New Year,

Faithfully yours,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

The following reply was received Monday, January 21 from the President:

MY DEAR MR. MAYOR,—Permit me to express my pleasure in receiving your invitation to participate in the reception in Boston, next August, to the national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic. I am not able at this time to indicate a definite acceptance, for public reasons which of course relate to the demands of duties here in Washington. I shall hope to be able to come to Boston at the time of the encampment, if arrangements to that end can be made. I am compelled, meantime, to beg that you will allow the matter to be left open.

Again thanking you, and extending assurance that the occasion is one which presents peculiar attractions, I am,

Most sincerely yours,

CALVIN COOLIDGE.

CLAIMS.

The Mayor, upon recommendation of the Corporation Counsel, has approved the following claims:

Alice G. Strain, in the sum of $200, as compensation for personal injuries caused by being knocked down while crossing Albany street at Northampton street by a horse and buggy owned by the City of Boston, October 21, 1922.

EMPLOYMENT SITUATION IS ALARMING, SAYS BUREAU HEAD IN REPORT TO MAYOR.

There are more than 60,000 men and women unemployed in the City of Boston, according to Luke E. Shields, director of the city's Free Employment Bureau. And the limit has been by no means reached. On Tuesday, January 22, there were 700 men and 150 women at the Bureau.

From December 1, 1922, to December 1, 1923, there were registered 14,000 men, and of this number 11,798 were out of work. This last figure, however, includes men for whom jobs have been found over and over again and therefore it does not mean that more than half have been "placed." For example, a man registers and in the course of the year he may be given six different jobs. The registration counts but once, while the jobs count "six."

At present only one man out of ten is being "placed." Mr. Shields declares that even the skilled trades, such as bricklayers and plasterers, are seriously affected. The construction work being done in the city "fools" the public. In Lynn, for instance, there are more than 1,000,000 square feet of leather industry vacant. Even the most standard firms have cut down.

The cost of placement per man during the past year figures $1.36, which Mr. Shields contends is probably the lowest cost of placement in the state. A year ago this placement cost was $1.52.

The Bureau was established by Mayor Curley in March, 1922, at a time when Boston was rated as "the worst city in the United States" so far as the unemployment situation was concerned. Since then the suffering has been alleviated and at present although Boston has been going "down hill" since the sporadic boom of last April and May it has not gone down quite so rapidly as other cities.

In April and May, Mr. Shields states, work was obtained for half the men who applied. In June, July and August only one man out of every three or four was supplied with work. At present the office is crowded with men. They spend practically the entire day sitting on the steps or leaning against the walls hoping that there may be a sudden call for men. All such calls are announced on a blackboard.

Mr. Shields says that there are many pathetic cases. Men frequently kneel at his desk begging for jobs, while recently one man came to him declaring that he was a father of five children who were unable to go to school for lack of clothing.

"Other things being equal," continued Mr. Shields, "we give the former service men preference. If, however, it is a question of a former service man without dependents and a man with dependents the latter gets the work."

CLAIMS DISAPPROVED.

The Law Department has disapproved forty-eight claims against the city, amounting to $17,229.55, and they are classified as follows:

Against the Assessing Department, one, amounting to $12; against the Fire Department, three, amounting to $4,738.50; against the Hospital Department, one, amounting to $500; against the Park and Recreation Department, three, amounting to $639.75; against the Police Department, two, amounting to $235; against the Public Works Department, thirty-seven, amounting to $11,081.55.

BOYS ASK MAYOR FOR FLYING SCHOOL.

That interest in aviation has constantly grown since the opening of the airport at East Boston, was indicated by a petition to Mayor Curley from East Boston boys that a flying school be started for instruction of would-be pilots. The letter was turned over to Porter H. Adams, chairman of the Flying Board. The boys signing the petition were: Guy R. Telles, Percy W. Cheveril, Arthur Telles and Frank Panziale.

NAVY TO HONOR G. A. R.

The Atlantic scouting fleet will assist in the navy's activities during the national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic next summer, according to a letter received by Mayor Curley from Acting Secretary of the Navy Theodore Roosevelt. The fleet includes the aircraft squadron and the entire fleet of airplanes may come to Boston from Newport, R. I., as they did at the opening of the Boston airport last fall.

EXTRA WORK UNDER CONTRACT.

A. G. Tomasello & Son have been directed to perform the following extra work under contract for constructing granite block pavement in Chelsea street, Charlestown, from Adams street to Bunker Hill street. Items ordered: Cut guttermouths in edgestone where directed; to be paid for by force account. Estimated cost of extra work, $65.

NOTE.—In both charts under this section only positions above $1,000 are listed. Below this amount the hospital and institution employees, who receive in some cases board, in other cases lodging, and in still other cases both board and lodging in addition to their wages. To separate these groups and compute the equivalent of their wages would require a great amount of time and labor. Owing to the accumulation of work on the 1924-25 budget, this office could devote but a limited amount of time to this report, hence the use of $1,000 as a starting point.

V. COST OF LIVING DATA.

The tables listed below have been prepared from statistics furnished by the United States Bureau of Labor.

In the first table the several important items of expenditure are apportioned according to "per cent of total expenditure" in December, 1914. This data is chosen because it marks the beginning of the World War, to which all subsequent changes in cost of living may be attributed. It will be noted that "total expenditure" as at this date is assigned the value of 100 per cent.

The second table indicates the per cent of increase in these several items which occurred between December, 1914, and September, 1923, the most recent date for which figures are obtainable.

In the third table the several items are arranged according to "per cent of total expenditure" in September, 1923. It will be noted that total expenditure in this table is the total of 100 per cent (the basis used in 1914) and the average increase in all items up to September, 1923.

Cost of Living, December, 1914.

On motion of Coun. HEALEY it was voted that the matter be printed as a public document.

Later in the session Coun. HEALEY said: Mr. President, in addition to the printing of the matter referred to as a city document I move that it be printed in full in the records of the City Council, because I think it would be one of the best things that could be done to have this information printed so that we may have it before us for use within a reasonable time. There will be controversy over the subject of wages, income, etc., upon which this will have a very important bearing. Public documents at times are not printed so as to be available until five or six months; but if this appears in the records of the Council we will have it available very shortly. Therefore I think it would be well to have it in the records of the Council.

The Council voted to have the communication printed in its records.

NOTICE OF HEARINGS.

Notice was received from the Street Commissioners of hearings on January 21 on petitions for storage and sale of gasoline at various locations.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—I am submitting herewith a salary and wage schedule report, prepared in accordance with an order of the City Council, under date of November 19, 1923.

ELECTION OF PUBLIC UTILITIES COMMISSION.

Coun. WATSON offered the following:
Resolved, That the City Council indorses

the petition of his Honor the Mayor to the General Court for legislation that will provide for the election of the members of the Public Utilities Commission by a direct vote of the people, and that the Committees on Legislation is hereby directed to appear before the committee of the Legislature before which this petition will be heard and urge the passage of legislation which will change the present method of the appointment of the members of the Public Utilities Commission by the Governor to the direct election of the members of such commission by the people.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, I am going to ask for a suspension of the rule in order that the order may go upon its passage at this time. The action of the Public Utilities Commission in granting the plea of the railroads of the Commonwealth for an increase in rates of fare, in particular on the twelve-ride tickets, is very well known to all. We all know that the members of the commission are appointed by the Governor and confirmed by the Governor's Council, that they serve for a term of years, that they are responsive only to the Governor, and I am informed that in many cases they are not responsive to him except when their reappointment is about to be made. I know many of the members of this commission, and as individuals and gentlemen I have a high regard for them, socially and personally. My opinion of them politically and as public servants would not sound well, and certainly would not read well in public print. I am going to discuss their action on this matter, together with their action on another matter, and I shall try to control myself in referring to them as members of the commission, speaking of them in a kindly way as I know them as individuals and socially. The plea by the steam railroads of the Commonwealth for higher rates was made recently. There was a plea made by the people almost two years ago for a reduction in the price of electricity to consumers of the same in the City of Boston. The commission has dillydallied on that proposition until now without a decision, but that plea for reduction in rates was made by the people, to whom this commission is irresponsible. The plea made for higher rates for the railroads was made by the corporations, and I might say that it may be that the commission as a whole, at least a majority of them, have shown themselves responsive to the plea of representatives of the corporations and have neglected to respond to the plea of the people, to whom their first duty is owed. Today, with the housing situation as it is, and as it has been for a few years past, many citizens of this community have been driven to seek homes in the suburbs. While they were able to get homes outside of the City of Boston at a reasonable rental, they did have to pay a little more in the way of transportation, but I understand that the two things balanced themselves, one against the other. But this increase of 20 per cent in fares will add a burden to the shoulders of the average man and woman who lives in the suburbs and uses the steam railroads, placing an additional burden upon them when they are already overtaxed. The result will be that they will be compelled to curtail on many necessities and give up some of the things that they now have. I would like in all seriousness, Mr. President, to ask of the powers that be in railroad matters on Beacon Hill, the Public Utilities Commission and the Legislature, why there should be any relief given to the railroad corporations or to those who invest in the securities of such corporations, using their own knowledge and wisdom in making their investment, in order to rescue them and protect and guarantee to them a return on the investment, where there is no such protection or guaranty to the man who operates a small grocery store or other establishment in the community, or who is connected with any other industry? If he fails, he is simply allowed to go to pieces, to go into bankruptcy, but we are told that they should be protection and guaranty for these others. I see no reason why the Legislature should come to the rescue of the public service corporations any more than it should come to the rescue of any business industry or any individual man or woman who may be running a business in this Commonwealth. But perhaps that expression of my idea may seem to come close to what is considered socialistic. That is my opinion, and may be taken as such, with whatever brand it may be labeled. The Public Service Commission are absolutely irresponsible to the pleas of the people on anything, except when it comes to protecting dealers in stocks and bonds, people who are influential. They will not allow stocks and bonds that are not sound to be sold in the Commonwealth, and they are very vigilant in denying the right of some one else to sell stocks and bonds, under the blue sky act, unless they are influential. That body should be abolished. If we cannot have it elected by the people it should be abolished and a brand new outfit placed there, because it has grown dry and musty on the job. The members of that commission speak and act more automatically than any judge in the land. They are arbitrary beyond expression and they are supreme in their decisions, being in many cases protected by statute from interference of the judiciary. Mr. President, no other body in this Commonwealth, either individually or collectively, has the power that that board has; no outfit, no individual in the Commonwealth, elected or appointed, is more autocratic; no individual, no corporation, no board or commission, is more independent and arrogant and less responsive to the rights, privileges and interests of the people. In view of their failure to properly represent and protect the people's interest, we have a most important argument, the most important argument that can be presented, in the direction of the people selecting such officers, the same as other officers. The election of public officials is now recognized as sound doctrine. Originally it was considered socialistic. I can remember back to a time when I was sitting in this room as a member of the old Common Council, that just prior to my nomination and election we were subject to the caucus system. My friend the City Clerk remembers that very well. In those days a few controlled things. I don't say that they did not control them properly or legally, but they controlled them. It was the old machine control. Then came along the direct nomination act for small offices, which continued until finally the Governor was nominated and elected by a direct vote. The next step was the nomination and election of United States Senators. There is not a reasonable man in this community who would take a step backward in the matter of the direct nomination of public officials. Therefore, following that great, broad principle of direct nominations and election, I believe that the present statute, which provides for the appointment of members of the Public Utilities Commission, should be abandoned, repealed, and that a new act should be passed providing that members of that Board shall be nominated and elected by the people. I don't think there is a handful in the community who would disagree with me in that matter, unless they are influenced by some unworthy financial interest or except to make some financial gain through the continuance of this autocratic, arbitrary and undemocratic commission, who have lost all touch with the great body of the people in this Commonwealth. This action of theirs to my mind bears the odor of a nice little stock jobbing proposition. I am not a financier, and know very little about financial transactions, but I understand that the interests, so called, were able to get hold of a lot of New Haven and Boston & Maine stock at a low price, and that when the word came that there was to be this 20 per cent increase granted the stock made a tremendous jump, enabling these people who were handling large blocks of stock of the Boston & Maine and the New Haven to get rich overnight because of their wonderful guesswork, plus information. I don't think the members of this body will disagree with me in commending his Honor the Mayor for his vigilance and speed in attempting to bring about a change in the Legislature which will do away with that autocratic commission. There should be no time wasted in considering such a measure. If we adopt in this case the principle of direct nominations and selection it cannot fail of good results, for the reason that the Public Utilities Commission has become a body that is of no particular value to the people of the Commonwealth. They have branded themselves as the absolute protectors and representatives, not of the people of the Commonwealth but of the interests, those who hold large blocks of stock. It is true that here and there savings banks hold some of the New Haven stock, but they probably were not let into the scheme or they might have had more of it on their hands. But the great financial interests did have control and were well paid for it. I think I have covered about all the ground necessary in my remarks upon this order, and I believe the facts sufficiently warrant a unanimous vote by my colleagues to pass the order under suspension of the rule. In conclusion, I want simply to say that I have remained in this body practically silent for over a year in the matter of the attempted reduction of electric light rates of consumers in Boston. I have been, however, collecting data, and I have been getting information that I consider very valuable, which later on I will give in this body, concerning the action of this same commission in juggling the question of the reduction of rates to the Edison Company. They know as well as I do that the delay is unnecessary. I will say now that I anticipate their decision. They are going to permit the Edison Company to charge 9½ cents per kilowatt hour for electricity to the consumers of Boston. The Edison Company is building a ten million dollar plant in Weymouth, which inside of five years will control every public lighting plant in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, and which, if the people are not careful, will gobble up the few municipal plants operating in this Commonwealth. They are already interfering and trying to break down that magnificent public lighting plant in Holyoke. They are arranging with a private corporation to sell juice for commercial purposes, generated by private individuals at the canal in Holyoke, at a price which means a loss, in order to undersell or nearly equal the price charged by the municipal plant. That is what they are doing, and this Public Utilities Commission is going to render a decision maintaining the objection of the Edison Company to any reduction to the cost of electricity in Boston. That is because those with the power to regulate rates and service in the Commonwealth are irresponsible to the demands and pleas of the public who pay the bills. Mr. President, I trust that the order will pass under a suspension of the rule.

The motion to suspend the rules and adopt the resolution was declared not carried.

Later in the session Coun. WATSON said: Mr. President, I move a reconsideration of the vote whereby the Chair declared my motion for suspension of the rules and the passage of the order relative to indorsing the Mayor's petition for the election of the members of the Public Utility Commission by the voters not carried. I have just ascertained that the Chair, to use the vernacular, pulled one on me and declared my motion not carried. I therefore move a reconsideration, and if the reconsideration prevails, then a vote by yeas and nays on the motion in order that the Chair may have an opportunity to vote "no."

President LANE—All in favor of reconsideration say "aye," those opposed "no." It is a vote, and reconsideration is granted. Now Coun. Watson moves suspension of the rules and passage of the resolution. All in favor of the suspension of the rule signify by saying "yes." The rules are suspended.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, I would like to suggest that I anticipate the vote will be on party lines.

President LANE—Coun. Watson moves the passage of the resolution.

The resolution was adopted, the vote being as follows:

Yeas—Coun. Donoghue, Gilbody, Healey, Moriarty, Walsh, Watson—6.

Nays—President Lane—1.

ADVERTISING, HARVARD BRIDGE.

Coun. WATSON offered an order—That his Honor the Mayor be requested to petition the present General Court for legislation that will permit the City of Boston to advertise in other publications outside the City Record for a second-hand bridge to replace the present Harvard Bridge, provided, however, the officials of the City of Cambridge join in the spirit of this order and are not satisfied with the condition of the present structure.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, the purpose of this order is to give me an opportunity to try to ridicule the action of the commission appointed by the Governor relative to the Harvard Bridge. Under the present charter, advertisements for bids involving anything over a thousand dollars must be advertised and printed in the City Record, with a circulation of thirty-seven or thirty-eight. The only time when that City Record gets into the hands of any one outside of a few who may want to see who gets an increase of pay in the city service, is when somebody accidentally drops it in the street and it is picked up by some one who possibly may come from another city or state and who thereby upon examining it may see what a joke the Boston City Record is. That commission, appointed by the Governor, was made up of several individuals, some academic, some serious, others perhaps technical experts, some who perhaps knew something about building bridges, and probably somebody who thought he could get a chance to obtain inside information on the rebuilding of that bridge. Any man or woman who may walk across Harvard Bridge or who may go across in a team, carriage, street car, truck or automobile, knows the condition of the bridge. The counselor next to me (Coun. Walsh) says that people who go across in airplanes do not complain about the bridge. That is correct. We all know that that bridge is in a deplorable condition, that it is a disgrace to the community. Dr. Vincent Y. Bowditch has christened it "the artillery bridge," because when the woodwork contracts it rattles like a discharge of artillery. Doctor Bowditch says that when you go underneath the bridge you get even more of the effect of artillery. But it is certainly a rickety bridge. Of course, the first part of that word might particularly appeal to some members, who will recall a well known beverage called a "ricky." I may have to repeat that for some, but I see that it got recognition from our President! He recognized the reference to the "ricky." Now, that bridge cannot be rebuilt. I am told by scientific, actual bridge builders. The commission recommends rebuilding it at a cost of about two million dollars, suggesting the narrowing of the Charles river in order that the span will not be quite so extensive. Very good—two million dollars. It will—we are told that it will—cost $500,000 to repair the bridge and put it into a condition that will permit of its use for about five or six years. Five hundred thousand dollars will take care of a good many things. But I think there is one thing that we should understand, and that is the need there is of building a first-class bridge. That bridge is dangerous. You cannot go across there in a vehicle without danger of being hit by flying timber. From 85 to 90 per cent of the timbers in the flooring of the bridge are loose, and yet this commission suggests rebuilding that bridge! When we were in Columbus, Ohio, a few years ago we saw a few bridges dismantled and ruined by a great flood. They were somewhat bent, it is true. They were lying there in parts by the side of the river, or they were a few years ago, when we were there. I think we could buy one of those bridges for a reasonable price! I think the commission might recommend our buying a bridge there for less than $100,000, straightening out and putting it here, with the idea that anything would be good enough for the City of Boston! Mr. President, the bridge there should be a new bridge. A commission appointed by his Honor Mayor Peters recommended what is considered by architects, military men, business men and others an ideal plan for a memorial to those who fought in the late war and who gave their lives in that great cause. It is indorsed by the greatest architects in this part of the country. It will cost probably about three times the amount that these individuals say a second-hand, rebuilt bridge would cost—about $6,000,000. The city of Cambridge would undoubtedly welcome an opportunity to bear its share of the burden of a decent bridge between here and Cambridge. The life of a bridge, Mr. President, is about thirty years. That bridge was built under an act of the Legislature in 1887, being commenced then and completed in 1891, and today I had an interview with the City Clerk, who at one time was head of the Street Department in this city, who told me that he had a conversation with William Jackson, our city engineer years ago, relative to the repair of the bridge on Shawmut avenue over the Albany Railroad tracks, and at that time raised the question about the advisability of doing anything there in the way of repairs. Mr. Jackson's answer was that the life of a bridge was thirty years. Therefore, this bridge is three years beyond its death. It has been for thirty-three years in operation or partly in operation. The information given by Mr. Jackson to Mr. Donovan, our City Clerk, was indorsed by the new engineer; and Mr. Whitney says that a bridge built in 1891, having been built to take care of the traffic of those days—horse cars, light vehicles, both pleasure and truck—is put under a much greater strain since the advent of the automobile and heavy trucks and cars, and he repeats that thirty years, in his opinion, is the life of a bridge built like Harvard Bridge. I don't know how much my ridicule will interfere with the proposed plans of that commission, but I do hope that the Legislature through its commission will permit Boston to advance rather than to be stultified and handicapped on every hand. We have got to do things in Boston or else we are doomed as a commercial city. We have an opportunity, for instance, to bring Mr. Ford here with his plan, but when the opportunity arises agitation is immediately started against it, and the thing for the time being is off. Let us seize such opportunities; let us, if possible, have Mr. Ford come here with a two million dollar plant which will provide employment for perhaps 2,500 men and women, adding in many ways to the revenue of this city. Mr. President, if any words of mine on this subject will awaken the public and the Legislature to the necessity of a genuine, real bridge between here and Cambridge, I will feel well rewarded for my efforts and, Mr. President, I now ask unanimous consent to withdraw my order.

The order was withdrawn.

CONFIRMATION OF APPOINTMENTS.

Coun. BRICKLEY called up unfinished business, No. 1, viz.:

Action on appointments submitted by the Mayor, January 7, 1924, viz.:

1. Samuel Smith, to be a Constable.

The question came on confirmation. Committee—Coun. Brickley and Walsh. Whole number of ballots cast, 9, yeas 8, nays 1, and the appointment was confirmed.

Coun. BRICKLEY called up unfinished business Nos. 2 and 3, viz.:

Action on appointments submitted by the Mayor, January 7, 1924, viz.:

RECESS TAKEN.

Coun. WALSH moved at 3.14 o'clock p. m. to take a recess subject to the call of the President.

The members reassembled in the chamber and were called to order by the President at 4.54 o'clock p. m.

FINANCE.

Coun. BRICKLEY, for the Committee on Finance, submitted a report on message of Mayor, communication and order (referred January 7) for loan of $25,000 for garage, Albany street—that the order ought to pass.

The report was accepted and the order was given its first reading and passed, yeas 9, nays 0.

The order will take its final reading not less than fourteen days from date.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE REPORTS.

Coun. HAGAN, for the Executive Committee, submitted the following, viz.:

1. Reports on petitions (referred today) for permits for children under fifteen years of age to appear at various places of amusement—that permits be granted, viz.:

Rev. Charles J. White, St. Columbkille's Hall, January 13.

Grace M. Marden, Winslow Hall, January 28. Reports accepted; permits granted on the usual conditions.

2. Report on message of Mayor, communication and order (referred today) for transfer of $22,293.34 to East Boston Ferry, Improvements—that the order ought to pass.

Report accepted; order passed, yeas 9.

3. Report on message of Mayor and order (referred today) for transfer of $248,250 from Province Street Building to Highways, Making of—that the order ought to pass.

The report was accepted, and the question came on the passage of the order.

Coun. HEALEY—Mr. President, I want to get in the record the statement I made before the Executive Committee that I think the Street Commissioners more or less deceived the City Council in the action on the half million dollars voted six months ago. But this $248,250 will remain idle and the city will have to pay interest on the money. I am willing to accept the statement of the Street Commissioners that it is going to spend the same amount of money on the outlying sections.

President LANE—The Chair will vote "yes" for the same reason.

The order was given its first reading and passed, yeas 8, nays 1, Coun. Hagan voting nay.

The order will take its final reading not less than fourteen days from date.

ORDINANCES.

Coun. HEALEY, for the Committee on Ordinances, submitted a report on message and ordinance (referred November 26) concerning the Statistics Department—that the ordinance ought to pass.

Coun. HEALEY—I would like to say personally, Mr. President, to those members that bask in the sunshine of the smile of the chief executive, that one of the best things they could do would be to combine the Statistics with the Budget Commissioner's office, and then we would have a real department for the City of Boston.

The report was accepted and the ordinance was passed.

PLAYGROUND, VICINITY OF JEFFERSON SCHOOL.

The Council voted, on motion of Councilor BRICKLEY, to recall from the Executive Committee the message, communications and order (referred January 7) for $85,000 for playground in the vicinity of the Jefferson School, Roxbury.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, I made a motion in the Executive Committee to report back "ought to pass" on the order. We voted to lay the matter on the table. I want to be frank with you. I have not had one single person, not one person, approach me for or against the playground proposition, and it is in my immediate locality. That is a strange condition of affairs. Notwithstanding that I was perfectly willing to vote for it. Coun. Walsh desired further time and, therefore, out of courtesy to him, I voted to have the matter laid on the table. I do not even know the location or the extent of the taking. I do not know whether or not the people in that vicinity favor it, excepting in so far as I have heard from somebody that has petitioned here. Not one gentleman has approached me on the proposition. It is a peculiar condition of affairs, if there is a crying need for the playground in that locality. One of two things is certain. Either they are ignorant or they have no desire for my co-operation. It does not disturb me which of the reasons is the cause of my not having been approached. Now, I do not think any harm can come from leaving this matter in the Executive Committee. The matter can pass at a later date just as well as now. Therefore I am opposed to recalling it at this time unless Coun. Walsh desires to withdraw his request to me to lay the matter on the table until a later time. If he withdraws his request then I will vote favorably.

Coun. GILBODY—Mr. President, I feel not quite in the same condition as the previous speaker but in a difficult situation. We all appreciate playground conditions are tender questions, not only to the children but to the older people as well. I think we should give the people in the different sections of the city consideration also. Some few months ago I put an order in this council for a playground in the vicinity of St. John's Church in Roxbury, where there is and always has been a cry for playgrounds. So far as I am aware the order went to the Planning Board and certain recommendations were made but have never been followed by the administration. I believe if we are going to improve certain sections of the city we ought to consider those sections that demand it. The councilor for that section of Roxbury certainly advances a good argument when he says he lives in the vicinity and has never heard of this demand for the playground. A glance at the map will show a great deal of vacant territory in the section where this is proposed. I think the matter should be laid on the table until a further investigation of the entire matter.

Coun. MORIARTY—Mr. President, I will say that I was satisfied with Coun. Walsh's motion until I read the letter that accompanied the order and then I changed. It says:

City of Boston,

Office of the Mayor, January 3, 1924.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—Some six months ago a petition was received signed by 4,000 residents of the Roxbury section in favor of a playground in the vicinity of the Jefferson School, Roxbury district. This petition was later forwarded to the City Planning Board, who reported under date of September 21 in favor of acquiring land surrounding the Jefferson School, with a total area of 343,600 square feet.

The City Planning Board further recommended that the complete development of the proposed park, which would be about equal distance from the John J. Connolly Park and the Phillips Street Playground, be delayed until a later time.

A tract of eight acres within the city limits, the valuation of which is as low as the tract in question, should be taken at this time as it might be impossible to even seriously consider such a cause after development has been made on any portion of the area, and I accordingly recommend the adoption of the accompanying order.

Respectfully,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

I have a further communication here:

Citizens' Improvement Association of Roxbury, Mass., June 14, 1923.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Honorable Sir,—Attached herewith you will find a petition signed by 4,000 residents of Roxbury for a playground surrounding the Jefferson School on Heath street.

The clergymen, doctors and school teachers of the district have willingly signed this petition and have also voiced their hearty support. The Rt. Rev. Arthur T. Connolly, pastor of the Blessed Sacrament Church, obtained 1,100 signatures from children in the Cheverus Parochial School, and also stated that he was most desirous of having a playground for the children that would be safely and centrally located.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS S. KENNEDY,
President.

I would say that there is a map here. There is also one petition with about twenty-five names. I have here another communication from the Planning Board:

"The City Planning Board has given careful consideration to the location of a playground in the vicinity of Jefferson School, Roxbury, as requested in petitions containing approximately 4,000 signatures of residents of the district, and begs to submit to you herewith a report and recommendation based upon its own investigations and conclusions in the matter. In these investigations the Board has had the benefit of conferences with the chairman of the Park Department, together with copies of plans and report submitted by their consultant, and estimates of the cost of grading and construction as prepared by the Park Department engineer."

There are two other sheets that I do not think necessary to read. It is signed by Frederick H. Fay, chairman. If the members desire it I will read it. I see that they refer to a petition, and I am going to assume that there was a petition, not only signed under the name of Thomas S. Kennedy, and I do not know who he is, and also by the Mayor stating 4,000, and also by the chairman of the Planning Board. I realize and am in sympathy with Coun. Gilbody in regard to a playground in the section of Roxbury that he desired. I will also vote to appropriate that money if he is able to get his Honor to send it here. But there is no question here. We have only got one playground here.

Coun. WATSON—I would like to ask the counselor a question if he will yield.

Coun. MORIARTY—Certainly.

Coun. WATSON—I would like to ask through you, Mr. President, of the counselor opposite, if there was a playground proposed within three quarters of a mile of his home, wouldn't he think it strange that not one single individual in the entire locality had approached him verbally or otherwise on the proposition?

President LANE—Coun. Moriarty.

Coun. MORIARTY—Mr. President, why, I will say that I don't think that it is strange at all.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, well, all right. If you don't that answers it. It is perfectly satisfactory.

Coun. MORIARTY—Mr. President, and I mean that with no slight. I mean that with no slight to the counselor on the other side. I feel that everybody in Roxbury has the confidence of the counselor from the other side, and feels that there was no need to get in touch with him in regard to a playground in any part of Roxbury.

Coun. WATSON—The oil don't go, James.

Coun. MORIARTY—Mr. President, I was fair in answering the question that the counselor on the other side asked and I want to say that there was no sarcasm in my remark to him, neither in the answer nor in my statement. Of course, if you want to be ribbed by the counselor who is sitting back of you, then, of course, you can be ribbed, but he has only got a short time to continue to rib you. I want to say, Mr. Chairman, that I agreed to the delay until I found that the people in the district to the number—and I am going to take the number as authentic—that did sign that petition, that there are 4,000 people in that part of Roxbury that desire a playground in that near vicinity. For that reason I am going to vote for it, but not only for that district. If Coun. Gilbody, I was about to say, is able to get his Honor the Mayor to send in another one for the part of Roxbury that he desires, for $60,000 or $65,000. I will also vote for that one. But I am not going to play one against the other. Some time ago we had an order in here for a playground at Forest Hills. If I remember correctly, accompanying the order there was a transfer for $25,000 that had been a loan order that had been pending since 1913, for a playground in the Mattapan district. Of course the members of this Council saw fit not to transfer that money and Forest Hills is without a playground today. And so is Mattapan. So, if we are going to play one part of Roxbury against another part of Roxbury, both sections of Roxbury are going to be left without a playground. Now, the Mayor has seen fit to send this in here, he says, because he has been petitioned by 4,000 people. Whether that is the reason or not it makes no material difference to me. The playground is here and I am going to vote to appropriate, and what good deed may be done today for the people of Roxbury we will not have to do tomorrow for that section. This is here and has been here for a couple of weeks, or a week, at least. We have no information. It was laid on the table for one week, and there is no reasonable request or statement made why it should be held further. The counselor who requested the matter to be laid on the table has said to me that he has no objection to allowing it to go upon its passage.

Coun. WALSH—Mr. President, I withdraw my objections and will vote "yes."

President LANE—The question comes on taking from the Executive Committee the matter of the playground adjoining the Jefferson School.

The motion was carried.

President LANE—What is the pleasure of the Council in the matter?

Coun. HEALEY—I move to amend, Mr. President, by striking out the words "for a playground adjoining the Jefferson School, Roxbury District," and inserting the words "for a playground in the neighborhood of the Jefferson School, Roxbury District." The reason of that is, Mr. President, that I do not care to be tied up with any land and I do not think the Council ought to vote for an order that specifies the land. I think it is more reasonable to vote for an order that gives a playground in the neighborhood of the Jefferson School, so that if there are various lots to be placed before the City of Boston, the City of Boston could accept the best lot. It may be that there is no other available land in the vicinity of the Jefferson School, but my amendment allows the Park Department and the Street Commissioners to take any land in the vicinity of the school.

President LANE—Coun. Healey moves an amendment, striking out the word "adjoining" and inserting the words "in the vicinity of."

The amendment was adopted, and the order, as amended, was given its first reading and passed, yeas 9.

The order will take its final reading not less than fourteen days from date.

GENERAL RECONSIDERATION.

Coun. WALSH moved a general reconsideration on all business transacted at the meeting, hoping that the same would not prevail. Lost.

Adjourned at 5.21 o'clock p. m., on motion of Coun. BRICKLEY, to meet on Monday, January 21, at two o'clock p. m.

INCOME TAX (STATE) ON INTANGIBLE PROPERTY.

In accordance with Chap. 269, ss. 2 and 11, General Acts of 1916, intangible personal property (except bank stock) ceased to be subject to assessment and taxation in 1917 and thereafter. In place of that tax an income tax was established, amounting to six per cent per year on income derived from such intangibles, subject to various specified exemptions.

Owing to the exemption from tax of intangible personal property, the total valuation of personalty in Boston decreased from $328,929,679 in 1916 to $162,545,343 in 1917, a loss representing $2,945,000 in taxes. By sec. 23 of said Chapter 269, it was provided that the State Treasurer should pay to each city or town an amount equal to the difference between the personal property levy in 1915 and that of 1917 computed at the 1915 tax rate. If the income tax collections exceeded the amount required for such distribution, the excess was also to be distributed, this in proportion to the State tax imposed on each city or town in 1917. The amount of income taxes paid by the State to the City of Boston under said statute for 1917 was $3,704,855; for 1918, $4,085,175; for 1919, $3,017,133 and $620,735 for Schools; for 1920, $3,754,237 and $644,703 for Schools; for 1921, $3,182,205 and $660,122 for Schools. Total for the five years, 1917 to 1921, inclusive, $19,669,165. In 1917 the total distribution in Metropolitan District outside Boston was $3,198,281 or $506,574 less than in Boston alone. Total for whole District (incl. Boston) $6,903,136 or 61.64 per cent of total for State, and $1,423,401 in excess of the total shrinkage in taxes on personalty from 1916 to 1917 in the District due to the new law exempting intangible property.

NATIVES AND CITIZENS OF BOSTON AND VICINITY HONORED IN HALL OF FAME.

In the American Hall of Fame, New York City, dedicated in 1901, are inscribed on bronze tablets the names of 56 eminent men and 7 distinguished women deemed worthy of the highest honor on account of their services and attainments. Of the 63 individuals thus selected (up to 1920 inclusive) by an electorate of 100 leading Americans, 27 were natives or for some time citizens of Boston or vicinity. The names of the latter are as follows: Chosen in 1900—John Adams, Benjamin Franklin, William Ellery Channing, Ralph Waldo Emerson, Daniel Webster, Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, Horace Mann, Nathaniel Hawthorne, George Peabody, Samuel Finley Breese Morse, Joseph Story, Asa Gray, Gilbert Stuart—total, 13.

Chosen in 1905—John Quincy Adams, James Russell Lowell, John Greenleaf Whittier—total, 3.

Chosen, in 1910—Edgar Allan Poe, Oliver Wendell Holmes, George Bancroft, John Lothrop Motley, Phillips Brooks—total, 5.

Chosen in 1915—Louis Agassiz, Francis Parkman, Rufus Choate, Charlotte Cushman—total, 4.

Chosen in 1920—William Thomas Green Morton, Alice Freeman Palmer. Five additional names every fifth year are to be selected and inscribed until the year 2,000, when the 150 tablets in the colonnade will be complete.

If those who were natives or residents elsewhere in the State are added to the list, the following 7 names increase the total to 34 for Massachusetts or more than half the whole number, viz.: William Cullen Bryant, Jonathan Edwards, Mark Hopkins, Elias Howe, Eli Whitney, Maria Mitchell, Mary Lyon.

If all New England is included, 4 more names will bring up the total to 38 or 60.3 per cent of whole number chosen, viz.: Roger Williams, Henry Ward Beecher, Harriet Beecher Stowe, Emma Willard.

CITY CHARTER CHANGES.

In 1854, 1885 and 1900 important changes in the original City Charter of 1821 were effected for the purpose of improving the methods and efficiency of the City Government. The revision of 1854 (Chap. 448, Stat. 1854) referred to the voters for acceptance, gave the Mayor a qualified veto over the action of the City Council, also the power of removal of appointed officials, besides providing for his election by a plurality instead of a majority vote. The amendments of 1885 (Chap. 266, Stat. 1885) were not submitted to the voters for approval. They transferred all the executive powers to the Mayor, prohibiting the City Council from interference with the executive and administrative business of the City. This was done in order to end the inefficiency resulting from an excessive number of joint committees, a municipal development conforming to the traditions of the outgrown town government.

The amendments of 1909 (Chap. 486, Stat. 1909) cut down the number and powers of the legislative branch of the government to a minimum, the Board of Aldermen (13 members) and the Common Council (75 members) being abolished. For these was substituted a single City Council of nine members to be elected at large for a 3-year term. The Mayor's position was further strengthened by giving him a 4-year term, subject to recall at end of two years, but requiring a majority of the registered voters to make the recall effective. The Mayor's power over appointments was no longer subject to check by aldermen but by a State board, the Civil Service Commission, and City elections were removed from all connection with national and State politics, no primaries nor caucuses being permitted, all candidates for office to be selected by means of nomination papers. The only question in this Act of 1909 which was submitted to the voters was contained in section 35, i. e., whether Plan 1 or Plan 2 should be adopted, the first providing for a term of two years for Mayor and a City Council of 36 members to be chosen in primaries. Plan 2 was adopted by a majority of 3,894. Charter of 1909 amended later as follows: (1) By Chap. 437, Acts of 1910, exempting loans issued for Rapid Transit construction from the prohibition of the establishing of sinking funds, as contained in sec. 26. (2) Chap. 730, Acts of 1914, fixing date of annual municipal election on the sixth Tuesday after the state election instead of in the following January, as in sec. 32; changing the requirement as to signatures on nomination papers to 3,000 for Mayor and 2,000 for City Council and School Committee instead of 5,000 for all, as in sec. 53, also limiting the number of nomination papers issued to 300 for a candidate for Mayor and 200 for other candidates, referring to sec. 54. (3) Chap. 37, Special Acts of 1918, annulling the jurat at end of nomination papers. (4) Chap. 94, Special Acts of 1918, abolishing recall of Mayor, and making him ineligible for re-election, i. e., establishing a single term of four years, but not prohibiting the election of any Mayor for other than consecutive terms. (5) Chap. 288, Acts of 1921, fixing date of the annual municipal election on the first Tuesday after the second Monday in December, also making slight changes as to nominations.

LIQUOR LICENSES AND NATIONAL PROHIBITION.

The national prohibition amendment (i. e., the 18th) to the Constitution, having been ratified by 45 States and becoming effective on January 16, 1920, the legalized trade in intoxicating liquors ceased then. It was supposed to stop about 6 months sooner because of the Federal war regulation providing for prohibition on July 1, 1919, to be effective until the army could be demobilized. But as there was no Massachusetts law forbidding the issuing of licenses after July 1, the Boston Licensing Board issued 702 such for the remainder of the license year with the proviso that the license was no protection against violation of Federal law. After July 1, under Federal law, the only liquor which licensees claimed the right to sell was beer and ale containing not over 2.75 per cent of alcohol. Sales of these lighter beverages continued to October 28, 1919, when Congress enacted a law (Volstead Act) forbidding the sale of any liquor as a beverage containing more than 0.50 per cent alcohol. The validity of this act being widely questioned, the United States Supreme Court upheld it on Jan. 5, 1920, and again on June 7, 1920. The result of this decision was that former applicants for liquor licenses did not apply for them in 1920. The Supreme Court of Mass. later in the year decided that the liquor laws of the State remain in force where not inconsistent with the Volstead Act. The Boston Board therefore issued 146 licenses to druggists and 17 4th-class, permitting sales for non-beverage purposes only. In 1921 there were issued 192 licenses to druggists, 15 4th-class and one 5th-class. On May 17, 1922, Chap. 427, Acts of 1922 (consisting of 27 sections) was approved, providing for the carrying into effect in Mass. of the 18th Federal (i. e., prohibition) amendment. This law is subject to a referendum at State election on November 7, 1922.

By Chapter 392, Acts of 1922, the retailing of non-intoxicating beverages is subjected to license, with fee of not more than one dollar for each year ending April 30.

PUBLIC STREETS IN BOSTON.

Total length of the 2,447 paved (accepted) streets, February 1, 1922, 606.33 miles; total area, 11,459,009 square yards, or 8.47 per cent of the City's total land area. This is exclusive of the private streets (not accepted), numbering about 2,890. 366.10 miles, or 60.38 per cent, are paved with macadam (including 128.03 miles bituminous macadam); 105.66 miles with granite block; 45.50 miles with asphalt; 29.32 miles with gravel; 36.63 miles with asphalt concrete (17.55 m. being bitulithic and 13.71 m. Topeka); 11.69 miles with wood block; 5.42 miles with brick. Old macadam pavement is gradually being replaced with more satisfactory and durable kinds, such as bitulithic, concrete, granite block, etc., $5,138,678 having been expended during the past four years in reconstructing and improving 313 miles of streets and parts of streets. Granolithic sidewalks laid in 1921, 97,049 square yards or about 21 miles, averaging 8 feet wide, 50 per cent of cost assessed on estates benefited.

New highway construction completed in period 1918-1921 includes 13 streets in Boston Proper; 34 in Dorchester; 37 in West Roxbury; 14 in Roxbury; 24 in Brighton; 6 in East Boston; 3 in Hyde Park; 4 in South Boston, and 1 in Charlestown, roadway pavement bitulithic, or asphalt surface on concrete, and bituminous macadam. Gross debt outstanding February 1, 1922, for all street construction, including damages, $22,267,141 or $925,700 more than in 1921, this increase due to new loan for Stuart St. construction.

SETTLEMENT OF BOSTON.

Boston was settled in the latter part of August, 1630, by Puritan colonists under Governor John Winthrop. The name of the original settlement was changed to Boston from Trimountaine by order of the Court of Assistants on September 7 (O. S.), 1630. This date was moved forward by the New Style calendar in 1752 to Sept. 17, the recognized date of the founding of Boston. The name, Trimountaine, had been given because of the three peaks of the most prominent hill, afterward called Beacon Hill, much higher then than now. By the Indians the place was called Shawmut. The name, Boston, was derived from the English town of Boston in Lincolnshire, the home of some of the leading colonists and promoters of the enterprise.

COMPLETION OF CAMBRIDGE STREET BRIDGE ADDS ATTRACTIVE APPROACH TO CITY.

NEW STRUCTURE REPLACING ONE BUILT IN 1893 MAKES PROVISION FOR ALL TRAFFIC POSSIBLE AND ALSO FOR FUTURE CONTINGENCY OF ELECTRIFICATION OF RAILROADS.

NEW CAMBRIDGE STREET, ALLSTON, BRIDGE ADDS TO BOSTON'S ATTRACTIVE APPROACHES AND AESTHETIC BEAUTY OF DISTRICT.

With the completion of the Cambridge Street Bridge in Allston, Boston has added another attraction to her approaches to the center of the city, this bridge being one of the finest bits of construction work of the kind in this section.

The structure replaces the bridge built in 1893, of a much lighter type than is the present structure and rendered so dangerous on account of corrosion from locomotive gases as to necessitate a new one. For some time before decision was made to replace the structure with the new one it had been found too dangerous to allow electric cars to pass over it.

The new bridge is about 150 feet long and 85 feet wide. It provides three roadways and two sidewalks. The middle roadway contains two surface car tracks. All the steel below the floor is encased in concrete to protect it from locomotive gases.

The floor is of concrete, with wood block paving and with granolithic on the sidewalks. There are about 650 tons of steel in the structure, which was designed to carry electric cars weighing fifty tons each and to carry a twenty-ton motor truck. Each of the roadways is wide enough to accommodate two lines of travel.

A foot more clearance was established over the railroad tracks so that if in the future the railroad is electrified it will not be necessary to destroy the bridge. This extra clearance also gives the bridge a little more protection from the action of the locomotive gases.

MAYOR CURLEY ORDERS DRAS- TIC CUT IN BUDGET ESTI- MATES BY DEPARTMENTS.

The Budget Commissioner, Charles J. Fox, on January 28 submitted estimates received by him from the various departments for the fiscal year 1924-25. The estimates as submitted, if allowed, would add $4,225,680 to the cost of conducting the activities of the city over and above the amount actually allowed in 1923-24, the estimate of the Police Department being $658,000 greater than last year, the Fire Department $462,000, the Hospital Department $455,000, the Public Works Department $850,000, and the Park Department $288,000, or a total in five departments of the city in excess of $2,700,000.

His Honor informed the Budget Commissioner that to grant these allowances would add approximately $3 to the tax rate and any increase in the tax rate would be seized upon by certain owners of property as an excuse for increasing rentals.

The Budget Commissioner was instructed to submit a revision of the estimates, eliminating at least two and a quarter millions from the total of departmental estimates as submitted. "I fully realize," said the Mayor, "that the city is experiencing a growth but I fail to find any evidence that it is abnormal in character. Consequently, it is advisable to observe decent limitations in the matter of increased costs of administration."

"Personally, I am in favor of a most liberal policy in the matter of appropriations covering charities and hospitalization work but believe so far as possible it is advisable to postpone luxuries until such time at least as the wages of the worker enjoy an advance corresponding to that which has taken place in the cost of living."

BOSTON BEATS RECORD IN TAX COLLECTIONS WITH 91 PER CENT PAID IN.

Boston ended its fiscal year January 31 with the highest percentage of tax collection in the history of the city. Of the total amount of taxes levied, 91.0827 per cent was collected, including $137,825 which was paid in during the last day. As a result the city will have a substantial surplus to show for 1923-24 and prospects of no jump in the tax rate.

Collector McMorroo beat by 4 per cent his figure for last year, which at that time set a record for twenty-five years. The nearest approach to this year's mark was under Mayor Matthews in 1893 when the collections reached 90.11 per cent.

The figures include real, personal and poll taxes. The amount assessed in the warrant was $43,558,012.49, and the amount collected, $39,673,791.20, leaving $3,884,221.29 to be collected. This amount will be reduced further by abatements. The abatement figure to date is $140,000.

The high percentage of collections assures a surplus of at least $500,000 for the year, Mayor Curley said, with all bills paid. He said he would use the money during the coming year to meet the increasing costs of running the city and thereby to keep the tax rate from going up, if possible. The tax rate is now $24.70.

"O Boston, fair City enthroned like a radiant queen,
From thy hills looking down on the ship-teeming plain of the ocean,
May thy future be bright, thy skies beam with light all serene,
Ensured by thy sons' and thy daughters' unselfish devotion!"

NATHAN HASKELL DOLE.]

CORNERSTONE OF FIRST HEALTH UNIT IN NORTH END LAID WITH IMPRESSIVE CEREMONY.

FORMER MAYOR HART, MAYOR CURLEY AND OTHER PROMINENT CITIZENS OF BOSTON TAKE PART IN EXERCISES MADE POSSIBLE BY $5,000,000 GIFT TO CITY OF LATE GEORGE R. WHITE.

With ceremony that was deeply impressive a scene was enacted in the crowded congested district of the North End which marks another advance in the conception of municipal responsibility with the laying of the cornerstone of the first of the George Robert White health units, made possible by a bequest to the city, two years ago, of more than $5,000,000.

Mrs. Harriet J. Bradbury, sister of Boston's benefactor, and former mayor Thomas N. Hart were interested participants in the exercises.

Owing to the dampness, the congestion and the duration of the exercises, it was considered best that former Mayor Hart, the honorary presiding officer, now in his ninety-sixth year, should sit in the limousine with Mrs. Bradbury. His place as actual presiding officer was taken by George E. Phelan, manager of the George Robert White fund, on the part of the trustees.

In opening the exercises Mr. Phelan spoke of the pleasure everybody must feel in having Mr. Hart, whom he called "the city's most honored citizen," as the presiding officer. He introduced Rev. Augustine J. Duart, of St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church, nearby, to pronounce the invocation, adding that the health unit would supplement the work of the church, "that fortress of good that has dominated the life of the parish for so many years." Following the invocation, Mr. Phelan spoke of the provisions of the will which places the fund in the hands of a board of trustees, of which the Mayor, the City Auditor, the president of the City Council, the president of the Boston Bar Association and the president of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, are members. He introduced George R. Nutter, president of the Bar Association, to represent the trustees.

Mr. Nutter referred to the habit of Americans to be boastful, which was not so bad if one has anything to boast about. In many ways Americans were justified in having a good opinion of themselves, but there were some things, as the World War pointed out, which should excite deepest consideration.

"It was found," Mr. Nutter said, "that in preparing for that struggle, the flower of American youth were found lacking in health and Massachusetts played a sorry part with over 25 per cent of her youth rejected for war duty. Only three states had a worse record, and they were in New England."

He spoke of health as one of the greatest assets of a country, and, in these days of strictest competition, such a force is an absolute necessity. The trustees of the White Fund had done their part in a movement to improve the health of the North End and it remained for the health experts to carry on the work, as Mr. Nutter was certain they would. In conclusion, he remarked that "George Robert White bids fair to take his place among the noted benefactors of mankind."

Health Commissioner Francis X. Mahoney referred to the occasion as marking another milestone in progressive health matters and praised the foresight of the Mayor and his associates in providing that the White Fund should be spent in so important a cause. He said that preventive medical and health work means preventing disease, and any efforts along that line are efforts in a noble cause.

He spoke of the location, on the site of the old Beth Isreal Synagogue, as a perfect place for an institution of that kind and he wanted to assure the trustees of the fund that everything would be done to make the unit successful. He warned the public, however, that unless the department secures the earnest co-operation of all agencies working for the betterment of the district, it will make the work of the Health Department harder.

These remarks were supplemented by those of Dr. George Cheever Shattuck of the Boston Health League, who spoke of the difference between a health unit and a dispensary or the family physician. A health unit exists to prevent disease and to raise the standard of health and it should unify the program of all agencies for civic betterment. He spoke of the unit in the West End as well established under the management of Dr. Charles F. Wilinsky.

In introducing Mayor Curley, the presiding officer impressively related the circumstances concerning the announcement of the White bequest about two years ago. The next day, Mr. Curley, who was not then mayor, called on him and reported that he had passed a wakeful night. He had been thinking of possible plans for the benefit of the city under that bequest Mr. Phelan asked what should be done, and Mr. Curley replied "to better the living conditions of the less fortunate." Later, in conversation with Mrs. Bradbury, Mr. Phelan said that she felt the Mayor must have been inspired, for the thought that he expressed was the thought that Mr. White had many times expressed to her. The result was that the trustees finally adopted the plan of health units, one in each of the five great tenement districts of Boston.

Mayor Curley, who was received with laughter and applause as he bowed to Mrs. Curley and named her in his salutory with the remark that it was one of the few opportunities that he had of talking to her in public, spoke of George Robert White as "a truly great product of this land of opportunity."

"The unit," he said, "would perpetuate the passing of a great American who came to Boston as a poor boy, and who, in the amassing of great wealth, never lost the memory for his fellow citizens, or the human touch. Mr. White had brought into the life of Boston the spirit of kindness and of brotherhood."

"The three greatest evils today," the Mayor said, "are poverty, disease and crime. Through the White bequest it will be possible to combat disease and thereby help in the general betterment of conditions among the poor. Who can conjure the possibilities that may result from our duty here today? The importance of this bequest may stimulate others just as well able as Mr. White was to make a contribution to the city along these lines."

Referring to the confidence of Mr. White in the integrity of city officials, which was indicated by the way he left his money, the Mayor said it was an emphatic object lesson in the days when the public is led to believe that crime and underhandedness are rampant in the conduct of their public business.

"No matter how venal any reform administrations may be," the Mayor remarked, "the trustees had so buttressed the funds with safeguards that they would be powerless to dissipate it."

When the Mayor had concluded, Charles A. Coolidge, one of the trustees of the Park Department and the architect who designed the building, presented the Mayor with a silver trowel, suitably engraved. The Mayor, rather than use the spotless instrument, called upon a workman to present an old trowel. This he manipulated, spreading the mortar about the granite block. The copper box containing city documents, a copy of the White will and other papers, was then placed in position and the upper block was lowered.

Then, stepping over to the neighboring car, Mayor Curley presented the unused trowel to Mrs. Bradbury, who kindly consented to step on the platform and have her picture taken with the Mayor and Mrs. Curley. The exercises were concluded with the singing of the "Star-Spangled Banner."

ACCEPTS SUM ON GARBAGE CONTRACT.

President Charles Cranford of the Boston Development and Sanitary Company has decided to accept from the City of Boston $2,500 of the approximately $3,000 due him as final payment on that concern's contract for operation of the garbage incinerating plant at Spectacle Island.

Corporation Counsel Mark Sullivan has so announced, adding that the corporation has expressed its wish that the remaining $500 shall be withheld by the city, as the basis of the corporation's suit for $350,000 against the city, now pending in the courts.

This suit was instituted nearly two years ago, upon expiration of the ten-year $2,500,000 contract the corporation had with the city. Coleman Brothers, Inc., has since been operating the plant on a contract calling for payments over the ten-year period aggregating $3,789,000.

President Cranford claims the $350,000 is the extent of the damage sustained by the corporation because of the city's neglect to abide by the provision of the contract which, it is contended, bound it to separate solid materials from the garbage which was incinerated.

Plant operators during the Cranford contract were continually complaining that paving stones, sidewalk bricks, tin cans and other solid materials impervious to the incinerating process were coming to the island in the garbage scows and working havoc to the incinerating machinery.

MAYOR CURLEY FIGHTS INIMICAL MOVE BY GAS COMPANY AGAINST BOSTON'S CITIZENS.

Mayor Curley has resented the attitude of the gas company in the matter of a new contract with the city for street lighting. His letter is as follows:

D. D. BARNUM, President, Boston Consolidated Gas Company, 149 Tremont Street, Boston, Mass.:

DEAR SIR,—I beg to acknowledge receipt of a copy of communication forwarded by you this day to the Commissioner of Public Works in which you set forth that your interpretation of the street gas lighting contract does not obligate your company to comply with the very proper request made by the Commissioner of Public Works for a six months' extension on the existing contract.

The request for this extension was made in order that opportunity might be provided for such investigation as might be necessary to protect the city in the matter of a new contract.

I regret exceedingly that you have apparently seen fit to take advantage of a provision which, to say the least, savors of sharp practice.

I have instructed the Commissioner of Public Works to take the necessary steps for the making of a new contract, and have also instructed him, with a view to developing a competition which may prove beneficial to the city, to advertise for bids for electric lighting at the same time.

I sincerely trust that competition may develop which will make it unnecessary to utilize gas as an illuminant in the City of Boston.

With kindest regards, I am,

Very truly yours,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

The company's letter to which Mayor Curley referred follows:

WELSBACH STREET LIGHTING COMPANY OF AMERICA, 334 NEWBURY STREET, BOSTON, January 25, 1924.

BOSTON CONSOLIDATED GAS COMPANY, Boston, Mass.:

GENTLEMEN,—As heretofore stated, we do not believe that we are bound to continue our contract to light the city lamps beyond the 31st of March, 1924. Clause 12 of your contract with the city dated March 19, 1914, states your obligation to the city, and fixes as well our obligation to you. This clause, in our opinion, gives the city no right to an extension of this contract, except "in case the city enters into a new contract involving other parties or different equipment, or both."

The clause was carefully drawn and was obviously intended to cover the case which might well occur where the city had entered into a contract with some other person or for some other equipment which could not be in operation on April 1, 1924.

We do not wish to appear arbitrary about the matter, but this contract has been a losing one, and we do not care to continue it on its present basis. It is almost needless to add that we shall, in case of necessity, perform the work even after April 1, 1924, because we do not wish to inconvenience the public or embarrass the city in any way. On the other hand, we see no reason why proper steps should not be taken to provide for the making of a new contract and we are certain that both you and the city will agree that we are not acting unfairly in asking that this step be taken.

Very truly yours,

ARTHUR E. SHAW, President.

THEODORE A. GLYNN,
Fire Commissioner.

The above transfer was made by the City Auditor with the approval of the Mayor January 23, 1924.

BOSTON, January 22, 1924.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

From B-13, Communication, to B-14, Motor Vehicle Repairs and Care, $200.

From B-23, Veterinary, to B-14, Motor Vehicle Repairs and Care, $150.

From B-28, Expert and Architect, to B-14, Motor Vehicle Repairs and Care, $100.

From D-16, General Plant, to E-1, Building, $500.

From F-11, Workingmen's Compensation, to E-1, Building, $600.

The reasons for requesting these transfers are as follows:

The transfer of $400 to B-10 is requested because of the fact that $400 was charged to B-10 under a misunderstanding as a fixed charge and this transfer is asked to correct the matter.

The overhauling of some Christie tractors at a cost of $7,000 considerably lessened the amount available for ordinary repairs under B-14, and $790 is needed under this item.

The transfer of $1,000 to C-4 is made necessary by the equipping of apparatus with a cellular tire which has proven most economical and satisfactory.

The transfer of $1,075 to D-1 is necessary to pay for new forms and a more extensive system of accounts.

The transfer of $7,550 to D-3 is necessary to pay for the coal and fuel oil for this year, which appears to be a normal consumption.

One thousand six hundred dollars is needed in E-1 to pay for stock necessary to complete house repairs. A very much larger amount of this kind of work was done this year than ordinarily.

Yours very truly,

THEODORE A. GLYNN,
Fire Commissioner.

BOSTON, January 21, 1924.

To the Honorable the Mayor of Boston: Approval is respectfully requested for the following transfer in the appropriation for the Water Division:

From Water Revenue, $35,000, to service mains and relaying, $35,000.

Receipts from Water Revenue, etc., to January 19 were $3,652,527, and there is actually in the collector's office checks to the amount of $95,463, awaiting tabulation, so that the total receipts to date are $3,747,990.

The total appropriation to date, authorized by the City Council, is $3,715,294.64, making a balance over and above the year's obligations of $32,700, with the collections of ten more days yet to be received.

The obligations charged against "Service Mains and Relaying" aggregate the $365,000 appropriated to this item. In order to take care of petitions which are being received for main pipe from builders who are getting ready to do winter work, which petitions should be attended to in order to keep labor moving this winter, and the advertising for 200 tons of 3-inch and 4-inch water pipe which is needed and which, under present conditions of delivery will take six months before reaching our yard, makes the above request for transfer necessary.

This is a repetition of a letter addressed to his Honor the Mayor dated December 11, 1923.

Very respectfully,

JOSEPH A. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Public Works.

The above transfer was made by the City Auditor with the approval of the Mayor January 23, 1924.

DEAR SIR,—Permission is respectfully requested to make the following transfer:

From the appropriation for A-1, Stenographer at $1,200, $200, to the appropriation for B27, Testing Materials, $200.

This transfer is made necessary owing to the fact that a considerable part of our original appropriation was used for the purchase of testing apparatus for the Public Works Department laboratory, which made a shortage in the amount that we would ordinarily use for making the routine tests of this department.

Respectfully yours,

FRANK P. ROCK,
Superintendent of Supplies.

The above transfer was made by the City Auditor with the approval of the Mayor, January 23, 1924.

MAYOR DRAFTS RESOLUTION FOR CITY COUNCIL ADOPTION, SEVERELY SCORING IMMIGRATION BILL AMENDMENT.

Mayor Curley sent the following communication to the City Council Monday, January 25:

The adoption of the amendment presented by Congressman Johnson to the immigration bill now pending before Congress is so thoroughly un-American and would work such great hardship to so many people, that for the best interests of the present population in America and posterity it should be rejected.

Conditions obtaining in Southern Europe prior to 1890 made it more desirable for the inhabitants to remain in the land of their birth. As a consequence of this condition the immigration from Italy, Greece, Portugal and other countries in that part of Europe has been so limited that an amendment to the immigration law basing the admission quota on the 1890 census, would constitute an absolute prohibition on immigration from these countries.

The tremendous immigration that has taken place since 1890 has been largely based on the natural desire for improvement in condition in life. It represents not only a laudable but a most commendatory course of action on the part of these people. They have contributed to the life of America all the splendid traditions and attainments of their home lands, and a restriction such as is proposed in the Johnson immigration bill would result in an immeasurable hardship to a great element of liberty loving and law-abiding women and men.

I accordingly recommend the adoption of the accompanying resolution:

Whereas, The Congress of the United States has under consideration the adoption of amendments to the immigration law, and

Whereas, It is proposed in one of the said amendments presented by Congressman Johnson that the census of 1890 be adopted as the basis for computing immigration quotas, and

Whereas, The adoption of this basis would tend to the development of racial prejudices and stigmatize as inferiors immigrants from Southern Europe, be it and it is hereby

Resolved, That in the opinion of the City Council of Boston that any amendment adopted to existing immigration laws should have as its basis a due and proper consideration for all people seeking a home in the United States; and be it further

CITY CLOSES DEAL FOR POLICE HEADQUARTERS' SITE IN PARK SQUARE.

The City of Boston has closed the deal with the Park Square Real Estate Trust by which it acquires title to the site at the corner of Berkeley and Stuart streets, where the new police headquarters building will be erected.

City Treasurer Curley turned over $378,000 and the trust immediately deposited with City Collector McMorro $154,468.67 as taxes for 1922 and as a part of the 1923 assessment.

Police Commissioner Wilson is anxious to proceed without the slightest delay and he will look for progress, once the operations begin, similar to that which has attended the erection of the Milk street building for the City Hall avenue police. The police headquarters will cost $1,000,000, including the land.

HERBERT A. WILSON,

$350,000 FOR NEW HOME FOR THE OVERSEERS OF PUBLIC WELFARE.

A conference was held at the office of the Mayor January 28 to consider the recommendation of the Finance Commission as submitted under date of January 23 in which the said Finance Commission recommended that temporary expedients be considered in the settlement of the problems confronting the Overseers of Public Welfare in the matter of temporary home for women and office quarters for the overseers.

The Overseers of Public Welfare were unanimous in the opinion that the present accommodations were inadequate and that new accommodations should be provided at once. They further contended that the matter had been the subject of consideration for a period of six years and believed the time had arrived for action.

As a result of the conference his Honor the Mayor agreed to recommend to the incoming City Council a loan in the sum of $350,000 to provide office accommodations and suitable meeting places for the various organizations co-operating with the Overseers of Public Welfare and also for the purpose of providing a new temporary home for women and children.

POLICE NOT CALLED ON TO INVESTIGATE CITY HALL.

Boston's City Hall is as clean and as orderly as any large office building, according to Mayor Curley and Fred J. Kneeland, Superintendent of Public Buildings. These officials were emphatic in their denial of the truth of an article printed concerning the conduct of the buildings after hours, and Capt. Perley Skillings of the City Hall avenue Police Station stated that he had never heard a complaint, and, furthermore, had entire confidence in his four patrolmen who are night watchmen there and obliged to visit every floor hourly.

"I have no knowledge of any such sensational goings-on as those outlined in the article," Mayor Curley said. "No complaints on this score have ever reached me. The only women in City Hall after regular hours are those who come to regular meetings of women's auxiliaries of military organizations having quarters in the building. These include the Suffolk County groups of the American Legion and Spanish War Veterans, the Veterans of Foreign Wars and other veteran organizations. The story was a mean one in so far as it impugns the good name of these women. Excepting women cleaners regularly employed in both the hall and the annex, these are the only women admitted to the buildings after the regular five o'clock closing hour.

Superintendent Kneeland's latest order, similar to the one issued during Mayor Peter's administration, that all persons must be out of the Hall and the Annex at five o'clock, was issued merely in order to lighten the task of the women cleaners. Some of them had complained that there was much delay at night caused by workers remaining after hours.

MAYOR URGES PURCHASE OF AMERICAN TREES.

Mayor Curley sent the following communication to the Park Department on January 31:

MR. JAMES B. SHEA, Chairman Park Commission, Boston, Mass.:

MY DEAR MR. SHEA,—The position taken by the New England Nurserymen's Association with reference to the purchase of trees abroad is sound, and a further search should be made of American nurseries for the trees which the Boston Park Department requires. It is our duty wherever possible to encourage American enterprise, and in the event that you are unable to secure all of the trees which may be necessary, it would, in my opinion, be advisable to purchase such as you can secure in America and wait for the remainder until such time as they have attained the required growth.

Respectfully yours,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

THANKS MAYOR FOR FELICITATION.

Mayor Curley, January 31, received the following letter from Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor:

WASHINGTON, D. C., January 28, 1924.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—Thank you most cordially for your telegraph message upon the anniversary of my seventy-fourth birthday. I am, indeed, grateful to you for your good wishes and your kind expressions regarding the service which it has been my life's endeavor to render to my fellowmen.

No one can tell when the summons will come for him but my most earnest hope is that whether it be soon or whether it be in the distant future, that so long as life is vouchsafed me that I may be given health and strength of mind and body and opportunity for continued service to my fellows.

Sincerely yours,

SAMUEL GOMPERS, President,
American Federation of Labor.

JAMES P. BALFE NAMED STATISTICS DEPARTMENT HEAD.

James P. Balfe, a trustee of the city's Statistics Department, was appointed chairman of that body by Mayor Curley. He will receive a salary of $3,500 a year as a result of an order of the City Council passed last week. Hitherto the position was unsalaried.

Of the 63 individuals thus selected (up to 1920 inclusive) by an electorate of 100 leading Americans, 27 were natives or for some time citizens of Boston or vicinity. The names of the latter are as follows: Chosen in 1900—John Adams, Benjamin Franklin, William Ellery Channing, Ralph Waldo Emerson, Daniel Webster, Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, Horace Mann, Nathaniel Hawthorne, George Peabody, Samuel Finley Breese Morse, Joseph Story, Asa Gray, Gilbert Stuart—total, 13.

If all New England is included, 4 more names will bring up the total to 38 or 60.3 per cent of whole number chosen, viz.: Roger Williams, Henry Ward Beecher, Harriet Beecher Stowe, Emma Willard.

CITY CHARTER CHANGES.

In 1854, 1885 and 1900 important changes in the original City Charter of 1821 were effected for the purpose of improving the methods and efficiency of the City Government. The revision of 1854 (Chap. 448, Stat. 1854) referred to the voters for acceptance, gave the Mayor a qualified veto over the action of the City Council, also the power of removal of appointed officials, besides providing for his election by a plurality instead of a majority vote. The amendments of 1885 (Chap. 266, Stat. 1885) were not submitted to the voters for approval. They transferred all the executive powers to the Mayor, prohibiting the City Council from interference with the executive and administrative business of the City. This was done in order to end the inefficiency resulting from an excessive number of joint committees, a municipal development conforming to the traditions of the outgrown town government.

The amendments of 1909 (Chap. 486, Stat. 1909) cut down the number and powers of the legislative branch of the government to a minimum, the Board of Aldermen (13 members) and the Common Council (75 members) being abolished. For these was substituted a single City Council of nine members to be elected at large for a 3-year term. The Mayor's position was further strengthened by giving him a 4-year term, subject to recall at end of two years, but requiring a majority of the registered voters to make the recall effective. The Mayor's power over appointments was no longer subject to check by aldermen but by a State board, the Civil Service Commission, and City elections were removed from all connection with national and State politics, no primaries nor caucuses being permitted, all candidates for office to be selected by means of nomination papers. The only question in this Act of 1909 which was submitted to the voters was contained in section 35, i. e., whether Plan 1 or Plan 2 should be adopted, the first providing for a term of two years for Mayor and a City Council of 36 members to be chosen in primaries. Plan 2 was adopted by a majority of 3,894. Charter of 1909 amended later as follows: (1) By Chap. 437, Acts of 1910, exempting loans issued for Rapid Transit construction from the prohibition of the establishing of sinking funds, as contained in sec. 26. (2) Chap. 730, Acts of 1914, fixing date of annual municipal election on the sixth Tuesday after the state election instead of in the following January, as in sec. 32; changing the requirement as to signatures on nomination papers to 3,000 for Mayor and 2,000 for City Council and School Committee instead of 5,000 for all, as in sec. 53, also limiting the number of nomination papers issued to 300 for a candidate for Mayor and 200 for other candidates, referring to sec. 54. (3) Chap. 37, Special Acts of 1918, annulling the jurat at end of nomination papers. (4) Chap. 94, Special Acts of 1918, abolishing recall of Mayor, and making him ineligible for re-election, i. e., establishing a single term of four years, but not prohibiting the election of any Mayor for other than consecutive terms. (5) Chap. 288, Acts of 1921, fixing date of the annual municipal election on the first Tuesday after the second Monday in December, also making slight changes as to nominations.

LIQUOR LICENSES AND NATIONAL PROHIBITION.

The national prohibition amendment (i. e., the 18th) to the Constitution, having been ratified by 45 States and becoming effective on January 16, 1920, the legalized trade in intoxicating liquors ceased then. It was supposed to stop about 6 months sooner because of the Federal war regulation providing for prohibition on July 1, 1919, to be effective until the army could be demobilized. But as there was no Massachusetts law forbidding the issuing of licenses after July 1, the Boston Licensing Board issued 702 such for the remainder of the license year with the proviso that the license was no protection against violation of Federal law. After July 1, under Federal law, the only liquor which licensees claimed the right to sell was beer and ale containing not over 2.75 per cent of alcohol. Sales of these lighter beverages continued to October 28, 1919, when Congress enacted a law (Volstead Act) forbidding the sale of any liquor as a beverage containing more than 0.50 per cent alcohol. The validity of this act being widely questioned, the United States Supreme Court upheld it on Jan. 5, 1920, and again on June 7, 1920. The result of this decision was that former applicants for liquor licenses did not apply for them in 1920. The Supreme Court of Mass. later in the year decided that the liquor laws of the State remain in force where not inconsistent with the Volstead Act. The Boston Board therefore issued 146 licenses to druggists and 17 4th-class, permitting sales for non-beverage purposes only. In 1921 there were issued 192 licenses to druggists, 15 4th-class and one 5th-class. On May 17, 1922, Chap. 427, Acts of 1922 (consisting of 27 sections) was approved, providing for the carrying into effect in Mass. of the 18th Federal (i. e., prohibition) amendment. This law is subject to a referendum at State election on November 7, 1922.

By Chapter 392, Acts of 1922, the retailing of non-intoxicating beverages is subjected to license, with fee of not more than one dollar for each year ending April 30.

PUBLIC STREETS IN BOSTON.

Total length of the 2,447 paved (accepted) streets, February 1, 1922, 606.33 miles; total area, 11,459,009 square yards, or 8.47 per cent of the City's total land area. This is exclusive of the private streets (not accepted), numbering about 2,890. 366.10 miles, or 60.38 per cent, are paved with macadam (including 128.03 miles bituminous macadam); 105.66 miles with granite block; 45.50 miles with asphalt; 29.32 miles with gravel; 36.63 miles with asphalt concrete (17.55 m. being bitulithic and 13.71 m. Topeka); 11.69 miles with wood block; 5.42 miles with brick. Old macadam pavement is gradually being replaced with more satisfactory and durable kinds, such as bitulithic, concrete, granite block, etc., $5,138,678 having been expended during the past four years in reconstructing and improving 313 miles of streets and parts of streets. Granolithic sidewalks laid in 1921, 97,049 square yards or about 21 miles, averaging 8 feet wide, 50 per cent of cost assessed on estates benefited.

New highway construction completed in period 1918-1921 includes 13 streets in Boston Proper; 34 in Dorchester; 37 in West Roxbury; 14 in Roxbury; 24 in Brighton; 6 in East Boston; 3 in Hyde Park; 4 in South Boston, and 1 in Charlestown, roadway pavement bitulithic, or asphalt surface on concrete, and bituminous macadam. Gross debt outstanding February 1, 1922, for all street construction, including damages, $22,267,141 or $925,700 more than in 1921, this increase due to new loan for Stuart St. construction.

SETTLEMENT OF BOSTON.

Boston was settled in the latter part of August, 1630, by Puritan colonists under Governor John Winthrop. The name of the original settlement was changed to Boston from Trimountaine by order of the Court of Assistants on September 7 (O. S.), 1630. This date was moved forward by the New Style calendar in 1752 to Sept. 17, the recognized date of the founding of Boston. The name, Trimountaine, had been given because of the three peaks of the most prominent hill, afterward called Beacon Hill, much higher then than now. By the Indians the place was called Shawmut. The name, Boston, was derived from the English town of Boston in Lincolnshire, the home of some of the leading colonists and promoters of the enterprise.

The Council voted at 2.37 o'clock p. m., on motion of Coun. WATSON, to take a recess subject to the call of the President.

The members of the Council reassembled in the chamber and were called to order by the President 6.04 o'clock p.m.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE REPORTS.

Coun. BRICKLEY, for Coun. HAGAN, for the Executive Committee, submitted a report on the petition of Maybelle Lyman (referred today) for permit for children under fifteen years of age to appear at Fritz-Carleton Hall, January 23—that a permit be granted.

Report accepted; permit granted on the usual conditions.

SALARIES OF PROBATION OFFICERS.

Coun. HAGAN, for the Committee on County Accounts, submitted a report on communication from the justice of the Chelsea District Court referred January 14) relative to salaries of probation officers—recommending the passage of the following, viz.:

Ordered, That the salaries of Frederick W. Doctor, Jr., and Ned F. Hoyt, probation officer and juvenile probation officer, respectively, in the Chelsea District Court, be fixed at the rate of $400 and $1,700 per annum, respectively, in accordance with the request of the justice of said court, said salaries to date from February 1, 1924.

The question came on the acceptance of the report and passage of the order.

Coun. DONOGHUE—Mr. President, I hope this order will be rejected. It appears to me that provides an increase in salary for two probation officers of the Chelsea District Court, one receiving an increase of $450 and the other an increase of $750. I think our City of Boston is paying enough salaries in other cities and towns of the Commonwealth today, and I feel that the bill which has been presented by his Honor the Mayor to compel the city of Chelsea and the town of Winthrop, which are included in Suffolk County, to pay their proportionate expense, should pass. If at this time we are going to vote for increases in salaries of probation officers or anyone else who is paid by the City of Boston money, I think we are putting ourselves in a ridiculous position before the Legislature. I think it is absolutely out of the question for us at this time, with the budget practically about to be considered by the Council and with an order issued by his Honor the Mayor to the heads of departments that no salaries be increased more than $100 per annum, with the respective laborers' increase of 50 cents per day, to pass an order increasing the salaries of two men in the district court in Chelsea, working as probation officers, $450 and $750, respectively. I think to such increase should be voted by this Council. I believe if the citizens of Boston have any money to spend they should spend it to increase salaries of citizens of Boston, those who live in Boston, rather than those who live in Chelsea or some other place, simply because the City of Boston is compelled to pay the expenses of Suffolk County.

I hope this bill will be defeated and that we will register our vote against it. It is not sound business policy. When we are confronted by the fact that there is not a sufficient amount of money to take care of just increases for citizens of Boston, why should we be asked to increase the salaries of these two men in Chelsea in this manner? I think the order should positively be defeated and that we should show the people of Beacon Hill that this City Council refuses further to pay increased salaries to citizens of Chelsea or other parts of Suffolk County other than citizens of Boston. If we have $1,200 to spend, let us spend it to increase the salaries of our own citizens, whether in the Police or Fire Departments or some other department of the city. Let us spend it to increase their salaries, to give them a decent living wage, rather than to increase the salaries of those who do not live in our city. We should be primarily interested in the citizens of Boston and should take care of their needs first. Then, if there is anything we are compelled to do by law afterwards, let us do it. But don't let us vote to increase the salaries of these men outside $450 and $750 a year, when we are increasing the amount paid to our own citizens but $100 a year. I hope the matter will fail of passage.

Coun. HEALEY—Mr. President, I desire to go on record as voting in favor of this, because the law requires it, that is all. I think Boston ought to look after its own, but under the law Boston pays the bill. I regret that Chelsea, Revere and Winthrop do not pay their part of the county expenses, and I think Coun. Donoghue is right in his contention. But the trouble is that we are face to face with the bill, and Boston must pay the bill. Even though I would like to look after our own people first, because I think that is right, just and equitable, the law is the law, and we cannot sidestep it. If in some way Chelsea, Revere and Winthrop can be made to pay, as I believe is proposed, their proper, proportionate part of the expenses of Suffolk County, I think they should be so made to pay. I agree with Coun. Donoghue absolutely that it is not right that Boston should be saddled unduly with the county expenses, and that our duty should first lie to our own citizens. I certainly hope that the Legislature will soon compel Chelsea, Revere and Winthrop to pay a part of the county expenses. In the meantime we are confronted by the law and, therefore, I shall for that reason alone vote for the order.

Coun. DONOGHUE—Mr. President, while the law may say that the City of Boston shall pay the expenses of Suffolk County, it does not say, in my opinion, that we shall increase the salaries of any of the present employees of Suffolk County. If we were compelled by law to pay these increases in salaries there would be no need of the bill being presented here to the City Council for acceptance. Therefore I feel that we are not compelled to vote for these increases. I know the law says that we must pay the salaries of officials in Suffolk County and the expenses of Suffolk County, but it does not say in any law that we must pay these increases. I am contending against the increase of the present salaries, drawing that distinction. We are not compelled to increase their rate of wage; we are not compelled to give them $450 more and $750 more at the expense of the citizens of Boston. Irrespective of what anybody may consider to be our position under the law in other respects, we are not compelled to vote for this act, increasing these particular salaries, on the face of it. Otherwise it would not be in here.

The report was accepted, and the order was passed, yeas 5, nays 1.

Yeas—Coun. Brickley, Healey, Lane, Moriarty, Walsh—5.

Nays—Coun. Donoghue—1.

RADIOTONE PHOTOGRAPHS, PRESIDING OFFICERS.

HOMES, CITY OF MILWAUKEE.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, January 28, 1924.
To the City Council:
Gentlemen,—I transmit herewith communication from City Planning Board, with data, in reply to the order passed by your honorable body requesting an investigation as to what the city of Milwaukee has done in the matter of providing homes for persons of modest means, which is self explanatory.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

City of Boston,
City Planning Board, January 25, 1924.
Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:
Dear Sir,—The City Planning Board returns herewith order passed by the City Council under date of December 31, 1923, i. e.:

"Ordered, That the City Planning Board, through his Honor the Mayor, be requested to investigate what the city of Milwaukee has done to provide homes for those of modest means and report to the Mayor and the City Council whether some such plan as in effect in Milwaukee might not be used in Boston," and begs leave to submit at the same time a statement of its findings in the matter.

The Wisconsin Legislature in 1919 enacted a law permitting cities and counties of that state to purchase preferred stock in copartnership housing companies. The Garden Homes Company was accordingly organized in 1920, and the Common Council of the city of Milwaukee and the appropriate authorities of the county each voted to invest $50,000 in the enterprise. Upwards of one hundred houses have been built at the present time, each house containing five or six rooms, representing an approximate total cost, land and buildings, of from $4,300 to $4,700 and involving a monthly payment on the part of the occupants of from $44.50 to $51 per month.

A statement in some detail with regard to the procedure and the method of financing the Milwaukee project is attached to this report. (Appendix A.)

In an opinion handed down by the Corporation Counsel in this matter (a copy of it is herewith submitted, Appendix B) certain facts are clearly established, i. e.:

I. That present constitutional provisions confer upon the Commonwealth specifically the privilege of "providing homes for citizens" (Article 43) except "during times of war, public exigency, emergency or distress" when the providing of shelter is declared to be a public function and therefore capable of being exercised by the cities and towns throughout the Commonwealth. (Article 47.)

II. That the City of Boston could not be authorized under the present constitutional provisions to appropriate money raised by taxation to be invested in such a project as the Milwaukee plan of providing homes for those of modest means.

The City Planning Board has no means of passing upon the ultimate success or failure of the Milwaukee project, but so far as the City of Boston is concerned, the further consideration of any scheme which cannot be granted the necessary legal authority under the provisions of the constitution of the Commonwealth would appear to be fruitless.

Respectfully submitted,
THE CITY PLANNING BOARD,
FREDERIC H. FAY,
Chairman.

POWER STATION, PARKER HILL.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, January 26, 1924.
To the City Council:
Gentlemen,—I beg to submit herewith report of the Fire Commissioner, the same being an answer to interrogatories contained in the order of the City Council adopted under date of January 7, 1924.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Fire Department, January 21, 1924.
Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—In accordance with the attached order, namely:

"That the Fire Commissioner be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to report to the City Council as to the advisability of establishing a power station in the vicinity of Parker Hill for the purpose of increasing the water pressure on Parker Hill.

In City Council, January 7, 1924. Passed."

I submit the following report:

I have had tests made on the various hydrants at the highest grades of approach on the top of the hill, namely, opposite the Elks' Hospital on Parker Hill with the following results:

	Pounds.
Huntington avenue and Parker Hill avenue,
foot of Parker Hill avenue.....	65
Parker Hill avenue and Hillside street.....	82
Parker Hill avenue and Parker Hill terrace.....	65
Parker Hill avenue, opposite Brigham Hospital,	20
Parker Hill avenue, opposite Elks' Hospital....	15
Sachem street, opposite No. 66, which is about a 7 per cent grade, hydrant being about 200 feet from the corner of Parker Hill avenue....	48

It may be readily seen that there is an adequate flow of water on the hill under normal conditions, as these pressures were taken between ten and twelve a. m., which would mean that there would be an increased pressure on all the hydrants in that vicinity during the night.

As to the advisability of establishing a pumping station on this hill, it would appear to me to be quite an unnecessary and costly scheme, would require constant maintenance, employing at least four men for a twenty-four hour day.

In response to an alarm of fire on this hill we send three pumps having a test capacity of 750 gallons, each of these being sufficient to work at least two lines of ordinary length, 300 feet of 250 gallons each.

To solve this problem I would suggest that an equalizer be installed, such as we have on the Bellevue section, and which answers all purposes for this hill, and would provide at all times water in sufficient quantities for fire and domestic purposes. It could be very easily operated from the pumping stations that we have now in service through a line of mains which would be connected up for the supply as against the demand.

The fact that the test shows fifteen pounds on one hydrant means nothing to be alarmed over as we develop the pressure from that fifteen pounds, with sufficient quantity, to any desired pressure, within the scope of the pump, meaning that we can get three hundred pounds from the pump and it will show only fifteen pounds at the hydrant.

Yours very truly,
THEODORE A. GLYNN,
Fire Commissioner.

NATIONAL BANK TAX CASE.

Coun. HEALEY offered an order—That his Honor the Mayor be requested to ask Attorney John A. Sullivan to prepare for the City Council of Boston a report on the history of the National Bank tax case, and if reasonably convenient, a comparison with the results arrived at by the city of New York in a similar case.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

CITY OF BOSTON INCOME.

Coun. HEALY offered an order—That his Honor the Mayor be requested to ask the City Auditor to prepare for the City Council a brief on the corporation tax of Massachusetts law as it affects the income of the City of Boston with such suggestions as will tend to stabilize the estimated annual returns to the city from the state.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

REDUCTION OF ELECTRICITY PRICE.

Coun. WATSON offered an order—That the Law Department, through his Honor the Mayor, be requested to furnish the Council in writing a statement of the present status of the city's petition for a reduction in the present price of electricity.

The question came on the second reading of the order.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, I have waited almost two years for something tangible in the way of a reduction in the price of electricity by the Edison Company, asked for in a petition presented by the City of Boston to the Public Utilities Commission, as I said a moment ago, almost two years back. The City of Boston has contributed, through his Honor the Mayor and this body, a sum rising $100,000 to prosecute the petition, and today we are in about the same condition that we were, so far as I know, when we first started the petition here for a reduction in rates. It is true that the Edison Company has reduced the price of electricity for lighting purposes half a cent per kilowatt, voluntarily, that reduction taking place during the first part of the hearing before that Board. They did it, I presume, in their clever way, to attempt to discount the city's attempt to have lower rates. But the city did not fall for their scheme, and then Mayor Peters and later Mayor Curley, together with the Councils of those years, continued to keep the matter alive. In fact, I spoke, I believe, at every meeting for eight or nine weeks, attempting to focus the public mind upon the conduct of this gigantic monopoly, and I think that worried them. I have remained silent on this subject for nearly two years, having no desire to bring down possible failure upon those who are representing the city before the Public Utilities Commission because of anything I might say. I judge now that by omission I have not helped the cause any, because we have spent $100,000 and we will have to spend more. That cannot stop now. The Edison Company's plan always is, and it is true of all great, powerful, public utilities and other great corporations which enjoy rights granted them by the Legislature or by city governments in the nature of a monopoly, to procrastinate, delay, and put every obstacle in the way of those who are prosecuting anything that will benefit the taxpayers. They hire the highest priced experts. They buy up experts who are possibly going to be retained by the city or state, and in every way attempt to interfere with the prosecution by those who attempt to get a reduction in the price of the commodity that they have a monopoly in selling. I don't know whether all of the blame can be placed on the shoulders of the Public Utilities Commission at the State House or on the Edison Company and its employees. It may be that there is blame which should be placed in other localities. I exempt the Mayor of Boston absolutely from my suggestion that others may be responsible, and I know that this body is immune from any such criticism. But it may be properly applied in other places. I will be told, I presume, later that Arthur Dehon Hill, for whom I have great respect, who was Corporation Counsel of the city under Mayor Peters and who through my intercession in part was continued as the city's law representative in the prosecution of the attempt to get lower rates from the Edison Company when he left the office of Corporation Counsel, has been busy in other directions. I interceded for him, not that he asked me to do so, but I believed he had the matter in hand and that he should continue the work, and Mayor Curley in his magnanimous way agreed to continue with Mr. Hill and has agreed to let him have all the money he wishes in reason to conduct the case in a proper way. You may say perhaps that Mr. Hill is delayed in outside matters. Undoubtedly at present he is so delayed. But this petition looking for lower rates interests every individual in Boston, not only those who use electricity for commercial purposes, but those who use it for lighting purposes and those who do not use it, the reason why those who do not use it are directly interested being that they do have this interest, that where they purchase something from a manufacturing plant or a store, or where they ride on trolley cars where juice enters into the carrying on of the business, the price of electricity does enter into the price of the article or of the service they get. It enters into every item of fuel, food, raiment, housing, electric lighting, electric heating and electric power, and therefore interests every individual in Boston. Everyone desires a reduction except those who are getting great profits from this monopoly. We are helpless. The Legislature makes it a point to take away home rule from cities and towns, to take it away from the great City of Boston, the capital city of New England, and place it in the hands of those who have the right to control this great monopoly, permitting them to so arrange their business under license from the Public Utilities Commission as to extend their lines into other states, thereby prohibiting us in Boston from in any way having any say concerning this great commodity. They are now going to interchange all power with a New York lighting corporation. When the Edison Company and the New England Power Company—and they are all one—have a surplus of juice, and there is not enough juice in New York, the interchange will go that way, under agreement, whereby they will be supplied from here, and vice versa another time, taking it to New England from there. There is such an absolute monopoly that I doubt even though the people of Massachusetts arose as one man and demanded public regulation of this great monopoly, they could accomplish much. They would be handicapped because of connections with Rhode Island and New York. There is already a great connection, I believe, or a plan for a great connection through Fall River, with Rhode Island. And so I am anxious, as the public are anxious, to see something tangible in the way of the making of progress in our effort to reduce the rates. There is no hope from a plea on Beacon Hill, not a particle. There is some hope from this body here and similar bodies in other cities and towns in New England. But they are helpless, absolutely helpless. I do want to say, as one member of this body, that I am willing to go the limit in the matter of appropriating money, so far as the City Council may do so, for our Law Department to prosecute this case to the end, provided I am satisfied that there is a genuine attempt made to bring about a successful contest. I won't say that I have my doubts about it now, but I might say, in my usual way, that I am suspicious, which I presume carries with it the implication that I am in doubt about it. But I do want some information, and not oral information of which no record is made. I want some information in writing from the Law Department, and they in turn should get something in writing from the special counsel and from others who are prosecuting this case for us. Mr. Hill is now engaged in a criminal prosecution, stirring up the filth and mud that the people are heartily sick of. It has been polluting the minds of the youth, as a result of the cases they are prosecuting. I have no interest in the matter, I don't care what they do; I simply want justice to prevail. If there are guilty men on trial, they should suffer, regardless of their influence, whether in Washington, where they are stealing oil franchises, or in Boston, where they have perhaps done things equally bad but on a minor scale. I sincerely trust that these words of mine, rather lengthy but spoken without heat, in all seriousness, will bring about some activity in the matter of giving to Boston citizens a reduction in the price of a product that enters into our very existence, Mr. President, I ask for a suspension of the rule in order that the order may go upon its passage at this time.

The rule was suspended and the order was given its second reading and passed.

GAS AND ELECTRICITY CONTRACT.

Coun. WATSON offered and order—That his Honor the Mayor be requested to furnish the Council such data as he may have, or will have, later, relative to the contemplated contract for gas and electricity.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, I realize that we are rather early in the matter of the electric lighting contracts here, but the gas contract, I believe, is being considered or will be considered shortly, and I think the earlier we get data on these things the better. I was present when the last contract was signed, and I had the wool pulled over my eyes. This is a matter upon which I would like a little more light.

The order was passed.

Coun. HEALEY offered the following:

Resolved, That the City Council of the City of Boston, Mass., views with disfavor the provisions contained in the Johnson immigration bill, so called, now pending before Congress, relative to the adoption of the figures of the 1890 census, as the basis for the computation of the newly proposed quota for immigrants.

Whatever policy is to be adopted with reference to immigration must be one which should equitably affect all of our American citizenship as it is constituted today.

This provision tends to give official sanction to national and racial prejudices, as well as to put the stigma of inferiority upon many elements of our American citizenship, whose loyalty has been tested in the furnace of war, and who have always contributed their full share towards the maintenance and preservation of our American democracy; and Ordered, That copies of this order be sent by the City Clerk to the Massachusetts senators and representatives in Congress.

Later in the session, the resolution was withdrawn, on motion of Coun. HEALEY, as the Mayor had sent a message and resolution to the Council on the subject.

ACTION CONCERNING IMMIGRATION BILL.

The following was received:

City of Boston,

Office of the Mayor, January 23, 1924.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—The adoption of the amendment presented by Congressman Johnson to the immigration bill now pending before Congress is so thoroughly un-American and would work such great hardship to so many people, that for the best interests of the present population in America and posterity it should be rejected.

Conditions obtaining in Southern Europe prior to 1890 made it more desirable for the inhabitants to remain in the land of their birth. As a consequence of this condition the immigration from Italy, Greece, Portugal and other countries in that part of Europe has been so limited that an amendment to the immigration law basing the admission quota on the 1890 census, would constitute an absolute prohibition on immigration from these countries. The tremendous immigration that has taken place since 1890 has been largely based on the natural desire for improvement in condition in life. It represents not only a laudable but a most commendatory course of action on the part of these people. They have contributed to the life of America all the splendid traditions and attainments of their home lands, and a restriction such as is proposed in the Johnson immigration bill would result in an immeasurable hardship to a great element of liberty-loving and law-abiding women and men.

I accordingly recommend the adoption of the accompanying resolution.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Whereas, The Congress of the United States has under consideration the adoption of amendments to the immigration law, and

Whereas, It is proposed in one of the said amendments presented by Congressman Johnson that the census of 1890 be adopted as the basis for computing immigration quotas, and

Whereas, The adoption of this basis would tend to the development of racial prejudices and stigmatize as inferiors immigrants from southern Europe, be it and it is hereby

Resolved, That in the opinion of the City Council of Boston that any amendment adopted to existing immigration laws should have as its basis a due and proper consideration for all people seeking a home in the United States, and, be it further

Resolved, That the people of Boston through the City Council of Boston hereby records its disapproval by Congress of the Johnson Immigration Bill and, be it further

Resolved, That in the opinion of the City Council of Boston the best interests of America warrant the rejection of this measure by Congress, and, be it further

Resolved, That copies of this order be sent by the City Clerk to the Massachusetts senators and representatives in the National House of Congress. The preambles and resolves were passed.

TAKING OF LAND, POLICE HEADQUARTERS.

Coun. HEALEY offered the following:

Whereas, the City of Boston has added to the unearned increment on certain land held by the Park Square Real Estate Trust by the widening and extension of Stuart street at an expense of $2,600,000; by the extension of Arlington street at an expense of $636,000; by the construction of exits and entrances at Arlington and Boylston streets for Boston Elevated Railway service at an expense of $1,200,000; and

Whereas, said certain land was assessed at $15 a square foot in 1922, and was reduced to $13 a square foot in 1923 at the request of the Park Square Real Estate Trust; and

Whereas, said land was taken by the Street Commissioners at $22 a square foot for a police headquarters, its real estate expert having advised said commissioners that the value of the land was at least $30 a square foot; be it

Resolved, That the City Council of Boston is of the opinion that the request of the Park Square Real Estate Trust for an abatement of taxes on said land was not justified and did not reflect a high standard of citizenship, and be it further

Resolved, That the City Council is of the opinion that a closer co-ordination of the Assessing and Street Laying-Out Department should have taken place in the taking of said land for a Police Headquarters.

Coun. WATSON offered the following as a substitute:

Resolved, That the City Council feels that the Finance Commission is properly subject to criticism for failure to investigate the facts surrounding the selection of the proposed Park square site for a Police Headquarters, and the price agreed to be paid therefor.

The question came on the adoption of the substitute offered by Coun. Watson.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, I think any words of mine are unnecessary as to the value of such a substitute. I do want to say one word on the resolutions presented by Coun. Healey, for which I have offered a substitute. He makes reference to figures, sums and facts in his possession which I have had no opportunity to check up. I presume they are correct, but he is human, like others, and I think the resolutions he offers are a little too far fetched and a little too extended for me to vote upon offhand. If they were a little briefer I might have been able to follow them better. Some of them I believe in. But the whole blame, in my opinion, can be placed on the shoulders of the Finance Commission, who should have inquired into the matter, who should have obtained the facts, although they have failed to do it. I am certain that if the matter had to deal with some smaller people it would have been pretty well investigated. I think the Finance Commission can show themselves lax in this matter, at least, it may be because Amory Eliot and his colleagues are in favor with or at least on speaking terms with the Finance Commission.

Coun. HEALEY—Mr. President, while I think what the member states is true, nevertheless I think the proper procedure would be to allow my resolutions to go through and then to introduce what the gentleman has offered as a separate resolution, if he so desired. I would state to the gentleman, if he thinks perhaps I may not have been correct in the figures, that I received the figures today from the auditor's department, compiled by Mr. Keenan down there at the request of the City Auditor. So I think the proper thing to do would be for the gentleman to allow the resolutions I have presented to go through, and then present his resolutions independently.

President LANE—The Chair thinks that this is not really a substitute, but that the resolutions offered by Coun. Healey would go upon their passage or defeat, as the members may elect, and that then Coun. Watson's resolution should still be in order, to be acted on upon its merits. If there is no objection, the Chair will put the motion of Coun. Healey's resolutions first.

Coun. WATSON—I would ask the Chair if he presents that statement, based on parliamentary rule?

President LANE—No.

Coun. WATSON—On his own personal views?

President LANE—My own personal views. I think the paper offered by Coun. Watson is not properly a substitute for the paper offered by Coun. Healey, and I think the best thing to do would be to act upon both resolutions.

Coun. WATSON—How about the propriety of it, Mr. President? I suppose a substitute is in order.

President LANE—A substitute is in order always.

Coun. WATSON—Well, we are both wrong, I guess.

President LANE—Coun. Healey moves a suspension of the rule and the passage of his resolutions.

Coun. MORIARTY—Mr. President, I would rather go one step farther in the matter of the Finance Commission and ask the Finance Commission if it has not been brought out very plainly, taking the facts as they have come to us from the Law Department and from the assessors' office, and having in mind this abatement in April, that if the investigators for the Finance Commission were on the job they would have petitioned the court to enjoin the City of Boston from making this purchase. I think we ought to ask the Finance Commission directly for a report or send for the chairman and have him come in here and ask him why they allowed this sale to get by. Perhaps they will tell us, if they know. Of course, they play politics. They rob Peter to pay Paul. The chairman of the Finance Commission did not, of course, contribute to my campaign, but I do know people to whose campaign he did contribute. Perhaps we might find out that he had contributed to both sides. I know that he did contribute to one of the mayoralty candidates in the last campaign, $250. I don't know whether he got it from the holier-than-thou crowd, the men who are trustees of the Park Square Real Estate Trust, written up by the Boston newspapers as men prominent in safeguarding the interests of the city, men who advertise in the Boston press for money with which to run a campaign for clean government, asking contributions to the Good Government Association for the purpose of electing men to their liking. There is perhaps a question as to whether we should pass either of these resolutions. We have heard from the Law Department and have heard from the assessors. I think, in order to get the whole truth, we ought now to send for the chairman of the Finance Commission, for the chairman of the Street Commission, and ought to find out why the city was jobbed by these holier-than-thou men, who have taken unfair advantage of the city. If we pass these today, of course the sale has gone through and, as the Corporation Counsel has told us, it cannot be stopped. We have perhaps been lax in our duty. Of course, the Supreme Court says that we have nothing to do with the selection of sites, that all we have to do is to hand out the money when they ask us to do it, and perhaps may enjoin us or compel us to vote even against the oath we took when we were inducted into office. But I think both Coun. Watson's order and Coun. Healey's order should lie upon the table and be taken up by the new government. Then we can start the new year by bringing them in here and having a hearing that may result in saving money to the citizens of Boston in the future.

Coun. HEALEY—Mr. President, I am satisfied with that solution of the affair. If you desire to have the Finance Commission, the chairman of the Board of Street Commissioners, the assessors and the Law Department before us, to go into the matter more fully, more fully even than you did today, it is very satisfactory to me.

Coun. MORIARTY—I so move, Mr. President, that both resolutions be laid on the table and that—President LANE—One thing at a time. Coun. Moriarty moves that Coun. Healey's resolutions lie on the table.

The resolutions offered by Coun. Healey were laid on the table.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, may I ask unanimous consent to withdraw my resolutions?

With unanimous consent Coun. Watson's resolution was withdrawn.

Coun. MORIARTY—I would like to make a suggestion, Mr. President. I feel that Coun. Watson's resolution, so far as the Finance Commission is concerned, is really the meat of the coconut. I think he should also allow his order to lie over, to lie in the committee, so that it can be taken up later.

Coun. WATSON—All right, Mr. President. I reintroduce it.

Coun. WATSON reintroduced the resolution offered above as a substitute for Coun. Healey's resolutions.

Coun. MORIARTY—Mr. President, I now move that it lie on the table.

President LANE—The Chair suggests that both resolutions be referred to the Executive Committee, or they will both die on Saturday when this Council goes out of existence. If they are in the Executive Committee, however, they will go over till next year.

Coun. HEALEY—What is the sense of the proposed action, Mr. President, if we do not then request the Finance Commission and others to appear here? We have made a statement, and yet we do not follow it up by a request or order that they appear. If there is no request or order introduced for the appearance of the chairman of the Finance Commission and others, I cannot see the necessity of deferring this matter.

President LANE—That can be done, counselor, by the Executive Committee.

Coun. HEALEY—I suppose it can be done. Officially, I think, however, that the Council should go on record as desiring to have it done, if we really mean business.

Coun. WATSON—Why not notify them now, Mr. President?

President LANE—We are not meeting in Executive Committee now.

Coun. WATSON—Well, we have a right to have another meeting of the Executive Committee and then to request them to appear at such time as we may wish.

Coun. MORIARTY—Mr. President, I think the Council can instruct the Clerk to notify them to come here.

President LANE—On what day? At what time?

Coun. MORIARTY—Well, that is the situation.

Coun. HEALEY—Mr. President, I don't see why the passage of these resolutions affects the matter at all, and I see no reason why the pseudo investigation we had today affects it. You may, of course, take the matter up when the new government comes in. I say frankly that when I presented my resolutions as a substitute I did so with the feeling that the city's interests should have been better protected, in co-operation with the Assessing Department and the Street Commissioners, in this matter, that all should have co-ordinated more closely before the land was taken by the Street Commissioners. Having that in mind, I desired to have certain questions asked of the officials who appeared here today, and I believe in taking that position, I had the correct point of view. But that does not prevent the city government from investigating further, if it desires to, on Saturday next or in the next city government. That is a common course of procedure in any legislative assembly. I do not mean to say, of course, that this government may not take the matter up from the same or from another angle.

Coun. MORIARTY—Mr. President, let me say this. In so far as the spirit of Coun. Healey's first order was concerned, it called upon the Mayor, to get his information, and the order was misleading, because when we went into executive session, before giving the party to whom the communication was directed an opportunity to give us that information through the sources desired, we took the step of seeking that information without giving the Mayor an opportunity to furnish it to us. That was my reason for moving that we report back "Ought to pass," so that I could talk upon it. But Coun. Healey said he had got the information and was going to withdraw. Now, of course, I am not a mind reader. I did not know what Coun. Healey's intentions were. I did not know that he had a substitute resolution in his pocket which, after he got that information, he was going to introduce. I took the order that was first introduced on its face value. Maybe if we had waited and allowed Coun. Healey's order to have gone on its way, we might have gotten more information, or we might not. I feel, however, as Coun. Healey's substitute resolutions were the resolutions that followed the bringing in here of representatives of the Law Department and also representatives of the Assessing Department, while the whole matter is before us, Coun. Healey's resolutions likewise should lie on the table, as well as Coun. Watson's, so that we may have them both before us at the time when the chairman of the Finance Commission comes in here, if he does, to show the reasons why we have gone into the entire matter.

President LANE—Coun. Healey's resolutions are referred to the Executive Committee, and Coun. Watson's resolutions, which he has reintroduced, will also be referred to the Executive Committee.

Coun. HEALEY—And is there a request or order before the Council that the chairman of the Finance Commission appear here at a certain specified time on this matter?

Coun. MORIARTY—Mr. President, I will say that I will make that request when the Executive Committee goes into session on Monday morning, a week from today. I will introduce an order requesting him to be here a week from today.

Coun. HEALEY—And that the business before the Executive Committee be transferred to the new government?

Coun. MORIARTY—Yes.

Both Coun. Healey's and Coun. Watson's substitute resolutions were referred to the Executive Committee.

LEGISLATION FOR BRIDGET FLAHERTY.

Coun. MORIARTY offered the following:

Resolved, That the City Council of the City of Boston favors legislation authorizing the City of Boston to pay a sum of money, not exceeding $2,500, to Bridget Flaherty, mother of Agnes Flaherty, for injuries sustained as a result of an accident while attending the public schools of said city.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

GENERAL RECONSIDERATION.

Coun. WATSON moved a general reconsideration on all business transacted at the meeting, hoping that the same would not prevail. Lost.

Adjourned at 6.17 o'clock p. m., on motion of Coun. HEALEY, to meet on Saturday, February 2, at 12 o'clock noon.

COMPLETE ZONING SYSTEM WORKED OUT BY CITY PLANNING BOARD.

BOSTON GETS BENEFIT OF INTENSIVE STUDY OF PROBLEMS OF BUILDING, TRAFFIC AND LIVING THAT CITIZENS ARE LIKELY TO FACE IN THE NEXT TWO GENERATIONS.

To acquaint the people of Boston more fully with the zoning scheme which was proposed in a bill recently sent up to the Legislature by Mayor Curley on the recommendation of the City Planning Board the City Record is publishing a zoning map showing the boundaries of the use districts. There are six classes of use districts: Unrestricted, industrial, general business, local business, general residence and single residence. A map showing the bulk districts, which are designated by the maximum building heights for each district and include regulations for open spaces around buildings, will be published later.

The proposed zoning law has been carefully drawn after eighteen months' intensive investigation and study by the City Planning Board and its zoning Advisory Commission, and the Board now invites suggestions and constructive criticism on the plan from all citizens. Committees from different organizations are going over the details of the scheme almost daily at the City Planning Board offices. A series of public hearings are being arranged which will be held on February 15, 19 and 26 in the City Council Chamber, when the plan will be further explained. It is expected that colored zoning maps will be available for distribution by that time.

One of the big problems which Boston faces today as one of the leading cities of the United States is the adjustment of its business and industry to the physical layout of the city. The street system mainly follows the windings of the early streets and cowpaths. Up to twenty-five years ago the streets were generally adequate to take care of the horse-drawn vehicular traffic of that time, although conditions were far from satisfactory then. Since the coming of the automobiles, traffic troubles have increased every year with the annual increase of thousands of motor vehicles. Zoning would help to relieve traffic congestion, which has become almost unbearable at times in downtown Boston, by making it possible to provide the proper thoroughfares for each different type of district.

With a zoning plan in operation all over the city it would be possible to tell with reasonable certainty whether the various districts would develop along business, industrial or residential lines.

The general appropriate use of land would be defined, which should tend to stabilize real estate values and prevent "blighted districts" where buildings become run down and values decline. By knowing definitely just which areas of the city will be devoted to business, industry and residences would mean a saving of money to the city and to property owners in that streets, water, gas, electric lights and other utilities would be constructed particularly for each different district.

The zoning plan provides ten times more room for industries than is now being utilized. Large areas of land that are not suitable for any other purposes along the waterfront in East Boston, Charlestown, South End and Dorchester are classed as industrial. Plants, manufacturing food products, milk distributing stations and others likely to be affected by smoke, odor, noise or dust of such industries as blast furnaces, fertilizer factories, gas works, boiler works or cement mills would be protected from such injurious uses by their exclusion from industrial districts. Ample room is provided in the unrestricted districts for very heavy industries that might be noxious or injurious elsewhere.

The continued development of Boston as the main business and distributing center for New England would be encouraged by the zoning system which places the downtown shopping, financial and office sections in a general business district which means that the business environment will be protected from the intrusion of detrimental manufacturing. However, light manufacturing, garages and storage buildings are permitted. The general business districts extend out along the main thoroughfares, such as Boylston street, Columbus avenue and Washington street and also include such centers of business as Heath square, Roxbury, Andrew square, South Boston or Roslindale center.

Under zoning neighborhood stores will be conveniently located near residential sections in local business districts which are shown on the map in long black strips along car line streets in the outlying sections and close-in districts, such as the mixed dwelling and store sections of the West End and North End.

The general residence districts, shown in white on the map cover the larger part of the area of the city. The zoning scheme will protect Boston's historical Beacon Hill district and other close-in residential sections such as the old bow-front brick houses on Cross streets in narrow strips between Columbus avenue and Tremont street and Tremont and Washington streets north of Massachusetts avenue and parts of South Boston, East Boston and Charlestown.

Only a small part of the total area of Boston is classed as single residence, from which all business and industrial uses, two-family houses, three deckers and apartment houses are excluded. These districts are in the outlying parts of Jamaica Plain, Roslindale, West Roxbury and Hyde Park where the tendency is at present toward detached houses with large yards. Zoning will protect the present single residence sections and will provide additional room for suburban development within the borders of municipal Boston, which will be an inducement for many people who want single-family houses to build in Boston instead of going farther out to the Newtons, Dedham or Milton.

Gasoline filling stations and public repair garages may under the proposed zoning law locate in unrestricted, industrial and general business districts without restriction and in local business districts by securing a license from the Board of Street Commissioners. The provisions for the location of garages and filling stations will not be a hardship on either the dealers or the consumers on account of the fact that either general or local business districts are conveniently located near all the residential districts in Boston, but the promiscuous location of a filling station or public garages in a residential neighborhood, which often lowers property values, will be prevented. Small garages for not more than two automobiles, only one of which may be a commercial vehicle, may locate in all residential districts without use restrictions. Storage or community garages may locate in residential districts by a license from the Board of Street Commissioners, provided such garages are not detrimental or injurious to the residential character of the neighborhood.

The zoning scheme is not retroactive. It does not affect existing buildings or uses. Considerable leeway is allowed for projects under way which would be affected by the new law. Any lawful use may be continued, although it does not conform to the provisions of the district in which it is located, provided no structural addition or alterations are made and that such extension or enlargement of use is not objectionable or detrimental to the neighborhood.

The City Planning Board points out that it will not cost anything to put the zoning plan into operation as it will operate in the same manner as the present building law. A Board of Appeals

BOSTON IN FOR ANOTHER BANNER YEAR, SAYS MAYOR JAMES M. CURLEY IN HIS ANNUAL ADDRESS BEFORE NEW CITY COUNCIL IN INAUGURAL.

MUNICIPAL YEAR BEGINS WITH PROMISE OF COMMERCIAL AND INDUSTRIAL ACTIVITY, CAPITAL AND LABOR CO-OPERATING, AND PROSPECTS FOR GENERAL HAPPINESS ARE VERY BRIGHT. MAYOR ALSO RECOUNTS BRILLIANT ACHIEVEMENTS OF PAST YEAR BEFORE ASSEMBLAGE THAT CROWDS COUNCIL CHAMBER.

Gentlemen of the Council:

The municipal year which today begins, is replete with promise of commercial and industrial activity, so essential to the happiness of the people and the future of our city.

Capital and labor are co-operating and both are reaping the benefits resulting from harmonious relations and a realization that an advantage secured by either at the expense of the other must ultimately prove injurious to both. The spirit of pessimism so general during the period subsequent to the war has happily disappeared and an optimism based on faith in God, in country and our fellow man is once more in evidence.

The World War taught America the true value of a patriotic and sturdy womanhood and manhood and the necessity for economic justice in the matter of a saving wage to guarantee its conservation and perpetuation.

The saving wage means more and better food and clothing for the family, more and better books in the home, added opportunities for higher education and a more healthful and enlightened womanhood and manhood.

The saving wage is a milestone in the long weary journey from serfdom, misery and poverty to partial economic independence; and it is our imperative duty to conserve its blessings for posterity.

The benefits resulting to the present generation and to posterity from a more generous and just distribution of the values created by the brains and hands of them who toil must ultimately serve to solve the greatest present-day evil, seasonal unemployment.

With a view to meeting all equitable requests submitted in the matter of salaries and hours of labor for persons in the employ of the city, my every effort was directed during the year 1923 to the consideration of those cases which appeared the most meritorious, namely, employees receiving less than the maximum of $1,800 per annum.

That the saving wage may be stabilized I propose to include in this year's budget a sum sufficient to provide an increase of $150 in the wages of all laborers and mechanics and an increase of $100 in the salaries of all persons receiving less than $1,800 per annum.

The Police Commissioner, the Fire Commissioner and the Budget Commissioner have, during the past two months, made studies and compiled statistics relative to salaries paid men in the Fire and Police Departments of the principal cities of America. As a result of these studies, I find that the maximum for the Metropolitan Police is but $1,800, which is on a par with the maximum salary paid in the City of Boston. I find, however, that in all the larger cities the maximum for police and firemen, with the exception of Philadelphia, where the wage paid is $5 per day, is $2,000 per annum.

The adoption of the two-platoon system, increasing as it does the Fire Department by 222 men, and the increase in the number of traffic officers by 50, adopted in 1923, will make the total number of patrolmen and firemen in the service of the City of Boston, 2,839.

I am interested in maintaining a tax rate equal or lower than the present tax rate and shall endeavor to effect such budget economies as will render it possible for me to provide the funds necessary to grant an increase in this year's budget to the guardians of public safety, the firemen and patrolmen. This recommendation shall provide for an increase in salaries of firemen and patrolmen from the present maximum of $1,800 to $2,000, this maximum to be reached in accordance with the established sliding scale policy, namely, $100 per annum.

These wage increases will apply to approximately 9,000 employees in addition to the adoption of the humane two-platoon system for men in the Fire Department, who will this year for the first time be permitted to enjoy a humane privilege long denied and to which they are justly entitled.

The extension of the Pension System to all employees of the city coupled with an increase in the minimum, represents a permanent safeguard against the terror of old age with its ever present threat of pauperism.

It has been my observation that the service rendered by the individual is invariably in proportion to the benefits enjoyed, and the program of economic justice upon which we this day embark should result in a higher order of efficiency upon the part of every person in the employ of the city.

Our employers, the public, and their sentinels, the Press, have dealt with us most generously during the year that has closed; to our virtues they have been most kind, to our faults a little blind. Let us make a special effort to justify this confidence and render the charity of blindness to our faults unnecessary.

Lack of housing accommodations for workers at a reasonable rental is still a serious problem; and while theoretically it would be an ideal situation to have the city erect homes to be sold at cost to the people, as a practical proposition it is neither feasible nor good business. Through experience with such properties as the city owns and which come largely into possession as a consequence of taking for school and other municipal purposes, it has been found that as a collector of rents the city is an absolute failure. Consequently it is necessary to seek some other method of solving a most distressing and difficult problem. The beautiful village of Shawsheen is a splendid example of sound business judgment and philanthropy combined.

There homes have been erected on a major scale at a minimum of cost; and arrangements made for sale to the employees of the mills located in that section of the Commonwealth, on a monthly rental plan.

Despite the increased wage so necessary and desirable for the toiler in America it is difficult if not impossible for the individual with a family to erect a home today because of the cost of materials and the interest and bonus necessary to secure the required money for building operations. It is to be sincerely hoped, and I believe the hope will be ultimately realized, that larger dividends in industry and stock dividends from time to time, will give way to humanizing dividends in the form of homes for the workers at cost, erected in surroundings that are conducive to the contentment, the health and the happiness of the creative source of all wealth, they who labor with hands and brains.

The results possible through a continuance of the spirit of co-operation so generally manifested by every agency in the municipality and which have been such a contributing factor in the harmonious relations between the administration and the public are reflected by the spirit of optimism that at present obtains.

Self-reliance, which is but another definition of optimism, was the corner stone of the greatness and prosperity of early New England. Through it was developed the lover of liberty that made possible the American Republic. Through the same self-reliance was developed the merchant shipping that carried the flag of the new republic to every quarter of the world. Through that spirit of self-reliance, despite the rigors of a climate and soil sufficiently changeable to test the patience and try the soul of any individual, great industries were established and a world leadership developed in many industrial lines. The inspirational lesson of the past is once more happily receiving attention and it is not unreasonable to believe that as a consequence of the redevelopment of self-reliance and optimism our harbor may again be busy as in days that are gone, not only with the flag of our nation representing a re-established American commerce, but with flags representing every nation in the world.

I want to say in passing that it is gratifying to read a report appearing in the morning papers to the effect that Boston today stands fifth in exports and imports, where in 1921 Boston stood fourteenth. We are moving forward towards the light!

It is an old but trite saying that adversity and necessity are the best teachers, and it is not beyond the range of possibility that as a consequence of the Western radicalism that has developed the Farm Bloc whose demand for a governmental guaranty of $2 a bushel on wheat, coupled with the imposition of an exorbitant price for fuel and the gradual saturation of the markets of the United States with manufactured products, the reflex of which conditions are bankruptcy for the Western and Northwestern farmers, suffering and hardship for the Northern States because of fuel shortage and excessive prices and the shutting down of mills or part-time employment—we may force a speedy adoption by Congress of a Ship Subsidy Bill through which distribution of American products may be possible.

The United States represents but 6 per cent of the world area and 7.5-12 per cent of the population; and it must be apparent to every thoughtful man that a continuance of the policy of depending upon competing nations to deliver goods which are produced in America and sold in competition in the open markets of the world must end.

With increased production not only of farm products but of manufactured products which today represents sufficient in seven months to provide for the needs of America for a full twelve month period, either the excess must be sold and distributed outside of America, or through lack of vision and courageous action and an intelligent, constructive program, depression and unemployment, in whose shadow lurks the agencies which necessity creates, namely, criminality and Bolshevism, will be found.

Out of the World War came a great merchant shipping sufficient to handle 70 per cent of America's export trade and through lack of either an intelligent domestic, or a constructive foreign policy, we have been deprived of the benefits that would have accrued from a commercial program possible through the agencies for distribution of our goods which the necessities of war created.

The movement for a consolidation of New England railroads, for the repeal of the discriminatory differential and the gradual crystallization of American sentiment favorable to a Ship Subsidy Bill, justifies the belief that a new era of commercial activity and prosperity is dawning for New England, in which Boston will enjoy a larger measure than any other section.

LAW DEPARTMENT.

The Law Department in July of 1923 gained a notable victory in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals by securing a reversal of the decree rendered in the District Court of the United States in favor of Patrick McGovern on account of claims arising out of the contract for the construction of the Dorchester Tunnel, thereby saving for the city several hundred thousand dollars. This case had been in litigation since 1916 and was successfully concluded by the present Corporation Counsel.

During the year the city was able to adjust the national bank tax situation. Fifty-six suits were brought in the State and Federal Courts against the city by fourteen banks to recover back taxes paid to the city from 1917 to 1923, approximately ten millions of dollars. By chapter 487 of the Acts of 1923 the Legislature provided a method whereby the Commonwealth agreed to assume liability of one third of the taxes sued for by the banks for the years 1921 and 1922, the banks to waive the remainder. The suits for the years 1921 and 1922 were thereupon ended. There now remain but seventeen suits for the recovery of the taxes paid for the years 1917 to 1920, inclusive, and in these cases the city pleaded in defense that the suits were barred by the statutory limitation requiring the suits to be brought within three months after payment of the taxes, and it is confidently expected that these cases will be decided in the city's favor.

By the 1923 legislation national banks were given the choice of being taxed either upon the valuation of their shares at the local city rate or upon their net income at 12½ per cent. This alternate plan was established to avoid the complaint of discrimination against national banks in favor of private bankers. Under this act the city has not fared as well as was expected and new legislation will be sought from the present Legislature.

COMMERCE AND INDUSTRY.

While the growth in the commerce of the port of Boston in the past year has not been commensurate with the maritime advantages it possesses in its geographical location, its superior contiguity to foreign markets, its safe and spacious harbor, its modern docks, piers, and utilities, its unsurpassed position and opportunities for over-seas passenger service, and the three railroad systems serving it, nevertheless it has been far from discouraging, when the needless and arbitrary obstacles to its expansion are understood.

Despite the fact that Massachusetts is officially represented in the highest and most influential offices of the Nation, and that industry and commerce are not matters of partisan politics, her interests are persistently ignored and neglected by the National administration; they are not accorded the aid and consideration the Commonwealth has the right to expect; and the growth and expansion of the most favorably situated seaport on the North Atlantic Coast are retarded. Massachusetts appears to be fat and full of Federal honors, and lean and empty of Federal influence; persistent and aggressive "bloes" compel attention to the demands of their constituents while Massachusetts in the seats of the mighty is sterile and productive only of Dead Sea fruit. We have a right to expect a different character of treatment, and one that will write its results in industry and commerce.

Boston for the upkeep of its harbor and its subsidiary waters hardly receives as much in ten years as Philadelphia, an inland river port, receives in one; and much of the export trade of the Middle and Northwestern States, whose natural flow is through Boston, is deflected to less desirable ports by the discriminatory railroad rates of a hostile Interstate Commerce Commission. Public opinion both in the East and Middle West is waking up to the flagrant injustice of this policy which is injurious to the industrial and commercial interests of both; and in December, 1923, the Farmers-Manufacturers Foreign Trade Alliance, at a conference held in Omaha, Nebraska, demanded an equalization of all import and export rail rates to all Atlantic ports.

I want to say in passing that there is a flat rate today from Chicago to all ports on the entire Pacific Coast. The time is rapidly approaching to settle the question of whether Massachusetts is a part of the Union or whether she is to be permanently a subject for discrimination.

With an equality of economic opportunity Boston can grow and prosper, Massachusetts industry expand, and the causes of industrial unemployment disappear. The current depression and slowing down in our great Massachusetts industries bear an intimate relation to these conditions, and the lack of foreign markets, that absorb surplus products and stimulate work and wages, are traceable to the same Congressional indifference to our industrial life.

It would appear to be the duty of our citizens, regardless of all personal political predilections, to insist that our representatives in Congress devote more of their time and talent to the "bread and butter" interests of the Commonwealth, and less to fantastic political theories and alien concerns.

The Army Base, a maritime instrumentality of the very first importance, one of the most modern and best equipped on the Atlantic seaboard and one that Boston had hoped to have added to her public utilities, has been leased by a strong, wide-awake Philadelphia concern, which has faith in the industrial and commercial future of Boston and will do much to stimulate the sea-going trade of the port.

New and varied industries are coming to Boston; the industrial tide has set this way; the stranger outside our gates appears to see opportunities and advantages here that our people are blind to; and the West is coming back here to use its capital in construction and enterprise; and it is time our own people realized that the fields of Massachusetts are as green, fertile and profitable as those on the other side of the horizon. Our attitude towards those seeking the industrial and commercial opportunities we have to offer should be one of hospitality and encouragement; for only thus can the former prestige and prosperity of our city be restored and constancy of work and wages be assured our workers. To this end every member of this administration should unite in effort and action to serve the common good.

Transportation by sea and land, by ship and rail, at equitable rates, of an efficient and smooth-working character, with modernized terminal facilities, giving the best type of passenger and freight service, is Boston's most urgent need; and this question has been given much consideration in the past year and calls for materialization at the earliest date. It has occupied the best minds of men trained and capacitated to solve such problems, and calls for the aid and sympathetic action of the state government. The city government in its official activities can help along this general scheme of transportation facilities by so improving our streets and thoroughfares that the traffic that serves our local business may be freed from congestion and delays, and by speeding up, be made a useful and efficient adjunct to our railroad and sea-going utilities. We can help to solve the general transportation problem by solving the local and municipal one; and by speeding up, the machinery for the distribution and delivery of the commodities of our local trade and safeguarding the coming and going of the patrons of Boston's business we can do our share in making this city a Mecca for New England. In proportion as this municipal government serves the industrial and commercial life of Boston, the strength of its position in demanding the Federal Administration to do its full duty by the Commonwealth and Port of Boston will grow more logical and the appeal to public opinion more popular and potent.

BUILDING DEPARTMENT.

The building operations in the City of Boston for the year ending December 31, 1923, represented a grand total of $40,675,558, as contrasted with the year 1918 when the low point of $9,733,852 was established.

The department anticipates an active building year, and, as near as we can judge, an amount in excess of fifty million dollars will be expended.

The average amount spent for alterations during the past five years has been eight and one half million of dollars; we expect an equal amount to be expended in 1924. The remainder, namely forty-one million, five hundred thousand dollars, will represent the expenditure for new office buildings, mercantile and manufacturing buildings, hotels, theater buildings, apartment houses of the first and second class, dwellings of the first, second and third class, together with a large number of public and private garages, etc.

The following is a list of major building operations now under construction to be completed some time in 1924:

The Fourth National Bank Post Office square	$3,000,000
Lawyers' Building, Beacon street.....	1,000,000
First National Bank	3,500,000
Chamber of Commerce	3,000,000
67 Broad street	2,000,000
New Police Station No. 2	500,000
Addition to Old Colony Trust Company Building	1,000,000
Remodeling of Faneuil Hall.....	250,000
Bay State road apartment house	500,000
Apartment house on Commonwealth avenue	500,000
Apartment house on Berkeley street	300,000
Apartment house at 20 Charles street	400,000
Apartment house at 26 Waverly street	330,000

The following is a list of major building operations contemplated for 1924:

New Statler Hotel, Park square	$8,000,000 to $10,000,000
Tremont and Hollis streets, theater and office buildings	3,000,000
New Insurance Building, Liberty square	3,000,000
Chauncy street office building	1,000,000
Ford Plant, Charlestown (no cost given)
Five Cents Savings Bank, School street	3,000,000
New office building, corner School and Province streets (approximately)	1,000,000
Remodeling of Seigel Building for theater purposes	1,000,000
New Elks' Home, Tremont street	2,000,000
Police Headquarters, Berkeley street	1,000,000
City Hospital activities.....	3,000,000
New school buildings	3,500,000
Fire Department activities	100,000
West Roxbury Court building.....	100,000
Hyde Park Station	200,000

in addition to an expenditure of from two and one half millions to three millions of dollars for new Back Bay apartment buildings.

The activity in building construction has not been confined solely to office, bank or hotel buildings and theaters. Applications have been received during the year for the erection of 814 apartment buildings, which represent an enormous increase over any of the five preceding years.

The stabilizing of the labor market due to the agreement existing between the building trades employers and the building trades employees has developed a confidence which is reflected by architects' plans in excess of fifty million dollars of construction.

During the year 1923 a contract was awarded for the restoration of Faneuil Hall to original colonial lines and for complete fireproofing so that the "Cradle of Liberty" might be preserved and protected for all time. It was anticipated that the sum of $215,000 would cover the entire cost of restoration but an investigation disclosed the fact that the underpinning was not sufficiently strong enough to bear the increased weight resulting from the substitution of concrete for wood floors and other changes necessary in consequence of restoration. Hence it has been necessary to make available $100,000 additional, so that the restoration of Faneuil Hall on completion will represent an expenditure of $315,000.

As a permanent memorial to a great church leader, the Municipal Building at Brookline street and Shawmut avenue, representing an expenditure of $500,000, was dedicated as the John J. Williams Municipal Building and the main hall in recognition of the generous contribution to music by a patriotic Boston citizen was dedicated as the Henry L. Higginson Memorial Auditorium.

EMPLOYMENT BUREAUS.

On March 1, 1922, the Municipal Employment Bureau was established in Room 305, City Hall Annex. At the time of opening, by applying the general law of percentage deduction based on figures obtained from fifty industrial plants in and around Boston, 65,000 unemployed was a conservative figure.

Until the opening of the Municipal Employment Bureau, there had been many sporadic efforts more emotional than practical to relieve the unemployment situation, which was steadily growing worse as the result of the closing down of war-time industries and the influx of new workers discharged from the United States Army and Navy.

Previous to my administration, there was in existence an unemployment committee which had more members on its working committee and among its advisors than they had jobs for men during its entire existence.

At the close of the war 33,000 men were discharged from service in Boston. These men suffered more than any other class of unemployed, since on discharge their capital with which to meet existing business depression amounted to $60 from the government and $100 from the state.

I do not intend to draw any emotional picture of the suffering of these ex-service men. However, I will emphasize this point to give statistical force to my statement. At the time of the opening of the Municipal Employment Bureau the distress among the ex-service men had increased to such an extent that it was anticipated by the Soldiers' Relief Department that a disbursement of at least $1,500,000 would be necessary to care for the unemployed ex-service men.

One of the greatest aids to the Employment Bureau in obtaining work for the unemployed ex-service men was the privilege of having men listed on the Soldiers' Relief rolls granted preference over all others on the civil service list for any position that might be opened in the city.

Comparative figures obtained from the United States Bureau of Labor found the Municipal Employment Bureau at the end of its first fiscal year (nine months) functioning as well as any employment bureau of longer establishment under the jurisdiction of the United States Department of Labor. The cost of placement for the first year was lower than elsewhere in Massachusetts. Six thousand two hundred eighty-five men were placed at work at a cost of $1.52 each.

The Employment Bureau increased in scope with an enlarged personnel and December 1, 1923, found an increase in registration of 14,000 men filed with this office. Of this number of registrants the Bureau was able to place 11,798 men at a cost of only $1.36 each.

During the present year, from December 1, 1922, to December 1, 1923, anticipating the disbursements of Soldiers' Relief Department at approximately $30 per month to the individual, notwithstanding the fact that many men employed through this Bureau from the Soldiers' Relief Department were married and had dependents, which would necessarily increase the amount, the conservative figure that I am presenting as a saving to the Soldiers' Relief Department is $216,000, and to the Overseers of the Public Welfare at least $5,000 through the efforts of this office.

It is impossible to estimate the injury resulting from the failure to stabilize employment and the solution of the problem of seasonal employment and the saturation point in industrial production are questions that are today taxing the best minds in America. The Employment Bureau was created in March, 1922, to meet the abnormal conditions obtaining in industry and threatening, unless checked, to sap the self-reliance of otherwise upstanding American breadwinners, and has not only justified its existence, but merits the extension of its field of usefulness to womankind, its scope of service is not limited merely to procuring employment but serves in a larger sense a more equal and worthy purpose, namely, as an aid to the individual who, because of mental depression due to the misery of his position, is devoid both of hope and direction. Through the friendly suggestion of experienced and intelligent officials in charge of the Employment Bureau it is possible to furnish the character of encouragement and advice that will fortify his resolution to follow the path of good citizenship, even when the same is beset by difficulties and obscured with doubt and uncertainty as to his own future.

The crime wave which is ever the accompaniment of industrial depression has been less in evidence in Boston than any other large American city during the past two years and this condition may in large measure be traced to the sympathetic, earnest and helpful labors of the Employment Bureau.

The increasing number of female applications in quarters that are continually clogged with men seeking employment presents a condition that should be remedied at the earliest possible opportunity and I accordingly propose recommending to the City Council the establishment of a branch Employment Bureau exclusively for women, to be located in the Archbishop John J. Williams Building at Brookline street and Shawmut avenue.

The report of the Employment Bureau for the term that it has been in existence and the results achieved both from the standpoint of benefit to the citizens and financial gain to the city are exceedingly illuminating and I commend them to you for your study.

It must be evident to every member of the Council that whether measured in the standard that it is customary to use, namely, the financial, or measured in the larger and more important one, that of value to the municipality, and the nation, in the preservation of the happiness of the household and self-reliance of the individual, that the Municipal Employment Bureau not only merits retention but extension.

I note and I welcome among us, the presence of Colonel Guthrie. Welcome Colonel! We recall your visit to us in 1917, when you needed some Americans to win the war.

Colonel GUTHRIE—And your Honor helped more than any other man in New England at that time, and through the help that we got here and in other parts of the country we did win the war.

Mayor CURLEY—Thank you, sir. [Continuing to read the message.]

SOLDIERS' RELIEF.

The depression in 1922 which reached the high point in March of that year would, had the ratio been maintained through the year, rendered necessary an appropriation in excess of one million five hundred thousand dollars to provide the proper measure of relief for those entitled to assistance.

The total expenditures of the department from February 1, 1922, to January 31, 1923, were $1,049,631.09. The appropriation for the year 1923-24 was $562,362.40. The expenditures were approximately $330,000, leaving an unexpended balance of approximately $230,000, of which $90,000 was transferred to other departments.

On February 1, 1923, there were 1,882 cases on the pay rolls of the Soldiers' Relief Department of which 802 were World War veterans; but largely through the Employment Bureau this number was so reduced during the year that despite existing depression in industry, the total number of World War veterans upon the department pay rolls at the present time is but 419.

The expenditure for World War veterans from February 1, 1923, to January 1, 1924, was $112,428.28. This amount, while considerable, may be traced in part to the large numbers who have forfeited their employment as a consequence of the completion of the East Boston Tunnel operations at Maverick square. The construction of the Dorchester Tunnel and the addition of 200 World War veterans to the Fire Department, may in some measure minimize the increasing cost of conducting the Soldiers' Relief Department.

It is my purpose, however, and I trust the Council shares my view, that every case requiring aid be given most generous consideration. (Applause).

STREET LAYING-OUT DEPARTMENT.

During the year 1923 new streets were established with a total length of 24,664 feet and land-takings made representing approximately 1,500,000 feet for school and playground purposes.

The year 1923 witnessed the completion of the Stuart street improvement for which an original appropriation of $3,100,000 was provided and which I am most pleased to report has been completed for $2,950,000, leaving an unexpended balance of $150,000. The betterment assessments levied upon properties as a result of Stuart street improvement has been determined at $2,369,000 which represents a return to the city of a considerable portion of the cost. Unquestionably the saving would have been many times greater were it not for the precedent established in the matter of settlement of the first claim filed, prior to my assuming office.

Plans are in process of completion for the widening and construction of Cambridge and Court streets, for which improvement the Legislature of 1923 authorized an expenditure in the sum of $3,500,000.

The completion of this great northern artery will not only relieve congestion in downtown Boston, but should result in a tremendous increase in property values, in a section of the city where stagnation in realty has been general for many years.

It is gratifying to note that plans have already been submitted providing for the erection of two new buildings at Province and School streets, the annual tax receipts from which will be more than sufficient to amortize the original loan for the widening of Province street. The widening of Province street not only provides an opportunity for the development of a high grade shopping street in downtown Boston, but ends what has long been regarded as the greatest fire menace in the city.

RAPID TRANSIT.

Maverick Square Underground Station.

The construction of the alterations and the extension of the East Boston tunnel at Maverick square, to provide a convenient interchange of passengers between the tunnel and surface lines has been practically completed, the work to be done consisting of relatively small items of station finish.

Upon the opening of this structure to public travel, surface car operation in the tunnel will give way to train operation. Surface cars from the north will enter the tunnel by the incline at Maverick square, discharge their passengers at the unloading platform of this new station, pass around a loop and take on passengers at the opposite side of the platform and leave the tunnel.

Trains of specially designed steel cars will operate in the tunnel between Maverick and Bowdoin squares, a loop being provided at the end of each station. This method of operation will permit of a decided reduction in the congestion and overcrowding now existing in the tunnel stations, and of an increase of over 100 per cent in its carrying capacity which will take care of the growing traffic for a number of years.

The construction of this station and the method of operation to be employed have made necessary the following changes in the existing tunnel stations:

Enlargement of the Devonshire Station. This work has been completed, with the exception of the wall and ceiling finish.

Construction of new concrete platforms at a higher level at Devonshire, Bowdoin and Scollay Under Stations. This work is in progress.

Raising platforms in Bowdoin Station, necessitating changes at the stairways. Excavating and removing concrete over the stairways leading to the platform for westbound cars, and grading of the ramp to the eastbound cars is progressing.

Park Street Station.

An important step designed to reduce congestion at Park Street Under Station of the Cambridge connection is in progress. The stairway from the westbound Cambridge Subway platform leading to the southbound Tremont Street Subway platform is being widened from five to ten feet.

Dorchester Tunnel Extension.

Chapter 480 providing for the extension of rapid transit facilities in the Dorchester district of the city, was enacted by the Legislature the past year.

The act provides that the facilities shall consist of an extension of the Dorchester Tunnel from its terminus at Andrew square under Boston street, Power street and Dorchester avenue, coming to the surface by an incline south of Dorchester avenue and parallel and adjacent to the tracks operated by the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company, known as the Boston Division, at a point between Dorchester avenue and Columbia road; a line of surface railway connecting with this extension at the incline and running substantially parallel to, along, or westerly of the location of the Boston Division tracks to the junction of those tracks near Harrison Square Station with the Shawmut Branch of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company; from this point to Mattapan service will be furnished over the tracks of the Shawmut Branch, this branch being taken over by the city for such purpose.

The act was accepted by the City Council on September 10, 1923, and approved by me on September 12 and accepted by the Board of Directors of the Boston Elevated Railway Company on December 31.

Before construction work can be begun, the act must be complied with as follows:

Agreement on the part of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company and the Old Colony Railroad Company as to the price to be paid for the Shawmut Branch after determination of such price by the Department of Public Utilities of the Commonwealth.

Deposit with the Commissioner of Public Works of the city of a filing plan showing proposed route and the location thereof, and the general form and method of construction.

Execution of lease of premises by the city and the Boston Elevated Railway Company.

Approval of filing plan, in so far as it covers work affecting the operation of the main line tracks between Andrew square and Harrison square, by the New Haven and the Old Colony Railroad companies, or by the Department of Public Utilities.

Approval by the Department of Public Utilities of plan under which reasonably frequent and adequate rapid transit passenger trains or cars can be safely operated from Welles avenue to Mattapan.

The Transit Department has been engaged in preliminary investigations, surveys and plans, as provided in the act, and is prepared to proceed with construction upon the completion of the remaining requirements of the act as indicated above.

The need for improved street railway transportation for the Dorchester district is not a recent discovery. The subject has been investigated for years and numerous reports and plans filed with the Legislature. Boston conducted a most vigorous and insistent campaign during the past year and was successful. It is now equally anxious that this long-needed improvement be undertaken without delay in order that the great Dorchester district may enjoy a more comfortable, convenient and speedy form of transportation, at no additional cost.

Another important factor of this extension will be the relief afforded the existing intolerable congestion at Andrew Square Terminal.

In providing this extension Boston has continued the policy in effect on all its subways and tunnels. It will loan its credit for the construction of the extension, build and own it, and in turn lease it to the operating company at a rental rate sufficient to provide for interest charges on the bonds issued for construction and for a surplus for sinking fund purposes.

I might say in this connection, in reference to Dorchester Tunnel, that we have been doing just a little more than has been set forth by the Transit Commission. We are securing a worthwhile improvement and avoiding what might become a menace to public safety or the life and limb of persons having occasion to pass over the various grade crossings that now obtain on this railroad. The Transit Commission are making plans so that rapid transit will be possible in Dorchester without dangerous grade crossings.

A bill has been presented to the Legislature seeking authorization for additional transit facilities on Cambridge street to provide for future requirement of what gives promise of being one of the most important intersecting arteries. The establishment of a station in the vicinity of Charles and Cambridge streets on the Cambridge-Dorchester line, in addition to providing for the needs of this section of the city, should serve the increasing demand resulting from persons seeking treatment or visiting, either at the Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary or the Massachusetts General Hospital, and should be a contributing factor in the minimizing of congestion at Park street. The necessity for providing added accommodations not only for present needs but in anticipation of future requirements in the growing section of Allston and Brighton will make necessary during the year the development of plans for the extension of the Boylston Street Subway beyond the intersection at Governor square of the Kenmore Station.

This improvement should result in the use of the Boylston Street Subway for the purpose for which it was designed and should practically double the capacity of the existing system in this section.

Hyde Park Ten-Cent Fare.

Chapter 405, providing for the acquisition by the City of Boston of street railway lines in the Hyde Park district and the operation thereof by the Boston Elevated Railway Company was enacted during the past year. Under authority of this act, the property of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Company was taken over by the city and a portion thereof leased to the Boston Elevated Railway Company.

The passage of this bill brought to a successful close a struggle extending over a period of twenty years for a single fare to Hyde Park. The Boston Elevated Railway Company took over the operation on September 1 and Hyde Park is now on a three-minute service to Cleary square from Forest Hills, with a ten-cent fare to any part of the Elevated system.

The latest type of motor busses has been put in operation between Mattapan square and Wolcott square, Readville. Under this plan passengers arriving at Cleary square may transfer to busses going to Readville without any additional fare. Passengers arriving at Mattapan may transfer to busses at that point operating over East River street through Cleary square to Readville. Passengers from Readville have the option of transferring at Cleary square, without additional charge, to the city proper via Hyde Park avenue and Forest Hills, or may continue on busses to Mattapan and transfer at that point to any part of the system via Blue Hill avenue or Ashland street.

CITY PLANNING BOARD.

That the public are at last awakened to the necessity for terminating a haphazard method of conducting the affairs of the city and substituting therefor a program representing intelligent planning is evidenced by the manner in which the recommendations of the Boston City Planning Board have been received.

Public opinion in America is gradually crystallizing in favor of co-operation and co-ordination and constructive action in the conduct of the business of government, national, state and city, and Boston has been exceptionally fortunate in that it has been among the pioneers in the matter of the creation of a City Planning Board. To the City Planning Board in the last two years we have given a friendly hearing and a generous appropriation and in return have received service of a high order and a program for the future conduct of the business of the city, the adoption of which, will not only in large measure solve present perplexing problems, but will be conducive to the happiness and prosperity not only of the present generation but of posterity.

The City Planning Board, as at present constituted, embraces the best thought in engineering, architecture and other fields of useful activity. Its energies and talents have been devoted for an entire year to the solution of the traffic congestion problem and the adoption of the program submitted will not only serve to overcome the errors of the past but will provide for future needs. We have been so long accustomed to thinking in terms of pennies that it is exceedingly difficult for us to think in terms of millions, yet, apparently, our only alternative is either think in present day terms or be confronted with a congestion that represents stagnation which, if permitted, will result in losses many times in excess of the sum recommended for the creation of Boston's new artery, namely, thirty-two million dollars.

The draughting of a zoning law represents an additional forward step and its acceptance by the Legislature will mark the beginning of the end of a ruinous program long in vogue, and which if permitted to continue permanently, would render impossible either a healthy or an attractive city.

The adoption of these two major recommendations of the City Planning Board should be supplemented by an investigation as to ways and means of electrification and co-ordination of railroad facilities within the metropolitan district.

The Division of Metropolitan Planning has been appointed by his Excellency the Governor for the purpose of studying various phases of the transportation problem, but in my opinion the best interests of Boston require that an agency whose primary interest is our own city, shall participate in this important work.

A new departure in the matter of co-ordination of outdoor recreational facilities has resulted in consequence of the work of the City Planning Board and the policy of the past year of refusing to recommend the acquiring of land for park purposes, unless approved by the Board, is a precedent that may be accepted with safety to the city and with benefit to the people.

PUBLIC HEALTH.

The efficiency of the Health Department is invariably determined by the death rate from typhoid fever, and it is gratifying to know that a lower rate was established by the City of Boston during 1923 than any large city in the United States, in addition to being the lowest rate ever recorded in the history of the city.

The reduction in the number of deaths from pulmonary tuberculosis, which this year is 677 as against 1,148 in 1917, representing as it does a reduction of nearly 50 per cent in a period of six years, indicates that the time is rapidly approaching when tuberculosis will cease to be a menace in any community where proper regard is had for sanitation, proper health laws, and their enforcement, and a due consideration for the human equation in industry. It would be unfair to contend that the results achieved in the matter of tuberculosis control are due wholly to the activities of the Health Department. My personal opinion is that the increased wage to the worker, which in the home is represented by better and more food, better and more clothing, with added opportunities for better living conditions and educational and recreational advantages, has been a material factor in the combatting of this economic disease. The trustees of the Boston Sanatorium propose to establish heliotherapy treatment during 1924, which should prove of tremendous value in nonpulmonary cases of tuberculosis. This work, supplementing that of the new out-patient building, for which $150,000 was appropriated during 1923 and which will be completed in 1924, will place Boston as a leader among American cities in the matter of conservation of public health.

The report of the Building Commissioner for the year 1923 sets forth that more than 150 dilapidated and unhealthy, disease-breeding tenement properties have been razed.

The report of the Park Department indicates that a larger number of persons are either participating in games in the open air, or as a result of the comfort and convenience possible through the establishment of seating accommodations upon the playgrounds, contributing to their health through spending more time in the open.

The value of health units is emphasized by a study of the childbirth records for the year 1923; the deaths of mothers from causes incident to pregnancy being the lowest ever recorded in Boston.

The second lowest death rate in the history of the city of infants under one year of age was recorded during the year 1923, and it is not unreasonable to assume that upon the completion of the five George Robert White Fund Health Units, infant mortality may be further reduced by one third. The first of the George Robert White Fund Health Units is now in process of construction in the North End section of Boston, and sufficient funds will shortly be available to commence construction of the second unit.

Through these civic center clearing houses, co-ordination and co-operation will be possible for all agencies interested in the conservation of public health.

The dedication of the first health unit during 1924 will provide an opportunity which I trust will be embraced by municipal authorities to pay fitting tribute to a truly great citizen of Boston, George Robert White, through whose generosity and vision the ills and pains of humankind will be minimized and a more healthful and sturdy womanhood and manhood made possible for the Nation. The establishment of a Dental Clinic at the health unit on Blossom street has been such a pronounced success as to justify provisions for the establishment of a similar clinic at the George Robert White Health Unit in the North End, and in addition, a department of conservation of vision, for the care of the eyes of children, a new but unquestionably a necessary and valued departure.

I would say in this connection that we are profoundly grateful for the splendid service rendered by the Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary, but the system of charging has so increased in the last two years as to make it prohibitive to furnish service for children of the poor that they need. Consequently, we must do it.

In the opinion of health authorities the same results that have been secured through vaccine in the treatment of smallpox will be possible through the administration of the Schick toxin-antitoxin treatment as a safeguard against diphtheria. The Health Department has been extremely active during 1923 in combatting diphtheria through the administration of the Schick toxin-antitoxin treatment, nearly 19,000 children having been immunized by this treatment against this disease in 1923; it is desirable that this work be conducted with increased vigor during the year 1924. It is noteworthy that in 1923, 23,000 children were found to have a natural immunity against diphtheria.

Research and experimental methods are being carried on in the treatment of whooping cough and measles, also with a view to perfecting a reliable preventive process of control.

The public are entitled to protection in the matter of milk supply, and it is the purpose of the Health Commissioner to adopt a regulation prohibiting the distribution or sale of milk in the City of Boston, unless the same has been pasteurized or comes from tested certified herds.

The increase of more than 100 per cent in deaths from alcoholism is an interesting commentary on the non-enforcement of the Volstead Act. The number recorded, which probably does not represent more than one half of all who died as a result of poisonous substitutes for pure liquor, namely, 169 persons in 1923, represents an average of nearly one every second day during the entire year.

The Boston Health Show held during 1923 presented in various forms of demonstration the aspects of various illnesses and diseases, methods of control in operation, and health conservation generally, bringing home to the people of Boston in an understandable way the efforts put forth for their health and protection. The Better Baby Contest conducted as part of this show was so popular that the Health Department subsequently conducted a conference upon a similar scale of standards with such success, that baby welfare stations are to be conducted as a regular feature of health work in 1924.

HOSPITAL DEPARTMENT.

The failure during the period of the World War to conduct a building program in anticipation of hospital requirements due to increase in population has resulted during the past year in a congestion which if permitted to continue will result in great injury to persons seeking treatment at the Boston City Hospital.

The completion of the Thorndike Memorial Building, while it provides in Boston the most modern municipal institution in the world for research and X-ray work, will not in any degree minimize the congestion which is general in the institution. It is the only building of its kind within a municipal hospital group in the United States, and due to the fact that it can draw on 1,200 patients for intensive study, the opportunities for accomplishing the work for which it is intended, that is, intensive medicine, are tremendous.

The new Out-Patient Department, which will shortly be dedicated, should provide for the needs of this character of service for the next half century. In the past male and female patients have been indecently crowded together in the waiting rooms of the old Out-Patient Department. This condition will now be obviated. The trustees anticipate, in the development of their program, to run the Out-Patient Department throughout the day; in the morning caring for the patients resorting there for treatment, and any patient requiring intensive study will be given an appointment for a particular afternoon, when he will be carefully examined by a group of specialists, and such X-ray and laboratory tests be performed as may be necessary to establish a diagnosis.

The increase, however, in the number of patients, at the City Hospital which now represents 1,200 daily, coupled with the corresponding increase of physicians, surgeons, internes, orderlies, et ceteras, presents a condition deserving of immediate consideration. During the year 1923 the sum of $180,000 was provided for architects' fees, the purpose of which was to make a survey of the hospital needs, anticipating the requirements of the next quarter of a century, and providing within the next two years accommodations for 680 additional patients.

A bill has been presented to the Legislature seeking authority to borrow this money outside of the debt limit, and I trust this legislation will have the hearty support of every member of the city government. This program is necessary because of the accumulated neglect and failure of the past which it is our duty, as custodians of the public weal, to correct. In the event that the Legislature approves the recommendation of the hospital authorities it is proposed to provide buildings sufficient to accommodate 680 additional patients, including an obstetrical ward building, the estimated cost of which, with equipment, will approximate three quarters of a million dollars, and which on completion will provide sufficient accommodations for 75 maternity cases at all times.

I want to say on this, in passing, that in 1917 we made provision for the free treatment of women about to become mothers, providing eighteen beds in the City Hospital. In the four succeeding years the number of beds was increased by only four. In those twenty-two beds during 1921 540 children were born. That shows that there has been an indecent, inhuman and disgraceful neglect of an obligation which we should observe, and I look forward with keen pleasure to the fulfillment of the duty we owe mothers of men and of women which will be fulfilled upon the completion of this maternity building. (Applause.)

The maternity building will contain every modern convenience and appliance needed to care for mothers and babies. It will be made up of small units, to provide the greatest amount of privacy consistent with the care of such cases, and will contain operating rooms and nurseries for well, sick and premature babies.

Provision is made for an isolation building, representing a cost of one third of a million dollars. This isolation building will be constructed along the most modern lines, with many single rooms and small ward units, so that it will be possible to care for any type of contagious disease without danger of cross infection.

Provision is also made for an additional medical pavilion costing $400,000; surgical building, $229,000; a pavilion for special cases, $584,000; quarters for house officers and internes, $305,000; addition to Burnham Building, $211,000; nurses' home, $290,000; kitchen and laundry, $251,000; pathological building, $91,000; enlargement of engine room with installation of generators and accessories, tunnels, animal house and enlargement of existing surgical building, $78,000; addition to power plant and necessary extension of piping, $209,000.

An addition of three stories will be made to the present surgical wards, W and X, to provide for the tremendous increase in surgical cases. At the present time there are seventy-five house officers caring for patients in the City Hospital. They are housed in various places throughout the hospital, some rooms that were originally intended to house one person now housing two, and in some instances three and four. It is absolutely necessary that new quarters be provided for them. It is proposed to add to the Burnham Building, as already stated, at a cost of $211,000, in which to care for medical cases; and to care for patients it is absolutely essential that more nurses be employed. At the present moment every available bed is taken; at least 125 more nurses will be necessary to care for the additional number of patients, and therefore it becomes necessary to build a new wing to connect with the present nurses' home.

The probability is that in the event of the Legislature approving this major program it will require at least two years in which to complete construction, but on completion the city will be in a position to fulfill its obligation to all in need of medical or surgical treatment, a position which it has not been in during the past five years.

PUBLIC WELFARE.

During the year 1923 under the provisions of the Mothers' Aid Act 1,406 cases were directed to the attention of the Overseers of Public Welfare, and as a consequence of the aid extended it was possible to maintain family ties without resorting to the inhuman practice which obtained prior to 1913, of dividing families and distributing the children on the death of the head of the household.

During the year 1923, 2,522 cases of dependents were considered and aided, the increase during the year being 132 cases. Lodgings were provided during the year to 5,514 women and children and 11,811 men in addition to 18,612 meals.

An investigation conducted during the year by the Finance Commission resulted in certain recommendations, a majority of which were accepted by the Overseers of Public Welfare.

The generous policy which the city has ever maintained toward the needy and dependent will, I trust, be followed during the present year.

With a view to ending the custom of penalizing thrift, a bill has been presented seeking authority to aid dependent families through a change in the present regulations which obtain in the Commonwealth and under which it is unlawful to extend aid where equity in property exceeds $500 or valuation $2,500 or where the cash in possession of the family is in excess of $200.

The average population at Long Island during the past year has been 860; of this number 343 being hospital cases. The injustice of sending the chronic sick of Boston to Long Island for treatment must be apparent to every thoughtful citizen. It is an injustice to require that physicians and surgeons make the sacrifice of time that is necessary to visit patients at Long Island; and it is an injustice to quarter the chronic sick with the unfortunate poor and to classify under one head the chronic sick, the unfortunate poor, the dependent child and the criminal. I have endeavored for many years to change this condition and am hopeful that during the present year it will be possible to transfer the chronic sick from the hospital at Long Island to the buildings erected by the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks at Parker Hill. The establishment of the hospital for the chronic sick at Parker Hill would not only prove of inestimable benefit to the patients but of tremendous value to the medical schools located in this section of our city, the visiting staffs of which embrace men of the highest standing in medicine and surgery. It is anticipated that hospital accommodations will be provided by the Federal Government at Northampton sufficient to permit the cancellation of the lease of municipal buildings located at West Roxbury in use by the United States Veterans' Bureau.

In the event that these buildings become available at any time during the year it is my purpose to transfer the unfortunate poor at Long Island to the property located at West Roxbury and to install there a cottage system of housing for aged poor couples who under present conditions are separated upon commitment to Long Island. The commission appointed by his Excellency the Governor to consider the location for a new State Prison have reported in favor of the purchase by the state of the municipal prison at Deer Island. It is my purpose in the event that the sale is consummated, to transfer the prisoners at present on Deer Island to Long Island when the poor and the chronic sick have been transferred to the mainland. The acreage at Long Island is not only considerable, but sufficiently productive to permit of cultivation to such an extent as to make possible the raising of enough produce to provide for the requirements of the inmates of all municipal institutions, while the outdoor work should prove beneficial to the prisoners.

THE RETIREMENT SYSTEM.

After a year of operation the pension system established by the Legislature and accepted by the City Council and myself, has proven a complete success. An amendment providing for a minimum retirement allowance of $480 a year after fifteen years of service was obtained last year, and the system, with this provision is undoubtedly the best example of public pension legislation enacted up to the present time. It provides for retirement at the age of sixty at the request of the employee, and for compulsory retirement at age seventy. The amount of the retirement allowance is calculated on the length of service, the salary, and the age of the employee at retirement. The employee by accepting a reduced pension may elect that the pension may continue after his death to his wife or other relative for life, or that the balance remaining unexpended may be paid to his estate. In case of death from injury received in the course of employment the widow or children or dependent father or mother receive a pension of one half salary. For permanent disability caused by an accident occurring in the performance of duty the employee receives a pension of three quarters salary. For disability from any other cause a pension is paid equal to ninety per cent of the pension to which the employee would have received at the age of sixty. These provisions are very favorable to the employee and I have no doubt will serve as a model for other municipal and government systems.

Approximately eight thousand of the present employees have joined the system, and all new employees become members as part of their contract of employment. Over three hundred retirements have been made this year, and a much larger number will be made in the year to come. While in an occasional instance a very valuable employee may be lost to the city by the compulsory retirement at seventy years of age, as a rule the service is improved not only in efficiency but also in the morale of the younger employees who as a result of the pension system are afforded opportunity for promotion.

RENT AND HOUSING.

The building of homes, which could be leased at a rental possible for a working man with family to occupy has not been undertaken by any individual or agency during the past year. This situation has resulted in the development of a condition deserving of serious consideration by every individual in the city. The erection of apartment blocks has been conducted on a larger scale than ever previously known and in these blocks every conceivable provision has been made for the comfort and convenience of adults without provision or accommodation of any character for children.

As a consequence of lack of housing accommodations for persons in moderate circumstances who have children it will in my opinion be necessary to continue the Rent and Housing Commission for the protection of the people from property owners who seek to profit as a consequence of a condition beyond the power of the man of moderate means to overcome.

The Rent and Housing Commission reports that during the past year 12,048 cases were disposed of and that in the case of demands for increased rentals 95 per cent of the claims were found to be unwarranted and unreasonable and that on notices to vacate, in but 4 per cent of the cases was it impossible to secure extension of time.

The fact that complaints on rent increases are received almost wholly from persons paying less than $50 per month and that 55 per cent of the complaints now received constitute notices to vacate premises, and 35 per cent relate to increased rentals, in my opinion, makes it advisable that the tenure of the commission be extended.

PRINTING DEPARTMENT.

During the year 1923 the Printing Department has executed printing orders exceeding in volume any previous year since its establishment; and although many of our accounts are still open, the present outlook indicates that the department will have earned a profit as large as the previous year, $50,000, and thereby add to its unexpended balance, which should reach approximately one quarter million dollars at the end of the current year. These profits have not been earned by inflating prices; but on the contrary, the cost of printing and stationery has been considerably below prices charged by private concerns for similar supplies. This year the department executed the police list, one of the largest jobs of printing done in the city, at a lower price than any private concern in Boston bid for the work.

The department is equipped especially for the needs and requirements of the city, and it will be seen from the above statement that the City of Boston is not only operating a plant for its own convenience, but also gets the profits from that operation which under a contract system would go to private parties.

Much of the typesetting machinery and many of the presses have been in operation for over fifteen years. During the year we have partly rehabilitated the type casting department by turning in some of the old machines at a liberal allowance in exchange for new ones, also, three new presses have been installed in exchange for old ones which have been in service for fifteen years. Approximately, twenty-one thousand dollars has been spent during the year for this much needed purpose, which has added very materially to the efficiency of the department.

It is proposed gradually to rehabilitate the plant with modern and up-to-date equipment, thereby gradually bringing the plant up to the highest standard of efficiency.

The city's printing is growing in volume, gradually, year by year, and an idea of this growth may be ascertained from the fact that the police list and the voting list and all printing in connection with listing and elections have increased more than one hundred per cent over former years, because of women being added to the lists.

The Printing Plant is badly in need of permanent quarters, being at present located at 286 Congress street, occupying about 20,000 feet of space for which the city pays an annual rental of $13,000. Under present laws we can only obtain a year's lease and are practically tenants at will. The department since its establishment has moved three times, twice by order to vacate; and these changes aggregate an expense of approximately $50,000. Under the present lease system it would not be advisable for the city to make provisions for future growth of the department as the city has not sufficient protection to warrant any great expenditures.

In my opinion, it would be good business judgment and in the interest of economy, for the city to establish the printing plant in permanent quarters, which can be purchased from accumulated profits.

SUPPLY DEPARTMENT.

The amendment to the ordinances adopted in 1914 has resulted not only in the standardization of purchases of materials and supplies through a central agency, but in the saving of a vast sum of money through wholesale purchasing and cash discounts.

Prior to 1914, but fifteen departments of the city placed requisitions representing their requirements with the Supply Department. At the present time thirty-eight departments are operating through the Supply Department and the total purchases during the year 1923 represent a total of four million dollars.

A laboratory has been established for the testing of materials and supplies and this coupled with the rigid system of inspection of materials, provides a protection which has never been possible heretofore.

A bill has been introduced in the Legislature requesting authority to advertise in publications other than the City Record in all cases where the expenditure is in excess of $25,000. The adoption of this legislation should widen the field of competition and result in increased savings to the city.

EDUCATION.

The School Committee during the year 1923 adopted the recommendation made last year for the development of the reading habit and have made provision for the establishment of a circulating library in at least one school building in each ward of the city. The probability is that the completion of this program will represent a considerable period of time, but it is gratifying to know that a beginning has been made.

The standardization of school buildings containing eight rooms or less as recommended last year has been approved and the necessary plans drawn. The adoption of this program as applied to the school construction program of the Schoolhouse Commission should represent a considerable annual saving to the city, both in money and time necessary for the completion of school buildings.

The program for "a seat for every pupil in a permanent public school building" will shortly be consummated providing the same zeal and activity with which the work has been conducted the past year is maintained for the future. During the year 1923 accommodations were provided in school buildings for 2,120 additional pupils, while new buildings in course of construction represent an expenditure during the year of $3,000,000, in addition to repairs to buildings totaling $1,461,983.98.

The program for 1924-25 if adopted will represent an expenditure for new buildings of $5,372,000 and alterations, repair and maintenance, $1,500,000.

A gratifying feature of the school program lies in the fact that the adoption of the "pay as you go policy" on school lands and buildings inaugurated during my previous administration has not only made possible a major school building construction program paid entirely out of tax levy, but in addition will shortly result in the total extinguishment of the entire school indebtedness, placing Boston in a most enviable and yet unique position among American cities in that it will be the only city without a bonded indebtedness for educational purposes.

I might say in passing that in addition to working towards the extinguishment of our educational indebtedness, since the adoption of this provision we have expended from money raised by taxation direct, and without bond issues, some $15,000,000 for educational purposes, which prior to 1916 would have been raised by bond issues to be borne by those coming after us.

PARK DEPARTMENT.

The policy inaugurated in 1914 of establishing permanent smooth highways throughout the park system was originally commenced with a view to reducing the annual maintenance cost for upkeep to provide thoroughfares that might be traveled with some degree of comfort. At that time the total yardage of permanent paving in the Boston park system was about 16,000 yards.

During the year 1923, 119,281 yards were laid, or an amount almost six times as great as the total yardage laid in the 92 years prior to 1914. The year 1924 will not only witness the completion of permanent paving of park roads, but in addition the construction of a new permanent automobile highway through Franklin Park to connect with Columbia road, thereby making available for public enjoyment the entire park system with a road surface that will represent practically no expense for maintenance in the next quarter of a century.

The sum of $25,000 is made available this year for granolithic walks in the park system. This is but the beginning, yet a most essential one. Large sums of money have been expended upon our park system to provide permanent smooth thoroughfares for pleasure vehicles and bridle paths for equestrians; while no funds have ever previously been made available for walks that were useful for more than a portion of each year. The establishment of granolithic walks upon the Strandway and Columbia road is sufficient to prove that the public would take advantage in larger numbers of the opportunities to view the park system, provided it were possible to do so with comfort; it is our duty to provide during the coming year sufficient funds to make the precedent which was established in 1923 a fixed policy until such time as granolithic walks are provided throughout the entire park system.

The Columbus Park improvement at the Strandway, South Boston, started in 1916 under my previous administration as Mayor of Boston, is now rapidly approaching completion. During 1923 the public bath house located at the Dorchester end of the Strandway, and which is the largest institution of its kind in America with the exception of one central bath house at Coney Island, was dedicated.

The roadways and walks have been completed and the bridge at the Columbia road entrance to the Strandway over the Old Colony Railroad has been rebuilt at an expenditure of $20,000, in addition to the quarter of a million dollars expended upon the Columbus Park Bath House.

It will be necessary during the year 1924 to provide approximately $150,000 in addition to what has already been expended for the completion of Columbus Park. This money will be utilized for the sodding, grading and planting of the ground, and the construction of permanent bleachers. Columbus Park on completion will represent an addition to the park area at this section of Boston at about two and a quarter million square feet of land at a total cost of $1,649,244, reclaimed from what formerly was an unsightly and unhealthy marsh and transformed into the finest waterfront park to be found on the entire Atlantic coast.

It is my purpose in connection with the completion of Columbus Park to establish a soldiers' memorial of trees. The number necessary will probably be 500, each tree to be suitably inscribed with a permanent marker bearing the name and regiment of Boston men who died while in the service of country during the World War.

The erection of permanent bleachers for the convenience of persons attending the Twilight Baseball League games or other outdoor sports has been such during the past year as to justify a continuance of the program during 1924. During the past year accommodations were provided for approximately 15,000 persons and in a large measure were responsible for an attendance at least twenty times greater than ever previously known in the history of Boston playgrounds.

The policy of improving existing playgrounds and developing a higher order of efficiency in the use of the same will, I trust, be maintained during the year 1924.

The Parkman Fund income has made possible notable improvements in the park system that without this great benefaction might be long retarded, if ever considered; the most notable addition to the park system through this medium being the Rose Garden at Franklin Park, which gives promise of attracting nation-wide attention.

During the year 1923 the golf links at Franklin Park have not only proven a desirable investment from the health standpoint but from the financial as well; the total revenue during the year 1923 being $21,000 which is considerably in excess of the actual expenditure for maintenance of the golf links.

The completion of Columbus Park during the year 1924 should provide opportunity for a similar development on a major scale at the World War Memorial Park, East Boston, and Savin Hill and Tenean Beaches in Dorchester, and to these important projects I beg to direct your earnest thought.

The William J. Barry Playground at Charlestown has been enlarged at an expenditure of $200,000, in order that suitable playground facilities for children may be available in the event that the Ford plant is located on the Sullivan Square Playground. In the event that the Ford project for Boston is consummated, it will be necessary to either enlarge one of the existing playgrounds centrally located in Charlestown or to provide a new one, and in either event, it is my desire that the same program as was adopted in the case of the William J. Barry Playground be followed, namely, that where a park or playground is created, unsightly and unwholesome property be razed, as in this way alone will it be possible to solve the question of early removal of unhealthful tenement property.

I want to say in passing that I have in no measure lost hope that the City of Boston will ultimately secure a Ford assembling and exporting plant, and in the event of a site being determined upon which represents a city property used for playground or other helpful purposes, I shall follow the program outlined as presented here, had the plant been located in Charlestown, and shall request your co-operation for the consummation of whatever program may be determined.

I had sincerely hoped that North End Park improvements might be sufficiently advanced to permit of a report of progress upon plans. It is gratifying however to know that the architect, landscape adviser and engineers have finally agreed upon a program which will be undertaken shortly in this congested center of our city.

The total addition to the park area in the past two years has been 821,680 square feet at a cost of $415,000.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

The year 1923 marked the passing of horse-drawn fire apparatus in the City of Boston and the complete motorization of the Boston Fire Department.

The two-platoon system authorized in 1923 was put in operation February first of this year. It represents an additional expenditure of approximately $350,000 and an addition to the fire-fighting force of Boston of 222 men. The adoption of this humane system should result in a higher efficiency in the Fire Department, with a reduction in the losses of life and property. The city for many years has been menaced with a possible loss of the Fire Alarm Headquarters located in the heart of the danger zone of the lumber yard district.

An appropriation has been made and the contract will shortly be awarded for the construction in Boston of the most complete and best fire alarm station to be found in the entire world.

The extension of the High Pressure System, a vital adjunct in fighting fires, must be continued and the same generous character of appropriation provided during the last two years must be maintained until the entire fire hazard section of Boston has been grid-ironed with High Pressure Fire Service Water Mains.

The necessity for a centrally located fire headquarters to replace the present Mason street headquarters is apparent to every citizen and I sincerely trust it may be possible during the year 1924 to provide the necessary money for the construction of the same.

The advances made in fire-fighting facilities during the past two years should result in a considerable reduction in the annual fire losses and in a considerable reducing in the fire insurance rates. The officials in charge of fire companies and insurance companies throughout the country are unanimous in the belief that 80 per cent of fire losses may be traced to carelessness and I urge the adoption of such program as may commend itself to the City Council. A brief statement read to the pupils in public and private schools each month setting forth the loss sustained by fire both in the city and throughout the country might serve as an excellent means of developing habits of carefulness, dividends from which would be represented by a reduction in loss of life and property to the people of the city.

POLICE DEPARTMENT.

The condition of many police stations in Boston has for a number of years been a disgrace to the municipality and a menace to the health of the police officers. To remodel and reconstruct and provide new houses would make necessary an expenditure of at least four million dollars.

During the year 1923 the sum of $2,400,000 was provided for a Police Department building program and this huge sum represents an expenditure greater than the total expenditure for police buildings in the last quarter of a century.

During the year 1923, under the direction of the Public Buildings Department, Police Station No. 8 was completed and a contract awarded for Police Station No. 2 at Milk and Sears streets, Boston, to house Police Division No. 2, Traffic Division No. 20, and the Property Clerk's Department. This building, ten stories in height, costing approximately one million dollars, on completion will be the largest police building in the United States.

Land has been taken and plans have been drawn for a Police Department Headquarters to replace the present ancient and inadequate headquarters, which will represent an additional expenditure of one million dollars for land and building.

The completion of the West Roxbury Courthouse during the year made available for Police Departmental purposes the property adjoining the police station and formerly used as a courthouse; and $100,000 was appropriated to remodel it so as to provide for an enlarged and modern police station in this section of the city.

In the Hyde Park section, the unsanitary quarters occupied and known as Police Station No. 18 will, on completion of the contract which has been awarded in the sum of $200,000, be discontinued and a modern police station constructed in the Hyde Park section.

It is my purpose during the year, provided that finances will permit, to locate a new courthouse in the Dorchester district which will permit the Police Department taking over the present Dorchester Courthouse on Adams street for police business.

It is absolutely necessary in the immediate future to provide either enlarged quarters or new quarters for Station No. 3 on Joy street, Station No. 4 on La Grange street and Station No. 5 on East Dedham street, and as financial conditions permit I trust these matters will receive the friendly consideration of the City Council.

The Traffic Division of the Police Department has been aided during the year through an appropriation in the sum of $25,000 for 80 spotlights which not only served as an aid to traffic but also as a protection to the traffic officers, the lives of some having been taken and the remainder menaced through lack of this protection in the past.

In the budget of 1923-24 provision was made for the appointment of 50 additional traffic officers whose value to the improvement of traffic conditions in the city has been so well demonstrated during the past year.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

The problems confronting the Public Works Department during the year 1922-23 were similar in many respects to those which generally obtained throughout the country. The commandeering of materials by the government during the period of the war and the uncertainties in the three years subsequent to the close of the war resulted in a condition so far as bridge and building construction were concerned such as had never previously been experienced in the history of the country. Practically no replacement work as represented by new construction had taken place during the period of the war on the bridges of Boston, the result being, that large sums of money were necessary not only for replacements but for maintenance until such time as money might be available for replacement. The most important work completed during 1923 was the Chelsea Bridge, the principal northern artery of the city, at a cost of $650,000. This bridge will be opened to public travel within thirty days, replacing the temporary structure, a menace to pedestrians and vehicles for three years beyond what is estimated as the life of a temporary structure of that character, namely eight years.

A steel and concrete bridge was constructed over the Boston & Albany tracks at Beacon street of the most approved type and which should prove serviceable for at least a half century; also a modern type of bridge on Cambridge street. The construction of these two bridges not only provides added protection for water mains previously located thereon, but in addition the road area for vehicles was materially increased.

During the year 1923 with a view to minimizing the annual maintenance cost for bridge decking which makes necessary the replacing of deck planking every seven weeks, a bituminous treatment was applied which has demonstrated that it is possible by the new system to triple the life of the road surface with a material saving in the maintenance cost.

During the year 1924 it will be necessary to replace the Congress Street Bridge provided the funds are available and which will represent an expenditure of about $700,000. Preliminary work has been conducted during 1923, and in the event that the City Council looks with favor upon this improvement and appropriation for the same is made, the work will be completed within two years.

The condition of the Dartmouth Street Bridge has been a source of grave concern to the engineers of the Public Works Department for several years and apparently the time has arrived to either discontinue the use of the bridge or to provide the money for replacement. I shall during the year make a recommendation to the City Council for an appropriation in the sum of $150,000 for a new bridge in which provision will be made for the elimination of the center trusses, thus permitting increased road space for vehicles.

The possibility of serious accident owing to the condition of the East Boston Ferry drops both on the Boston and East Boston sides have been imminent for many years and due perhaps in large measure to the tremendous cost of installing a modern system of ferry drops, postponement from year to year has taken place. During the year 1923 the sum of $250,000 was made available for two new double teaming ferry drops at the South Ferry of most modern type to facilitate the loading and unloading of boats. This work will I anticipate be completed within sixty days and in order to complete this work on the South Ferry two additional drops should be provided. I shall recommend during the year to the City Council an appropriation in the sum of $275,000 for two additional drops of similar type to be installed, which will complete this work at the South Ferry. These installations should show greatly increased capacity for the handling of teaming traffic at the ferries.

The increased cost of sewerage construction which has practically doubled since the adoption of the statute provision limiting sewerage expenditures to $1,000,000, has prompted presentation of an amendment to the statutes which, if approved by the Legislature, will permit of an increase of 50 per cent in the amount annually expended for sewerage construction. The necessity for sewerage works as a means of conserving the health is too well known to require comment.

In the West Roxbury section of Boston, commonly known as Germantown, the old privy system still obtains and it is necessary for the protection of public health, since communicable diseases know no barriers, to at least make a respectable start upon the construction of sewerage works to connect with the Dedham metropolitan intersecting sewer in this section of the city.

The policy of discontinuing open brook sewers has been followed during the year 1923 and should be continued until the completion of the work. The Dorchester brook sewer has been extended during the year 1923 at a cost of $65,000, and Grove street at West Roxbury at a cost of $80,000. In the event that the Legislature approves the amendment to the law which has been submitted, it will be necessary to proceed at once with the completion of the Stony brook conduit. During the year 1923 in addition to the installation of new boilers at the Calf Pasture pumping station a complete oil burning equipment was installed.

In the Paving Service during the year 1923 there was more work going on at one time than ever before in the history of the department, there being a total of 110 contracts awarded for street work in all parts of the city, including, for paving, 175,200 square yards of bituminous material and 80,000 square yards of granite blocks.

Stuart street was completed and opened for travel.

Chelsea street, Charlestown, was widened and paved.

A start was made towards the Ashland street, West Roxbury, improvement, by the widening and paving from Hyde Park avenue to Wilmot street.

For snow removal, arrangements have been made whereby forty-five Champion blade plows have been allotted to contractors for attachment to their five-ton trucks, so as to start plowing with the storm, day or night, and keep the roadways open for travel regardless of snow fall.

A snow loader has been provided, with side delivery and two large "V" plows attached to tractors have been provided for use on some of the through streets on which it is not contemplated to use blade plows.

The two story garage is nearing completion in the Albany street yard and is capable of housing about 120 trucks and cars.

Previous to last year a large part of the Paving Service pay roll was spent in construction work. This was changed in the last budget so that the personal service item carried for the entire year all the personnel of the Paving Service and they can be utilized either for maintenance or construction work as required.

The inadequacy of the million dollars for reconstruction and repair of streets in each year's budget, as we have on hand practically continuously necessary paving involving the expenditure of at least ten million dollars, must be apparent. The only immediate hope for prosecuting this work more quickly, is the imposition of the gasoline tax, a part of which will be distributed to the cities and towns of the Commonwealth.

The substitution of trucks for horse-drawn vehicles has brought about increased efficiency in the service and the consolidation of yard activities and the elimination of excess stable facilities will be continued.

In the Water Division the new policy of awarding contracts in December for materials to be used during the next season's construction has resulted in the elimination of delays previously encountered due to the non-delivery of materials for underground work; and in addition, a considerable money saving through lower prices has resulted.

The customary extension of mains and relaying of pipes, totalling 11.5 miles, was included in the year's program and 11.8 miles of old pipe were cleaned, thus providing increased service without replacement.

The pitometer waste survey was completed, the entire system having been covered, and it is thought that the department forces can keep in touch with conditions through appurtenances installed under the direction of the pitometer company, so that we will have continuing observance, and prevent waste through leakages.

Two miles of high pressure piping were laid in the business district, making the total mileage in the system 13.7, with 373 hydrants.

During 1924 we can properly lay about two miles of high pressure pipe, the materials for which have been contracted for or are on hand.

To improve and reinforce the main supply lines to Boston by replacing the 3-inch and 36-inch pipes in Tremont street, between Dover and Boylston streets, with a 48-inch main, is absolutely necessary. The situation as regards the two mains is decidedly dangerous; during the past five months the 30-inch main has broken twice with heavy damage resulting, and while the last break has been repaired, the main has not been placed in service on account of the attendant risk. The laying of this pipe will strengthen the pressure and supply, on the low service area in the city proper and lessen the danger to said area in case the old 40-inch pipe in Beacon street (laid in 1860) breaks or is out of service and which is to be replaced with a 48-inch pipe to be laid in Commonwealth avenue, from Massachusetts avenue to Boston Common, following the laying of the 48-inch main mentioned above.

I commend to your consideration some thought of this subject of water mains. A water main that has been in continuous use for sixty-four years, carrying a main supply sufficient in case of a break on Commonwealth avenue to flood a tremendous area before it could be shut off, is a pretty serious proposition. I am afraid we have passed it by too long.

It has been the custom for many years to turn back into the City Treasury surplus from water income instead of providing for proper reinforcement of the general system by the construction of new mains which now renders it necessary to seek a loan of $800,000 outside of the debt limit for the purpose of laying this 48-inch main.

The high service area in Brighton, now dependent on a single 16-inch main, must be reinforced this year. It is intended to lay about 2,000 feet of 24-inch pipe from the metropolitan mains at Cleveland circle through Sutherland road, Commonwealth avenue, and other streets, to furnish an ample supply of water and to maintain the pressure in this rapidly growing section of Brighton.

The increased cost of the removal and disposal of ashes, garbage and combustible waste in accordance with the provisions of the ten-year contract made in 1921 and which has some eight additional years to run, presents a financial problem deserving of immediate study. The scarcity of inland dumps and the expense attendant upon the present long haul system will each year increase the cost to the city. During the year 1923 an investigation and survey of existing methods and conditions was made under orders of the Public Works Commissioner by one of the most eminent sanitary engineers in America, and a copy of this report is on file at the office of the City Clerk, and a study of the same should prove beneficial in the draughting of a program dealing with this perplexing and expensive problem.

Improvements have been developed in recent years through which the disposal of ashes, garbage and combustible waste is possible in properly equipped plants without creating a nuisance in the section where they may be located. Despite this fact a contract was entered into in the name of the city binding the municipality for a period of ten years to a system inadequate, unhealthful and increasingly costly. It will be impossible either to give a proper measure of service to the public in the matter of the removal of ashes, garbage and combustible waste or provide a disposal system that will be either economical or efficient until a change is made from the existing system and I respectfully commend for the study and consideration of the City Council ways and means of aiding the Public Works Commissioner and myself in the settlement of this question.

While it is true that the contract has eight years to run, it means so much in comfort and convenience to householders and in the way of improvement to the health of the community that it is worthy of study even five, six, seven or eight years in advance.

FINANCIAL SITUATION.

The Board of Commissioners of Sinking Funds, as a consequence of change of personnel and policy, have been enabled to effect an increase in the revenue of this important department. The principal, as a result of exchanges of securities held many years by the Sinking Funds Commissioners, has been increased in the amount of $107,564, in addition to an annual increase in interest on securities now held over those exchanged amounting to $6,522.50. An estimate made on a basis of 4 per cent interest rates covering the term of securities now held, compounded semi-annually, plus the addition to the principal, will ultimately represent a gain to the city of $450,000 which is most gratifying.

The City Treasurer reports that the income and outgo of his department have doubled in a period of twenty years, the total sum covering the year 1922-23 being $172,988,852.87.

We have some conception from a study of these figures of the importance of the business of government, sometimes called the business of politics. It represents the largest turnover of any concern in the entire city or the entire state, and it is gratifying to know that this turnover was accomplished without a finger of suspicion being pointed at any person in the employ of the city. I wish as much might be said for private business, big business.

The necessity for the establishment of a higher interest charge upon transit loans is emphasized in the case of the Arlington Street Subway operations where it was necessary to borrow money at 5 per cent as against a rental rate for the use of the subway of 4½ per cent. This is a matter deserving of immediate consideration representing as it does a considerable excess expenditure by the city without adequate return.

An increase in interest on Sinking Funds deposits of the city from 3 per cent to 3½ per cent has been secured by the City Treasurer.

The Collecting Department reports that the adoption of legislation providing that unpaid water accounts shall constitute a lien on real estate has resulted in increased collection on water accounts. Under a recent legislative enactment the Collecting Department is required to collect outstanding taxes within one year from date of levy and as a consequence of public co-operation and zeal upon the part of the Collecting Department it is gratifying to report that the returns for the fiscal year ending January 31, 1924, have reached the highest ever attained in the history of the city, namely 91.08 per cent.

The City Auditor reports that as a result of the new custom of paying invoices twice a month, department heads now have a more effective control over their appropriations, and notwithstanding the large transfers required for adequate hospital care and the relief of the poor, the city will close its books for the year with every known liability paid and a substantial cash surplus. (Applause.)

PAYMENT APPROVED.

The Mayor has approved for payment the requested allowance of $2,070 to Martin F. Gaddis under his contract dated August 30, 1923, for constructing Stuart and Eliot streets. This amount is to compensate the contractor for the delay and interference to which he was subjected by the installation and relocation of underground structures and by the nondelivery of paving blocks.

The new line of the edgestone on the northerly side of the street as widened came over an Edison duct which had to be relocated. The relocation of the Edison structures caused a corresponding relocation in gas and water mains, with the result that a large number of corporation employees were working at the same time the contractor was trying to push his work along.

The prices submitted are for the extra cost to the contractor, as there is no doubt that the work would have been completed a couple of weeks earlier if he was not impeded.

This compensation is made up as follows:

Eight hundred linear feet edgestone reset at $0.15, $120; 2,500 square yards concrete base at $0.30, $750; 1,500 square yards blocks hauled at $0.30, $450; 5,000 square yards blocks laid at $0.15, $750. Total, $2,070.

BILL APPROVED.

The Mayor has approved the bill of the C. & R. Construction Company, amounting to $1,576.20 for ashes and rubbish deposited on the inland dumps of this company during the year 1923.

COMPLETE ZONING SYSTEM.

is provided which may vary the provision of the act in special cases where there are practical difficulties or unnecessary hardships, in such manner as to carry out its intent. The act will not interfere with private restrictions or other regulations. However, where the zoning law gives greater protection to the appropriate use of buildings or their suitable height or provides larger open spaces it will control.

A Board of Zoning Adjustment, of five city department heads, is provided, with the power to change or adjust the boundaries of districts after public notice and hearing. The zoning plan, as adopted, will be mainly permanent and changes will only be made after careful investigation and reasonable consideration of such factors as the character of a district, appropriate use of land and the conservation of property values.

Boston will not be attempting something entirely new in establishing zoning, for it was the first city in the country to adopt any regulations of a zoning nature by dividing the city's area into two heights districts in 1904. Five years later Los Angeles established various use district. It was not until 1916 that comprehensive zoning—use, height and area regulations—was adopted, when the New York zoning ordinance was passed. Almost 200 cities and towns in the United States are now zoned. Of the sixty-eight cities in the country over 100,000 population thirty-seven have zoning ordinances in effect. Among large cities that have adopted zoning during the past year are Chicago, Pittsburgh, Baltimore, Providence, Indianapolis, Kansas City, Mo., and Seattle, Wash. Eleven cities and towns in Massachusetts are now zoned, including such near neighbors of Boston as Cambridge, Brookline, Milton and Winthrop.

THANKS MAYOR FOR ATTITUDE ON MEMORIAL TREES.

Mayor Curley on Saturday, February 2, received the following letter from John Kirkegaard of the New England Nurseries Company, Bedford, Mass.

As it was through my suggestion that a delegation from the New England Nurserymen's Association called on you, to protest against the use of foreign trees to commemorate American heroes, allow me to hasten to express my appreciation of the position, which you, according to this morning's Herald, have taken in the matter.

The members of the association, while naturally jealous of their business, were however chiefly prompted in their actions by reason of their patriotism, and the fact that your views coincide with ours, is very gratifying.

The matter of which American nursery should supply the trees, is with the members of the association, a very secondary consideration, but if it is decided to use European elms and lindens, I personally am satisfied that such can be procured in American grown stock of the required size, and in far superior quality, than such as may be imported from Europe, where climatic conditions are so much different from those of ours. I am sure that all members of the association will join me in thanking you for the stand you have taken in the matter.

Respectfully yours,

JOHN KIRKEGAARD.

DENIES INTEREST IN CHARTER CHANGES.

His Honor the Mayor, on January 4, forwarded the following letter to Hon. John W. Haigis, state senator and chairman of the Committee on Cities:

HON. JOHN W. HAIGIS, Massachusetts State Senate, Boston, Mass.:

DEAR SIR,—My attention has been directed to the fact that there is an impression among the members of your committee, and the Legislature generally, that I am personally interested in the proposed amendments to the city charter, and I take this occasion to inform you relative to my position upon the question of amendments to the Boston City Charter of 1909.

The Boston City Charter of 1909, in my opinion, has proven as effective an instrument for constructive, intelligent administration of the affairs of a municipality as any that man has ever devised.

Under the revised charter the legislative arrangement of the city government was changed from a bicameral system under which seventy-five men consisting of three from each of the twenty-five wards of the city, and a Board of Aldermen, consisting of thirteen members, elected by districts, were replaced by the single chamber system, consisting of nine city councilors elected at large. During the operation of the present charter the debt of Boston, exclusive of rapid transit, has been reduced approximately five millions of dollars, the construction of schoolhouses and the purchase of school lands direct from the tax levy to the extent of fifteen millions of dollars, rather than by bond issue, has been made possible, and a constructive program in the interests of the city as a whole rather than subdivisions of the city has resulted from the change.

I realize that it is within the power of the Legislature to adopt such changes as it may see fit, regardless of the wishes of either the Mayor or any person connected with the administration of the City of Boston. So far as I am personally concerned it is immaterial to me what changes the Legislature may make; my personal view, however, is that a change in the present legislative system of the Boston city government would be a step backward and a distinct injury to the entire public of Boston.

Very truly yours,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

The number of positions reported filled was 920, an increase of 74, or 9 per cent, over December, but when compared with January, 1923, a decrease of 266, or 22 per cent, is found.

Very little improvement was noticed in the men's unskilled department. The orders received were of a varied nature, principally for casual workers, and were quickly filled.

A large number of boys of all ages are, and have been visiting the office every day for work, but the prices offered are only accepted by boys of fourteen to sixteen years.

Business in the women's department was slow throughout the month. All other branches of industry were very quiet.

BOSTON SPENDS MOST ON SCHOOLS.

Boston spends more per capita for public schools than any of twelve cities with a population of more than a half million, according to 1922 figures made public by the Department of Commerce in Washington.

For the fiscal year ending January 31, 1923, the total expense was $12,373,000, or $16.18 per capita, an increase of 99 per cent over the 1917 figures, which were $6,226,000.

In 1922 public school expenditures were 30 per cent of the total of all city departments, exclusive of public service enterprises such as water works and light plants. In 1917 schools got only 26 per cent.

With all this Boston is only eighth in total expenditures for school buildings, permanent improvements, etc. In 1922 outlays for such purposes totaled $2,572,000, or $3.26 per capita. In five other cities the per capita expenditures exceeded Boston's.

MAYOR CURLEY AT WILSON FUNERAL.

Mayor Curley attended the funeral of Woodrow Wilson late this week in Washington, as representative of all the people of Boston.

His Honor and Mrs. Curley left the city Wednesday for the South, and stopped over in Washington Thursday for the funeral. Afterward they proceeded to Miami, Fla., for a month's rest.

City Clerk James Donovan read a resolution drafted by Mayor Curley, expressive of the city's sorrow at Mr. Wilson's passing, which the City Council, after standing in silence for one minute, unanimously passed. It was worded as follows:

"Whereas, Almighty God in His divine wisdom has seen fit to take from our midst former President of the United States Hon. Woodrow Wilson; and

"Whereas, Through the exceptional quality of his leadership it was possible to develop in America a spiritual idealism and a national unity through which in large measure was made possible the perpetuation of free government and the winning of the World War; and

"Whereas, His death is more than a national loss because of his leadership in the movement for a permanent world peace; and

"Whereas, His long uncomplaining and patient suffering has merited universal sympathy and his death universal sorrow; be it and it is hereby

"Resolved, That the sincere sympathy of the people of Boston be conveyed to the grief-stricken companion who has shared with him suffering and sorrow, Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, and to his family; and be it and it is further

"Resolved, That as a mark of respect the flag be placed at half-staff on all municipal buildings for a period of thirty days, and on the day of the funeral of this truly great advocate, lover and leader in the cause of human liberty, all municipal activities shall be suspended."

MAYOR'S PROCLAMATION ON DEATH OF FORMER PRESIDENT WILSON.

Mayor Curley issued the following proclamation February 4:

To the Citizens of Boston:

The American Republic, in the death of former President Woodrow Wilson, has lost a great citizen and the world a leader through whose courage and vision a spiritual idealism has been evolved that will one day be accepted.

Time alone is necessary to establish a true measure of his greatness. His teachings and achievements, glorious in the annals of America, will ultimately give him rank beside George Washington, the father of free government, and Abraham Lincoln, the preserver of free government.

To a world sodden with materialism, greed and hatred, he presented a program for brotherhood, justice and peace, and the program, once rejected, may yet like the stone of Scripture become the key in the arch.

In this hour of supreme grief our sincere sympathy goes out in her bereavement to the patient and good woman, his wife, Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, who has in the long trial of his incurable illness furnished the world an example of patience and heroism rarely equalled.

As a mark of respect to the memory of former President Wilson I hereby direct that the flags be placed at half-mast on all public buildings and respectfully request similar action on the homes of Boston citizens for a period of thirty days.

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

The Mayor issued the following order to department heads:

The occasion of the burial of former President Woodrow Wilson is one that should be marked by sacred and solemn observance.

Boston, the birthplace of human liberty, mourns in him the loss of a truly great leader in the establishment of world peace and a statesman whose death represents supreme sacrifice for free government.

It is accordingly hereby ordered that the City Hall and other city buildings and the county offices, except where otherwise provided by law, be closed during the hour of the funeral, Wednesday, February 6, between the hours of 3 p. m. and 4 p. m. and you are hereby directed to grant leave of absence, without loss of pay, to all municipal employees whose services can be dispensed with.

Respectfully yours,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

CITY AUDITOR CARVEN ANSWERS REPRESENTATIVE SHATTUCK ON BOSTON FINANCES.

DEFENDS MAYOR CURLEY'S STATEMENTS ON MUNICIPAL FINANCES AND PROVES THEM CORRECT—SHOWS THAT SHATTUCK'S ASSERTIONS ARE MISLEADING, MISINFORMING AND WRONG.

The following statement was issued February 7 by City Auditor Rupert S. Carven:

The attack of Representative Henry L. Shattuck upon Mayor Curley, after his departure from Boston, resulted in sensational headlines and double columns in the public press, as well as editorial comment in at least one newspaper. It is unfortunate that Mayor Curley is not here to make forcible and dignified reply to this attack, but there were so many misstatements and half-truths uttered by the representative in his address before the Legislature, that it becomes necessary to make correction as far as possible.

It is well recognized that the financial reputation of Boston is foremost in the cities of the country, and it is my desire to protect that fine reputation, as well as correct, in part, any injustice that may have been done Mayor Curley, based on his administration for the past two years.

After eliminating the light comedy appearing in the representative's statement, delivered in the calm (?) of a Legislative assembly I find he refers to the tax rate which has been maintained for three years at $21.70 per thousand, but he failed to state that it is the third lowest of the cities in the state. He did not inform his hearers that out of this same tax rate Boston is constructing new school buildings, resurfacing streets and motorizing the Fire Department, when it might follow the example of other municipalities and issue bonds for these purposes.

He fails to call attention in discussing the tax rate to the constantly increasing costs of schools, hospitals, charities, health activities, maintenance of proper police and fire protection, as well as all other activities necessary for the welfare of the people and the protection of their property. He waxes eloquent over the two million dollar reduction in the state tax two years ago. Does he say this was because of reduced expenditures on the part of the state? Oh, no. Privately he might admit that it is due to the staggering amount that is received from income, other than taxes.

Does he mention that notwithstanding the constantly increasing income, the state tax on cities and towns increased from $5,500,000 in 1910 (the first year of the new charter) to $14,000,000 in 1920 and 1921? No, he does not. He does claim, however, that the Elevated repayments of $372,000 in 1922 and $790,000 in 1923 have "gone into increased municipal expenditure."

The genial representative surely is in error, for in each of these years, as City Auditor, I made available to the assessors, these and other amounts of unestimated revenue for the reduction of the tax levy. But what about the increase in metropolitan assessments since the new charter went into effect? He must have forgotten this. If the representative were a member of the State Committee on Municipal Finance, and had a fondness for comparable statistics, he might have some comprehension of the increased costs of municipal government, as reflected in the tax rates of cities and towns. Some there are who might question the representative as to why the state tax upon cities and towns should not be many millions less, in view of the excessive cash balances in the state treasury at the end of many financial years. As house chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, the representative might inform us how soon we may expect the abolition of the state tax, in view of the ever-increasing income, and the practice of sound but not parsimonious economy on the part of the state.

Mr. Shattuck attempts to enlighten on the debt situation. He says that during the first year of his present administration, the Mayor borrowed $4,753,000 within the debt limit. This is a correct statement, as far as it goes, but again it is only a half-truth, as $1,923,000 of this amount was authorized previous to Mayor Curley assuming office for the second time. In financing authorized municipal loans, the prudent financial officer negotiates only such parts of the loans as may be needed in the near future, or that may be expended before the end of the financial year, and as a result, loans authorized but not issued are carried forward to the new year in all administrations.

He speaks of the amount borrowed during the year just ended as being $5,155,000 but he fails to state that of this amount $716,000 was issued outside the limit and that of the amount borrowed within the debt limit, $269,000 was authorized previous to the advent of Mayor Curley.

With his knowledge of governmental finance, the representative surely appreciates that the changes in debt from year to year are wholly beyond the control of the executive, with the exception of the debt he may authorize during each year. His statement of a $10,000,000 decrease in the net debt in the preceding thirteen years is not substantiated by the records. If he refers to the net debt January 31, 1909, compared with January 31, 1922, it will be found that the decrease amounted to approximately $8,000,000; if he refers to January 31, 1910, the beginning of the new charter, it will be found that the decrease is approximately $7,000,000. But what is the difference of two or three millions between friends?

Continuing the representative finds fault with the city for incurring debt, both inside and outside the limit, for certain permanent improvements. Boston has the same rate inside the limit as the smaller city in the state. Borrowing outside the limit (exclusive of rapid transit) does not occur frequently these days. It is true that the Legislature, after full consideration of the merits of a proposed loan outside the limit, occasionally grants authority, and in my opinion, wisely. Did not the Legislature share responsibility on the debt authorized for Stuart street, as well as for Cambridge and Court streets, the latter being reported favorably upon by the Ways and Means Committee, of which Representative Shattuck is house chairman? He intimates, in one part of his address, that street paving is included in our loans. This is not a fact, as street paving is a current maintenance expense with the City of Boston, and the only paving paid for through loan issues is that which is necessary upon the laying-out or extending of a highway.

He spoke of the "pay-as-you-go" policy, in connection with permanent improvements. He does not state that Boston adopted the "pay-as-you-go" policy in the matter of new school buildings as far back as 1916. It would be interesting to have the representative expatiate on the application of this policy to the proposed $33,000,000 to be expended for the so-called new traffic thoroughfare.

After all, who is all wise in determining where borrowing for permanent improvements should begin and end. Same arguments may be advanced by both schools of thought. There is no controversy over the necessity for street widenings and extensions, as indicated by traffic conditions, and proper foresight a generation ago would have saved countless millions to the present and future taxpayers.

Personally I am of the opinion that the taxpayer in Boston is at present doing his fair share under a reasonable tax rate that provides not only for sinking fund requirements and interest on current debt issued, but also for several millions each year for school lands and buildings. Notwithstanding the claim of the representative that the borrowing capacity has been frittered away, there are those of us who have had a long training in municipal finance, who are well satisfied that no city in the country is more conservative in the matter of distinguishing between current maintenance and permanent improvements in the issue of debt.

The fire prevention inspection squad, under the two-platoon system, will operate as follows:

The squad will consist of thirty men, divided into two groups, each group to work on platoon shifts, that is, the men, while on the day shift will function as day "inspectors," as at present, and when on the night shift will operate with the fire fighting force on watch and fire duty.

Two inspectors will be selected for this service in each of the fifteen districts by the senior chief, and in so far as is possible the men now assigned to this duty will be continued thereon. All work pertaining to this service must be equally divided between the inspection force.

Inspection of buildings, etc., will be continued by the officers of the department, and mainly by the district chiefs, as it is most essential to efficient direction, for these officers to know their buildings.

This arrangement will be put into effect as soon as possible.

This action was not taken, however, and in order to avoid the complications which might arise if the Council should adopt the order at its next meeting or fail to act on it, I hereby withdraw it, and shall again recommend it to the incoming Council.

Respectfully,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON PRISONS.

In City Council, February 2, 1924.

This report is made in accordance with the provisions of chapter 223 of the Revised Laws by the Committee on Prisons, which has attended to its duty and submits the following:

The institutions which the committee visited were the Suffolk County Jail and the House of Correction at Deer Island.

For the Committee,
WILLIAM C. S. HEALEY,

Chairman, Committee on Inspection of Prisons.

HOUSE OF CORRECTION.

In accordance with the law, your committee inspected the House of Correction at Deer Island and the County Jail twice during the past year. A new policy was adopted of inviting representatives of the Catholic, Protestant and Jewish religions to accompany your committee on their visits. Letters of invitation were sent to His Eminence William Cardinal O'Connell, Bishop William Lawrence of the Episcopal Church, and the Federated Jewish Charities. Accordingly the following ladies and gentlemen met your committee on their annual and semiannual inspection of the two institutions named: Rev. Michael J. Murphy, Rev. L. Toma, Mrs. Francis E. Slattery, Mrs. Maurice J. Curran, Rev. George Winthrop Sargent, Miss Mary Beard, Rabbi Moses L. Sedar, and Mrs. E. S. Goulston, Sr. The reasons for the invitation, of course, are so obvious that it is hardly necessary to say that the churches more than any other organization are interested in the welfare of the inmates of our correctional institutions, and the churches particularly represent the great mass of the people who are concerned for the welfare of those who are confined at the House of Correction and the County Jail.

We present below certain statistics covering the number of inmates and other data of importance, that should be read very carefully in connection with the present report.

When an inmate is booked at Deer Island a physical examination of his condition is first made, a blood test is taken, and if he needs hospital treatment, is sent at once to Long Island, where he is kept under observation until his physical condition is improved. Up to 1920 such inmates were kept in the hospital at Deer Island, but the old wooden frame building which housed the hospital was condemned by the Fire Department in that year, so that all patients are now sent to Long Island for treatment.

During 1923 there were no cases of pneumonia, scarlet fever, diphtheria, grippe, typhoid or typhus, or any other contagious diseases found among the men (there are no women confined here). Those suffering from tuberculosis were sent to State Sanatoria, and those suffering from social diseases were immediately isolated.

The hospital at Long Island is recognized by the American Medical and Surgical Association as one of high repute. The visiting surgical staff is headed by Dr. John Cunningham of Boston, and those associated with him are of equal prominence.

During the past year four men out of 2,240 inmates at Deer Island died, giving a remarkable bill of health for the institution.

In connection with the subject of health of the inmates at Deer Island, something should be said of the drug addicts, all of whom are now isolated, treated by the hospital physicians, and after being conditioned physically are sent to the farm to work. Isolation is the dominating note in the treatment of these men, who come in as inmates in a weakened condition, due to the use of drugs. The old feeble addicts are sent to Long Island for treatment and are not expected to work. Up to recently the drug addicts were in constant association with the other prisoners, but under the new policy have been kept away from contact with the other men. Sergt. Robert Caverly of the Boston Police Department is charged with the duty of ridding Boston of the drug evil. The Commissioner of Institutions, Doctor Johnson, is working successfully with him and with the courts for the eradication of this drug evil. Under the new system of isolation the general condition of the drug afflicted inmates has noticeably improved. We heartily commend Commissioner Johnson for his humane and intelligent treatment of those men, most of whom have even gained weight under his administration. This group has decreased in number in a year and a half from 56 to 26, and out of the number released during the year, only one addict has returned to Deer Island. It may be too early to predict a permanent cure, but the method of handling this matter is headed in the right direction.

Food.

The following is the menu of the average week during the year:

Breakfast.—Coffee, bread, rice, milk sugar.
Dinner.—Beans, coffee, pork, brown bread, white bread.
Supper.—Cocoa, bread, prunes, sugar.

Breakfast.—Coffee, bread, milk, sugar, hominy.
Dinner.—Coffee, bread, pea soup, pie.
Supper.—Tea, bread, beans, pork.

Breakfast.—Coffee, bread, milk, sugar, Ralston's food.
Dinner.—Coffee, bread, beef stew.
Supper.—Tea, bread, macaroni, cake.

Breakfast.—Coffee, bread, milk, sugar.
Dinner.—Coffee, bread, pork, beans.
Supper.—Tea, bread, corned beef hash.

Breakfast.—Coffee, bread, milk, sugar, rolled oats.
Dinner.—Coffee, bread, beef stew.
Supper.—Tea, bread, pork, beans.

Breakfast.—Coffee, bread, milk, sugar.
Dinner.—Coffee, bread, potatoes, mackerel, pie.
Supper.—Tea, bread, pea soup, cake.

Breakfast.—Coffee, bread, milk, sugar.
Dinner.—Coffee, bread, beef stew.
Supper.—Tea, bread, frankfurters.

This is the general run of institutional food throughout Massachusetts so far as our examination shows. It, of course, is not the robust food of the worker, but it is wholesome. In fact, your committee partook of this food on its visit and recommends it as clean, well cooked and nourishing. In talking directly with some of the inmates we were informed that although the food was good, a change of diet would be welcome. In this connection a comparison of the menus at the House of Correction and the County Jail would be profitable.

We desire to note here that in 1922 a "Suggestion Box" was installed by Commissioner Johnson at the House of Correction, so that complaints could be sent directly to the head of the department by the inmates without interference by any subordinate officer. Thus far the commissioner has received no complaint on the matter of food, so he informed your committee.

Work of Inmates.

The House of Correction differs in one particular from the State Prison, in that the terms of confinement are very short, averaging for the individual about thirty days. As a result it has been found unwise to establish factory or industrial work. At Deer Island there is a small shoe shop, but the enlargement of its functions is not recommended, as skilled mechanics are necessary in this branch of industry. Almost all the inmates of Deer Island work on the farm, in the barn, in the piggery and in the stone shed. The farm, consisting of about thirty-four acres, produces all the vegetables necessary for the institution. The cow barn, of cement, lately built by the inmates, holds a growing herd, which, now numbers fifty-two. The milk yield averages 200 to 400 quarts a day, of which 80 quarts are sent to Long Island. Instead of killing the calves the commissioner has adopted the policy of increasing the number of cows as a direct benefit to the institution under his charge. The piggery, which is as sanitary and clean as such a place can be, contains about five hundred pigs. About fifty thousand pounds of pigs are killed yearly for the use of the officers, employees and inmates of the Island, and a survey of the menu will show how frequently that product is used on the table. A smoke house recently has been established for turning out hams and bacon, which also are used at Deer Island and Long Island. The stone shed has been reopened during the past year and supplies curbing for the Public Works Department. Some criticism has been publicly made of the return of this industry, but it is not justified, as only men serving time for non-support, for wife beating and wife desertion are employed at this work.

In connection with employment your committee desires to state that a Board of Appeal was established this year at Deer Island to consider complaints of the inmates in the matter of work. The Board consists of the master, the clergyman and the doctor at the House of Correction. Any inmate with a grievance may petition for a hearing before this Board, and if his petition fail he may take up the case with the deputy commissioner, and finally the commissioner himself.

On the subject of paying $1 a day to the families of inmates for work performed during confinement, the commissioner hopes that it will be possible to do this. The program is now being considered in all its aspects by the authorities in charge of the correctional institutions throughout the state and we may soon look for a definite statement.

Recreation.

In the words of the commissioner, "the inmates at the House of Correction are, as far as possible, treated as normal men and every effort is made to build up their self respect and their self confidence." Moving picture shows are given weekly, minstrel and vaudeville entertainments are arranged on special occasions, and individuals and organizations also give concerts for the inmates. The great American game of baseball is the principal out-door sport, and contests in this and other sports are viewed by the inmates from bleachers recently constructed.

Whether gymnasium classes should be established, especially for the younger men who are confined, is a problem which your committee hopes the commissioner will work on during the coming year "A sound mind in a sound body" is a world aged adage. May we hope for some pronounced view on this subject soon.

Taken as a whole your committee believes that the administration of the institution at Deer Island is safe and sane. The time given for inspection was too short for a minute investigation, but whatever questions were asked were answered and there was no attempt at concealment. The committee not only interviewed the authorities but also the inmates in their visits to the institutions. We believe that Commissioner Johnson is doing all that is humanely possible to conserve and build up the character of the inmates under his charge, and in doing that he deserves well of the citizens of Boston.

SUFFOLK COUNTY JAIL.

The conditions here, so far as the inmates are concerned, are different in some respects from those prevailing at the House of Correction. At the County Jail men and women are confined as prisoners; at the House of Correction, as already stated, there are men prisoners only. At the County Jail also there are two classes of inmates, some serving sentences imposed by the courts, and others restrained there for lack of bail, awaiting trial on appeal cases. In the House of Correction all the inmates are serving sentences; none are kept there except prisoners. At the County Jail there are no industries to keep the inmates busy, unless continuous cleaning may be termed an industry. As expressed by the sheriff, "they clean, dust and wash the jail, then they go over the work again." Only those serving sentences are required to do this work. Inmates held for lack of bail are not compelled to perform this labor. As a result of this continuous cleaning, the County Jail may be properly described as "spic and span." Old offenders quite frequently appeal to the judges of our courts for sentences to the jail, lest they be required to work at the House of Correction. The sentences of the inmates at the jail are usually as short as those at Deer Island and therefore the policy of establishing industries at the jail has not been seriously considered. Under the administration of Sheriff Keliher improvements have been made that should be noted, viz., the introduction of running water and a toilet in each cell, the privilege of smoking, and, more recently, the construction of a hospital, upon which we shall later report. The cafeteria service, whereby each inmate walks to the serving board, receives his food and eats it at a common mess table, is especially to be commended. This is the latest innovation of the sheriff. Besides other advantages it has the definite merit of serving the food hot. It is interesting to note that inmates serving sentences and inmates without bail are served from different tables.

The hospital was particularly interesting to your committee. The establishment of this new branch of the Suffolk County Jail last year created two opposite opinions. Some of our citizens believed that such a hospital was not necessary, while others took a contrary view. As the hospital has been only recently in operation, the future will answer which body of citizens was correct. The sheriff has secured the services of physicians and surgeons of high repute, headed by Dr. David D. Scannell of the Boston School Committee, all of whom will serve without compensation. The hospital is equipped for major and minor surgical operations, has a good laboratory and all other necessary equipment. The dental room attached to the hospital, both sides of the recent controversy doubtless would agree, is well worth while. The medical examination and treatment of the incoming inmate is practically the same as that given at Deer Island. Below is appended a report of the medical cases treated at the Suffolk County Jail during the past year; list furnished by the sheriff. Number of persons committed to the Suffolk County Jail from January 1, 1923, to January 1, 1924.....6,478

"All persons committed to the institution are given a superficial examination on the day of their commitment.

"All persons suffering from the use of narcotic drugs are given a special treatment by the jail physician.

"All persons suffering from alcoholism are given treatment by the jail physician.

"All persons committed to the institution for a term of thirty days or more are given a complete physical examination, and Wasserman and sputum tests are sent to the Board of Health. During the period from January 1, 1923, to January 1, 1924, there were 1,409 of these complete examinations made by the jail physician.

"During the period from January 1, 1923, to January 1, 1924, the jail physician made 3,580 special examinations and treatments. In addition to a very large number of alcohol cases, the following were treated for other ailments."

It is hoped by the sheriff that an appropriation will be allowed in 1924 to build a boiler room outside the jail, as the presence of the heating plant in the main building might some day prove disastrous. Your committee is of the opinion that the sheriff is right in his suggestion. It was furthermore proposed that the brick building facing the jail on Cambridge street should be removed. This subject is worthy of deep consideration, but there is no such present need of the removal of this building as there is for the erection of a new heating plant away from the main building. In general, your committee commends the administration of Sheriff John A. Keliher as a humane and intelligent one.

CLOSING PROCEEDINGS.

Coun. MORIARTY offered the following:

Resolved, That the thanks of the City Council be extended to President Daniel W. Lane for the impartiality and ability he has displayed as presiding officer of this body.

Coun. MORIARTY—Mr. Clerk, At this time I rise to say a few words on the resolution I have introduced, thinking it would not be fitting to allow the President of the Boston City Council for the year 1923 to leave the rostrum without expressing the feeling in the hearts of the members of the City Council. Coun. Lane is leaving the presidency of the Boston City Council with a full recognition on the part of the members of his fairness and impartiality, which has actuated every decision he has had occasion to make in this body. Every member wishes him all the good luck possible during his term starting on February 4. All the rest of us extend to him our best wishes as a newly elected member of the incoming body and as the outgoing President of the Council for 1923.

Coun. HEALEY—Mr. Clerk, I desire to add my word of approbation of the President of this Council. Great as the criticism of the Council has been by outsiders, I want to say that our presiding officer, representing the soul and spirit of the Council, has shown that this body occupies a position in the City of Boston equal to that occupied in the state by the Massachusetts Senate or House of Representatives; and I trust that the newspapers in their reports will let the citizens of Boston know that the Boston City Council represents the highest type of citizenship in our city. I think the citizens ought to know that in the election of Daniel W. Lane as President of the Council we elected one of our best members, and that he has ably and properly performed the duties of his office in a manner that must and should meet with the approbation of our citizens.

Coun. MORIARTY—Mr. Clerk, in order to further show the President how the members of the Boston City Council feel toward him, I now present to Coun. Daniel W. Lane this token of our esteem, with the good wishes and the good will of the members and officers of this body. We trust that as he uses it in the future it may bring back to his mind during the remainder of his days thoughts and recollections of his associations with us here during his presidency and during his term of service with us.

The resolutions were passed by a unanimous rising vote.

President LANE said: Fellow members of the City Council of the year 1923, after listening to the beautiful encomiums that have been showered on me by the two councilors who have spoken, I feel that I do not know myself, any more than I was able to recognize myself during the last campaign when one of the newspapers said that I was a very prominent member of the Baptist Union. (Laughter.) But, all joking aside, gentlemen,

I am deeply touched on this occasion by the good will you have shown toward me, and by this beautiful token of your esteem. I have endeavored during the few months that I have had the honor to serve here to be as fair and impartial as preceding presiding officers have been. During the six years that I have been a member of the body I have never seen the time when any member could object to the rulings of the presiding officer, and with such examples to follow I also have endeavored to be fair at all times. It is with feelings that I can hardly describe that I now tell you what an honor I consider it to have been to preside over you during these few months. It is an honor that any man might well aspire to and be proud of. I have served in several legislative bodies—in the old Boston Common Council, in the Massachusetts Senate and in the Constitutional Convention—and I can say truthfully and honestly that I have never enjoyed any associations more than those here with you gentlemen. The last day of a Council session always carries with it a touch of sadness, because after you have been serving with one body of men as small as this for one, two or three years or longer, and even one of the members is going to leave, you cannot help feeling sorry, no matter what your personal relations with the member may have been at times, no matter whether you voted with him or against him. He is still one member of a small family. Coun. Hagan is leaving us today, last year Coun. Ford left us, and the year before that Coun. Collins left us. We did not always vote with those men, but there was always good fellowship among all the members, and we have missed and will miss every one of them. Not only his fellow councilors are going to miss Coun. Hagan, but visitors to this body are going to miss the passages at arms that we have at times had occasion to see between Coun. Hagan and Coun. Watson, and at times between Coun. Hagan and Coun. Moriarty. I know that Coun. Moriarty is going to regret Coun. Hagan's loss, and I am sure that Coun. Watson is. I want to thank all the people who are attached to the Council for their kindness and courtesy to me. My good friend, Jim Donovan, the City Clerk, has always been an inspiration to me. The experience coming from his many years of service for the City of Boston has always been at our command. His assistant, Mr. Wilfred J. Doyle, everyone in City Hall respects. If they want to know what is going on they say, "Let us go and find out from Wilfred Doyle." The City Messenger, Mr. Leary, and his associate, Mr. Glenn, have always been most courteous and obliging; and we all appreciate the services that have been rendered to us by our able and efficient Clerk of Committees, Mr. Baldwin, and his assistant, Mr. Chisholm. Every member appreciates our stenographer, Mr. Harnden. We all know what he has done for us. We all know that he has corrected our mistakes in English when we have got up here more or less excited, not quite realizing what language we were using. When we have read it in the City Record or the minutes of the City Council afterwards, however, we have found that we made beautiful speeches, all due to the embellishments of Mr. Harnden. I want to thank the press for their kindness to me during the six years I have been here, and I only trust that I have merited one half the nice things they have said about me. We cannot, either, forget our officer here, Mr. Leahy, who has so carefully guarded us, and the other officer, not now present, who has kept people away when we were too busy to see them. This case which you have given me, gentlemen, I shall always carry with me, and I shall always think, every time that I extract a coffin nail from it, that my confreres in the Council are helping to bury me! (Laughter.) Once more, I wish to thank you all for the kind co-operation I have received at your hands during the year, and I trust that the remaining years I have to serve here will be as happy as the past six. Gentlemen, I thank you.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, it was my intention before you referred to the departing member to say a word concerning that gentleman, myself. I have in mind Coun. Hagan, who today severs his connection with us as a councilor of the City of Boston, leaving this group. I have had many bitter discussions with him. Both he and I have at times had occasion to show some heat regarding subjects for debate in this body. I have said some hard things concerning him and the echo has come back to me from his lips in equally hard things that he has said concerning me. My differences with him, however, have never been other than political. He has his own point of view, and I have mine. I have disagreed with him more times than I have agreed with him, and I think in a great many cases, from my point of view, I was justified.

But I intend to be fair with him and to say that he has disagreed with me more times than he has agreed with me, and as conscientiously from his point of view, and has assured me that he felt confident that he was right. I want to say here frankly, and the words I utter are as true as a man could utter under any circumstances, that in Henry Hagan's departure from this body he has my respect as a man, and I wish him Godspeed in his undertakings. I think the Council has been better for his membership, not because of anything constructive that he might have suggested but because through the orders he has introduced and the discussions that have ensued we have all been able to get light that we would not have otherwise had. I am not speaking for the purpose of getting into the public press, or for any other reason than that today the differences between Henry E. Hagan and myself, politically and otherwise, are behind me. I want him to know that in leaving here he has my friendship, and I wish him success in anything he may undertake.

Adjourned, without day, at 1.04 o'clock p. m., on motion of Coun. BRICKLEY.

PUBLIC CONTROL OF BOSTON ELEVATED RAILWAY.

By Chapter 159, Special Acts of 1918, a State board of five trustees was created to assume control of the Elevated Railway Co. for the term of 10 years, the need being imperative to improve its unfortunate condition and impaired service in the interest of a very large traveling public. Regular dividends were continued and the raising of $3,000,000 of new capital was provided for by the issue and sale of preferred stock. It was also provided that if the income should be insufficient to meet the cost of service and the reserve fund proved inadequate, any deficit should be paid by the State and assessed upon the cities and towns in which the railway was operated. The fare was raised from 5 cents to 7, then to 8 and again to 10. The total deficit for year ending June 30, 1919, was $4,980,152, which was covered by extra taxation, as ordered, Boston paying $2,905,931 or 71.9 per cent of total levy. According to the said act of 1918, the cities and towns were to be reimbursed for assessments paid by them as soon as the financial condition of the Elevated Co. permitted.

By Chapter 369, General Acts of 1919, the purchase by the State from the Elevated Co. of the Cambridge Subway was ordered as an emergency law, the capital thus made available being needed by the trustees. The property was conveyed to the State May 1, 1920, on payment of $7,868,000 and 4½ per cent of this cost is payable by the B. E. Co. annually for rental.

The report of the Trustees of B. E. Railway Co. for year 1920 showed a notable financial improvement as compared with 1919, the cost of service exceeding receipts by $347,167 or only one-seventh of the deficit in 1919.

The Trustees' report for 1921 showed total receipts for that year of $33,277,026, exceeding the total cost of service, depreciation, debt requirements and dividends by $1,171,445. This surplus permitted certain reimbursements in 1922, Boston receiving $372,035 or 12.8 per cent of the assessment paid in 1919. Under the act of 1918, the general 10-cent fare cannot be reduced until all reimbursements are completed. On June 10, 1922, the consolidation of the West End Street Railway Co. with the Boston Elevated Co. went into effect, as provided by Acts of 1911, Chap. 740, the lease to the Elevated not expiring until the said date.

PROCEEDINGS OF CITY COUNCIL.

INAUGURAL EXERCISES

Monday, February 4, 1924.

The first meeting of the City Council of 1924 was held in the City Council Chamber, City Hall, at 10.30 o'clock a. m., all the members and members-elect for 1924 being present.

Senior Member Coun. WATSON took the chair and called the members to order at 10.52 o'clock a. m.

Coun. GILBODY moved that a committee of two be appointed to wait upon his Honor the Mayor and escort him to the Council Chamber.

The motion was carried, and Coun. Gilbody and Brickley were appointed said committee. They retired at 10.54 o'clock a. m., and presently returned, escorting the Mayor, Hon. James M. Curley, and suite, including the Chaplain and ex-Mayor Thomas N. Hart and Nathan Matthews.

Mayor CURLEY took the chair and said:

The audience will now give their attention while the chaplain, Reverend Father Twomey, leads us in prayer.

The chaplain, Reverend Father Mortimer E. Twomey, prayed:

In the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost, Amen.

O Boundless Wisdom, that reacheth from end to end mightily and weigheth all things sweetly: O Divine Power, that holdeth in the hollow of Thy hand the destinies of nations and of men; O Supernal Providence, that guideth, guardeth and governeth all the things that thou hast made—impart to those who have been chosen to guard the interests of this city wisdom to see and broadness of vision to follow the ways of truth, the power of honest purpose and endeavor to achieve undertakings great and good. Give them guidance to promote the best interests of all who dwell or who sojourn within our gates and do Thou, our God, remember the days of Thy benefactions and of Thy service upon this earth and give to those who preside over the civic affairs of this city the spirit of noble service.

Almighty God, Thou hast said of Thyself, "Not to be served but to serve," and Thy vicar and representative, the Holy Father of Christendom, loves to style himself the servant of the servants of God.

And so grant to the elected leader, the chief magistrate of this city, and to those who counsel and co-operate with him, to rise to the heights of generous service that shall redound to Thy glory, to the prosperity of the citizens and to the renown of our local city.

To serve Thee, our God, is to reign triumphant over the perversities of human will, and to serve our fellow man is to rise triumphant over selfishness. Do Thou lead those to whom Thou hast intrusted authority along to that fulfillment of the law which, according to Thy word, is the love of our neighbor.

In this spirit we present to Thee our petitions, asking that Thou make them Thine own and bring them to the throne of Him to whom we trust ourselves, in Thy very words:

Our Father, who art in heaven, hallowed be Thy name; Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven. Give us this day our daily bread and forgive us our trespasses as we forgive those who trespass against us. And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil, Amen.

Chairman WATSON—The first business in order is the reading of the communication from the Election Commissioners certifying the new members elected to the City Council, and the clerk will then call the roll.

The Clerk read the communication from the Board of Election Commissioners, stating that Coun. Daniel W. Lane, James T. Moriarty and James T. Purcell had been elected to the City Council for the term ending February, 1927.

The communication was placed on file.

Chairman WATSON—The Clerk will now call the roll.

The Clerk called the roll of those elected for the term ending February, 1927, and they were all present, as follows:

Coun. Daniel W. Lane, James T. Moriarty and James T. Purcell.

Mayor CURLEY administered the oath of office to the councilors just elected, as follows:

I do solemnly swear that I will bear true faith and allegiance to the Commonwealth of Massachusetts and support the constitution thereof, so help me God; I do solemnly swear that I will faithfully and impartially discharge and perform all the duties incumbent upon me as a member of the City Council of the City of Boston, according to the best of my ability and understanding, agreeably to the rules and regulations of the Constitution and the laws of this Commonwealth, so help me God; I do solemnly swear that I will support the Constitution of the United States so help me God.

Mayor CURLEY—I declare the gentlemen elected members of the City Council. The chaplain is obliged to fulfill another engagement, and will retire at this time. (Reverend Father Twomey retired from the chamber at this point.)

The members-elect took their seats with the other members of the Council; and his Honor Mayor Curley read his message.

(For address of Mayor Curley see page 143 of this week's City Record.)

Chairman WATSON—Will Councilors Purcell, Moriarty and Lane step up and meet the Mayor. He wishes to shake hands with you and ask your co-operation.

(The councilors referred to shook hands with the Mayor, amid applause.)

Mayor CURLEY—Just one word, gentlemen. It is this. We are organized for the transaction of the most important business in Massachusetts, a business representing a greater annual outlay and a business representing a greater number of employees than any other industry in the Commonwealth. As president of your Board of Directors, I recognize that success, the best interests of the city, require that we work in harmony. It is a great pleasure to be permitted to welcome you on this occasion and to anticipate during the coming year the same character of co-operation and friendly association that we have enjoyed during the last year. (Applause.)

The Mayor and suite retired at 12.47 p. m.

BOSTON TO GET MORE LIGHT AND AIR BY NEW ZONING PLAN NOW BEING PROPOSED.

BILL PRESENTED TO LEGISLATURE BY MAYOR CURLEY THROUGH PLANNING BOARD WILL PROVIDE MORE OPEN SPACES AS WELL AS MORE ECONOMICAL AND CONSISTENT DEVELOPMENT OF WHOLE CITY—HEARINGS BEGIN.

Provisions for securing more light and air in buildings, larger open spaces between buildings and a more economical and consistent development of the whole city are the main purposes of the bulk zoning regulations which, together with requirements for the appropriate use of property, make up the zoning bill for Boston sent up to the Legislature by Mayor Curley on the recommendation of the City Planning Board.

Boston is more fortunate than most American cities in that buildings have not been built to excessive height. This is due to wisdom and foresight in dividing the city by legislative act into two height districts, A and B, of 125 and 80 feet respectively, in 1904, and to the fact that deep foundations are too costly on account of over half of the city's area being filled tide flats. The two height limits of 80 feet (100 feet allowed on unusually wide streets) in District B and 125 feet in District A have applied in blanket form to all buildings without regard to their use or location except that District A is called business and District B residential.

The proposed law will not change the building heights already established. Last year the height limit in District A was raised from 125 feet to 155 feet. This meant that in addition to downtown Boston all the old brick residential neighborhoods between Columbus avenue and Washington street as far out as Roxbury street and Dudley street and in the residential sections along Columbia road and Dorchester avenue and including Savin Hill and Neponset, could be built to 155 feet. A broad band around the East Boston and Charlestown waterfront is also included in the 155-foot district. All the rest of Boston can now be built to a height of 80 feet, which means seven or eight story buildings. With such flat regulations in force no one could put up a two or three story dwelling in Boston with any reasonable assurance that a higher building, cutting off his light and air, would not be built next to him.

The zoning scheme takes into account the different building height requirements for buildings used for different purposes. By studying existing conditions and prevailing tendencies of growth the Planning Board has evolved five classes of bulk districts, designated by the normal maximum height of buildings as follows: 35 foot, 40 foot, 65 foot, 80 foot and 155 foot districts. In order to avoid undesirable, low, cramped, ceiling heights all height districts are also restricted by the number of stories, except in the highest districts. Buildings are with certain exceptions limited to two and one half stories high in 35-foot districts; three stories in 40-foot districts, and five stories in 65-foot districts. There are no story restrictions in 80 and 155 foot districts.

BUSINESS AND INDUSTRIAL DISTRICTS.

The entire downtown business, financial and industrial sections of the city are still in 55-foot districts, which extend out along such growing business districts as Boylston street, Stuart street and Huntington avenue as far as Massachusetts avenue, also out Columbus avenue and Tremont street to Dartmouth street and Washington street to a half block beyond Dedham street. The 155-foot districts also include large industrial districts around South bay, South End, South Boston, Dorchester, Charlestown and East Boston.

The 80-foot districts 100 feet on unusually wide streets, are intended for sections where the value of the land does not force or justify the erection of higher buildings, which would have to be of fireproof construction. The 80-foot districts include the institutional region out Huntington avenue as far out as Roxbury Crossing and along Dudley street to Uphams Corner; the apartment house section from the Common, out Beacon, Marlborough and Newbury streets, including the automobile sales section on Commonwealth avenue to Brighton; the business centers of Charlestown and East Boston and outlying industrial centers. The 70-foot height restriction now on Commonwealth avenue from the Public Garden to the Fenway will not be affected by the zoning law.

The 65-foot districts are particularly for sections likely to be utilized for five-story apartments as along the Back Bay Fens and in the Brighton section along Commonwealth avenue and Cambridge street, also for the more intensive local

BUDGET COMMISSIONER FOX DEFENDS MAYOR CURLEY'S WAGE PROPOSAL IN REPLY TO POLICE HEAD.

Budget Commissioner Charles J. Fox issued the following statement in response to the reported refusal of Police Commissioner Herbert Wilson to indorse Mayor Curley's proposal to increase the maximum police pay from $1,800 to $2,000 by $100 increments this year and next year:

"The statement of Police Commissioner Wilson concerning the wage schedule of patrolmen, as outlined in the Mayor's annual address to the City Council on the 4th instant, emphasizes the need of being fully informed as to all the facts in a controversy before giving public utterance. For the benefit of the commissioner the following facts are stated:

"1. The budget has not been submitted to the City Council.

"2. The authorities at City Hall are familiar with the statute relating to the manner in which the pay of patrolmen shall be fixed.

"3. Patrolmen are not the only class of city employees who are affected by the present cost of living.

"4. The Mayor's proposed schedule does not seriously conflict with the present five-year regulation concerning promotion to sergeantcy.

"Under the provisions of the city charter the annual appropriation bill must be submitted within thirty days from the beginning of the fiscal year. Since our fiscal year begins February 1, the time limit for submission of the budget will not expire until March 1.

"The authorities at City Hall are aware that section 8 of chapter 53 of the General Laws provides for concurrent action of the Mayor and Police Commissioner before the number and salaries of patrolmen can be increased.

"The fact that the commissioner has received no official communication of the Mayor's intent to raise the salaries of patrolmen is explained by that passage in the Mayor's inaugural which reads: 'I am interested in maintaining a tax rate equal or lower than the present tax rate and shall endeavor to effect

I. CHANGE IN ASSIGNMENT.

The following change in apparatus assignment is hereby announced to take effect at 8 a. m. February 12, 1924:

Box 3484: Second alarm, add Engine 52; drop Engine 5.

II. HOUSE AND STATION RECORDS.

Prior to the installation of the two-platoon system in the department, it was felt that the time had arrived when modern, up-to-date methods should prevail in the keeping of proper house or station records, and towards that end Chief Clerk James P. Maloney was assigned to devise a system, brief in form and simple in design, dealing with the various features of our daily routine.

The arrangement of this plan takes the form of a folder or panel system of the Postindex pattern, whereby some twenty-one forms take care of at least one hundred items listed on wires, with visible tion regarding the public baths and gymnasiums maintained by the city, and with regard to municipal indoor concerts and band concerts; also information relative to Mount Hope, Evergreen, Fairview and other public cemeteries owned by the City of Boston.

To THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE, 15 Beacon street, for information relative to the operation of the schools of the city.

To THE SCHOOLHOUSE COMMISSIONERS, Room 1007, City Hall Annex, for information as to the construction and repair of school buildings.

To THE BOARD OF EXAMINERS, Room 1001, City Hall Annex, for information regarding the licensing of persons having charge or control of the work of construction, alteration, removal or tearing down of buildings.

To THE WIRE DIVISION OF THE FIRE DEPARTMENT, Fire Department Headquarters, 60 Bristol street, for all information relative to the erection of poles, the building of conduits, the installation of all overhead and underground construction and electrical apparatus, as well as for general information relative to the entire division. To Room 906, City Hall Annex, for permits for the installing of wires and electrical apparatus within buildings in the City of Boston, and for the payment of fees incident to the granting of the privileges above named, and which must be paid in advance.

index, showing at a glance the item wanted for recording purposes or instantaneous reference.

A printed list of instructions will accompany each house installment, which with a little study will make a write-up of these forms a simple task, and once written up will be an easy matter to keep up.

The care of the company records has been assigned to the company commander, and he is hereby instructed to call upon such members of his command as is necessary to properly assist in the upkeep of same. It is felt that each company will pride itself in the excellence of its work, and where it is possible to type the forms, it should be done; at least the forms should bear typed headings in order to make the visibility feature more pronounced.

Company commanders will closely follow the instruction sheets and especially that part whereby a member's property and membership record will accompany each member in the event of being transferred to another house; said records will be forwarded to headquarters and in turn will be sent to the house or company where the member has been transferred.

Company records will at all times be open for inspection to division and district commanders of their respective assignments, who will from time to time see to it that the records are kept up-to-date.

Each company being provided with its panel and forms, immediate arrangements must be made for the set up of said forms according to the instructions, which will be found inclosed in the panel.

CALLS FOR SOLDIER COMPENSATION TO RELIEVE DISTRESS OF HEROES OF WORLD WAR.

MAYOR CURLEY THRILLS GATHERING OF 5,000 VETERANS AND THEIR FRIENDS IN MECHANICS BUILDING WITH STIRRING ADDRESS ON SOLDIER BONUS—SHOWS THE FALSITY OF STATEMENTS OF REPUBLICANS THAT IT CAN'T BE PAID.

Address of Hon. James M. Curley, Mayor of Boston, delivered at the "adjusted compensation meeting" held by the American Legion at Mechanics Building, Sunday, February 3, 1924.

Worthy Commander, Mr. Chairman, Honored Guests, Ladies and Gentlemen,—It is a source of extreme pleasure to congratulate the American Legion through its commander, John Quinn, for the character of fight made by the organization for adjusted compensation.

Six weeks ago the American public were startled by a communication submitted to the Congress of the United States in joint convention by the President of the United States, a message so cold, a message so callous, a message so brutal as to shock the entire people of America.

The message was the message always draughted by the tribunal of might. The message was the ultimatum of Wall street, that if he desired the presidency of the United States, which they believed they were in a position to deliver to him, that the soldier must be disregarded and thrown out and that capital alone must be considered.

Six weeks ago it looked like plain sailing. The soldier's friends apparently could not get their message to the American public. The press printed one side. The other side remained for presentation. And then something happened in the halls of the mighty. The Secretary of the Interior was found using the resources of America, that the nation might require in the hour of need, to increase his own bank account and to fatten the treasury of the Republican party and in six short weeks the expose resulting from Tea Pot Dome has made the soldier's case a successful one in America. The soldier won't be dismissed in a sentence of nine words by the President of the United States today. He will receive the consideration that faithful, unselfish, patriotic service entitles him to receive from the most powerful nation in the whole world, America.

Abraham Lincoln once said: "The people can be trusted. The people are always right."

They are going to discover it down in Washington. The question of adjusted compensation has too long been the football of partisan politics. It is a question involving the integrity and the honor of the American flag. It should rise above every political or party consideration.

We had a police strike in Boston once. The present leader of the Republican party, and up to about two weeks ago the prospective nominee for President of the United States, was Governor. He was Governor of the Commonwealth when the boys came back. Seventy thousand did not come back. And this is what he said: "There is nothing that the Commonwealth can do which will exceed the debt of gratitude owed to the men who have maintained by their service and their sacrifice the ideals on which our institutions are founded."

That was the message in 1919. The message of six weeks ago was the message of a new Coolidge. It is a different one from the one we knew in our state five short years ago. A new code of politics have been evolved in his mind. His viewpoint has changed. After the police strike in Boston, when the State Guard were called out to perform duty, he addressed the Legislature and said: "This emergency has resulted in expense being incurred for which an appropriation must be made. The State Guard called upon to perform its service have responded in a most satisfactory and loyal way and they merit the gratitude and commendation of the people of this Commonwealth. The compensation allowed by law is only $1.55 per diem with food, quarters and equipment. They have met their obligations. The Commonwealth should meet its just obligations to them. I recommend each member of the State Guard receiving less than $3 per diem be paid an additional sum so that his compensation shall be $3 per diem and also an appropriation for state expense."

That was a bonus and was more than the soldiers asked in the Adjusted Compensation Bill. If it was all right to pay the state troopers to patrol the streets of one of the best regulated cities in America, if not the best regulated, then I ask why the change of heart. Mr. Mellon, director and head of sixty-eight banks, trust companies and corporations has talked from the time he assumed the office of Secretary of the Treasury of the possibility of a deficit in the cost of the conduct of the affairs of the American government but like our own city, Boston, every year ends with a surplus and no deficit.

We are submitting a message tomorrow to the City Council, a message carrying with it an increase in pay to 9,300 employees of the city, including an increase in the maximum of policemen and firemen from $1,800 to $2,000 a year. A man of the Mellon type would say if you go through with it you will have a deficit. No we won't have a deficit because we will make the people who should pay the taxes pay them and if those who profited by the World War were required to pay an equitable portion of the taxes there would be no deficit and the soldiers would secure justice.

What is a bonus? The soldier is not asking for a bonus. He is asking for adjusted compensation. About all those high in authority have done since the war ended is lie about the American soldier. They said he did not need aid from the government. Why did the rolls of the Soldiers' Relief Department of our own city jump from thirty thousand dollars a month to one hundred forty thousand dollars a month?

They said he won't work. We constructed with soldiers the extension of the East Boston Tunnel, forty feet underground, with pick and with shovel work. They were unused to picks. No other labor was open. They performed the work and performed it with a saving to the city over the alien who everyone said would work where the soldier would not work. They said we cannot afford to pay adjusted compensation. Have you ever stopped to consider that Great Britain, with a debt of forty-four billions dollars as against our twenty-two billion, only one half as great, paid a bonus to every soldier that served and paid it with money they borrowed from us.

How about France? Every poilu who fought in the war was paid a bonus and France has a debt of forty billions; but she was not worried about the debt, the money of Uncle Sam was borrowed to pay the French soldiers.

How about Italy? Prior to the coming of Mussolini, Italy was faced with the prospect of Sovietism, many industries having been taken over by the people. To save Italy money was needed, so the Italian government appealed to Uncle Sam and said we want funds to pay our soldiers and Uncle Sam gave the money to pay the soldiers.

How about Canada? Out of a population of nine millions nearly four hundred fifty thousand of the brave sons of Canada were either killed or maimed in the World War. Was Canada pessimistic? No, she turned to her old friend Uncle Sam and said, "loan us the money," and we loaned the money and they paid a bonus to the soldiers.

How about Australia and New Zealand? They needed money and we advanced it to them and when we had loaned money to every country to pay a bonus to their soldiers, we turned around and said we must do something in America but not for the soldier for the fellow who remained at home. So we investigated and found there were five hundred thousand men in America who had held down a roll top or flat top desk during the war and we paid them an adjusted compensation of $240 apiece, but nothing to the soldier who fought. What else did we do? The railroads were on the verge of bankruptcy when the war broke out. Then we took over the operation of the railroads so that the Army might function; and they needed a little money so we paid the railroads five hundred millions of dollars.

How about the contractors? The contractors came in and claimed damages for everything ranging from atmospheric changes to the shortage of able bodied men. But the contractors stood well in Washington. They were of the Tea Pot Dome variety and they did not experience any difficulty in collecting and when the figures were analyzed it was found that the contractors had received three billions of dollars from Uncle Sam, or more than enough to pay the adjusted compensation. And so it has gone.

Now then, my friends, in conclusion, I want to say that there is only one way you are going to get justice and that is by fighting for it as you fought for victory in France. I think it is exceedingly fortunate for America that National honor is not dead and it is exceedingly fortunate for the soldier that it is a presidential year and that there was such a place on the American continent as the Indian Reservation and there was such a place as Tea Pot Dome. All the arrogance has gone from the leaders nationally, both of my own party and the Republican party. They are taking a little broader view of the Soldier's case. They enjoy today an enlarged perspective and they are beginning to realize that there is merit in his claim. It is only necessary for an American to sit in a hall of this character and witness a war hero carried in from the Chelsea Hospital by two of his comrades, a man who gave his legs for the preservation of the form of government under which we live to awaken to a full sense of duty. They came home to find that no preparation had been made for hospitals. We fortunately were able to aid in Boston, but it was not because of the Federal government's thoughtfulness. It was due to the great heart of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks which established a hospital at Parker Hill.

Bonuses have been given in every war. Even the great Emancipator, Abraham Lincoln, for about forty days' service in the Black Hawk Wars, received a bounty of forty acres of land. This nation, the only solvent nation in the world, this nation, with an indebtedness of but twenty-two billions as against an average indebtedness of other nations of forty billions, this nation, custodian of the liberty of the world, this nation, the richest and most productive in the whole world, has traditions to uphold. The American flag, which bears within its sacred folds everything worth while in the march of human events, is not our sole property. We are simply custodians in our age and generation of all the glorious traditions that nestle within its sacred folds; our flag has never been raised over an army but to right a wrong and destroy injustice and make the world better, that no smirch shall rest upon it in our age our every effort should be to honor and keep faith with the men who made possible the winning of the World War and the perpetuation of free government in the world.

such budget economies as will render it possible for me to provide the funds necessary to grant an increase in this year's budget to the firemen and patrolmen.

"Before leaving Boston the Mayor in conformity with the above statement directed that certain cuts be made in the departmental estimates. The Budget Department has not yet finished the reductions as outlined by the Mayor, and until this work is accomplished the Police Commissioner will not be officially conferred with. In this respect he is being treated no different than any other department head.

"Under the plan of the Mayor the minimum for policemen and firemen will be raised next year to $1,500 and the subsequent year to $1,600. Hence at the end of two years the present five-year step rate plan will be completely restored."

NEW ZONING PLAN.

business centers as Fields Corner, Dorchester Center or Roslindale Center, and along main business thoroughfares.

It is expected that placing districts where buildings have depreciated as the section north of Dudley street and east of Tremont street in 65-foot districts will enable them to be converted to more substantial buildings as the fireproofing regulations are very strict after the five-story limit is reached, which would be prohibitive on low value land.

FORTY-FOOT DISTRICTS.

The 40-foot districts which are intended for three-family houses, whether detached or in rows and for outlying local business districts come in as far as a line running east and west, roughly bounded by Heath street, Roxbury street, Eliot square, St. James street, Moreland street, Dudley street and Uphams Corner. These districts extend out as far as the Arnold Arboretum, Walk Hill street beyond Forest Hills Cemetery, out Blue Hill avenue to Mattapan, and out Dorchester avenue to Ashmont. The main residential sections of South Boston, East Boston and Charlestown are also in the 40-foot districts.

The 35-foot districts are chiefly for one and two family houses. Included in this class are Savin Hill and the open residential section beginning at Jamaica pond and extending on out and including Roslindale, Clarendon Hills, West Roxbury, Hyde Park, Mattapan and the lower part of Dorchester around Ashmont and Lower Mills, also outlying parts of Brighton.

In the 35-foot and 40-foot districts, exceptions are made for single-family dwellings and buildings for recreational use, which may be built to a height of three and one half stories and for churches, hospitals, sanitarium and educational and philanthropic institutions, which may be erected to a height of five stories; provided, however, that in each case the building is given a considerable extra setback from every street and lot line.

All dwellings in an industrial or unrestricted district are subject to the same regulations as dwellings in 40-foot districts.

BETTER AIR AND LIGHT.

Regulating the heights of buildings helps to provide light and air but it is not a sufficient remedy for building congestion. To secure an additional amount of light and air for dwellings the proposed zoning law calls for open spaces around buildings by specifying the minimum depth of rear yards; width of side yards; uniform setbacks from the street line and the percentage of a lot that may be occupied by a building. On corner lots and unusually shallow lots, the sizes of yards may be reduced.

REAR YARDS.

For rear yards of typical lots in 35-foot districts, a minimum depth of 25 feet is required behind every building except an accessory building. For typical lots not in a residence district, the depth may be reduced 5 feet. The minimum depth requirement in 40-foot districts is 20 feet; in 65-foot districts and remaining residence districts 12 feet is the minimum. Thirty per cent of the area of a rear yard of one or two family dwellings may be occupied by a one-story private garage or other accessory building under certain restrictions as to size and location.

SIDE YARDS.

Side yards are to be provided on each side of every building in a residence district.

In 35-foot and 40-foot districts the minimum width of all side yards is 6 feet, which is to be increased somewhat for unusually long buildings. In 40-foot districts, a party wall may be substituted for a side yard. Side yards if provided in 65-foot or other districts must conform to the present building code requirements.

COURTS.

In a 35-foot residence district, no window required by the building law is to open on an outer court with a depth greater than its width or upon an inner court. In a 40-foot residence district no window shall open on an inner court deeper than its width. Otherwise courts must conform to the present building code.

SETBACK REGULATIONS.

In order that occupants of all buildings within a block may enjoy equal privileges and advantages gained by setting buildings back from the street, uniform setback regulations are specified for the different residence districts. In 35-foot and 40-foot districts houses are to be set back 10 feet from the street line.

PERCENTAGE OF LOT OCCUPANCY.

Not more than 35 per cent of the lot area may be occupied by a residence in 35-foot districts. An exception allows buildings not for residence purposes to occupy up to 60 per cent of the area of the lot. In 40-foot districts 60 per cent is the allowable maximum for dwellings and 70 per cent for other buildings. In 65-foot districts, 70 per cent for dwellings and 80 per cent for other buildings. In the 80-foot district 80 per cent for dwellings, and no limitations for other buildings in 80 and 155 foot districts.

PUBLIC LIBRARY EXHIBITS
GALILEO'S WORKS.

For the 360th anniversary of the birthday of Galileo Galilei—he was born on the 15th of February, 1564, in Pisa—the Boston Public Library has arranged an exhibition of the earliest and rarest editions of the works of the great Italian astronomer. The books are exhibited in the Barton Room of the Library.

The most valuable among the volumes shown is a small booklet, the "Sidereal Messenger." Published in 1610, this little volume contains the first description of the surface of the moon, and the discovery that the Milky Way is an aggregation of myriads of stars. Best known among the books on exhibition is the "Dialogo," which was ordered to be burned in 1633, soon after its publication. The famous saying of "Eppur si muove!" ("It moves nevertheless!"), which Galileo murmured to a friend after the disavowal of his doctrine of the motion of the earth, is attached to this volume.

Ptolemy's "Cosmographia" represents the greatest monetary value among the books on exhibition. This edition of 1482 is one of the most beautiful books printed in Germany during the fifteenth century. Near to it is placed the booklet of Galileo, which gave the deathblow to Ptolemy's system.

FORMER MAYOR HART SIGNALLY HONORED BY MASSACHUSETTS MAYORS' CLUB AT BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION.

BOSTON'S GRAND OLD MAN PAID SIGNAL HONORS AT CITY CLUB ON EVE OF 95TH BIRTHDAY. MAYOR CURLEY PRESENTS BOUQUET OF ROSES FROM CITIZENS.

Mayor Curley, in introducing ex-Mayor Hart at the dinner of the Mayors' Club, January 19, said in part:

"Eighteen hundred twenty-nine seems a long time ago, when the distinguished guest of the afternoon came into the world. I have some appreciation of his virility because of a story that was told me this afternoon by former Mayor Proctor of Somerville. He said the last time he saw Mayor Hart was thirteen years ago. He was then eighty-two years of age. They were both riding on a street car and a pickpocket boarded the car and stole Mayor Hart's purse. Mayor Hart jumped off the car, chased him for a mile and a half, caught the pickpocket, took his purse back and then walked him to the police station single-handed.

"He is today in full possession of his strength and vigor and he comes to us with a mind enriched by more than the ordinary lifetime that is allotted by Scripture to individuals. He comes to us as a former Mayor of the capital city of New England. He filled that office with such grace, such dignity, such high ideals and, over and above all else, with such kindly grace as to merit and enjoy the love and esteem and affection of every man, woman and child in the entire City of Boston.

"Tomorrow he will celebrate his ninety-fifth birthday. We are anxious that on this ninety-fifth birthday of his he feel not only that the recollection that comes from his association with the members of the Mayors' Club be fragrant with God's harbinger of the seasons, sweet roses, but with sweet memories. It becomes my very great pleasure to present you with this little basket containing as many roses as you have lived useful years in behalf of the people of Boston. To present you with this little card, the inscription which reads, 'Hon. Thomas N. Hart, from the Mayors' Club, upon his ninety-fifth birthday anniversary, with every good wish that Mayor Hart may be with us upon his 150th birthday,' and with this little personal token from the club as well as the gift of the citizens of Boston, who have a profound love and affection for you, and also from the Mayors' Club, who regard you not only as the oldest member but as the best loved member of this organization, Mayor Hart."

Mayor Hart then thanked the members and told them he appreciated their kindness and thoughtfulness in having him as their guest.

Mayor Curley then continued in part as follows: "I had occasion to accept an invitation to deliver an address at the Boston Public Library on Thursday evening last and the light was rather poor and I could not see my manuscript very clearly so I allowed it to remain on my desk and talked without it. On an occasion of this kind it is of especial interest and might perhaps be of interest to our guest of the afternoon.

Its title is 'Boston of 1950' and since he is to be here in 1950 to celebrate with us on that occasion his 120th birthday I am going to take the liberty of reading it to him and I want to say that the outline of Boston might be applicable to any city in the entire Commonwealth, for after all the problems that confront Boston differ only in size from the problems confronting every city in the state. Municipal administration up to the present time at least is an uncharted science. It is the science of political administration and surely we have not quite grooved it. We have not established a single-track system over which we can conduct the activities of every municipal department. Anyone elected to the office of Mayor finds it necessary to work out his own groove.

"It is an interesting proposition, and a little contribution by each and every one makes the road a little easier for his successor and the new development that will be in evidence by 1950 will make the road simple for whoever may be elected Mayor of a New England city, for we are beginning to recognize that the most important business in the entire United States is the business of government. The federal government spends more money annually than any other business in America, employs more persons and upon the success or the failure of the business of government is dependent in large measure the happiness and prosperity or the misery and want of the 122,000,000 of people living under the American flag.

"I think the time will come when we will have a national planning board, when we will have a state planning board and municipal planning boards in every city and the business of government will be conducted along the same lines of economy and efficiency that we found necessary and advisable in every other channel and avenue of business, industry and commercial activity." (Mayor then read "Vision of Boston in 1950.")

"Now, gentlemen," he continued, "prior to assembling for lunch I had the pleasure of talking with men who hold the office of Mayor in many of the great manufacturing sections of Massachusetts and learned from them that depression in industry is becoming a little more general in all of the manufacturing centers of the Commonwealth. That in Lawrence the mills are on part time, that in the shoe industry men are working part time and that in various other industries apparently the saturation point has been reached. I confess that personally I know of nothing that is of greater importance to the future of our New England section of the United States than the development, first, of the spirit of unity on the part of all the men interested officially in the welfare of Massachusetts; and second, the development of the commerce of Massachusetts.

"We have long lagged for some leader who might blaze the way to a return of the old spirit of self-reliance and a return of that commerce with which you were familiar when you came here as a lad at thirteen years of age. In 1842 Boston ranked second commercially of all the cities of the United States, a position she retained for half a century and a position which she enjoyed for more than a century prior to that time. When we consider that in 1921 we had dropped to fourteenth place in imports and exports and last year, in spite of a good year, we still occupied eleventh place in export and imports, being outstripped, not because of any unnatural advantage because physically we are the best port on the Atlantic Coast, but outstripped because of the unfair and discriminatory differential which drives business away from Boston, because of the failure of an appropriation nationally to improve our harbor, and failure to establish and formulate on the part of all the cities and towns of the Commonwealth a program for the co-ordination of railroad facilities at the point of shipment, Boston, and failure to develop our commercial resources.

"I, personally, rejoice that one man in America has sounded the tocsin for fifteen years to my knowledge, the tocsin that is gradually being accepted as the general solution, that has been taken up within the last two weeks by the Chicago Examiner, the establishment of an American manned, controlled and owned Merchant Marine that would leave us independent of foreign shipping competitors and foreign shipping combines. William Randolph Hearst has been more than a pioneer in this movement. He has been an earnest and able and brilliant advocate with limited support for many years.

"If it is true that we are two days nearer on a round trip to Europe than any other city on the Atlantic Coast and nearer to the eastern ports of South America and the Panama Canal then we must take advantage of our commercial facilities or we must have these industrial depressions and stagnation from time to time which spells discontent and unrest among men and misery and suffering and hardship in the home.

"We have only 6 per cent of the population of the world in America and we have only 7 5-12 of the land area of the world but we have 40 per cent of the railroad trackage and we produce more than 60 per cent of all the commodities, 80 per cent of the automobiles, 65 per cent of the iron and steel of the world and if we only have 6 per cent of the population and produce over 60 per cent of the commodities in general we must either find and develop foreign markets or we must be confronted with the saturation point in America and which means unemployment.

"Something must be done to arouse the old-time spirit out of which came commercial independence, the New England spirit out of which emerged the old spirit of self-reliance, the New England spirit that manifested itself by the American flag on quarter ships in every part of the globe and now an agency has come into our community, a representative of the same Hearst, a distinguished and brilliant writer, a distinguished and brilliant newspaper man who has commanded attention internationally and who comes here with a message, who comes here with a mission and his message is a call 'To the Minute Men of 1924,' for the development of the old spirit of self-reliance, for the development of unity, for the development of American merchant shipping and how necessary it is for the excess product of America. For as a consequence of the World War we now produce in America enough in seven months to provide for our needs for a full twelve-month period. It is a message to Lynn, Lawrence, Haverhill, Brockton and every other city and town in the Commonwealth and to every one concerned with the welfare of our state. It affords me extreme pleasure to present to this gathering this distinguished citizen of America who is to have charge of the New England development, to have charge of the reawakening of American spirit and industry in New England, Mr. Barrett Andrews."

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE ART DEPARTMENT.

Boston, February 1, 1924.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

SIR,—The Board of Art Commissioners respectfully submits the following report for the year ending January 31, 1924:

By law this commission is responsible for the custody and care of all municipal works of art. This commission was accordingly allowed an appropriation for this purpose in its budget for 1923-24, and has completed repairs on the Channing Monument, painting the stonework and gilding the lettering of the inscription at the back, and has cleaned the monuments to Wendell Phillips, Robert Gould Shaw and Abraham Lincoln.

This commission has approved a design for the inscription in memory of Edward M. Cunningham, to be carved on a small stone monument proposed by the Edward M. Cunningham Post, Spanish War Veterans, for a site in the park at the intersection of Cambridge and Murdock streets, Brighton. The commission has approved, for the site designated, a memorial bronze tablet which the John Cleary Post, No. 34, Spanish War Veterans, proposed for placing on a boulder at a site near the main entrance to Fairview Cemetery. The commission has also approved the memorial tablet to William Joseph Barry for a temporary placing in the administration building at the Barry Playground, Charlestown.

This commission, having been asked to approve the placing of a monument to a war veteran on a sidewalk in East Boston, felt it to be its duty to refuse, and to explain this action in the following statement:

"Soon after the close of the late World War the civic authorities of the City of Boston sanctioned the naming of certain intersections of principal streets, calling them squares, in honor and memory of some of those who perished in that war. It was, of course, impossible to foresee what complications might arise from so simple an act.

"In the present instance the approval of the Art Commission is sought by the family of a soldier who has been so commemorated, for the erection of an imposing and permanent memorial in the square which now bears his name, the memorial to take the form of a granite monument placed in the sidewalk curb, there being no other placing possible, and bearing a bronze tablet on which the appropriate explanatory data would be inscribed.

"The commission presumes it is not implied that the square itself, as entitled, is not already an adequate and sufficiently honorable memorial, but that the permanent stone and tablet are designed to perpetuate historic data.

The Art Commission believes it to be its highest function to encourage and actively to assist the memorialization of those who gave their lives to the service of patriotism in the World War; nevertheless, in the most sympathetic exercise of this duty, it is bound to a careful regard for the considerations of artistic proprieties and good taste as to the nature and situation of these memorials. It is obvious that in only a few, if any, of the street intersections which bear the names of our war heroes would an object, such as above contemplated, be other than a cause of obstruction. Therefore, without discussing the merits of this type of monument, the commission is obliged to recognize the probability that should it acquiesce in one instance, others would inevitably follow; and, further, it must record its opinion that such monuments, so placed, would be, even independently of artistic reasons, unsuitable for the purpose intended by the petitioners."

Having approved the design, by Mr. R. Clipston Sturgis, for a wrought-iron fence to protect the Boston Common Tablet, at the corner of Tremont and Park streets on Boston Common, this commission has been glad to approve this protective fence as finally executed. In cordial compliance with popular demand the commission has also been glad to improve the legibility of the inscription on this tablet, by having the lettering gilded.

The commission has approved for positions in the Mayor's office two medallions by Mr. C. S. Paola, one of former Mayor William A. Gaston, the other of his Honor Mayor Curley.

On the invitation of your Honor to consider a contract for radiotones to replace the medallions of Mayors in the Mayor's office, this commission informed your Honor that the radiotone portraits submitted to this commission are interesting and admirable, but being products of photography do not, in this commission's opinion, come within the purview of this commission; this commission would, however, have jurisdiction in any removal or relocation of the existing medallions in the Mayor's office.

The commission subsequently voted that with the approval of his Honor the Mayor the medallions in the Mayor's office be removed and relocated in the City Council Chamber; also to inform your Honor that this relocation will necessitate reframing the medallions.

The City Council voting, however, that the medallions be given to the former Mayors or their next of kin, this commission asked the opinion of the Corporation Counsel on the legality of this vote. The commission received, in response, an opinion to the effect that the vote of the City Council to present these medallions to the ex-Mayors or their next of kin is not in conformity with law. While reframing these works of art the commission, therefore, retains custody of them.

This commission has approved for a position in Bates Hall an admirable marble bust of Henry James by F. Derwent Wood, presented by the sculptor himself to the Boston Public Library.

The commission has also approved a statuette entitled "Echo," by Mr. Larkin Goldsmith Mead, for a position in the West End Branch Library.

This commission has approved for a position in the Mechanic Arts High School a portrait of Mr. Charles W. Parmenter, by Mr. Walter Gilman Page.

This commission has approved the Harleston Parker bronze medal, to be awarded by the Boston Society of Architects, and presented each year by the city, for the best work of architecture done during the year.

Mr. Daniel Chester French, the sculptor, having set up in the Public Garden, near the corner of Arlington and Beacon streets, a model of the memorial figure, this commission has approved the model of the statue for the George R. White Monument and the general place and location.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS ALLEN,
Chairman.

BOSTON CITIZENS TO PAY TRIBUTE TO LATE PRESIDENT WILSON ON FEBRUARY 17.

WILL LINK THREE GREAT AMERICANS IN MEMORABLE CELEBRATION OF LINCOLN'S AND WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAYS. ELABORATE PLANS MADE FOR SYMPHONY HALL MEETING.

A committee of the Public Celebration Association, acting in co-operation with the Director of Public Celebrations, by sanction of the Mayor, have in hand the arrangements for the public meeting of Sunday afternoon, February 17, 1924.

Originally this was to have been the pioneer effort by the city to pay tribute to Washington and Lincoln, but which will now also include a tribute to the late President Wilson, thus linking three great Americans in a manner that some present-day prophets foresee will be the verdict of history.

The original plans for Washington-Lincoln memorial exercises will be carried out, but into the previously arranged program will be placed a special tribute to Wilson. When the suggestion for such a public patriotic gathering was first given serious attention by the Mayor, he decided that one meeting midway between Lincoln Day and Washington's Birthday was the practical plan. This, as it happened, was the same recommendation that had been made on several occasions during the past several years by the Public Celebration Association.

Arrangements were well under way when the death of President Wilson made fitting an official memorial meeting, and the Mayor decided that it should be combined as indicated rather than as a separate gathering, and the director and committee have so arranged their program.

There will be several unusual features about this meeting. It is the first time such a meeting for honors to our first and our Civil War presidents has been held under city auspices. Usually such official gatherings are held in Faneuil Hall, but it was believed that general interest would lead to an attendance far greater than the capacity of that shrine of liberty, which, in view of the newer feature, is still more probable. Heretofore neither Washington nor Lincoln have been given special recognition in any form in which the people of the city might join, as they may on this occasion, subject only to the capacity of the auditorium. And even this will not limit the listeners who have access to radio communication. The hand of death, coming as it did, has added another distinctive feature to the occasion.

As due recognition by the rising generation of and acquaintance with the groundwork upon which the United States has been advanced to its present world status, efforts were started early to insure a satisfactory participation in the events of the day by children of the public schools. With this desire of the director and committee, Superintendent Burke and Assistant Superintendent Rafter were especially in accord.

Consequently the Symphony Hall program of the afternoon of the 17th will include a great chorus of 600 children selected from several of the city school districts, who are now in training, together with a school orchestra of 60 pieces. John A. O'Shea, Director of Music for the public schools, besides supervising these musical preparations, will personally render an organ recital which will precede the official program, while the audience is assembling.

Not only will the schools be conspicuous in the observance as indicated, but the color guard and the corps of ushers will be high school cadets; and four individual participants in the program will be boys selected from four city high schools. James M. Curley, Jr., son of the Mayor, from Public Latin School, will read "Washington's Farewell Address," Chandler M. Wright from the English High School will read "Lincoln's Gettysburg Address." John Arnold Brice from the High School of Commerce will read a tribute to Lincoln.

Owing to the absence of Mayor Curley he will not be able to preside as is customary for Mayors to do on such official gatherings under municipal auspices. In his place will serve the veteran ex-Mayor Thomas N. Hart who has accepted the invitation to act as presiding officer for the occasion. This in itself will be a notable feature of the meeting, for Mr. Hart is not so often seen at such public gatherings as he used to be. His continued keen interest in the affairs of city and nation, and his desire to aid in the success of this particular meeting has caused him to depart from his custom. Mayor Hart will be introduced by Hon. E. Mark Sullivan, Corporation Counsel of the City of Boston. The orator will be Hon. David I. Walsh, United States senator from Massachusetts and a former governor of the Commonwealth. The invocation will be pronounced by Rev. Edward A. Horton, chaplain of the State Senate, for so many years the great and venerable citizen whose life has been devoted to civic and spiritual leadership.

The finale of the meeting will be a ceremony of honors to the flag, with salute to the colors, pledge of allegiance by entire audience, and "Star-Spangled Banner" to be sung by the chorus. The entire program will be broadcasted by radio from Station WNAC.

The members of the Washington-Lincoln committee of the Public Celebration Association, co-operating with the Director of Public Celebration, J. Philip O'Connell, as is customary on various holidays observed by the city, is as follows: Edward L. Curran, chairman; E. B. Mero, secretary; James H. Phelan, John J. Keenan, John B. Archibald, Henry J. D. Small, Merle R. Griffith, Harry N. Guterman, George W. Tupper, William H. Keene, Frank Leveroni, Frank Chouteau Brown, Joseph A. F. O'Neil, Wilfred F. Kelley, Louis Watson.

AUDITOR CARVEN AGAIN REPLIES TO SHATTUCK.

The following communication was sent to the office of Henry L. Shattuck at noon, February 9:

MR. HENRY L. SHATTUCK, 82 Devonshire Street, Boston, Mass.

DEAR SIR,—I thank you for copy of your address received last evening and also acknowledge the receipt of a letter from you presumably in answer to my statement appearing in the public press.

You say that I disputed only one figure in your original statement, namely, the error of $2,000,000 in the decrease of the net debt from January 31, 1909, to January 31, 1922. This error you gracefully acknowledge, but I am at a loss to understand why you did not acknowledge other errors pointed out to you in my statement, for example, your false charge of the Elevated repayments of $372,000 and $790,000 having "gone into increased municipal expenditure," whereas I clearly indicated that these amounts were made available to the assessors for the reduction of the tax levy. Again, you erred in charging Mayor Curley with being responsible for debt issued in both years of his present administration, and a fair reading of my statement, as it appears in the public press, would indicate that $1,923,000 of the debt issued in 1922-23 and $269,000 of the debt issued in 1923-24 were for permanent improvements authorized previous to his taking office as Mayor and for which he was absolutely not responsible.

These illustrations are sufficient to indicate that your communication to me was not based on a careful reading of my statement, as I am quite satisfied that your sense of fair play would have prompted you to acknowledge these errors.

Having abandoned your comparison of the decrease in net debt for a period of thirteen years, you attempt a new comparison of seven years, which apparently was conveniently selected by you as indicating a reduction in the net debt of $8,381,669.02. This decrease is substantial, but you failed to take into account that during part of this seven year period the city curtailed its borrowings upon the urgent request of the federal government to suspend all possible permanent improvements as a result of financial conditions due to the World War, and as a consequence of this curtailment the amount borrowed inside the limit in each of the last three years has been greater than in any year since 1913 with but one exception. You further failed to point out that since the war costs of all permanent improvements have increased tremendously and are, of course, reflected in the increased net debt.

Your reference to what I may think is "light comedy" further convinces me that you did not carefully read my original statement; otherwise you would not have made the suggestion that you did. If "he shakes the plum tree," "There are presents for all," "while the Mayor puts the bait of a lower tax rate in the show window," "he would pick the flowers," and similar quotations are not light comedy then I fail to appreciate comedy.

You point out that a larger borrowing program "would do more to increase rents and to destroy the equities of owners of small homes than any other thing imaginable." If a larger program of permanent improvements is necessary to the development of the city, how can such improvements come about with the least hardship to the house owner other than through long-term borrowing?

To follow your policy of constructing permanent improvements out of the current tax levy would be either to abandon improvements generally or include in the tax levy in each year such amounts as would make the owners of small homes wish they had never purchased them. Would you have the present taxpayer assume his yearly share of the debt obligations for a generation past as well as to assume the total cost of all permanent improvements in the year within which they are authorized? If this is your program then the present taxpayer should be pitied and the taxpayer of the future should be congratulated.

You ask if I am sure in figuring the net debt of the city that it is legal to deduct betterments pledged for the reduction of debt. While I am no lawyer, I have no hesitation in stating that, in my opinion, it is absolutely legal. If you should ask me if it is proper accounting procedure, I unhesitatingly declare it to be sound practice.

Very truly yours,

RUPERT S. CARVEN,
City Auditor.

GENTLEMEN,—By chapter 289 of the Acts of 1923 the City of Boston was authorized, subject to the approval of the Mayor and the City Council, to borrow outside the debt limit a sum not exceeding $1,000,000 for the purpose of acquiring land in the city and erecting a police headquarters thereon. This act received the approval of the City Council on the thirtieth day of April, and of the Mayor on the first day of May, 1923.
The necessary funds thus being made available, the duty of selecting the general locality in the city where the new building was to be located devolved upon the Police Commissioner. Under the law the Police Commissioner must designate the size of the lot and the neighborhood or district within which it shall be located.
After much consideration the Police Commissioner decided that the new police headquarters should be located in the Park Square section, so called, and in the early autumn of 1923 communicated his decision to the Mayor. He called to the attention of the Mayor the vacant land in the Park Square section and particularly a parcel on Stuart street owned by the trustees of the Park Square Real Estate Trust, lying between the Edison Company's plant and the Massachusetts Automobile Club.
The Park Square trustees offered this parcel which fronted 90 feet on Stuart street and extended 150 feet to a common passageway in the rear, a total of about 13,500 feet, at $15 a foot. This location and parcel were acceptable to the Police Commissioner. Prices on other lots in the vicinity were also obtained, viz., 22,000 square feet at the corner of Berkeley street and Columbus avenue, on which there is a building known as the Hoffman House, for $440,000, or $20 a square foot; also the land occupied by the Academy of Notre Dame, on the corner of St. James avenue, Berkeley and Providence streets, containing 26,500 square feet, for $650,000, or about $24.50 a square foot. The two latter parcels were too large for the purposes of the Police Commissioner, and the owners would not sell less than the whole. To be sure, the city would not have to take any more of this land than it required, but the effect of such taking upon the balance might result in a cost to the city very much in excess of the rate submitted by the owners for the whole parcel. The Police Commissioner was desirous of keeping the cost of the land within such bounds as would leave the largest possible amount of the $1,000,000 available for constructing the building. The Mayor declined to approve the Stuart street lot suggested by the Police Commissioner, because he believed the police building should be on a prominent corner location.

The Mayor, in the late autumn of 1923, selected the lot belonging to the Park Square trustees, at the southwest corner of Berkeley and Stuart streets, containing 17,254 square feet. This plot contains about 6,000 feet more than is necessary for the proposed building, but as the building is to be set back from the street line of both Stuart and Berkeley streets, the building will not occupy any more of the ground space than was originally proposed by the Police Commissioner, viz., 11,000 to 12,000 square feet. The excess land to provide for setting the building back from the street not only cost the city $125,000, but reduced by that sum the amount available for constructing the building.

The representative of the trustees of the Park Square Trust, under date of October 31, 1923, informed the Police Commissioner in writing that the price of the land at the southwest corner of Berkeley and Stuart streets, the one finally selected by the Mayor, was $25 a square foot, but that the trustees would be willing to sell it to the city for $22.50 a square foot.
The Police Commissioner testified that he communicated this information to the Mayor before the lot was selected and sent a copy of the letter containing this information to the Street Commissioners before they made a taking of this land.
The Police Commissioner having designated the locality and the size and requirements of the building for his department, and the Mayor having designated the particular land to be taken, the Street Commissioners advertised and held a public hearing on the matter on January 11, 1924. At this meeting no opposition appeared to the proposed taking, and on the same day the Street Commissioners voted to take the land and to award the owners damages at the rate of $22.50 a square foot. This action of the Street Commissioners was consummated by their filing in the Registry of Deeds on January 14, 1924, a statement of their action, as required by law.
The damages awarded by the Street Commissioners were accepted by the trustees of the Park Square Trust on the fourteenth day of January, 1924, and the sum of $377,765 paid on January 25, this being the amount of the award—viz., $387,765—less $10,000 retained by the city as the probable sum that would be levied by the city as a betterment to the property because of the widening and extension of Stuart street.
In 1917 the trustees of the Park Square Trust purchased certain land in the Park Square section, formerly belonging to the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. This land was either vacant at the time of purchase or such buildings as were on it were razed shortly thereafter by the trustees. The parcel of land taken by the Street Commissioners for police headquarters was assessed in the years 1917 to 1921, both inclusive, at $173,000, or $10 a square foot.
In 1922 the entire holdings of the Park Square trustees, all vacant land and practically non-income bearing, was increased in valuation for taxation by the assessors from $2,360,900 to $3,996,500—that is, an increase of $1,625,600, or 70 per cent. On the parcel that was taken for police headquarters the assessed value was increased from $10 to $15 a foot. Nearly a year after this increased assessment, but within the time for filing a petition for abatement, the chairman of the trustees of the Park Square Trust testified that he appeared before the assessors and stated that the trust was being "taxed out of existence by raising the assessment on vacant land 70 per cent, which we can't sell, which we have been trying to improve, and struggling to help the city by improving. We can't afford it." He made a sworn statement that the value of the entire property of the trustees was $2,910,875 and that the value of the lot which the city had taken was $226,250, or $13 a foot.

The assessors took the matter under advisement and later modified their increase on the entire holding of the trustees by reducing the increase in assessed valuation from $1,635,600 to $798,100. This assessment establishment by the assessors in 1922 remained the same in 1923.

Neal J. Holland, acting chairman of the Board of Assessors, testified before the Finance Commission that the assessors rarely assessed vacant land for its full value when it is non-income bearing. In case of large holders of vacant land, like the trustees of the Park Square Trust, the policy is to assess under the real value; that in 1922, when the assessors increased the assessed value on the holdings of the Park Square Trust in the sum of $1,625,600, they did it primarily because of the Stuart street improvement, but upon the application of the trustees for an abatement they reduced it by $800,000 on the ground that the original increase was too much for a single year.

The Street Commissioners employed Mr. John Beck, the real estate expert for the City of Boston, to appraise the location designated by the Mayor as the site for police headquarters. In order to aid the Street Commissioners in determining the damages to be awarded Mr. Beck submitted the following report on the day of the public hearing on the taking of the property:

BOSTON, January 11, 1924.

MR. JOHN H. L. NOYES, Chairman, Street Commission, City Hall Annex, Boston Mass.:

DEAR SIR,—In accordance with your request I have examined the lot to be taken for Police Headquarters, containing 17,254 square feet of land, located on the southwesterly side of Berkeley street, between Stuart street and Stanhope street, and consider it worth from $20 to $25 a square foot.

The lot, opposite the Salada Tea Company, bounded by three streets, and the Edison fireproof transforming station, practically free from fire risk, and in close proximity to the Park Square office building, the John Hancock Building, and the Statler Hotel site, is centrally located, being in immediate communication with the great arteries of travel, such as Columbus avenue, Huntington avenue and Boylston street. It has a large frontage on Stuart street, the new radial highway to the west that expedites traffic to and from downtown, and which is largely responsible for the development of the Park square section for big building enterprises and the great rise in land values from Washington street to Huntington avenue.

Two lots at Arlington street, Providence street and St. James avenue, aggregating 16,655 square feet of land (now part of the Park Square office building lot which totals 45,336 square feet) were purchased about two years ago for $31 a square foot. Said office building, when fully rented, should show a gross annual return of approximately $1,000,000, or $2.50 a square foot for the 400,000 square feet of rentable space, and net about $600,000 or 10 per cent on $6,000,000, showing a land value of nearly $50 a square foot after deducting value of building.

The Statler Hotel site was bought about a year ago for $1,500,000, or $26 a square foot for the 57,651 square feet of land. The price of $26 a square foot was due to the large amount of land delivered to one purchaser, as a lot of 1,803 square feet at the corner of Stuart street and Columbus avenue was sold about seven years ago for $50 a square foot. A lot of 20,000 square feet at the corner of Stuart street and Trinity place is now under agreement of sale to the University Club at $20 a square foot, and although it is splendidly located for clubhouse or hotel purposes, I consider the proposed Police Headquarters site superior for general development, and believe that the land, due to fronting on Berkeley street, a thoroughfare that is growing in importance, and its proximity to Park square has, in addition to its present worth, great potential value, and that it will show a more material increase each year than land on Stuart street between Clarendon street and Copley square.

Two buildings, one a very old one-story and basement brick repair shop, and the other, a gasoline station, occupy a small part of the proposed site, and add little or no value to the land.

Very truly yours,

JOHN BECK.

Mr. Beck based his report upon his own knowledge of real estate values and sales in that section of the city over a period of twenty years, upon rumors and statements made by other real estate men, and upon information obtained from the representative of the Park Square Trust trustees as to what the trustees had received for sales that they had made in that section.

He testified that he did not know when he appraised the property that it had been offered by the representative of the Park Square Trust trustees to the city at $22.50 a foot.

Mr. Becker further testified that he did not tell the representative of the Park Square Trust trustees that he was appraising the property for the Street Commissioners. The representative of the Park Square Trust trustees testified that while Mr. Beck did not tell him that he represented the city, he knew that he was the city's real estate expert.

The Finance Commission has no power to change awards that have been made by the Street Commissioners for the taking of land or to change valuations established by the assessors for the purpose of taxation. An award of damages made by the Street Commissioners affects two parties—the City of Boston, which is to pay the award, and the party who is entitled to the award. If the damages awarded are accepted by the party entitled thereto and payment is made by the city, the matter is ended. If, however, the award is not acceptable to the party damaged, he may appeal within one year to the Superior Court and have the damages fixed by a jury. The city in its corporate capacity has a similar right of appeal. The Street Commissioners who make the award are agents for the city and are not the city in its corporate capacity. The city in its corporate capacity is represented by the Mayor and City Council and either may initiate action which may result in an appeal by the city, but an appeal can be taken only on the joint action of both the Council and the Mayor regardless of which initiates the action. In the present case the Mayor approved the award of the Street Commissioners and approved the payment of the award. In the interval, however, between the award of damages on the 11th day of January and the payment on the 25th of January, it was open to the City Council to initiate appeal proceedings, if it believed the award was excessive. If the Council had voted to appeal from the award of the Street Commissioners its action would have been also in the nature of an official protest to the Mayor of the award made by the Street Commissioners. If unsuccessful, by the nonconcurrence of the Mayor, the Council at least would have performed its duty and placed the responsibility for the amount of damages awarded entirely upon the Mayor, in the face of an official protest.

The foregoing procedure, the commission believes, is the only means by which damages awarded by the Street Commissioners, approved by the Mayor, acceptable to the owner of the land, but not in the interests of the city, can be reviewed by a court and jury.

It is important that the taxpayers understand that the Street Commissioners may award damages for land taken that are excessive, and that such damages, if accepted, will be paid by the city, if approved by the Mayor.

The Finance Commission recommends:

1. That the City Council, acting for the city in its corporate capacity, initiate appeal proceedings from any award of the Street Commissioners for the taking of land that appears to be excessive or not in the interests of the city.

Respectfully submitted,

THE FINANCE COMMISSION,
by MICHAEL H. SULLIVAN,
Chairman.

REPORT ON ROAD BUILDERS' CONVENTION.

The following is the report of Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke, on his attendance at the American Road Builders' Convention:

Boston, January 24, 1924.
To the Honorable the Mayor:

The writer attended the convention of the American Road Builders' Association at Chicago from January 14 to 18. The outstanding feature was an extensive exhibit of road building and maintenance equipment of all kinds, and an elaborate display recounting the activities of the United States Bureau of Public Roads, with valuable information with respect to road construction and scientific methods utilized for the investigations of that department.

Among the papers read at the convention sessions the writer was particularly interested in "The Outstanding Problems of Highway Bridge Design," "Smoothness as a Factor in Pavement Life" and "Traffic Surveys" by officials of the Bureau of Public Roads. There was also a paper on snow removal by the assistant engineer of the New Jersey State Highway Commission.

An instructive visit was made to the Calumet sewage pumping plant of the Sanitary District of Chicago, located just on the outskirts of the city, where the equipment, in part, comprises four 750 horse power oil engines direct connected to electric generators and centrifugal pumps motor operated and receiving current either from the oil engines or from transmission lines into the station.

The writer intended to visit the garbage incinerating plant in Charleston, W. Va., but on account of the excessive additional train riding required and the possibility of having things in better condition than might normally be expected, it was considered advisable to forego the trip.

Yours respectfully,
JOSEPH A. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Public Works.

REPORT ON CONFERENCE.

The School Committee has received the following report from William T. Keough, Business Agent, on his trip to conference at Trenton, N. J.:

January 30, 1924.

To the School Committee:

In compliance with the provisions of section 3 of chapter 274 of the Acts of 1914, I submit the following report on my attendance at a conference held at Trenton, N. J., on January 23 and 24, 1924.

The conference was attended by Mr. E. S. Phillips, representing the United States Commissioner of Education, Mr. D. D. Hammelbaugh, Harrisburg, Pa., Mr. William Dick, Philadelphia, Pa., Mr. Herbert N. Morse, Trenton, N. J., Mr. John S. Mount, Trenton, N. J., and the writer, the last five being the members of the Committee on Uniform Accounting and Terminology of the National Association of School Business Officials.

The committee was called together to consider the large number of questions on terminology which had arisen since the new form for reporting financial statistics for cities of over one hundred thousand population had been put into use.

Efforts had been made to meet with the committee representing the inter-city research group; but that group had found itself unable to come east of Detroit, and the members of the committee representing the National Association had not found themselves able to go west of Erie or Buffalo. In consequence, it became necessary to take up the work at this time, with the intention of getting both groups together at Indianapolis a few days ahead of the annual convention of the National Association of Public School Business Officials, with the hope that agreement can be reached at that time.

Three sessions were held on Wednesday the 23d, and two on Thursday the 24th. Substantial progress was made, and it is believed that no difficulty will be encountered in getting into agreement with the United States Commissioner of Education on all points considered.

It is also expected that the proposed conference with the inter-city research group will be equally successful.

WILLIAM T. KEOUGH,

more than in 1921, of which 2,927 were in buildings, 2,232 outside of buildings and 50 out of City limits. In one case the building was totally destroyed, in 77 cases the damage was considerable and in 1,861 the damage was slight.

The Boston Protective Department (not a City department) reported the total fire losses in 1922 on buildings as $1,214,435 and on contents as $2,090,161, or total of $3,304,596, which is $703,536 less than in 1921. Of total loss, the amount not covered by insurance was $129,273. The B. P. D. also reported that of the 2,109 fires involving losses, 518 were caused by carelessness with matches, 256 by smoking, 70 by sparks from combustion, 113 by open lights, 145 by stoves, furnaces, etc., 66 by explosions, 102 by electricity, 61 by petroleum and its products, 51 by overheated or defective flues and chimneys, 51 by spontaneous combustion, 14 by fireworks, etc., 28 by hot ashes.

[Statistics Dept's latest revision.]

CITIZENSHIP, BOTH SEXES, ALSO FAMILIES.

Native white citizens, 246,816; foreign born whites naturalized, 102,822; Negro citizens, 12,086; total citizens, 361,724. Foreign born whites remaining aliens, 118,214. Only 56.30 per cent of the citizens registered for voting purposes in 1920 (for City Election) and of the 203,666 who did register only 30.53 per cent voted. Coming to the final facts to be remembered, only 17.2 per cent of the citizens of Boston took part in electing the three members of the City Council and two members of the School Committee in 1920, these five candidates taking office at the will of only 8.3 per cent of the citizens, which was more than sufficient to elect. On the question of permitting Sunday Sports and Games, 10.9 per cent of the citizens voted in favor and 4.3 per cent against, 7.7 per cent being more than sufficient for a majority in favor. The City Election of 1920 reveals the most flagrant case of minority rule ever noted in Boston, not more than one-ninth of the women citizens being interested enough to vote.

Total families in 1920, 164,785 or 3,679 more than in 1915. As this shows a larger increase of families than of persons (i. e., 2,621) since 1915, here is another discrepancy that discredits the 1920 Census. As 4.63 represents the average number of persons to a family, 3,679 families would contain 17,034 persons. The U. S. Census of 1920 shows a net increase of only 2,621 persons since 1915.

ESTABLISHMENT OF SALARY OF CUSTODIAN, WASHINGTON IRVING SCHOOL-HOUSE.

A communication was received from the Schoolhouse Custodian, under date of Jan. 28, 1924, recommending that the salary of the custodian of the Washington Irving School-house be established at the rate of fifty-three dollars ($53) per week, to take effect Jan. 24, 1924, and to continue until the areas are certified by the Board of Schoolhouse Commissioners.

Placed on file.

On motion, it was ORDERED, That the salary of the custodian of the Washington Irving School-house is established at the rate of fifty-three dollars ($53) per week, to take effect Jan. 24, 1924, and to continue until the areas of the building are certified by the Board of Schoolhouse Commissioners.

INJURY TO BOILER IN A SCHOOL-HOUSE.

A communication was received from the Trial Board, to whom was referred at the meeting of Jan. 7, 1924 (see p. 266), a communication from the Schoolhouse Custodian that injury had been occasioned to the boiler in the Julia Ward Howe School-house on Friday, Jan. 4, 1924, reporting that a hearing was held by the Trial Board on Friday, Jan. 25, 1924, which was attended by the three members of the Trial Board, including Mr. Dennis J. Lenehan recently elected member of the Board; by the Schoolhouse Custodian; by Schoolhouse Commissioner Mahar; and by John A. Downey, the custodian concerned.

The facts in the case appear to be as follows:

John A. Downey, custodian of the Julia Ward Howe School-house, entered his building on January 4 at 7 o'clock A. M. and started his heating apparatus with a gauge and a half of water in his boiler. He then went to the different portables in his yard, opening the fires, starting the draughts and getting ready for heating the portables. This took him about 15 or 20 minutes. He then came back to his boiler room and found that his boilers still had a gauge and a half of water. He then went upstairs in the building and started to dust and arrange things for the opening of school. About 15 minutes later he came back to his boiler room and on entering the boiler room he observed the water in his boiler had gone—that there was no water in the glass. He immediately covered his fires with wet ashes. After doing this and seeing that the fire was covered he started an investigation as to where the water went. Mr. Daley of the Schoolhouse Commission arrived and took charge of the plant, the custodian working under his orders.

The steam fitters who were working in the new building were immediately called into service and started to plug No. 1 boiler, and after this was done the custodian drew off the old fire in No. 1 boiler and immediately made a new one. He then started to get up steam. When this was accomplished Mr. Mahar, Schoolhouse Commissioner, arrived on the scene and took charge of the situation. The steam fitters then plugged the sections in No. 2 boiler, and Mr. Downey was ordered to get up steam in No. 2 boiler, which he did after drawing the old fire very carefully. The boiler held tight and he was able to raise five pounds pressure on the boilers. By careful watching and feeding of the boiler by the custodian and investigation by Mr. Mahar and Mr. Daley, it was discovered that a one and one-half inch return pipe, which was exposed to the weather, had a split in it about nine inches long and that the water, instead of coming back to the boiler as it should, was leaking through the split. This pipe was repaired. After working until 1 o'clock Friday night and returning at 6 o'clock Saturday morning, the custodian continued working until 8 o'clock Saturday night and was able to get the plant in a condition whereby the school was ready for occupancy on Monday morning.

Mr. Mahar, Schoolhouse Commissioner, states that in his opinion no possible fault attaches to the custodian for this damage and commends him for his co-operating in getting the apparatus into condition to permit the opening of school on the following Monday.

FINDING—That this accident was not due to any fault or negligence on the part of the custodian and that he should not be held responsible therefor.

RECOMMENDATION—That the charge against the custodian be dismissed and the matter placed on file.

Placed on file, and the recommendation adopted.

PROTEST AGAINST APPARENT INJUSTICE IN PROPOSED DEDUCTIONS FROM SALARIES OF TEACHERS DURING FIRST YEAR OF SERVICE.

FANEUIL HALL RESTORATION.

The following was received:

City of Boston,

Office of the Mayor, January 28, 1924.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—The architects, Messrs. Cram & Ferguson, in charge of the important work of restoration of Faneuil Hall to original Colonial lines have discovered that concrete supporting column foundations are necessary not only because of the age of the building but also because of the additional weight resulting from the substitution of concrete for wood in the flooring. It is impossible to anticipate on a renovation job of this character what may be required, consequently additional funds will be required in addition to those provided in the original appropriation for restoration of Faneuil Hall.

A list of the items which in the opinion of the architects, the Building Commissioner and the Superintendent of Public Buildings, are necessary, I beg to here submit:

Additional column footings.....	$25,000 00
Canopy over sidewalk extending entirely around building.....	22,000 00
The painting and renovation of Faneuil Hall and the Ancients quarters	9,317 00
Replacing interior partitions with terra cotta; cement plastering all exposed surfaces; waterproofing basement floor; this work replacing present combustible construction....	8,994 00
Renovation necessary on walls and floors and stalls as a consequence of damage resulting from progress of work in connection with foundation	4,548 00
Additional plastering in upper sections of building.....	1,495 00
Toilets on Auditorium floor.....	5,120 50
Gutters, conductors and snow guards,	2,875 00
Telephone conduits	1,356 00
Meat track hangers.....	1,075 00
Investigation in connection with examination of footings.....	1,207 43
Electric service changes as required by the Wire Commissioner.....	535 00
New vestibule doors on temporary buildings	332 85

The cost of these items represent an expenditure, including the architect's commission of 10 per cent, totalling $92,186, and to cover possible contingencies that may arise in completion of the building, I respectfully recommend the adoption of the accompanying order providing for $100,000 additional for Faneuil Hall restoration.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Ordered, That an additional sum of $100,000 be and the same is hereby appropriated, to be expended by the Superintendent of Public Buildings, for the restoration, fireproofing and installation of automatic sprinkler equipment in the Faneuil Hall Building, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be authorized to issue, from time to time, upon request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the City to said amount.

Referred to the Committee on Finance, when appointed.

LOAN FOR CHARITIES BUILDING.

The following was received:
City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, February 4, 1924.
To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—The quarters at present in use by the Overseers of Public Welfare were constructed in 1865 and have been in continuous use for fifty-nine years. For the past twenty years they have been inadequate and the housing accommodations, particularly for women, have been disgraceful. The question of new quarters has been one of controversy between the Board of Public Welfare and the Finance Commission. The Finance Commission have recommended repairs but the Overseers of Public Welfare are unanimous in the opinion that new quarters should be provided.

Upon investigation I concur in the view taken by the Overseers of Public Welfare and believe that action should be taken at once.

I accordingly recommend the adoption of the accompanying order providing an expenditure in the sum of $350,000 for the erection of a temporary home for women and a suitable office building upon the site of the present Overseers of Public Welfare property at Chardon street.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Ordered, That the sum of $350,000 be and hereby is appropriated, to be expended under the direction of the Superintendent of Public Buildings, for Charities Administration Building and Temporary Home, and that to meet said appropriation the treasurer be and hereby is authorized to issue, from time to time, upon request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

Referred to the Committee on Finance, when appointed.

APPROPRIATION FOR SEWERAGE WORKS.

The following was received:
City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, January 31, 1924.
To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—Provided the finances of the city would permit, the sum of at least three million dollars should be expended for the extension and completion of sewerage works in Boston, and of this sum at least $800,000 should be expended in the West Roxbury section to end the privy system that still obtains there, and a million and a half could be further wisely expended for the completion of Stony brook; and at least a million dollars to complete overflow sewerage conduits throughout the city.

Finances, however, will not permit of an expenditure of this amount, and I accordingly recommend the adoption of the accompanying order providing for the expenditure of $800,000 for sewerage works.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 426 of the Acts of 1897, as amended by chapter 204 of the Acts of 1908, the sum of $800,000 be and hereby is appropriated, to be expended under the direction of the Commissioner of Public Works for sewerage works, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be authorized to issue, from time to time, on the request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

It is necessary that the other slip be completed and that similar equipment be installed to facilitate travel and for public safety. I accordingly recommend the adoption of the accompanying order providing the sum of $275,000 for double teaming ferry slips.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Ordered, That an additional sum of $275,000 be and the same is hereby appropriated, to be expended by the Commissioner of Public Works for East Boston Ferry, Improvements, etc., and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be authorized to issue, from time to time, upon request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the City to said amount.

Referred to the Committee on Finance, when appointed.

To the City Council:

I accordingly recommend the adoption of the accompanying order.

Respectfully yours,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Ordered, That the sum of $145,000 be and the same is hereby appropriated, to be expended by the Commissioner of Public Works for Dartmouth Street Bridge, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be authorized to issue, from time to time, upon request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

For Coun. Moriarty—Coun. Brickley, Lane, Moriarty, Walsh—4.

And Coun. Donoghue was declared elected as President for the municipal year 1924.

President DONOGHUE, in taking the chair, said:

Fellow members of the Council, I merely want to say that I am grateful to you for selecting me to be your presiding officer for the year 1924. In view of the fact that I have been a candidate for President the last few years, I suppose any speech of acceptance I might make may be considered as "having been left on the seat of the carriage," as Chauncey Depew used to say. The best speeches made by men in public life are those made going to or coming from a banquet. When they are at the table they forget their lines. I intend to try to conduct the office of President of the body as fairly and impartial as is possible for me to do, having in mind always the example of my predecessors in this office.

I want to thank individually each member of the Council for the confidence imposed in me, and I trust that I may prove worthy of it.

ERECTION OF POLICE HEADQUARTERS.

The following was received:

Boston, February 9, 1924.

To the Honorable the City Council.

Gentlemen: By chapter 289 of the Acts of 1923, the City of Boston was authorized, subject to the approval of the Mayor and the City Council, to borrow outside the debt limit a sum not exceeding $1,000,000 for the purpose of acquiring land in the city and erecting a police headquarters thereon. This act received the approval of the City Council on the thirtieth day of April, and of the Mayor on the first day of May, 1923.

The necessary funds thus being made available, the duty of selecting the general locality in the city where the new building was to be located devolved upon the Police Commissioner. Under the law, the Police Commissioner must designate the size of the lot and the neighborhood or district within which it shall be located.

After much consideration, the Police Commissioner decided that the new police headquarters should be located in the Park Square section, so-called, and in the early autumn of 1923 communicated his decision to the Mayor. He called to the attention of the Mayor the vacant land in the Park Square section, and particularly a parcel on Stuart street owned by the trustees of the Park Square Real Estate Trust, lying between the Edison Company's plant and the Massachusetts Automobile Club.

The Park Square trustees offered this parcel, which fronted 90 feet on Stuart street and extended 150 feet to a common passageway in the rear, a total of about 13,500 feet, at $15 a foot. This location and parcel were acceptable to the Police Commissioner. Prices on other lots in the vicinity were also obtained, viz., 22,000 square feet at the corner of Berkeley street and Columbus avenue, on which there is a building known as the Hoffman House, for $440,000, or $20 a square foot; also the land occupied by the Academy of Notre Dame, on the corner of St. James avenue, Berkeley and Providence streets, containing 26,500 square feet, for $650,000, or about $24.50 a square foot. The two latter parcels were too large for the purposes of the Police Commissioner, and the owners would not sell less than the whole. To be sure, the city would not have to take any more of this land than it required, but the effect of such taking upon the balance might result in a cost to the city very much in excess of the rate submitted by the owners for the whole parcel. The Police Commissioner was desirous of keeping the cost of the land within such bounds as would leave the largest possible amount of the $1,000,000 available for constructing the building: The Mayor declined to approve the Stuart street lot suggested by the Police Commissioner, because he believed the police building should be on a prominent corner location.

The Mayor, in the late autumn of 1923, selected the lot belonging to the Park Square trustees, at the southwest corner of Berkeley and Stuart streets, containing 17,254 square feet. This plot contains about 6,000 feet more than is necessary for the proposed building, but as the building is to be set back from the street line of both Stuart and Berkeley streets, the building will not occupy any more of the ground space than was originally proposed by the Police Commissioner, viz., 11,000 to 12,000 square feet. The excess land to provide for setting the building back from the street not only cost the city $125,000, but reduced by the sum the amount available for constructing the building.

The representative of the trustees of the Park Square Trust under date of October 31, 1923, informed the Police Commissioner in writing that the price of the land at the southwest corner of Berkeley and Stuart streets, the one finally selected by the Mayor, was $25 a square foot, but that the trustees would be willing to sell it to the city for $22.50 a square foot.

The Police Commissioner testified that he communicated this information to the Mayor before the lot was selected and sent a copy of the letter containing this information to the Street Commissioners before they made a taking of this land.

The Police Commissioner having designated the locality and the size and requirements of the building for his department, and the Mayor having designated the particular land to be taken, the Street Commissioners advertised and held a public hearing on the matter on January 11, 1924. At this meeting no opposition appeared to the proposed taking and on the same day the Street Commissioners voted to take the land and to award the owners damages at the rate of $22.50 a square foot. This action of the Street Commissioners was consummated by their filing in the Registry of Deeds on January 14, 1924, a statement of their action, as required by law.

The damages awarded by the Street Commissioners were accepted by the trustees of the Park Square Trust on the fourteenth day of January, 1924, and the sum of $377,765 paid, on January 25, this being the amount of the award, viz., $387,765 less $10,000 retained by the city as the probable sum that would be levied by the city as a betterment to the property, because of the widening and extension of Stuart street.

In 1917 the trustees of the Park Square Trust purchased land in the Park Square section, formerly belonging to the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. This land was either vacant at the time of purchase, or such buildings as were on it were razed shortly thereafter by the trustees. The parcel of land taken by the Street Commissioners for police headquarters was assessed in the years 1917 to 1921, both inclusive, at $173,000, or $10 a square foot.

In 1922 the entire holdings of the Park Square trustees, all vacant land and practically nonincome bearing, was increased in valuation for taxation by the assessors from $2360,900 to $3,996,500, that is, an increase of $1,625,600, or 70 per cent. On the parcel that was taken for police headquarters the assessed value was increased from $10 to $15 a foot. Nearly a year after this increased assessment, but within the time for filing a petition for abatement, the chairman of the trustees of the Park Square Trust testified that he appeared before the assessors and stated that the trust was being "taxed out of existence by raising the assessment on vacant land 70 per cent, which we can't sell, which we have been trying to improve and struggling to help the city by improving. We can't afford it." He made a sworn statement that the value of the entire property of the trustees was $2,910,875 and that the value of the lot which the city had taken was $226,250, or $13 a foot.

The assessors took the matter under advisement and later modified their increase on the entire holding of the trust, by reducing the increase in assessed valuation from $1,635,600 to $798,100. This assessment established by the assessors in 1922 remained the same in 1923.

Neal J. Holland, acting chairman of the Board of Assessors, testified before the Finance Commission that the assessors rarely assessed vacant land for its full value when it is nonincome bearing. In case of large holders of vacant land, like the trustees of the Park Square Trust, the policy is to assess under the real value; that in 1922, when the assessors increased the assessed value on the holdings of the Park Square Trust in the sum of 1,625,600, they did it primarily because of the Stuart street improvement, but upon the application of the trustees for an abatement they reduced it by $800,000 on the ground that the original increase was too much for a single year.

The Street Commissioners employed Mr. John Beck, the real estate expert for the City of Boston, to appraise the location designated by the Mayor as the site for police headquarters. In order to aid the Street Commissioners in determining the damages to be awarded Mr. Beck submitted the following report on the day of the public hearing on the taking of the property:

Boston, January 11, 1924.

Mr. John H. L. Noyes, Chairman, Street Commission, City Hall Annex, Boston, Mass.

Dear Sir,—In accordance with your request I have examined the lot to be taken for Police Headquarters, containing 17,254 square feet of land, located on the southwesterly side of Berkeley street, between Stuart street and Stanhope street, and consider it worth from $20 to $25 a square foot.

The lot, opposite the Salada Tea Company, bounded by three streets, and the Edison fireproof transforming station, practically free from fire risk, and in close proximity to the Park Square office building, the John Hancock building, and the Statler Hotel site, is centrally located, being in immediate communication with the great arteries of travel, such as Columbus avenue, Huntington avenue and Boylston street. It has a large frontage on Stuart street, the new radial highway to the west that expedites traffic to and from downtown, and which is largely responsible for the development of the Park Square section for big building enterprises and the great rise in land values from Washington street to Huntington avenue.

Two lots at Arlington street, Providence street and St. James avenue, aggregating 16,655 square feet of land (now part of the Park Square office building lot which totals 45,336 square feet) were purchased about two years ago for $31 a square foot. Said office building, when fully rented, should show a gross annual return of approximately $1,000,000, or $2.50 a square foot for the 400,000 square feet of rentable space, and net about $600,000 or 10 per cent on $6,000,000, showing a land value of nearly $50 a square foot after deducting value of building.

The Statler Hotel site was bought about a year ago for $1,500,000 or $26 a square foot for the 57,651 square feet of land. The price of $26 a square foot was due to the large amount of land delivered to one purchaser as a lot of 1,803 square feet at the corner of Stuart street and Columbus avenue was sold about seven years ago for $50 a square foot. A lot of 20,000 square feet at the corner of Stuart

Street and Trinity place is now under agreement of sale to the University Club at $20 a square foot and although it is splendidly located for club house or hotel purposes, I consider the proposed Police Headquarters site superior for general development, and believe that the land, due to fronting on Berkeley street, a thoroughfare that is growing in importance, and its proximity to Park square has in addition to its present worth, great potential value, and that it will show a more material increase each year than land on Stuart street, between Clarendon street and Copley square.

Two buildings, one a very old one-story and basement brick repair shop, and the other, a gasoline station, occupy a small part of the proposed site, and add little or no value to the land.

Very truly yours,

JOHN BECK.

Mr. Beck based his report upon his own knowledge of real estate values and sales in that section of the city over a period of twenty years, upon rumors and statements made by other real estate men, and upon information obtained from the representative of the Park Square Trust trustees as to what the trustees had received for sales that they had made in that section.

He testified that he did not know when he appraised the property, that it had been offered by the representative of the Park Square Trust trustees to the city at $22.50 a foot.

Mr. Beck further testified that he did not tell the representative of the Park Square Trust trustees that he was appraising the property for the Street Commissioners. The representatives of the Park Square Trust trustees testified that while Mr. Beck did not tell him that he represented the city, he knew that he was the city's real estate expert.

The Finance Commission has no power to change awards that have been made by the Street Commissioners for the taking of land or to change valuations established by the assessors for the purpose of taxation. An award of damages made by the Street Commissioners affects two parties—the City of Boston which is to pay the award, and the party who is entitled to the award. If the damages awarded are accepted by the party entitled thereto and payment is made by the city, the matter is ended. If, however, the award is not acceptable to the party damaged, he may appeal within one year to the Superior Court and have the damages fixed by a jury. The city in its corporate capacity has a similar right of appeal. The Street Commissioners who make the award are agents for the city and are not the city in its corporate capacity. The city in its corporate capacity is represented by the Mayor and City Council and either may initiate action which may result in an appeal by the city, but an appeal can be taken only on the joint action of both the Council and the Mayor, regardless of which initiates the action. In the present case the Mayor approved the award of the Street Commissioners and approved the payment of the award. In the interval, however, between the award of damages on the eleventh day of January and the payment on the 25th of January, it was open to the City Council to initiate appeal proceedings, if it believed the award was excessive. If the Council had voted to appeal from the award of the Street Commissioners its action would have been also in the nature of an official protest to the Mayor of the award made by the Street Commissioners. If unsuccessful, by the nonconcurrence of the Mayor, the Council at least would have performed its duty and placed the responsibility for the amount of damages awarded entirely upon the Mayor, in the face of an official protest.

The foregoing procedure, the commission believes, is the only means by which damages awarded by the Street Commissioners, approved by the Mayor, acceptable to the owner of the land, but not in the interests of the city, can be reviewed by a court and jury.

It is important that the taxpayers understand that the Street Commissioners may award damages for land taken that are excessive, and that such damages, if accepted, will be paid by the city, if approved by the Mayor.

The Finance Commission recommends:

1. That the City Council, acting for the city in its corporate capacity, initiate appeal proceedings from any award of the Street Commissioners for the taking of land that appears to be excessive or not in the interests of the city.

Respectfully submitted,
THE FINANCE COMMISSION,
by MICHAEL H. SULLIVAN,
Chairman.

Coun. MORIARTY—Mr. President, I feel at this time that the communication that has come from the Finance Commission does not differ from any other communication I have been sent here by them. After writing four or five pages they suggest in five lines in the last paragraph:

"The Finance Commission recommends that the City Council, acting for the city in its corporate capacity, initiate appeal proceedings from any award of the Street Commissioners for the taking of land that appears to be excessive or not in the interests of the city."

That is the recommendation that they have made to the Council, and I feel at this time, before anything is said upon the question that the chairman of the Finance Commission should be requested to appear here in person. I make that as a motion.

President DONOGHUE—If there is no objection the communication will be referred to the Executive Committee and the chairman of the Finance Commission will be asked to appear before the Council in executive session.

Coun. MORIARTY—This afternoon, if possible.

5,000 BOSTON CITIZENS GATHER IN REVERENCE AT SYMPHONY HALL TO HONOR MEMORY OF AMERICA'S THREE MOST ILLUSTRIOUS MEN.

MEMORIAL EXERCISES IN HONOR OF WASHINGTON, LINCOLN AND WILSON, SUNDAY, FEBRUARY 17, UNDER AUSPICES OF CITY MOST IMPRESSIVE HELD IN CITY IN YEARS—SINGING OF SCHOOL CHILDREN PROVES ONE OF BIGGEST FEATURES.

AMERICA'S THREE MOST ILLUSTRIOUS CITIZENS HONORED IN TRIPLE MEMORIAL SERVICES AT SYMPHONY HALL WITH GLOWING EULOGIES BY EMINENT SPEAKERS.

Citizens of Boston did themselves proud on Sunday, February 17, when more than 5,000 gathered at Symphony Hall for the memorial exercises in honor of three of the country's most eminent dead—George Washington, Abraham Lincoln and Woodrow Wilson. It was the first time in the history of celebrations that exercises in honor of Washington and Lincoln were combined, and from the success attained it is believed that in future years this plan for honoring our three most illustrious men will be continued and perhaps spread over the country.

There were several features that served to make the meeting one of the most notable ever held in the city. It was presided over by Boston's grand old citizen, former Mayor Thomas N. Hart, who has but recently celebrated his ninety-fifth birthday; the officiating clergyman was an aged Civil War veteran, Rev. Dr. E. A. Horton, and the singing of the school children under direction of the supervisor of music in the Boston schools was the most remarkable exhibition of leadership and training of child voices ever evidenced.

Following an organ recital Hon. E. Mark Sullivan introduced ex-Mayor Thomas N. Hart. He said he was glad to be present. A little later, when United States Senator Walsh arrived and shook hands with the venerable ex-Mayor, the latter stepped forward again and said: "I consider it a great privilege to be here this afternoon. One reason is because I want to hear the senator—our senator—and we have found him all right."

After that Hon. E. Mark Sullivan took charge of the meeting and began with a brief tribute to Woodrow Wilson, "the man who had given us a new maxim: 'I would rather fail with a cause that will ultimately win than win with a cause that will ultimately fail.'"

After commenting on the character and lofty ideals of Woodrow Wilson, Mr. Sullivan said:

"It was unfortunate for his own lofty purpose that this great man was so intolerant to those who withheld from him their support, even though they, too, were equally sincere.

"The rejection by his countrymen of his League of Nations and its World Court of International Justice embittered his last years and measurably shortened the life of this great President. The confidence with which he continued to view and cherish the object of his public service is heroic. He has earned the lasting gratitude and reverence of his countrymen."

Then followed the singing of "America" and "Bostonia" by the school chorus and a selection by the orchestra. Washington's "Farewell Address" was recited with fine effect by a Latin School pupil, James M. Curley, Jr., son of the Mayor, or as Mr. Sullivan called him, "the Mayor's alter ego on this occasion."

After some more orchestral selections and singing by the chorus, Lincoln's "Gettysburg Address" was recited by Chandler M. Wright, a pupil of the English High School. After another

"O Boston, fair City enthroned like a radiant queen,
From thy hills looking down on the ship-teeming plain of the ocean,
May thy future be bright, thy skies beam with light all serene,
Ensured by thy sons' and thy daughters' unselfish devotion!"

DISCUSS ZONING PLAN.

Further details of plans for the proposed zoning of Boston, with illustrations of ways in which it may benefit the public, were presented at a public hearing in City Hall.

William Stanley Parker, member of the Boston City Planning Board, presided and in a short address outlined the purposes of the new system. About seventy-five persons attended and were permitted to express their views and to seek information.

Arthur C. Comey gave an illustrated talk, showing views of districts where zoning would aid the owner and the dweller, by keeping out of strictly residential districts large industries which tend to cut off light and air and cause a depreciation in the values of property for residence purposes. His slides were taken in various parts of Greater Boston and showed sections where various enterprises have entered the residential districts.

Plans for districting the six sections proposed and tables of comparisons were shown in the slides.

Mr. Parker defined zoning as action by a city, by authority of the state to control, under the police power the heights to which buildings may be erected, the area of lots that must be left open and the uses to which buildings and land may be put.

"Zoning divides the city into districts for residential, business and industrial uses," said Mr. Parker. "It protects the homes in residential areas from injury due to encroachments of business or of industry. It affords districts in which industries and commercial enterprises may safely locate without fear of protest and with every facility to do business.

"Zoning is protection for the poor man. Zoning gives by law to the citizen of modest means, both in his home and in his business, the protection the citizen of large means is able to secure by litigation or private restriction."

As in the earlier hearing, it was pointed out that the plan would not affect many present properties, but would govern future development.

Of the sixty-eight cities in the United States with more than 100,000 population, thirty-seven have zoning ordinances in effect, and of the cities over 50,000 population, fifty-two have adopted zoning in some form.

Councilor William C. Healey expressed the conviction that the section in East Boston known as Shea's Hill, indicated on the plans as an industrial section, should be changed, as he declared it lies between residential districts in East Boston and in Winthrop.

Walter R. Meins, member of the zoning advisory commission and a member of the United Improvement Association, emphasized the need, pointed out by Mr. Comey, for restricting the encroaching of certain industries in suburban residential streets.

Other speakers included John J. Hamilton, Fred Elwell, S. H. Stone, L. S. Dobkin and W. T. Miller.

ADDITIONAL STREETS FOR COASTING.

The Mayor has approved the order of the Board of Street Commissioners designating as additional public ways where coasting may be permitted the following:

Park street, Dorchester district, from Washington street to Waldeck street.
Geenbrier street, Dorchester district, from Park street to Bloomfield street.

NATION IS MORALLY SOUND DESPITE INIQUITY AMONG SOME OFFICIALS.

SENATOR DAVID I. WALSH DELIVERS BRILLIANT ADDRESS AT SYMPHONY HALL ON OCCASION OF HONORING OF THREE ILLUSTRIOUS FORMER PRESIDENTS IN MEMORIAL EXERCISES LAST SUNDAY.

The fame of Washington and Lincoln requires no particular ceremonial or memorial. They both live and shall continue to live in the hearts of every generation of Americans. Each lived a life and wrought works which will cover their names with glory inextinguishable so long as man retains memories of heroic achievements.

It is because we appreciate the value of the celebration of great national events and characters in keeping alive and stimulating a national spirit, without which patriotism cannot exist, that this great municipality has assembled us here today. To this shrine, dedicated this day to Washington and Lincoln, we have come to bring offerings of devotion, to renew our faith, to stimulate our love of country to incarnate the memory of Washington and Lincoln in the newer generation.

Washington created the republic; Lincoln preserved it. We cannot too frequently recollect and emphasize what was made; what was saved.

The fundamentals that were made and preserved are faith in the Providence of God, freedom, justice, equality. These are the great distinguishing marks of our democracy. These are the fundamentals that make our form of government different from all other governments.

Freedom, of what? Civil liberty.

Faith in the Providence of God, for whom? Not in any particular religion, but the one the individual pleases to choose.

Justice, for whom? For rich and for poor. For the rich, assuring them that they shall not be divested or interfered with in the possession of wealth which they have honestly accumulated. For the poor, assuring them that they shall not be exploited by the rich.

Equality, for whom? For black man, red man and white man; for Catholic and Protestant, for Jew and Gentile; for the exalted as well as the humble.

These fundamentals, freedom, justice and equality, were first enunciated by Washington and his co-founders of the republic and their preservation unchanged were made possible by the wisdom and forceful leadership of Lincoln. Let us never forget these are the great distinguishing marks of our democracy; the principles that have placed this republic upon a high pinnacle among the nations of the world. The extent to which we preserve and develop these high principles is the measure of our greatness. If we surrender them, the America of Washington and Lincoln is ended. It is for us to profit by the lessons of patriotism and devotion to country which marked the lives and accomplishments of the Father of Our Country and the Emancipator, rather than complacently accept the inheritance that is ours as a result of their service and sacrifice. Our duty as American citizens is ever to be on guard against the evil influences which tend to destroy the basic principles of constitutional government.

There were never so many unorganized forces in the social, political or financial world awaiting our solution as there are today. Discontent and dissatisfaction are widely permeated. Recent disclosures in Washington have added to the cynicism, and give further proof that it is not propaganda from aliens coming to our shores, but the utter disregard for law and the public rights by greedy self-seekers among our own citizens utterly disregarding the rights of their fellow-men that will shake confidence and promote radicalism. This dissatisfaction in the existing order of man's relationship to government may not be as great as some allege, but there is altogether more of it than is healthy.

What are the reasons for it? On the one hand is the influence of those false theories promulgating continuous class struggle and that we live in a Godless world where the only concern manifested is with questions of material welfare and that all are entitled to share equally in the distribution of the material resources. On the other hand is the widespread, insidious and scarcely discernible theory that success being assured only by money and power, all means necessary to obtain these are justified. These two theories are unsound and the trend of either leads to anarchy or chaos. The triumph of either of these theories has ultimately brought disaster to the governments that fostered them.

Observe what this type of thought has done to other countries. All these forces have conspired in radically different ways either to overthrow or weaken governments everywhere. The great mass of people in Europe have shown their restlessness in many ways.

We must avoid these camps of destructive and faulty philosophy. A true adherence to the basic American ideals as enunciated by Washington will surely stimulate our social life. A country and a world organized on ethical principles is what Washington strove to uphold. No government can survive that does not regard human rights before private interests. Neither can a government survive that does not in fact as well as in theory dedicate itself "to the proposition that all men are created equal." An autocracy under the name of a democracy cannot be saved by its name.

But if these fundamental truths are to be spread, if these ideals are to be impressed in gold upon the black garb of materialism, we must have leaders inspired with the ideals of Washington and Lincoln; we must have someone to bear the torch, to live and die for the cause, while the followers, taking renewed inspiration from their nobleness shall close their lips tightly and move forward. Unstinted efforts, untiring devotion, immeasurable sacrifice for the fulfillment of happiness and love into the hearts of mankind is demanded particularly of those leaders in the public service. Unselfishness and sound thinking by those who lead in forming public opinion today is the hope of the country, the hope of the world. Courage to fight the forces of religious and racial intolerance, excessive paternalism, corrupt business, and unreasonable restriction of personal liberty and the exploitation of the weak by the powerful is the need of the time. As in Washington and Lincoln's time, the security of our institutions are in the keeping of our leaders. The masses will follow honest, courageous champions of principles of liberty, justice and equality. But more and more they are demanding deeds rather than words by those who espouse and interpret these principles.

But let not my admonitions lead you to be affrighted by the tasks of citizenship or discouraged by the attending responsibilities. The early years of our nation was a more stormy and strenuous age than the present. There was then no body of precedent to cite, no great names to conjure with to still the passion of a people, restless and suspicious of law, poor and engaged in an unceasing struggle with nature, with foreign foes on our coast and savage foes on our frontier. It was the task of the leaders of that day to guide the fortunes of this nation through intrigue and faction, facing its foreign enemies with dignity and courage, baffling its domestic foes with wisdom and justice, and give to it the guidance and direction that sent it down the years in strength and confidence.

Thus we have a dual heritage; citizenship in a democracy such as the world had never before known, and the enlightening example of the statesmanship of those who so successfully guided the destinies of that democracy. American citizenship is the heir of the best thought and the widest world experience of mankind. In one short century it has realized the longings of all lovers of liberty, through the ages. In one hundred years American citizenship has renewed the political face of the world and if there be yet a few convulsive struggles of oppressed mankind, it is largely owing to the very fact of American freedom, that there are political convulsions, and that the just claims of oppressed people are not formally and definitely extinguished. As far as American citizenship has shed its influence in this world, political tyranny has sickened, if it did not die. It is the fixed star of freedom in the world today. And this influence has not necessitated any departure from the teachings of Washington.

As Americans we must not tolerate any obstacle to the normal beneficent action and influence of our democracy, wherever in the world it is desired and appreciated.

But what as to the world burden imposed upon America since the war.

We shall best meet its demands by the development of those national traits which distinguished us amid the scenes of conflict. The American citizen must be very unselfish and self-sacrificing in face of the urgent needs of suffering humanity; and must not be lacking in prudence, good sense, and moderation. He will not substitute himself for those who can and ought to work out their own salvation. He will not become the common carrier of the sorrows and woes of all mankind. In the coming years, as the new political order of Europe develops, he will need to walk warily to avoid entanglements in a world habituated to them and wont to free itself by ways and means that are not congenial to American citizenship. Our citizenship must command its position in the world by its traditional spirit and principles, concerned first with its own security and identity, and watchful ever lest its fibre be changed and a pure humanitarian service and temper take the place of our national consciousness, self-respect, and domestic obligations.

Revelations since the war have been made which prove, beyond question, that some governments are still misusing the power of the people; that some governments are still acting without the approval of its people and contrary to their interests; that still other governments have not always taken its people into their confidence. Everywhere there is a distinction between the government and people, the government contriving by secrecy to defraud the people of the right to control what is rightfully theirs.

The Americans want none of this. They want no secrecy about things affecting their own interests. They want no secret proceedings in their own domestic affairs and no secret correspondence with foreign governments, much less any alliances with them. They want to help promote peace, they want to co-operate to create a better understanding between nations. But they do not want what Washington did not want. They do not want political alliances. The American government is responsible to the people, whatever any foreign government may be. The American people would not tolerate any usurpation of their power by the government, and would tear up any secret bargains. The peoples of Europe should do the same thing. They will never have freedom until they hold their governments to strict account, and they need not expect America to waste much sympathy upon them if they do not care to make themselves free, by ridding themselves of their militaristic spirit, their rivalries, jealousies, and their mistrust and distrust of each other.

The confidence of our people in their government must not be shaken by public scandals in places of trust or by evidence of domination at times of the corrupting forces, that take from the poor to make the rich richer.

Despite revelations rampant today that have stirred up probably the worst storm witnessed in this country and which has rocked the very foundations of democracy, the citizenship of Washington and Lincoln are still intact and its high spirit is still abroad, wherever the great facts of our political life are known and honored.

The loyalty of our people in their government is due to the fact that they believe that they have an honest and good government, and when dishonesty has crept in, they have been able to get rid of it, through the regular processes of judicial and legislative procedure.

Iniquity among public officials is limited to a few men; the most dangerous men are those who make reckless statements regarding the government and its representatives, and when brought to book cannot furnish proof.

We are still a morally healthy nation, and we believe in the honesty of the average man in and out of public office. Not the knowledge of abuses of power by those in high places or the presence of sinister influences attacking the bed rock principles of our democracy and poisoning the fountain sources of our government will destroy the confidence of our people, but we cannot emphasize it too strongly, the indifference, the inaction, the condoning by those of unquestioned integrity will add naturally to the growing cynicism. The first duty of the patriot in time of peace, when sinister influences appear, attacking the integrity of our government is to exercise the courage and aggressive spirit that characterized our soldiers when the country was threatened in time of war. That is the service we expect and demand.

During their lifetime Washington and Lincoln's critics were sharp in their comments upon them, caustic in their satire and in the case of Lincoln severe in their ridicule of the externals of the man. In our own day Harding and Wilson met the same fate. Death alone softened these asperities. Death alone seems to silence the voices of those who belittle the great achievements of our public officials. It is only after death that those who serve us brilliantly grow in the affections of their countrymen.

Yet what a pity we deny our public men that which Washington said was very dear to his heart, "the approbation of his fellow citizens, next only to the approbation of his own, arising from a consciousness of having uniformly, diligently and sincerely aimed by doing his duty to promote the true interests of his country." Neither Washington nor Lincoln received it until after their death. Why is it not given? Is it not because truth and candor are denied our public men when we estimate the conduct of their office?

The lesson of Washington and Lincoln throws a light along the pathway of today. It pleads for generous treatment of our leaders in the several departments of our government. We may differ with them, oppose their policies and political philosophy, but we must trust them.

We need not question the patriotism of our leaders to challenge the wisdom of their policies. Remember your public officials are surrounded by self interests of every kind. The national capitol affords an ill point of view and many mistakes are due to environment rather than intent. We must keep clean and pure party politics and political leadership if our leaders are to be unhampered and the influence that business, with its vast ramifications exerts in the councils of the government must not be that of bad business any more than we desire the influence of corrupt politics.

When Lincoln stood at Springfield, Illinois, on the platform of a train that was to bear him to Washington to take the oath of office, he addressed a large concourse and ended with these words:

"Will you not pray for me that the same arm that supported the great Washington may be my support? For with that support I can accomplish my duty; without it I cannot do anything."

May we not pray in this our day that the same arm that supported the great Washington and the martyred Lincoln, be our support, for with that support we can and will live up to our best traditions, preserve our self-government, bequeath to posterity the great blessings we enjoy and suppress ever the thought that our dead have died in vain.

FIRE DEPARTMENT ORDERS.

General Order No. 10.

ANNUAL BALL.

The forty-fifth annual ball of the Boston Fire and Protective Departments will be held on Thursday evening, February 14, 1924, at Mechanics Building, Huntington avenue, Boston. It is hoped that this ball will be one of the most successful, both financially and socially, in the history of the department, and this result can be accomplished if every member of the department will put their shoulders to the wheel and render every possible assistance to the ball committee, which has been untiring in its efforts.

Members of the department detailed for duty at the ball will report to the floor marshall, Lieutenant George J. Baumeister, at the above mentioned hall at 7 p. m. sharp on that date, unless otherwise ordered.

Members will attend strictly to the duties assigned them.

It is the desire of the Fire Commissioner that all aids take part in the grand march, as well as many other members of the department as possible. The Fire Commissioner would also like to have as many of the members as possible attending the ball appear in uniform. We wish to make this ball an opportunity for renewing old acquaintances among the members, as well as affording the older members a chance of becoming acquainted with the newer members. The ball will also serve as a sort of general celebration of the installation of the two-platoon system by the whole department.

The regulation uniform sack coat, black shirt and tie, white gloves and aid badge will be worn on this occasion. This applies to all members appearing in uniform, whether acting as aids or not.

By order of Fire Commissioner Theodore A. Glynn.

DANIEL F. SENNOTT,
Acting Chief of Department.

RALLIES TO DEFENSE OF MAYOR AGAINST NEWSPAPER'S ATTACKS.

CITY AUDITOR RUPERT S. CARVEN TAKES BOSTON HERALD TO TASK FOR INACCURACIES AND MISSTATEMENTS OF FACTS CONTAINED IN EDITORIAL.

City Auditor Rupert S. Carven has sent the following letter to the Boston Herald in reply to an attack on Mayor Curley.

Boston, February 20.

To the Editor of the Boston Herald.

DEAR SIR,—The editorial "Our City's Affairs," appearing in this morning's Herald, appears to be a combination of criticism, apology and defence. The Mayor is criticised for taking a necessary vacation, apology is offered for the inaction of the Finance Commission, and the chairman of the Finance Commission is defended on account of a salary rumor.

Whether or not the editorial mentioned was inspired, the fact remains that it contains many inaccuracies that need correction, as well as a few statements that require explanation.

CORRECTIONS AND EXPLANATIONS.

The fiscal year ends January 31, not February 1.

The Legislature does not depend upon the completion of the budget in the setting of the tax limit. How can the budget be completed when the amount that may be appropriated is not known?

The Committee on Municipal Finance desired to hear the tax limit bill during January, but on request of the Mayor, deferred the hearing until February 4. Wherein is the surprise, you find, at the Mayor asking early consideration? Are you not aware that hearings are being held by legislative committees much earlier than ever before?

You say "the Committee on Municipal Finance asked for facts, figures and estimates. No data was ready." You are in error. The Budget Commissioner, at the hearing, read and submitted in writing, to the committee, a carefully prepared statement on the budget needs. Statements also were made by the Mayor and City Auditor concerning the budget, and questions asked by the committee were answered.

You intimate that information was not furnished by the Finance Commission, because it was not available. In the preparation of the budget, the estimates rendered by the departments are surely necessary, and this information has been available to the Finance Commission for several months past. The fact that Judge Sullivan refused to use this information, as had been the past custom, is for him to explain. That the Finance Commission did not appear particularly interested in the tax limit bill is evidenced by Judge Sullivan's statement before the committee, wherein he stated that he did not ask to appear on this bill, but on the contrary, was present at the hearing because he was asked to attend. Those present at the hearing may recall the statement of the judge to the committee, that he would be in a position to advise on the tax limit, if the Mayor would inform him what he would allow to the various departments. This statement is so ridiculous that one wonders why it was made. How can the Mayor determine what to allow, until he knows what the tax limit is? It should be stated that at no time in the past two months has information been sought by the Finance Commission from the Budget Commissioner concerning the preparation of the budget.

That part of your editorial concerning the increase in salary rumor does not affect the city. Consideration of this matter was in the hands of the Legislature.

The appearance of this editorial during the absence of the Mayor is to be regretted. In his absence it devolves on the city officials to reply to any inaccurate statements concerning the city. This is the reason for my writing.

Very truly yours,

RUPERT S. CARVEN,
City Auditor.

MEMORIAL EXERCISES.

song by the chorus, Mayor Curley's recent tribute to Lincoln, while planting a tree at the Lincoln Memorial, was read by John Arnold Brice, a colored pupil of the High School of Commerce.

Then United States Senator David I. Walsh was introduced and was evidently a little surprised at the size of the audience and character of the exercises, for he said it was the most inspiring sight he had witnessed in many a day, impressing him particularly, he said, because of the "atmosphere" he had been living in in Washington, with its wrangling and excitement.

He paid a brief tribute to Woodrow Wilson, saying:

"In my opinion Woodrow Wilson deserves to have his name linked with those of Washington and Lincoln. That he failed may not be entirely his fault, but that he fell as a soldier falls—a casualty of war—we all know, and I gladly join with you in paying tribute to his memory."

The rest of his address was devoted to Washington and Lincoln—or rather to the lessons to be drawn from these great men's lives—lessons of unselfish patriotism; of justice; of lofty ideals; of sufferings and misunderstandings; of victory for the right and for righteousness.

The address of Senator Walsh will be found on page 215.
